The Evening paper is the paper of Today, the morning paper is the paper of Yesterday.

DESERET EVENING NEWS.

5 O'clock -EDITION.-

TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 84. FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1894, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVII.

LATEST DISPATCHES.

Congressman Wilson Recovering from His Illness.

GLADSTONE RESIGNS TOMORROW.

Czar's New Sphere of Confusion.—Smokeless Powder and New E 2 s.—Remarkable Court Scene.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 2.—Congressman Wilson, at Guadalajara, is recovering satisfactorily. The attack of typhoid fever has left him. He needs only nursing and rest. The doctors trust after ten to fourteen days convalescence he can start for home.

The Silver Bill Stands.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The comptroller of currency has called for a statement of the condition of the national banks at the close of business February 28.

A Failure Announced.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., March 2.—Wakefield & Co.'s, the largest merchantile house in the city, has failed. The liabilities are $150,000 and the assets $75,000.

CONGRESS MATTERS.

A Bill for the Opening Up of Certain Reservations.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The bill to allow homesteaders to settle on and opening to settlement certain abandoned military reservations, which taken up after some business of minor importance and after some amendments passed, Bailey (Tex.), elected congressman at large from Pennsylvania, was sworn in.

India's Finances.

CALCUTTA, March 2.—Finance Minister Westlake announced at yesterday's viceregal council that the deficit amounted to 30,000,000 rupees. The new duties proposed would leave 15,000,000 rupees unprovided for. The minister said there was some doubt as to the actual proceeds from the duties, especially on silver. The bill proposed by Westlake was referred to a select committee, which will sit daily and make report on the 15th of the month.

TO CHEAT THE GOVERNMENT.

A Big Conspiracy Discovered in Quebec and New York.

QUEBEC, March 2.—A big conspiracy to defraud the United States revenue has been discovered here in New York. Goods were shipped from England to Quebec and New York as miscellaneous dry goods, substituted and forwarded to fictitious firms, and the imported goods were kept in New York and sold. There are about forty cases in the warehouse here, undeclared.

Blows to Anvils.

GIBBSTOWN, N. J., March 2.—An explosion, so severe that it was felt fifteen miles away, occurred in one of the buildings of the Repauno Chemical company this morning, demolishing the building, damaging the surrounding structures and blowing Levi Jones, the only person in the building, to atoms.

The Hooker Case.

MADISON, Wis., March 2.—The whole morning session in the Hooker case was taken up with the cross-examination of McPaul. His testimony was unshaken.

AN OREGON DRAMA.

Quarrel, Murder and Suicide on a Farm.

EUGENE, Or., March 2.—Albert Moses and Dibble, living on a farm near here, quarreled last night, and Albert Coleman, a neighbor, took sides with the latter. Later young Moses went to Coleman's house and shot and killed Coleman's married daughter, wounded another daughter, fatally shot Coleman and then suicided.

TO LEARN A TRADE.

Sons Of Shame Will Make Clothes in Sing Sing.

SING SING, N. Y., March 2.—John Y. McKane was put in the tailor shop this morning to learn the trade.

The Culture of Elk.

Special Dispatch to the NEWS.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 2.—The culture of young elk for the market is the principal industry of the residents of the valleys in the Big Horn mountains during the spring months. Several contracts have already been made for the delivery of the animals at the ranches at $20 a head.

The Scalp of a Woman.

Special Dispatch to the NEWS.

LARAMIE, Wyo., March 2.—W. H. McDonald, of Big Creek, in the county part of Uinta county, has discovered another relic of an early tragedy in Wyoming. It was the scalp of a woman, which he found sticking out of a willow tree. Wrapped up with the scalp were a dozen of shells and other Indian trinkets. The hair was auburn and it has evidently been converted many years.

AT A DANCE.

A Quarrel About a Woman and Its Fatal Sequel.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 2.—At a dance in Moore county last night, George Hussey and W. H. Hoffler Jr., quarreled over Hussey's wife, and began shooting. Hoffler was killed on the spot. Hussey fled to the woods and it is supposed he died of his wounds.

Rifles and Smokeless Powder.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—General Flagler, chief of ordnance, will issue the first instalment of the new Krag-Jorgensen rifles to the Second Infantry which left Omaha the second set to the Fourth Infantry at Fort Sherman, Idaho. F. A. Hodgins the national armory at Springfield, Mass., has been working on the rifles, and parts for nearly a thousand have been completed and are now being assembled. The first lens is expected to reach the agents. After that the armory will be able to supply two companies monthly, thus retiring all of the old Springfields from army use in about a year from sale. With the new rifles will go a supply of smokeless powder and ammunition.

Silver in London.

LONDON, March 2.—Bar silver, 37 1-16 ounce, 37.

THE MONETARY CONGRESS.

No Probability that One Will Be Held This Year.

Comments on the Attitude of England.—Prospects for an International Agreement.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 2.—None of the silver men in the House expressed any surprise when informed of the discouraging remarks of the British chancellor of the Exchequer on the subject of the recommending of the monetary conference. McCreary, Kentucky, delegate from the United States to the conference, said: "The outlook does not indicate that an international monetary conference will be held this year. There is, however, a growing feeling in favor of the use of bimetallic money. Although I am for an enlarged use of silver, England has been in favor of gold monometallism many years, but there are many statesmen who favor international bimetallism. England has conceded the way more than any other nation and proposed an international agreement for many years, but I believe there will be after a while such demand for international bimetallism that an international conference must be held. But it is probably impossible that it can assemble until several of the leading nations of Europe indicate a desire for a conference."

Newlands (Nev.) said he had no expectation that England would move for the reassembling of the conference while the Liberals remain in power. If the conservatives could secure control, he could conceive the prospect brighter for an international agreement. He was confident that neither this administration nor the country would go to Congress for a change.

Senator Allison, another delegate to the last conference, read the dispatch with the remark that he had known all the time that the United States would not propose another conference.

Bland said that the action of England was unpleasant. He believed that the United States should stand on its own feet. "I never took any stock in this international business." He added: "I believe it is a humbug."

Shipping the Gold.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Lazard Freres has engaged $1,225,000 gold for shipment tomorrow.

Shipping to a Free.

LONDON, March 2.—Labouchere has written a letter to the liberal whip protesting against the appointment of a peer as premier, saying it is as malevolent to the liberals as the radicals, and predicting the final dissolution of the party.

GLADSTONE'S RESIGNATION.

The Radicals Believe he Is Support Lord Rosebery.

LONDON, March 2.—By command of the queen, Gladstone and wife go to Windsor Castle this afternoon and remain her guests over night. At noon tomorrow the privy council will meet there, and Gladstone will resign the premiership. Lord Rosebery is not to be present. Gladstone is in excellent health and spirits. The radicals, headed by Labouchere, have decided not to serve under any peer as premier and say if Rosebery is appointed the new ministry will not last a week.

The Whole Gang Free.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 2.—Corbett having been acquitted, the attorney general today nolle prossqued the case against Mitchell and members of the Duval Athletic club.

Hanged for Murder.

BATON ROUGE, March 2.—Dave Johnson and Mansfield Washington were hanged this afternoon for the murder of Professor Emile Van Hoff, last October, and Mike Kane, in November.

The English in Nicaragua.

CORINTO, March 2.—The British warship Cleopatra arrived from Bluefields. It is learned that her commander left there an armed force of 60 men, in officers and 2 male, with instructions to protect the Mosquito reservation against the encroachments of the Nicaraguan government to break the treaty of 1860, securing autonomy to the former. On demand of the commander the chief of police was withdrawn and Cleopatra came hereto enable the admiral of the British fleet at Jamaica for instructions. As soon as answer was received, the Cleopatra got up steam and left for Bluefields.

A Prisoner's Deeds.

TRENTON, N. J., March 2.—Joseph Wallavitz, who has been in jail, sawed the bars of the cell and got into the corridor, lassoed Keeper Walters and choked him into unconsciousness, shot and killed Keeper Lippson at sight, escaped, but was recaptured.

Insurgents Defeated.

BUENOS AYRES, March 2.—It is reported that the Brazilian insurgents have been defeated at Sarmoi, losing 700 killed, besides many prisoners and guns.

SKINNED AND ROASTED.

A Black sinner's Fate in the Woods.

BARBERVILLE, Ky., March 2.—It is reported from Harlan county that Jim Lyon, the negro who murdered Miss Bryant near Williamsburg a year ago, recently returned and kidnapped a farmer's daughter and was for so doing roasted in the woods till discovered by posses. They waited for his return and proceeded to skin him alive. Before he was dead the girl died in the woods and he was found alive. It is said he confessed the murder of Miss Bryant and the kidnapping of three other girls in Kentucky and Tennessee, keeping them secreted till they died of ill treatment and exposure.

THE POPE'S SPEECH.

At the Celebration of His 84th Birthday Anniversary.

ROME, March 2.—The papal celebration of his 84th birthday today. In reply to congratulations he said he would continue to the end of his life to carry on the beneficent action of his church, adding: "The aim of this action, free of all exceptions to humanity, justice, authority, liberty, social rights and rights of the church, is everywhere the same. The church does not seek to impose its canons to the principles of modern science, but on the true canons of the sciences, seeking, exchanging the results of Free Masonry, unless the different classes of society with a feeling of equity and charity, long for the union with reciprocity and fruitful in all and equal for peace."

IN JENKINS'S COURT.

The Judge Endeavoring to be Impartial in Appearance.

MILWAUKEE, March 2.—Judge Jenkins is so ending to the arguments on the application of Chief Arthur, Chief Sargent and the counsel of the union railway men's union for a modification of Judge Jenkins's order enjoining the Northern Pacific employes from striking. The arguments will last all day and probably tomorrow. The courtroom is crowded with labor people and other friends.

During the argument Attorney Harper for the men had a hot setto with the court. Judge Jenkins brave in on him at one time and asked what he meant by the term "stricken."

Harper replied "It's simply quoting work."

"No, no," said the judge.

"Then what is a strike?" retorted Harper.

"It is quitting for the purpose of waiting certain conditions," replied the judge.

Harper could not agree with the judge and did not seem to be very much awed by the dignity of the court, which usually keeps even the greatest attorneys very careful and respectful. "But I am sure, sir, you will grant," he said to the judge, smiling as he at the jurist, "I will show you a special act of Congress which gives the men the very right which you have enjoined them from exercising."

Harper then resumed his argument.

Attorney Quarles followed in an argument on the application of the federal law to the point at issue, and said the natural construction of the language of the order or restrictions was very broad. It restrains the men from striking from any cause whatever, present and future, and it would not even let the chiefs of the railroad orders confer with the men.

"Will you please point out the clause which prohibits them from conferring with the men?" asked Judge Jenkins, who exhibited an unusual amount of heating throughout the argument and was frequently vehement in his remarks.

Quarles then gave his definition of the word strike and gave several references to sustain his definition.

The judge said there never was any intention to prevent the men from quitting, that the was their legal right, and if they wanted to, they could stop work clogs or in a body and go to Texas, if they wished.

"That is all we want," chuckled a man from the rear of the court room. The court soon afterwards took recess till the afternoon.

Quiet at the Mines.

EAGLE, W. Va., March 2.—All is quiet at the mines this morning. The strikers, after a conference last night, went home. The troops will probably be withdrawn today.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 2.—A telephone message at 1 p. m. says a large body of strikers is approaching Powellton to drive out the working miners. The sheriff is at the scene with a large posse, but he has asked the governor for troops. The governor is now in consultation with the military officers.

Martial law was declared at Eagle at noon. Governor McCorkle received a dispatch from Major Banks, in command of the three companies still there, that he had been asked that other troops be sent to Powellton, five miles from Eagle, to protect the working miners from a threatened attack by the miners. The governor replied that he would not send troops unless it was certain that the sheriff's posse could not maintain order. The governor has three militia companies ready to march on short notice, and declares he is determined to use every effort to maintain order.

It is suspected that the threatened attack on Powellton is a ruse to draw off the troops so as to allow Wyant's men at Eagle.

The strikers outnumber the troops and are armed with Winchesters, while the troops have only old army guns.

Governor McCorkle has issued orders to Major Banks to give the sheriff such military aid as he may need at Powellton. The latest advices from Powellton are far from reassuring.

Miners Threatening Shot.

POWELLTON, W.Va., March 2.—The strikers are preparing to attack the mine here. They assembled in such numbers and made a threatening manner that Sheriff Banks telegraphed the governor that troops were needed at once.

MONEY BY TELEGRAPH.

The School Board Gets $51,040 60 on Sale of Bonds This Afternoon.

Parson, Leach & Company, the Chicago bond-buying firm to whom the board of education sold its last issue of bonds amounting to $225,000, and the third instalment on the same the afternoon when they telegraphed the President Duke as follows some: For bonds, $51,000; interest, $1,041 60; premium, $899; of a total of $53,141 60.

PAUL WRITES AGAIN.

He is for the Union of the University and Agricultural College,

INDEPENDENT OF LOCATION.

Thinks He is in Capacity Accorded by "X" in the Comparative Services of the Two Institutions.

Editor Evening News:

I did not see the Friday (Wednesday evening) issue of "X" and again written a note as follows:

"It concentrates the following of all the various taught in the University, and not letter Agricultural College: Three years (entrance) third year, Three years of pedagogy, examination, pedagogy probably a chapter for the College (in the college) Latin, three years (third year), Greek, five years, French two years, German, two years, Spanish, one year, advanced trigonometry and surveying, and integral calculus. Time he asks for any education in Utah is not over his own signature whether a house, separates, etc., being, from a house, separates, etc., being, from a half and more than double to teach these extra branches, it appears for the past two years.

"Certainly there might cover the salaries required for the additional work, though the Deseret hence the adjustment to work adjusted salaries, and the writer would be pleased to agree with the conclusions if the facts on which it is based were correctly given. Unfortunately these alleged facts are nearly inaccurate.

"Evidence of the University program of instruction during the present term shows the following that should have been included in the list given above: Anglo-Saxon and English philology, advanced English philology, Gothic, advanced English literature (fourth year), history and philosophy of mathematics, advanced geometry, analytic geometry, conic sections, trigonometry and polynomials (advanced course), pedagogy (advanced course), physiology (advanced course), physiology, zoology, astronomy, astronomy, astronomy