PULLING FOR SALT LAKE.

Local Capitalists Aroused Over the Wyoming and Utah Railroad.

THIS CITY'S CLAIMS PRESENTED.

A Strong Effort to be Made to Have the Road Come to Salt Lake Instead of Ogden.

The news from Chicago that there have been recent important developments in the proposed Wyoming and Utah railroad incorporated to run from Casper, Wyoming, to Ogden in this Territory has had the effect of arousing a number of wealthy Salt Lakers to what they say is of vital importance to this city, and already they have commenced to lay their plans for concerted and effectual action.

"It is true," said one of the gentlemen who had the hand of the movement today, "that the proposed new road will extend the Fremont, Elk Horn and Missouri valley, the western extension of the Chicago & Northwestern to Ogden and give the Vanderbilts an almost continuous line across the continent. That is all right. I am glad of it, but Salt Lakers have a duty to perform, a magnificent city to pull for, large interests at stake and it is time they were awaking from their lethargy and a few of us will put our heads and money together and see if we can't benefit her and ourselves at the same time. What we want to do is to see if we can't bring that road to Salt Lake. Here is where it should come and will come if we are successful, and not up to the enterprising little burg on the Weber. The new road, if built, will bring lots of money to the Territory. Salt Lake's portion, materially and otherwise, is such that she should have first claim upon it."

It was learned from reliable authority this afternoon that the incorporators were communicated with by Salt Lakers today with a view to ascertaining how large a bonus would be necessary to induce them to build to Salt Lake instead of Ogden. It is expected that it will be a week or ten days and probably more before a reply will be received. In the meantime the scheme, it is said, will be worked for all it is worth.

THE DAVIS MURDER CASE.

The Defense Deprived of one of its Strongest Points.

Special to the News.

PROVO, December 21.

In the W. E. Davis murder case Judge Blackburn today made a ruling striking out the testimony of Mr. Hallock, offered yesterday afternoon, in relation to the threats of killing Davis, made by Brock and Dazel, because it was not shown that the threats had been communicated to Mr. Davis. The defense placed several other witnesses on the stand to prove that the threats had been made, but as the communication could no shown, the questions were objected to by Mr. Zane, and the objections sustained by the court. This deprives the defense of one of their strongest points.

BACK TO JAIL.

Alfred Graham Held to await the Action of the Grand Jury for Forgery.

Alfred Graham, the would-be suicide and alleged forger, had a preliminary examination before Justice Dee this afternoon. Assistant City Attorney Kelyton prosecuted and W. C. Reilly defended. The investigation resulted in Graham being held in default of $500 bonds to await the action of the grand jury.

Fred Wolfe, a sneak thief, was sent to jail for thirty days for stealing three pairs of blankets.

Carrie Simpson, the kleptomaniac negress, was sentenced to forty days' imprisonment for petit larceny.

George W. Jackson and James Cronin, accused of fighting, were discharged.

Robert J. Snowden was fined $10 for failing to record the purchase of second-hand goods.

Probate Court.

There was a very brief session of the Probate Court this morning and Judge Barzee made the following orders:

Estate of Wm. C. Miller, deceased. Decree of due and legal notice to creditors made. Hearing on final account and petition for distribution, and the matter was taken under advisement by the court.

In the matter of the estates of Henry E. Shingleton and Peter K. Liljenstolpe, the hearing in each case was continued till the 22nd inst.

Estate of Judith Temple Haven, deceased. Hearing on final account and petition for distribution. The account was allowed and the petition taken under consideration.

Woolley Steam Laundry.

A new and apparently prosperous business enterprise has been started in this city in the shape of a thoroughly modern steam laundry. It is owned and managed by O. A. and George E. Woolley and is located at No. 145 South Main and East streets. The boys are both hard workers and say that if persistent application to business and constant efforts to please their patrons will win then they will succeed. They already employ thirteen hands and are well satisfied at the recognition and support they are receiving from their friends.

DEEP CREEK RAILROAD.

A Local Company Organized this Afternoon to Build it.

COLONEL MURRAY'S SCHEME.

Manager Jacobs Telegraphs that He has Floated Bonds to Extend His Road to the Lake.

Another epoch has been reached in Colonel Murray's much talked of and erstwhile dubious scheme to build a railroad to that El Dorado which is supposed to exist in the great American desert in the vicinity of Deep creek.

Colonel Murray now claims that victory has at last come to his unceasing efforts and that the road will be built. For several days past he has been at work endeavoring to interest local capitalists in the stock in a company which he has been organizing, and it came to the NEWS by grape vine telegraph this afternoon that the articles of incorporation had been prepared and would probably be filed with the Territorial Secretary this evening.

A NEWS reporter learned that Colonel Murray, Nick Trowset and several other prominent business men held a long and business-like meeting at Mr. Trowset's office today and that there was no doubt as to the filing of the papers either this evening or tomorrow. It is understood that the signature of one man is all that is now wanted.

THE ARTICLES FILED.

The articles of incorporation of this company were filed with Territorial Secretary Sells just as the NEWS was going to press.

THE WEST SIDE RAPID TRANSIT.

Information reached this city by wire from New York last night that Manager J. G. Jacobs of the West Side Rapid Transit, who went east about two weeks ago, had succeeded in floating bonds for the purpose of raising money to extend the electric car line to the lake, that he would return home shortly with the money and that the work of road bed construction and tracklaying will commence early in the spring.

THE CHORAL holds its final rehearsal of the Light of Asia Friday evening. Because of the busy holiday season the hour has been placed at 8 o'clock, and the work will be taken from beginning to end.

MY OFFICIAL WIFE.—My Official Wife, which is the attraction at the Salt Lake Theater Friday and Saturday night and Saturday matinee, is taken from the popular novel of that name—a story of exceptional interest in these days of Russian studies. Minnie Seligman Cutting will appear in the title role as a special attraction, and she is said to fill the part in all its requirements. Wm. F. Owen, last seen here as Sir Toby with Marie Wainwright, commands the leading male support in Miss Seligman, and Frank W. Sanger promises a cast uniformly good.

The Panama Scandal and Prospective Duels.

BLAINE RESTED COMFORTABLY.

Soldiers in Pursuit of the Mexican Revolutionists.

A FRENCH VILLAGE BURNED.

Republican Senate Caucus Committee Discuss the Situation in Northwest States.

PARIS, Dec. 21.—Minister Loubet says the prosecutions announced to come are absolutely necessary to purge the republic. Some of the accused might clear themselves, but others must be expelled from the parliament they have dishonored. Those who criticize the government for severity should await developments.

Arrangements for some of the duels growing out of the recent events in the chamber have been completed. Deputies Thompson and Monard-Dorian will second Clemenceau in both of his encounters. Dumontal and Barrier will represent De Rodede and Jourde and Cassoul will take care of Minister Loubet's interests. As all concerned are deputies, the duels can take place any where as the participants are exempt from prosecution.

MONEY EXPENDED ON THE CANAL.

According to statements issued by the liquidators the amount expended by the Panama Canal company reached the enormous total of $230,000,000. Achille Monchicourt, the last liquidator, places them under the following heads:

Sums expended preparatory to work and organization, $35,000,000; excavation and general expenses, $12,000,000; advertisements, taxes, etc., $17,000,000; construction material and transportation, $35,000,000; contractors, $68,000,000; purchase of the Panama railroad, $18,000,000; paid shareholders as old interest interest and invested for payment of interest, $42,000,000.

According to this account not the whole of the $260,000,000 has been lost. One-fifth of this sum has been repaid to the subscribers in the shape of interest and interim. Then there are assets represented by the fourth, fifth and sixth items. These four items even $140,000,000, the other three items amounting to a little over $65,000,000, the total loss of the whole amount expended is only a little over one third spent in actual construction of the canal.

DE ROULEDE AND CLEMENCEAU.

The coming duel between Clemenceau, editor of La Justice and De Rouleda, is causing considerable interest. De Rouleda has challenged Clemenceau the choice of weapons. The preparations for the event are being pushed rapidly forward.

The friends of Clemenceau say he intends a duel to the death and will be satisfied with nothing short of this. De Rouleda's friends aver also that he also is of a deadly mind and intends to kill Clemenceau or be killed himself. To prevent La Justice from having the exclusive report of the duel thereby making enormous sales, which would be especially harrowing to De Rouleda's friends in the case of his defeat, the latter have promised, it is said, to keep the other newspapers fully and promptly posted on the subject. Both combatants locked gate and secured this morning, but otherwise showed no sign of apprehension. The friends both are loud in their predictions of victory.

WILD RUMORS IN CIRCULATION.

The excitement over the Panama scandals today was greater than ever and the wildest reports were afloat of monarchist plots and coming streets. It is asserted that Herz has been in communication in London with the agents of the Count of Paris and that the exposure of the Thiers cheque is directly attributable to royalist influence. Another rumor is that officials and deputies, as well as others, connected with the Panama scandal, have had it intimated to them that their salvation lies in the espousal of the royalist schemes, and that all their offenses will be condoned, if they will commit to betray the republic. Some confidence is placed in well informed people in both camps. It is apparent that the royalist agents have assumed an activity they have not displayed for years. There is also evidence that royalist money is again afloat. Should the efforts take a turn favorable to a coup d'etat in behalf of royalty, it is probable, according to current reports, that the young duke of Orleans would be selected to lead the attack. The latter is more popular than any other member of his family and his offer to serve in the army as a conscript when he came of age made widely a favorable impression. The general opinion in the way of the royalist coup is that there are no signs of disloyalty in the army. Freycinet, minister of war, is unshaken by the scandal and has reassured his colleagues. Moreover, he has ordered a new assignment of generals in higher command to see that the loyalty of officers in the neighborhood of Paris are kept under the strictest discipline, and the greatest vigilance is exercised to prevent any tampering with the troops. The officers of the army as a class are of republican sympathies, the royalists and bonapartist democrats, especially the former, having been relegated on various pretexts to unimportant positions. The government is aware, it is said, has no doubt whatever of the fidelity of the troops and would at once call upon the garrison of Paris in the case of an outbreak on the part of the royalists.

The zeal of the enemies of the republic is also checked by a report, made current recently, but not doubted by anybody, that in the event of an insurrection, martial law would at once be proclaimed, and every insurgent captured to arms, either shot on the spot or executed after a summary court martial.

It is known that the officers of the navy are much more royalistic in tendency than those of the army, but no danger to the republic is expected from the navy, as it is believed the officers in command, however ardently some of them might welcome the re-establishment of monarchy, would hesitate long before risking the loss of desirable positions. The movement of the monarchist agitation is being carefully watched by the agents of the government in France, England and Spain, a special watch being kept at the passes of the Pyrenees, for fear the royalist movement might be attempted from that direction.

The soldiers crossed over from Mexico at the time of the fight opposite San Ygnacio, and have remained on this side of the river of their own free will. They refuse to return to Mexico, but for what reason is unknown. It is believed by many that they are in sympathy with the bandits and that they will join the bandits when the opportunity offers.

Two troops of the Third cavalry in command of Lieutenant West is still in hot pursuit of the bandits.
