BREVITIES.

Sitka is foggy 300 days a year.

Paris has 30,000 shoemakers.

Ink has been called the black slave that waits upon thought.

Two hundred thousand cigars are made per month in the Michigan State Prison.

Every dead infant picked up in Philadelphia costs $40 dollars for inquest. New York pays $50.

Truth is tha most powerful thing in the world, since fiction can only please by its resemblance to it.

Pride and opulence may kiss in the morning, as a married couple, but they are likely to be divorced before sunset.

The pleasantest things in the world are pleasant thoughts; and the greatest art in life is to have as many of them as possible.

Eighteen members of the present British Parliament have, since its organization in 1865, been unseated for bribery connected with their elections.

Canada has adopted a judicious severity with regard to applicants for divorce. They must give notice in the newspapers for six months before their application can be received.

Fat is now the rage in fashionable circles. Ladies cultivate it. They are devouring vast quantities of butter, mashed rose leaves, and such like.

Dante was asked by the Prince of Verona how he could account for the fact that, in the household of princes, the court fool was in greater favor than the philosopher. "Similarity of minds," said the fierce genius, "is world all the over a test of friendship."

Smith asked Jones what the high price of meat was owing to. "A considerable part of it is owing to my butcher'" said Jones, "for it is two months since I have paid him."

There is much sound argument in the reply of a country lad to an idler who boasted of his ancient family. "So much the worse for you," said the peasant; "as we ploughmen say—the older the seed the worse the crop."

When Fox was boasting of having prevailed on the French Court to give up the gum trade, Selwyn observed, "As you have permitted the French to draw your teeth, they would be fools indeed, to quarrel with you about your gums."

Who is wise?
He that is teachable.
Who is mighty?
He that conquers himself.
Who is rich?
He that is contented.
Who is honored?
He that honoreth others.

Fontenelle lived to nearly a hundred years old. A lady of nearly the same age said to him one day in a large company, "Monsieur, you and I stay here so long that I've a notion death has forgotten us." "Speak as low as you can," said Fontenelle, "lest you should remind him of us."

The new directory of New York city, mentions 324 churches in that city, as follows: Baptist, 31; Congregationalist, 7; Reformed, 17; Friends, 3; Jewish Synagogues, 27; Lutheran, 13; Methodist, 43; African Methodist, 4; Presbyterian, 64; Catholic, 39; Unitarian, 3; Universalist, 3, and 18 miscellaneous.

The Louisville Journal says: "Don't advertise; it is a very bad plan. It will call attention to your place of business, and it is much better for people who wish to trade with you to hunt you up. It gives your customers exercise, and makes them healthy. Besides, if you advertise, somebody will buy up all your goods, and it will be a great bother to you. Don't do it. Stewart and Ayer, Bonner and Schenck and others, never advertise."

The following advertisement lately appeared in a Chicago German paper. It is slightly pointed, to say the least:

"REWARD AND WARNING.

"My wife, Barbara Rikschen, nee Roelern, has either run away from me or been stolen. I shall smash the head of the person who brings her back to me. As I do not pay my own debts, it is not probable that I shall pay hers.
LOUIS RIKSCH."

Somebody pretends to have explored the wardrobe of the Princess de Metternich, and catalogues it as consisting of 119 dresses of silk, each of 119 pieces, and trimmed with 1900 yards of trimmings; 164 morning gowns of various materials, adorned with one million of buttons; 61 walking dresses and cloaks, ornamented with one ton of bugles; 51 shawls of various sizes and colors; 152 petticoats, in variety; 465 other undergarments; 365 pairs of stockings; 156 pairs of gloves of every known color; 49 pairs of boots and shoes; 71 sashes and belts; 64 brooches, in variety; 72 pairs of ear-rings in variety; 31 fans; 24 parasols; 1 umbrella.

Minargent, recently invented in Paris, and which may be compared to silver, possesses, according to the London Mining Journal, nine-tenths of its whiteness, malleability, ductility, tenacity, sonorousness, and density, while it has a superior metallic lustre, wears better, is less liable to be acted on by the emanations of sulphuretted hydrogen, and is less fusible than silver. Minargent may be used for all purposes to which silver or other white metals or alloys are applicable. It is composed of one thousand parts of pure copper, seven hundred parts of pure nickel, fifty parts of pure tungsten, ten parts of pure aluminium. The inventors do not, however, limit themselves to the exact proportions given. The chief features of the minargent consist in the introduction in the alloy of pure tungsten and pure aluminium, and also a considerable proportion of nickel which they have discovered in alloying with the aluminium. The metal is formed into ingots, and molded in sand in the ordinary way.
