IRRIGATION.

The Subject Among Deliberation in the House Today.

SEVERAL BILLS PASS THE HOUSE.

Veterinary Inspector Required in Cities—Business in Both Houses Today.

This afternoon a long debate occurred in the House on H. B. 15, Johnson's bill proposing various changes in the existing system of irrigation. This subject is one which generally excites much interest among country members, and it was somewhat so yesterday, on this occasion, the Salt Lake members who generally do more of its talking remained quiet. It transpired during the discussion that the irrigation committee was continuously the introduction of a bill upon the subject of irrigation and water rights.

A. B. 161, which the House passed this afternoon, is designed to cure negotiables in the general law relating to issuing stock in corporations, and to classify when such stock is and is not assessable.

H. B. 128, which the House passed this forenoon, requires cities of over 15,000 inhabitants or more to appoint a veterinary inspector, and to designate a place in or near the city, where all animals intended for immediate slaughter must be brought for inspection, and be inspected on the hoof. After being killed the carcasses shall be again inspected, and, if found good, shall be marked with a tag. If any carcass or part thereof is found unfit for food, the inspector shall order it destroyed. The U. S. government standard and method of meat inspection are adopted.

This forenoon, while the sheep road bill was under consideration in the House, Nebeker declared that he didn't like sheep, but that, if we must have them, we ought to have healthy ones. He predicted that the people in Utah would yet regret the extent to which the sheep were consuming the range, but he would support this bill.

This afternoon, in the House, Mann from the committee on Capitol grounds, rendered the following report:

Mr. Speaker—Your committee to whom was referred the report of the committee on Capitol grounds, respectfully represent that they have examined and approved said report, and recommend that the amount required for the completion of the improvements so ordinarily surveyed, relating to said grounds, be appropriated. Also, the amount of $6,000 for curbing for and laying said grounds in proper condition, the existing two years, and that said commissioners' report be filed in the office of the Territorial auditor.

Your committee have also taken under advisement the recommendation of said commissioners, in connection with that part of the Governor's message called January 8, 1894. Herein the special message of Governor West dated March 1, 1894, relating to the erection of one wing of the Capitol building, and respectfully report that the reasons assigned for the erection of such portion of a Capitol building, which will afford ample provision for all the legislative, judicial and general territorial purposes, meets with our approval, as in the erection of such building, the needs of the Territory in time will be provided for in this direction for many years to come.

By the erection of this building, at an estimated cost of $125,000, which amount can be obtained by issuing bonds at 5 per cent interest, it is evident by representations in Commissioner's report, that the advantage in building over that of renting would not only pay the interest on the bonds but be a net saving to the Territory annually of from $5,000 to $9,000. And as suggested in the message of Governor West, the erection of this building at the present time would give work to a large number of the unemployed working class, a subject worthy of the most earnest consideration of this Legislative Assembly, since existing distress and want among so large a number of this class of citizens. Your committee are also of the opinion that the kinds of materials and labor can be obtained at greatly reduced prices at the present time; so that a saving of at least 20 per cent in the cost of such a building can be saved to the Territory. We therefore recommend the letting of bonds and erection of one wing of a capitol building.

MANN,

AMUSEMENTS.

WARD & JAMES open their Salt Lake engagement tonight in the Tom Long's Minstrels. Their stars were busting about town this morning, enjoying the sunshine and chatting home with their many old friends. Both look as young, sheer and energetic as though life's day had passed over their heads since their university days. With a free and unrestrained hand the Opera House Staff Co. had a very successful night at Marty Malone. The house was almost full, which, considering the weather that had prevailed, was phenomenal. The players were all delighted with the new opera house, which is the most conveniently remodeled of the houses they have played in on the road.

Bissinger Farewell.

There will be a social gathering in the Filisonia ward meeting house this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, in behalf of William Tuckett, who will leave on the 15th for his home in Britain on a mission. All friends and acquaintances are cordially invited.

Held to the Grand Jury.

John Welch and James St. Clair, the men arrested by Officers Smith, Wilson and Roberts on Commercial street, suspected of having held up John A. Larsen, on Saturday night last, were given a preliminary hearing in Judge Zane's chambers early this morning. The testimony in the case adduced an amusingly large number of anecdotes which in some instances had little or no connection with the case, but serve to throw up the boats, a fellow is immediately reminded with. One of the men went through the right hand pocket and extracted there from the sum of $3 in dimes and nickels. The other one of the two, whipped the gun on L. Larsen, either at the time or just after he had a knife on him as someone was coming.

Attorney Howard—Mr. Larsen, you have stated to the court where your money was when this robbery took place.

Larsen—Up in the right hand pocket.

Tom Wilson, continuing, identified the two men and the pocket book recovered that one of the fellows was and had across the mouth and eyes.

Police Officer Geo. A. Sheets said that in company with Sergeant Wilson and Officer Roberts he saw the men as stated above and on the way to the City Jail they would keep pulling their books into their pockets without the gold exhibition. They were LIE if they did not do so they would get out. The gold, unsuspected and money were produced in court. The men did not deny the charge, but in excuse of that Larsen claimed to have taken drinks from them.

Justice Smith then called the defendants if they had any witnesses they wished to introduce or if they had anything to say in their own behalf. Both men stood their pleas.

Justice Smith said that he had sufficient evidence given in this case to warrant my holding you to await the action of the grand jury in bonds of $1,000 each.

The defendants were shortly afterwards turned over to the care of Sheriff Bell.

Held for Stealing Ham and Eggs.

W. H. Walker was arrested today on the complaint of James E. Bush charged with burglary. From the testimony of Bush, who lives on West Temple street, it appears that some time last night somebody broke into his store and got away with a ham and several dozen eggs. Detectives entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. Officers Officer Wilson, McDonald and Welch also testified, their testimony strengthening the prosecution as to the defendant's guilt. He was accordingly bound over to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $500.

The defendant, though a young man, has had considerable experience for one his age. He claims to be a native of Dalkeith, Scotland, where he left a few months ago for Canada, thence to New York, and has visited every state in the Union. Replying to questions as to whether he had been sentenced before, he answered in the negative.

Mr. Bailey Home Again.

General Passenger Agent Bailey, of the Union Pacific, returned from the coast this morning after an absence from this city of just one month. He says he enjoyed himself, though he travelled a little too fast to rest as much. He visited Omaha, Hot springs, Arkansas, New Orleans, Los Angeles and San Francisco. He reached the Mississippi River as very cold, though everything is not yet in order, the grounds and foreign exhibits are especially fine.

Will Spar Six Rounds.

Jim Williams, Utah's champion prize fighter, and Dan Daly of Chicago will spar for six rounds at Lange's new gymnasium in the old Dick Pelham's hall this evening.

Rabbits for the Poor.

Information was received from Commissioner Bomberger's office this afternoon to the effect that a shipment of 261 rabbits had just been received from Mt. Pleasant, over the Rio Grande Western, for distribution among the poor of this city. Mr. Bomberger where the announcement states that they will be given out tomorrow.

RELIEVING THE NEEDY.

The General Committee Seeking to Aid Only Worthy Persons.

A number of the general relief committee who has charge in connection with the work on Capitol Hill, called on the News today and desired to say that the committee of which he is a member is acting in full accordance and full harmony with the instructions of the committee.

Regarding the case of men employed, the committee now be engaged only those who are deserving of relief. They have sought to be careful in this regard, and if any who should not be there have got work, it has not been through any intentional omission of the committee to carefully scrutinize all applicants. If there are any known instances where persons who are not in urgent need of assistance, or who are capable of supporting their families, have been employed, the committee would be thankful to have such cases pointed out.

From the committee's statement there is no doubt that diligent efforts are made to expend the relief appropriation in an appropriate manner.

Municipal Appointments.

The few more removals of heads of departments from office and the appointments to fill vacancies that the honor the Mayor is expected to make in the immediate future was today the main topic of conversation among local politicians. There are of the opinion that something will "drop" at the meeting of the City Council tomorrow night and judging from the rumors that are afloat the afternoon talking of no appointments made have been received and one that received information neither pleasant nor encouraging to those who have been expecting appointments.

Marcellus Nelson.

Attorney M. Marcellus Nelson, who was last week found guilty of embezzlement, will come up tomorrow morning, before Judge Merritt, for sentence. At the same time his attorneys (Dowell and Stacey) intend to move for a new trial.

Letters to the Chamber.

A gentleman in Washington, D. C., writes to the Chamber of Commerce for information concerning the prospect for leasing money in this city.

The secretary also received a letter from a gentleman in Kansas, asking for information in relation to the mining industry in Utah. He is interested in lead here and engaging in the manufacture of bullets if he receives proper encouragement.

The Application Denied.

In the case of C. E. Loughran et al vs the Western Loan & Savings company, the National Building & Loan association, the injunction in which combined in the Third district court on Saturday afternoon, Judge Merritt this morning received his decision. He denied the application for the appointment of a receiver and dissolved the temporary restraining order.

Police Court.

The only business done in the police court this afternoon was the arraignment of two individuals on the charge of vagrancy. He promising to leave the city they were allowed to depart.
