LEAGUE HAS BEEN SUPPRESSED.

People now traveling in Ireland declare the condition of the country was greatly improved, and the judges confirmed his opinion. The government arraigned against it the forces recognized by the opposition. He claimed the figures advanced justified coercion, and proved the government policy successful. (Cheers.)

John Moriey said the House would infer from Balfour's speech what the temper was in which he administered coercion. Regarding Irish criminal statistics, he said the period showing a decrease of crime included the six months durign which eviction notices could not be executed. [Cries of hear, hear!] The Irish party was now assured it would ultimately realize its aspirations. If it should ever be deprived of that hope the effects of coarcion in aggravating social disorder would become painfully apparent.

marrington (nationalist) called Bal-four's speech "a choice example of HIS MENDACITY."

The speaker called upon Harrington to withdraw the expression.

Harrington acquiesced, but said he did so only under command. Harrington continued and said: "Everybody conversant with affairs in Ireland knows the magistrates administered the crimes act and did all they could to irritate the people. Balfour's regime oppressed the people, tried to suppress those vindicating the people's rights, but the principles of liberty would be fought for until they triumphed."

The Anti-Trust Bill.

Representative Rayner made an argument before the House committee on manufactures this morning in support of his bill to prevent the creation of trusts. Rayner did not attempt to convince the committee of the injuly of trusts, except as incidental to the necessity for the legislation he proposed. The greater part of his speech was delivered in explanation of the different sections of the bill, and on the constitutionality of the legislation proposed. He said that the bill declared it unlawful for individuals, companies or corporations doing business in any State or Territory, by which the price of an article dealt in shall be fixed at any standard or figure by which its price to the public shall be fixed or established. Under that provision of the Constitution, he said, which gives Congress the power to regulate the commerce between tion proposed.
