Alexander Lee, a well known coast miner, died on Tuesday at San Bernardino.

The sawmills of Nevada county are running to their fullest capacity, and it is said that it will take them some time to catch up with their orders.

John T. Crane, in jail at Yuma on a charge of assault to kill and the robbery of a Chinaman, made an unsuccessful attempt at suicide on Wednesday.

The Cheyenne city council has passed an ordinance making it an offense punishable by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $75 to distribute poison for killing dogs.

The "formation chair" at Soda Springs has been taken from the spring and placed for a few days on exhibition at a drug store before being packed up and sent to Chicago. While the incrustation of the chair is perfect, the delicate outlines of the carving remain distinct and unchanged.

The Algodones (Cal.) land grant, confirmed some days ago, is one of the greatest additions to Yuma's prosperity. In three weeks the price of the land has risen from $50 to $150 per acre, and Harry Carpenter, now in Denver, has sold $300,000 worth at that price.

The usual kicking at this season of the year with reference to the distribution of water from the streams of the state of Wyoming has begun. There appears to be more trouble this year as the light snowfall last winter failed to fill the mountain gulches and consequently the streams are much lower than is usual at this season of the year.

A dispatch from Clermount, Wyoming, says that Cliff Crane and James Stewart, members of a roundup outfit, had a serious altercation. After some shooting on the street they met in a saloon. Crane struck Stewart over the head with a pistol. The weapon was discharged and Geo. Wilies, keeper of the place, wounded in the thigh. No arrests were made.

Allen Cummings, a well known faro dealer, spent Sunday in the city en route to Casper, Wyo., says the Cheyenne Leader, where she will open a bank. She has been dealing faro at Creede lately, but left the mining town for the excitement of the Saltram metropolis. It is understood Miss Cummings is backed by a wealthy Denver sport.

Sergeant Richard H. Dutton, company E, seventeenth infantry, has committed suicide at Fort Russell, Wyo., by shooting himself through the head with a 45-calibre revolver. The deed was done in the orderly room while the soldiers were at dinner and the body was not discovered until half an hour later. Sergeant Dutton was a good soldier and popular with his comrades. He had been nearly twenty years in the service and was serving the last year of his fourth enlistment. No cause is assigned for the rash act. He has relatives in Kansas and Iowa.

A story comes from Montpelier, Idaho, telling that that little town is passing through a scandal in high life. It seems that a local photographer has been exhibiting a nude photograph of one of the leading society ladies of Montpelier, and that the same means every society lady in the little burg has seen the picture and talked it over with her friends and told how "horrid" it was. The talk was so fast and furious, says an exchange, that the fair lady in question heard about it and at once instituted suit against the photographer, alleging that he had taken her face and affixed it to a nude portrait.

George M. Walters owned a farm at Irvington, Col., and was worth about $15,000. The other day Mr. Walters died and left a will which is not in the usual line of testaments. The deceased did not want his widow to marry again, so he took steps to try and prevent her from sharing the joys and sorrows of a second husband. The will has been filed for probate, and therein the testator gives his widow the income of his estate for life. At her death the property is to go to his daughter, Mrs. Ida B. Cash, for life, and at her death it is to go to her children. But the will also says that in case of the marriage of the widow she is to lose all and the property will go to the married daughter.

A telegram from Landers, (Wyo.) says: Four prisoners broke jail at this place at 5 o'clock on Wednesday evening when supper was taken in by Deputy H. R. Brewer. The prisoners were in the corridor and when the door was opened they pounced upon him, disarmed and gagged him and locked him up in a cell. They then went out through the town to the Short's livery stables, held him up, taking four horses, saddles, etc., besides fully arming themselves, riding out of town, going out towards the mountains. Their names are Richard Carr, Joseph Natcher and Edward Nye, alias Montana Kid, all in for horse stealing. Carr a short time ago, was arrested in Nebraska and broke jail at Casper. The other prisoner, Ran ar Dirk, is charged with stealing 650 head of sheep which he trailed into Idaho before being captured.

Slaughter is about to commence again in Chinatown, San Francisco, says the Chronicle. From all parts of the state highbinders are pouring into the notorious quarter, and all indications point to a great battle. The police are preparing to check the war in its inciptency, for they realize that if the hatchet men in their present surly frame of mind are permitted to start their merriments were the streets of Chinatown will be dyed crimson. There are other causes besides the Geary act which have served to arouse the Chinese. Times are very dull. The police have pursued the pigtailes so persistently that their purses find it a business unprofitable. There is no demand for labor. The railroads no longer employ large gangs of Chinese in building roads, and other interests which formerly had use for thousands of laborers now employ very few. In fact times are so dull that the Chinese say they will leave the country of their own will before long. Very little money goes into the Chinese quarter from outside sources, and they cannot live upon each other. On top of all their misfortune comes the Geary law. All these things have made them very wicked, and they may be expected to inaugurate a carnival at any minute.

Clifford Matthews of Texas is in Oakland, Cal., looking for his son, whom he has followed many miles. He appeared in the office of a justice of the peace and succeeded in obtaining the information he was in search of. It appears that his son, Clifford Wesley Matthews, who is 24 years of age, became infatuated with Miss Sophie Adeline Moore, a young lady of 22 summers, but the father of the young man did not approve of the match and commenced to upset the plans of the young couple. They were then at Fort Worth, Tex., and the young lady and her lover made arrangements in stops. Miss Moore quietly left on the train at night, and Matthews followed the next day. They met at a way station and hurried to San Francisco. The angry father started in pursuit, but he was two days behind the runaways. On May 11th young Matthews and Miss Moore arrived in San Francisco, and the next day came to Oakland and procured a marriage license and were married by Judge Coil. Both gave their residence as San Francisco. After the wedding day they went across the bay and that is the last that has been heard of them. The father was allowed to peruse the marriage license and was satisfied that his son was married all right. Now he wants to find the young bridegroom and induce him to return home.

Martha Williams, Plaintiff,
John C. Williams, defendant.

The people of the Territory of Utah send greeting to John C. Williams, defendant.

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you in the above complaint, in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Utah, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county, or if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise within forty; otherwise judgment will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint.

The nature of the action is to have a decree of this court dissolving the bonds of matrimony between plaintiff and defendant, for the cause of the adultery and for such other and further relief as may be just and equitable in the premises. Page, more fully set out in plaintiff's complaint.

And plaintiff hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded therein.

Witness the Hon. Charles S. Zane, Judge and Judge of the Probate Court of the Third Judicial District, in and for the Territory of Utah, this 25th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three.
