THE LEGAL CIRCLE.

C. H. Parsons, His Silver Watch, and His Right to Appeal.

TODAY'S PROBATE BUSINESS.

A Damage Suit for $1,000 Brought Against Chief Pratt and Police Officer Roberts.

Out of the suit of A. B. Dick & Co. vs C. H. Parsons, small though the amount in dispute was ($9 only), a good deal of vexation has arisen. It will be remembered that about a week ago Commissioner McNally ordered the defendant to turn over his silver watch in part satisfaction of the judgment rendered against him, and that after some parleying he reluctantly did so. A fine for contempt was also imposed. Parsons wanted to take an appeal to the Third district court, but the commissioner declined to grant him, whereupon his attorneys (Zane & Zane) filed a petition in the court, and under section 9[illegible], civil code, Compiled Laws of Utah, secured an order to compel the commissioner to allow an appeal and send up the papers in the case.

The matter was brought up for hearing before Judge Bartch this morning, when Attorney Richard B. Shepard moved the court to set aside the order previously made, on the ground that an appeal lies from a judgment for contempt.

Several witnesses, including the defendant himself, were examined, and the arguments went over till 3 p. m.

OTHER MATTERS.

In the case of Albert W. Davis et al vs J. E. Langford, demurrer to complaint was argued and submitted.

John A. Street vs Seth W. Morrison et al. On motion of plaintiff's attorneys, the order made yesterday allowing the defendant to file amended answer in this case was now set aside and the amended answer was stricken from the files.

TODAY'S PROBATE COURT.

Estate of Hester C. Haight, deceased. Hearing on executor's account continued.

Estate of George Dechert, deceased. Hearing on petition to sell real estate and other made as prayed. Ten same additional bond was filed.

ALLEGED WRONGFUL ARREST.

A damage suit for $1,000 was filed in the Third district court today by John J. Hetzelg against Chief of Police Pratt and Officer John J. Roberts, on the ground of wrongful and unlawful arrest, which plaintiff claims was effected without issuance of warrant or probable cause. It is alleged that early on the morning of May 26th, at the time of the encampment of the Industrial army in that locality, and while a special police guard was on duty there, plaintiff was driving along the road about a quarter of a mile north of the Hot Springs where he was arrested by the officers, brought on to Salt Lake and imprisoned in the city jail from 6 a. m. until 2 p. m. the same day, when he was released into the presence of Justice Smith, arraigned and discharged. Mr. Hetzelg says that through this unwarrantable proceeding he lost the respect of his neighbors and friends and the esteem of his family.

Sewer Trench Damaged.

The heavy rain of Monday afternoon did considerable damage to the big sewer trench between the Warm and Hot springs. Earth, rock and debris by the carload was washed into the excavation, all of which will have to be removed immediately at a heavy expense.

A Saloon Closed Up.

The Gaiety saloon on Main street, the proprietor of which was F. L. Birch, has been closed under a couple of attachments issued at the instance of the A. Fisher Brewing Co., and the contents disposed of. The claim was for $[illegible], for rent, money loaned, and goods sold and delivered.

Utah Commission Matters.

Clerks Blair and Parks of the Utah Commission sent out an express load of packages and letters to deputy registrars throughout the Territory today. These include oaths and instructions.

SPACE AT THE FAIR.

A Full List Up to Date of the Manufacturers Who Will Exhibit.

The manufacturers of this Territory are expected to make a splendid exhibit at the Territorial Fair this year. On account of the unusually large number who will display their products, the space allotted to each will be rather limited. Nearly every inch of the ground floor has already been spoken for. Up to this afternoon the firms to whom space has been assigned were as follows: George Q. Cannon & Sons, J. C. Murphy & Co., Hilgers Dehrmann Shoe Co., The Weaver Mineral Springs Co., Swan Glass and Paint Co., C. F. Murray, Mrs. C. M. Dunbar, Salt Lake Wire Mattress Co., Salt Lake Pressed Brick Co., William Wesner & Sons, Charles H. King, Brown's Marble-works, Atkinson Pressed Brick Co., Utah Brick Manufacturers' Ass'n, The Cooper Wire and Iron Works, A. Neslen, Pacific Tie and Jobbing Co., J. G. McDonald Candy and Paper Box Co., Salt Lake City Rollmill Co., S. I. Clawson, The Atkinson Metal Co., James Moler, R. J. Kalgh, C. W. Nash, Peerless Baking Powder Co., J. W. Gust, Rowe, Morris, Summerrays Co., E. C. M. L., J. L. Galleher, Utah Soap Co., Western Manufacturing Co., Snell & Co., Crane Knitting Works, Utah Pioneder Co., J. L. Shurtack, Howard Smythe & Son, Deseret Woolen Mills Co., Sam Love, Victor Raymond, A. Anderson & Co., J. H. Taylor & Sons, Pioneer Type & Stereotype Foundry, Hewlett Bros., Crowning Bros., Robinson Bros., Utah Sugar Co., Charles Dewsnup, Salt Lake Lithograph Co., Layton Milling and Elevator Co., Salt Lake Mill and Elevator Co., Lyman Poultry and Bee Co., Utah Bee Keepers' Association, C. E. Jacobsen, Y. T. R., P. V. Coal Co., Binder & Robinson, E. V. Foulds, Salt Lake City Brewing company, R. Siewert & Son, Saxo Salt company.

The lower floor of the main pavilion of the Utah Exposition will no doubt have to be entirely used by the manufacturers' department of the Fair. Only the north half was originally arranged for this purpose, but when the space was divided up it was found to be only half enough. As the manufacturers will get both their best offers, no doubt the directors of the Fair will give them the entire floor. This would force agricultural and educational departments into the south wing, and the displaced Walts go into new quarters. As there are still a number of manufacturers who have not applied for space, the secretary is anxious that they make arrangements for it immediately, so that they will not be cut out of the grand exhibit of industries. It is desirable that every branch should be represented.

From Pangaitch.

John H. Myers is up from Pangaitch, Garfield county, on a business trip. He reports the condition of affairs in his district as being prosperous. The times are not so hard as they were a year ago, as the people are getting used to hard-hit, treat in the absence of enough money to do business. The crops are in excellent shape, and are very heavy. The ranges were getting rather too dry for stock, but the recent rains have produced a most welcome change.

Alleged Horse Stealing.

Thomas Stringham had a hearing in Commissioner Greenman's court today on a charge of stealing a horse belonging to Dr. Cheesman, of Bingham. After taking the animal the defendant traded it for another to a Brighton ranchman. Stringham was held to the grand jury in a bond of $[illegible].

CRUSHED UNDER WHEELS.

A Union Pacific Brakeman Has Both Legs Cut Off.

It is Probable the Accident Will Prove Fatal: Taken to the Ogden Hospital.

Robert Murdoch, aged 35 years, a resident of Logan, who has been in the employ of the Union Pacific railway, met with an accident at 2:30 this afternoon which deprived him of both legs.

Mr. Murdock was a new brakeman on the road. When the accident happened he was riding on top of a box car in the yards of the Union Pacific, south of the passenger depot. While attempting to look forward on the train from the side of the car he was struck by a telegraph pole and fell under the train. Two wheels of the car on which he was riding and one of the locomotive tender ran over his legs, cutting them off near the knees. It will be necessary to perform another amputation, and it is doubtful if the unfortunate man will survive.

Mr. Murdock is a stranger here, having secured work on the railway during the recent strike.

He was taken to the waiting room at the depot and was afterwards removed to the hospital at Ogden, where he will receive the best possible attention, provided he reaches there alive.

SALT LAKE HAS BACKING.

A Strong Promise of Help to Secure the Fire Engineers' Convention.

The following interesting and assuring letter was received at the office of the fire department in today's mail from the East:

NEW YORK, August 4, 1894.

Chief James Jeffries, Salt Lake City, Utah.

My Dear Chief—I am today in receipt of your favor of the 30th, and am glad to learn that you will be in our city within another week.

Augusta, Georgia, has now put a strong contingent into the field to secure the convention for next year, and I am sorry I did not know about your efforts sooner. I do not see how the North can expect the convention next year, after Boston, St. Louis and Louisville, unless the west are not thinking of going north during the summer months. There was a movement a short time ago to hold the convention in some new way, but there was no strength to it. I am not sure why the far West should not get a whack at the convention and I will see what I can do for it. Hoping to see you soon, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

R. J. FAUSTEN.

When it is ascertained that Mr. Fredricks is the editor of Fire and Water, the most influential journal of its class in America, and that he himself is respected and looked up to as a leader and as an authority on all fire department questions by members of the National Association of Fire Engineers, it will be readily conceived that his endorsement is worth a good deal. There are those who are so singular over the receipt of his letter as to declare that there is no longer any doubt about Salt Lake securing the convention.

That night city can offer a dozen attractions to delegates which none of most any other part of the country can only equal, two or three is the statement of a single truth; that the delegates will enjoy themselves better here than anywhere else there is no doubt; that they will be welcome while our guest is indisputable and mutually every party is sure. Gentlemen, adjourn your convention to Salt Lake and you will never have cause to regret the act.

TWO SUITS FILED TODAY.

One is a Divorce Case, With Gilbert D. Amos as Plaintiff.

He Says That His Wife has Treated Him Shamefully—Conspiracy and Threats are Alleged.

Gilbert D. Amos brought suit for divorce in the Third district court this afternoon against his wife, Martha E. The parties intermarried in this city on January 19th, 1881. The complaint alleges that for more than two years past the defendant has refused to cohabit with her husband, that she has neglected him in sickness and utterly failed to perform her household duties. It is likewise set forth that she has continually sought the companionship of other men at improper times and places, and threatened to kill plaintiff. Mr. Amos says, further, that his wife has, by her threats, led him to believe that she desires to get him out of the way, thereby placed him in constant fear and undermined his health. There are two children, aged eight and four years, and plaintiff asks that such order be made regarding their custody and the disposition of the property of the parties as to the court may seem just and equitable.

Lewelyn & Kaiser are Mr. Amos's attorneys.

A SERIOUS ALLEGATION.

Matilda M. M. Healy brought suit in the Third district court today against Isaac Hunter praying for a judgment rescinding and annulling a certain conveyance of property made by her to the defendant and which she avers was obtained by undue or misleading representations. A. O. Wilkinson is Mrs. Healy's attorney.

IN PARLEY'S CANYON.

E. Stevenson Pays a Visit to the Waterworks and Mountain Dell.

MOUNTAIN DELL, Aug. 8th, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

On Sunday morning, the 5th inst., our party left Salt Lake City for Mountain Dell, Sixteen miles. It has been almost fifteen years since I passed over the route and many changes have occurred since that time. About 8:30 a. m. Parley's canyon, seven miles up, was reached, where we were entertained by Mr. E. F. Hill, in charge of the city waterworks. I certainly became very much interested in looking over the works. These exceed my expectations considerably. Mr. Hill explained while personally showing us around. The reservoir, he said, was situated just south of the Red pipe, which is 36 inches in diameter, passes through a rock which is about 220 feet high and at the base about 300 feet wide and 100 feet thick. It rests like a solid pedestal and forms a grand wall for the reservoir. The receiving pipe runs through a portion of this rock, entering the reservoir about ten feet under the surface of the water. The spill runs over a solid apron, down to the great rock, down into the original channel of Parley's Canyon creek.

What makes this nearly high rock I have named all the more interesting is that while tunneling through it and clearing away for the reservoir a human skeleton was found imbedded in the solid brown rock. The skull and bones were carefully taken out so perfect as possible. Those who are curiously inclined and somewhat inquisitive may have many issues as to how came this human person locked up in this place, and how many thousands or thousands of years they have been there. Doubtless the body was buried in clay or some sort of earth which during the various changes of nature became turned into stone, preserving its natural shape as an evidence of some of Utah's children having lived on this continent long before the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus in 1492.

It has become an unusual affair to find traces of this peculiar race in various parts of America. While in Ohio I learned objects of a tall race, varying enormous, the bodies being from 7[illegible] to 8 feet 6 inches high. In the DESERET NEWS of June 12, 1891, is an account of twenty-two more skeletons averaging 8 feet in height. A similar and many times more is mentioned. This find was in Minneapolis, Minn., June 11, 1891. This valuable prehistoric discovery was in a mound in a much carefully prepared. In Sandusky, Ohio, twenty-three similar skeletons were discovered. The one I speak of is above average size and is probably not of this tall race who came from the lower at Halet for of a lofty race who came from Jerusalem 100 years B. C., some 1400 years later ago, when the race of modern beings are known to be of a smaller stature.

Returning again to the feet pipe, I enquired into and examined the chamber 10 feet deep and 8 feet wide. Screens are placed around the standard through which the water passes into a settling tank 25 feet deep and 12 feet in diameter. The standard is 60 inches in diameter and is attached to the settling tank 12 inches from the bottom, and midway crossing the creek. In an enclosed frame and extending upward five and one half inches is the inlet tank on the Fort Douglas reservation, west of Fort Douglas street. The standard pipe is telescopic throughout all the way from the settling tank, five and a half miles long. Everything around the works is kept clean and looks exceedingly neat.

We arrived at Mountain Dell in time to visit the Sunday school and gave a short illustrated lecture. Elder Hugh Hayes takes place as the superintendent, his good order proved his influence. The school manifested great interest in the paintings, and brought out a good number at 1 p. m., when Elder Stevenson gave another lecture which was listened to with much interest.

Mountain Dell is a quiet, prosperous village, living Wm. R. Harris is always pleased to welcome visitors who entertain his little flock.

The heavy rain of Saturday left nearly roads until we passed the penitentiary when we found plenty of water on the highway. With rains lately on up with the heavy loads of quarrying rock containing 60 per cent lime for the state road grade. The loads contain from 4000 to 5000 pounds. Two wagons are often used and four horses. Above the crusher which reduces the stone and is the only one above the waterworks, the horses took home, not being so terribly run up with these very heavy loads.

Monday, Aug. 6, we left for Wanship and Silver Creek, Summit county, Utah.

A ROYAL QUARREL.

EXPERIENCE WILLIAM NOT ENTIRELY WITH HIS FATHER.

Although the crown prince of Greece and his consort, the daughter of Sparta, have now been in Germany several weeks, Emperor William has made no attempt whatever to meet his favorite sister whom he has not seen since her conversion to the Greek church, a few months after her marriage.

Notwithstanding all that has been reported as to an alleged reconciliation, he remains just as bitter against her as ever, finding it impossible to forgive what he considers as her apostacy, although he was perfectly ready and even a little bit vain to see, when she was a child, should attain the Lutheran religion to become the wife of the Czarewitz of Russia—a match which was at one moment on the eve of taking place.

His bitter is the emperor not to even declare to permit her sister's name to be mentioned in his presence, and all efforts on the part of his mother and of the grandmother, Queen Victoria, both of whom approved of the Duchess' conversion, have hitherto been ineffectual to relieve about a better state of feeling.—Berlin Letter.
