NEWS OF THE WEST.

Switchman Cut in Two by a Locomotive Tender.

CHOKED TO DEATH BY AN ORANGE.

Poisoned by Tobacco—Buried in Death by Accident—Lucky Stage Robbery.

Boise, Idaho, has an epidemic of scarlet fever.

The stress House is so high in Los Angeles that snows hold their pre-tenancies lost outside of town.

Emma Mayer, a 14-year-old girl, was burned to death in San Francisco Tuesday, through lighting a fire with kerosene.

W. S. McCarsten, C. J. Stevenson and W. H. Thomas, of Salt Lake, stopped at the Golden Eagle hotel in Sacramento on Monday.

A survey has been completed for a water storage reservoir and canal system that will irrigate 10,000 acres in the Cotton Valley, Cal.

A San Francisco, Cal., resident has a 10-acre lime orchard just coming into bearing, that is the large st orchard of the kind in the United States.

James B. Whitney, a pioneer carrying a card from Los Angeles office, No. 19, was killed at the Cascade freight sheds, Cal., on Tuesday.

A Chinese vegetable vendor named Man Sing, while helping Nanaimo River at Nanaimo, B. C., the other day, was carried away by the current and drowned.

Anthony and Thomas Enoles, aged respectively 18 and 16 years, were drowned in Snow lake, Oregon City, Sunday, while attempting to cross the lake on a raft.

Mrs. "Ted" Morse, whose husband, while rector of the San Bernardino, Cal., National bank, was shot and killed by robbers in 1893, is insane, and has been committed to the Highland asylum.

Sea crabs have begun to make their appearance off the northwest coast of Oregon. One was seen off Otter point last week, two were killed near Port Orford, and three have been seen near Wedderburn.

At the Lafayette, Wis., election on Tuesday the taxpayers ticket meets defeat and one consequence, while the Republicans elected mayor, treasurer and city clerk, the Democrats, the incumbents, elected a full city ticket, the majority being from 1 to 85, in a total vote of 750.

Bakersfield, Cal., Morning Echo: A gentleman who has been through the Porterville and Lindsay country looking up data on pump irrigation says he knew one man who was lifting water cheap for fuel and irrigation was present at a cost of 42 cents per acre.

San Diego, Cal., officers have captured thieves in that city who have stolen their loot from the public library. The library records called a grocery store to mind, that necessities and luxuries of life and were selected.

James Mariner, a vagrant in the employ of the Kern County Land company, Cal., was recently thrown from his horse and dragged about 100 yards. His heels were knocked out, jaw fractured, nose cut to ribs, face badly cut, collarbone fractured and his body badly bruised.

Mrs. P. C. Carlile, the mother of Mayor J. J. Carlile of Santa Monica, Cal., died on Tuesday. She had the distinction of having made the first American flag used in California. She was the mother of Mrs. C. E. Smith, wife of the general freight agent of the Southern Pacific.

Los Angeles Times: It is noted that since the extensive plantings of eucalyptus trees in Southern California there have been no droughts. Therefore we do assert that the change in climatic conditions has been due to the planting of trees, and the eucalyptus, being the tallest of those species, probably exerts a special influence over the clouds, inducing precipitation.

The United States grand jury at Boise, Idaho, Tuesday returned an indictment against Jack Moloney and James Tate, the alleged Oregon stage robbers. The men are charged in the indictment with having attempted on the 20th day of October, 1895, at the Nampa street City mail route, to rob the mail. Both men are in prison awaiting trial.

Bad luck follows the Ashford family at Vancouver, B. C. A short time ago the father killed his wife and two children in a fit of insanity and afterwards killed himself. Three children survived. One daughter was married to a popular young man named John Dunn. Tuesday he hanged himself. They were brought in the young widow. Dunn, who was but 26 years old, was coupling cars at Hastings sawmill, on the Canadian Pacific, when he was thrown on the rails, the loader cutting him in two.

W. H. Thomas, a well-known mining man, died at Phoenix, Arizona, on Tuesday under peculiar circumstances. He was shooting on a short hunting trip with a friend, when he stopped to eat a lunch and unwrapping with a friend. While biting he suddenly grasped at his throat and commenced to gasp. His friend caught him by the arm and asked him what the trouble was. Thomas did not reply, but fell to the pavement, where he gave a few gasps and expired. A physician offered to take to do anything but make an examination of the corpse. He said that death was caused by suffocation, part of the orange sticking to the windpipe, completely choking it.

There was a wild scene in the Oakland, Cal., police court Tuesday morning when Solomon Baumgarten, a rich but penurious junk dealer, was found guilty by Judge Wise of failure to provide for his twenty-four-year-old child. Baumgarten would not employ a lawyer, and conducted the case himself. Mrs. Prescott of the Humane society had served his street. The court order let means the defendant to remove his car, and to would himself into a library, where he remained, swinging his arms and talking with an energy that was discouraging to the prosecution, which was a new remedy in state. When compelled to tell how much food he has provided for his household during the past few weeks Baumgarten said: "Twenty-five pounds of meat and three pounds of flour—enough of my women and family." Baumgarten has twelve children.
