LOCAL NEWS.

Paid His Tax.—District Court Bailiff Wm. Hurd, honored the Police Court with his presence this morning, where he promptly paid his dog tax and the costs.

Very Handy.—Before us is "A Handy Atlas of the World," received from Dwyer's establishment. It is one of the best works of the kind we have yet seen, of the popular class, giving the geography of the globe at a glance, there being but 32 pages of it. Its price, being only 50 cents, is as handy as itself. It should be in every family, for ready reference.

Elders Released.—From the last issue of the Millennial Star we learn that the following named Elders are released to return home with the company sailing August 29th: President John W. Thornely, of the Liverpool Conference; George Gidney, of the Norwich Conference; Francis Greenwell and John J. Humphreys, of the Nottingham Conference, and George J. Dent, of the London Conference.

Grace Hawthorne.—Richard B. Belgrave, advance agent, for the popular actress, Grace Hawthorne and Company, is in town making arrangements for the appearance of the company at the Opera House in this city on Friday and Saturday next in two evening performances and one matinee. "The new Camille," "East Lynne" and "Queenie" are the pieces in which they will appear.

A Crowbar Squabble.—This morning Geo. F. Atkin was arraigned before Justice Speirs on a charge made by a Mr. Strang, who accused him of stealing a crowbar, about two weeks ago, from a stone quarry about three-fourths of a mile above the cemetery. Considerable bad language had been used in the affair between the men, and Atkin set up as a defense that he took the crowbar, believing it to have been stolen from his premises, as he had missed a similar bar last winter. He was discharged.

Sudden Death.—Sister Elizabeth Gates, widow of the late George Gates, of Mill Creek, arose this morning apparently in her usual health, and was engaged in some out-door duties when she suddenly fainted and called to her son who was near by, who hurried to her assistance, and carried her into the house. He then ran across the street to John Cook's for assistance and returned immediately, but just as he did so the old lady straightened herself out and expired. The cause of her death is not known, but it was probably heart disease. She has been a remarkably strong and healthy woman, and was probably about 70 years of age.

McKnight's Impudence.—This morning when the trial of Mr. Atkin commenced before Justice Speirs, James McKnight, who has been disbarred by the Supreme Court from practicing in any of the courts of this territory, arose to represent the defendant, and with his blandest smile turned to address the court. Assistant Prosecutor Fletcher interposed an objection to such proceedings, and assigned as the reason the disbarment. With cool impudence the attorney assured the court that he was not disbarred, the matter being in statu quo, awaiting a rehearing of the case. This piece of effrontery, however, failed to have the desired effect upon the court, who informed McKnight that he could not proceed, and the latter collapsed, muttering that he was not going to be "muzzled."

Released and Placed Under Bonds.—Yesterday afternoon Elizabeth Ann Starkey, alleged to be the plural wife of Charles L. White, who refused to answer certain questions propounded by the grand jury, and has been imprisoned in the penitentiary for the past two months, was brought into court. The conclusion had evidently been reached that it would be impossible to compel the witness to testify before the present grand jury, so she was bound over to appear before the grand jury of the September term.

Bonds Increased.—At the close of the preliminary examination of John Wm. Snell, before Commissioner McKay, Eliza Shafer was bound over in $200 bonds to appear and testify as a witness before the grand jury. Yesterday, upon her release from the Penitentiary, she was again arrested and taken before Judge Zane, the prosecution evidently having become unnecessarily frightened lest the witness might not appear, and her bail increased to $700, which was furnished.

Hurt His Head.—Brother Henry Grov was accidentally thrown from a two-wheeled gig on Tuesday evening, through the stumbling of the horse behind which he was riding, and the result is a severe contusion on the right side of the head and a painful bruise on the side of his body.

NEW PROCESS OF REFINING SUGAR.

SOMETHING WHICH WILL PROBABLY REVOLUTIONIZE THE SUGAR-REFINING INDUSTRY.

A NEW USE FOR ELECTRICITY.

It would almost seem that the adaptability of electricity is unlimited. We lately published an account of certain experiments that had been made in England, proving the efficacy of electricity in the matter of clearing the atmosphere—settling dust or fumes of smoke or mineral in a room, and now we learn of still another and even more important use to which it has been applied—that of refining sugar.

Brother Arthur Stayner, who is ever on the alert to learn something in the line of sugar making, came across an article from an English paper a short time since, giving an account of a discovery that had been made by which electricity was used as a refiner, and of a company being organized for the purpose of putting the new process into practice on an extensive scale. He took the address of the company, and on his recent visit to New York called upon the parties who are at the head of it.

We interviewed Brother Stayner this morning on the subject, and he showed us samples of the sugar, forty barrels of which had been refined by this new process in seven hours. It has a beautiful white appearance, and before being crushed consists of small balls or spherical collections of crystals rather larger than peas. The crystallization seems to be quite different to that which is produced by the usual process of refining.

The secret of the process is yet with the discoverer, who refuses to divulge it even to the members of the company who are to engage with him in the business, nor has he yet patented it, lest it might become known before the plans for entering upon the business upon an extensive scale can be perfected. It has been suggested to him that Edison or some other ingenious electrician might make the discovery also and get the start of him in patenting it, but he is willing to take his chances on that.

Though the details are not known, however, it is known that it is a dry process, that he takes the crude sugar and converts it, at a cost of 50 cents per ton, into the beautiful, refined globules that we have seen.

As stated, a company has been formed, English capitalists are putting up the money, and a refinery is shortly to be built at a cost of $100,000, which is expected to make 4,000 barrels of sugar per day.

The sample shown us was made from the ordinary Louisiana sugar, but some made from sorghum raised in Kansas was also tried, and the result was the same. It will work equally well in the refining of any kind of sugar.

It is said that Sprechler, who has a monopoly of the sugar business in the west, has offered $10,000 for the exclusive right of the process in California.

If all be true that is said about it, a wonderful revolution is likely to be the result soon in the sugar business.

It is estimated that an outlay of $25,000 would be sufficient to establish a refinery that would be ample for all the requirements of this Territory.

Adventure with a Bear.—A man by the name of Stephen Thompson who is engaged in herding sheep in the region of Elk Horn Mountains, in Summit County, lately met with quite an adventure, in which he may be said to have had "a close call." While in the act of hunting for a new camp ground, and at a distance from any other place, he crossed his path and he fired at it twice. The report of his gun startled a she-bear which, with her two cubs, was hidden in the high grass near by, and she made right towards him in the most aggressive manner possible. He had but one shot left, and realizing the necessity of using that to the best possible advantage, he took a steady aim and fired. The shot took effect in her neck and she fell as if dead. After waiting a few moments and seeing she did not move, he concluded that his shot must have proved fatal and started after the cubs in the hope of capturing them. He had scarcely done so when, to his horror, he saw the old bear spring to her feet and come towards him with all the fury imaginable. Thinking that running would be useless in such close quarters, he reversed his gun and prepared to club her when she attacked him, but, to his infinite relief and surprise she dropped dead when within a few feet of him. He subsequently tried to find the cubs, but they had made good their escape in the high grass. The fortunate hunter secured the carcass, and writes to his wife in this city that he is well supplied with bear's grease hair pomade.

Fire and Crops.—We learn from Mr. William B. Barton, who returned from Thursday last from a brief visit to the Bear Lake country, that a fire occurred on Wednesday, on the premises of Mr. Thos. Passey, situated near the bridge over Bear River, in the vicinity of Montpelier. The loss was considerable, the quantity of hay consumed alone amounting to between 90 and 100 tons. The corral and barn were also destroyed. By the exertions of neighbors Mr. Passey's house and cheese factory were saved. The cause of the blaze was the common one—a combination of small boys and matches.

Harvesting has begun in Bear Lake Valley, and probably all the grain in that region will be ready for cutting inside of two weeks. The crops are excellent.

Petty Larceny.—This morning Officer Clayton arrested a boy about fifteen years of age, on a charge of having stolen a silver watch from a peddler of jewelry named Charles Cadwell. An explanation was made, showing that the boy had received the watch from a little girl, and the lad was discharged upon payment of costs.

The boy's mother, who is a widow, then entered complaint against Cadwell, charging him with enticing her child to steal jewelry for him. Cadwell was arrested this afternoon, and will have a hearing before Justice Speirs on Monday.

Bonds Increased.—At the close of the preliminary examination of John Wm. Snell, before Commissioner McKay, Eliza Shafer was bound over in $200 bonds to appear and testify as a witness before the grand jury. Yesterday, upon her release from the Penitentiary, she was again arrested and taken before Judge Zane, the prosecution evidently having become unnecessarily frightened lest the witness might not appear, and her bail increased to $700, which was furnished.

Hurt His Head.—Brother Henry Grov was accidentally thrown from a two-wheeled gig on Tuesday evening, through the stumbling of the horse behind which he was riding, and the result is a severe contusion on the right side of the head and a painful bruise on the side of his body.

Reciever Appointed.—Another step was taken in the Third District Court, to-day, in reference to the Palace Hotel muddle. C. E. Whittemore made an argument in favor of the petition of Madsen & Co., asking that a receiver be appointed for certain furniture, not included in the execution formerly issued, on which they held a chattel mortgage for $300. The decree was granted, and W. C. Burton was appointed receiver.

Drowned.—Last evening's Ogden Herald contains the following account of a sorrowful accident: "This afternoon, as Master Charles Carroll, a bright eleven year old, son of Mr. Wm. Carroll, of this city, was swimming or playing in the Ogden River, just north of the Driving Park, he got into a swift current, was taken under and drowned. One of the Corey boys was with him, but could render no aid in time to save his life. The sad news was conveyed to the grief-stricken parents, and the body of the dead child taken to the city."

Boreman's Blunder.—Yesterday Marshal Ireland attempted to sell the furniture from the Palace Hotel, under authority of an execution issued by the Third District Court, in favor of H. Boreman, against O. H. Riggs and others. The attorneys for the defendants interposed an objection, Judge Boreman having granted them a stay of execution, which, however, was not on file. Application was made to Judge Zane, but he refused to interfere with Judge Boreman's business. In the meantime a letter was received from Boreman, advising the marshal, and saying he had forgotten to file the necessary papers. After some cross-talking, the parties concerned, realizing that Boreman was hardly responsible for his blundering work, consented to let the matter rest. The muddling judge returned last evening, and to-day proceeded to plaster the affair over as well as he could, by revoking his stay of execution. Another notice of sale will now have to be given.

Death of Riley Judd.—By communication from James Ratcliffe we learn that W. R. Judd, whose demise we mentioned in last evening's issue, breathed his last on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

On Wednesday evening he was as usual entertaining some of his numerous friends with his jokes until a late hour, and about two o'clock the following morning he was attacked with apoplexy, which left him unconscious until death ensued. Dr. Dodd, of Tooele was in attendance, but his skill was of no avail.

Deceased was born at West Port, Ontario, Canada, May 1, 1858. The funeral service will be held in the Grantsville meeting house at 2 p.m. to-morrow (Sunday.) The friends of the family are invited to be in attendance, and to accommodate those who wish to go from other places, arrangements have been made, through the courtesy of Supt. W. R. Witter, for the western mountain train to run to the "Hallway House," where conveniences will meet the party to take them out to Grantsville. The fare out and back will be only fifty cents.

"Too Hot for Poll Tax."—On Tuesday the poll tax collector called upon Sam Hurd, at a Chinese wash house, and requested him to settle his poll tax. Sam flew into a passion, and roundly abused the collector, saying he would not pay. The officer vainly endeavored to conciliate the enraged Celestial, telling him that if the tax was not paid his goods would be seized for the debt, and then went away. Twice since then the collector has called for the amount, and each time received similar treatment. This morning Sam was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace, and tried in the Police Court. He said that when people looked at his sour face, and his word could not be doubted on that point, they always thought him mad, and it was his habit to talk loud and use language objected to. The judge did not consider the excuse sufficient, and imposed a fine of $10, informing Sam that he must pay the poll tax or work it out. The Chinaman started for the store of Quong Wey to borrow the money for the fine, saying it was "too hot to work poll tax this year; not much go in sun with shovel; work next year." He paid the fine, and was left to reconsider his refusal to pay poll tax.

From Fillmore.—Gabriel Huntsman, one of the enterprising residents of Millard County, is up from his home in Fillmore, and from him we learn that the prospects are somewhat better in that region than usual, although money is scarce there as elsewhere. The grain crop is unusually good throughout the whole country. Scipio, the best grain-producing settlement of that region, never had such a heavy yield of the cereal before as this year. The fruit at that place, however, is an entire failure, owing to late spring frosts. A number of improvements in the building line are going on there, and the people are generally quite prosperous. Holden, the first settlement south of Scipio, has developed wonderfully during recent years, and one would scarcely recognize it now as the site of what was once known as Butternut Fort, where a few families engaged principally in stock-raising resided. It is now a good sized, flourishing settlement, with substantial brick houses embowered in trees which are this year in full fruit, and the yield in that line is unusually heavy. The settlement is being looked upon as a promising one. Broder Huntman's business here at the present time is to arrange for the importation of fruit canning machinery from Santa Cruz, California. To establish the industry in Fillmore. His efforts in that line will doubtless meet with the hearty support of his neighbors, who have heretofore had much of their fruit spoil for lack of facilities to prepare it for the market, and he is succeeding in placing upon the market as good products as can be imported, which he doubtless will, the public generally ought to be willing to patronize him. He is also endeavoring to establish a grist mill at Fillmore, having purchased the old Bartholomew mill, which has not been in operation for a number of years. He is now extending the race further up the creek, so as to gain some six or seven feet more fall and thus increase the power. His purpose is to fit the mill up with the latest improved machinery. A few residents of Fillmore some few months since, organized a company for the manufacture of lumber, and established a saw mill in Chalk Creek Canyon, where they are doing a good business and getting out some excellent lumber, under the supervision of James A. McVillie. Sister Stringman, who is residing at Holden, with her son George Badger, is reported to have met with an accident last on Tuesday last, resulting in the fracture or dislocation of her collarbone. Brother Huntsman expects to return home the early part of next week.
