GOVERNOR WEST.

He Returned to Salt Lake from Washington This Morning.

AFTER TWO MONTHS' ABSENCE.

An Interview Had With His Excellency By a Representative of the "News."

At three o'clock this morning Governor West arrived in the city over the Union Pacific railroad, after a journey of nearly two months at the national capital. He left here on June 18, intending at that time to go over to let at New York before returning home, but owing to his prolonged stay in Washington this extended trip was abandoned. The Governor is in excellent health, having derived considerable benefit from his trip, which he states was a most agreeable one in every respect. He has described the boat back East as almost comfortable and says he often wishes away, in nonsequence, sighed for Utah's cool mountain breezes and a refreshing dip in our inland Salt Lake.

Asked as to the business outlook in the Eastern states, Governor West said that inasmuch as he stayed in Washington the entire time, he had no opportunity of judging for himself as to other places; but all the people whom he met seemed quite hopeful that with the passage of the tariff bill the prospects were promising for a general revival.

The closing days of the session of Congress were full of interest and very exciting, owing to the discussion over the tariff bill. He was present on those occasions and listened to both of Senator Hill's speeches on the question. His opinion was that the President would not veto the bill, but was prepared to sustain it. "Of course," added his excellency, "the bill as it now stands is a great improvement on the McKinley measure, although it is not all that we want by any means, as is shown by the fact that the lower house has supplemented it with a bill providing for free coal, free hides, free barbed wire fencing and free sugar."

When interrogated as to his views on the Utah reservation bills the Governor replied: "I consider the opening of the reservations is of very great importance to this Territory. It will add greatly to our population and wealth. With the passage of the statehood bill, I believe that as soon as there is a sign of improvement in trade and business Utah will receive a great impetus—that population and capital will flow in here and we will have exceedingly good and prosperous times in the future. In my opinion the outlook is exceedingly gratifying."

Upon the return journey Governor West spent a couple of days in Cynthiana, Ky., his old home, where he met a host of former and friends and acquaintances, from all of whom he received a hearty greeting. Kentucky is suffering a good deal from the drought, and throughout Nebraska the crops are "absolutely burned up." The corn crop, indeed, will amount to nothing.

Leaving Cynthiana on Monday morning, immediately after breakfast, the Governor proceeded to Chicago, and from there came on direct to Salt Lake.

His excellency has had quite a number of calls at the executive office during the day.

Up From Manti.

Judge J. E. Cochran came up from Manti this morning to attend the executive of the Irish-American league as defined this afternoon. The judge is a member of the league, and will be the principal speaker at the gathering.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE TABERNACLE CONCERT last evening was an event of decided interest to a good many accounts, and though it did not go off without several drawbacks, it was very much enjoyed by the handsome audience which attended. The main interest centered about the only soloists—one of whom, Miss Helen Shearman, was to make what might be called her public debut; Miss Pratt, who made so great an impression at the theatre a short time ago, would be heard for the first time in the great auditorium; Mrs Faulkner would be heard for the first time since her return from London, and Mr. Hemmen was down for a number on the great organ. The last feature unfortunately was not heard, owing to some trouble with the water power which supplies the instrument, but the other ladies appeared and were accorded the warmest sort of reception. Miss Shearman is a rare and decided acquisition to our musical circles, and without flattering her in the least it can be said that her voice has developed not so much sensitive tone, but one more highly cultivated, than here. It is a contralto of rich, central quality and good range, and her personal tone and pressure helpful in natural emotion. She was warmly received. Miss Pratt's welcome was equally demonstrative, and she was also received for her magnificent rendering of the air from Le Cid Walon (she rendered at the Weber concert). Few voices that have ever been heard in the Vast Tabernacle ever filled it to their extent as does Miss Pratt. Mrs. Faulkner's high and clear soprano voice was heard to fine advantage in The Promise of Life, and though the song is a rough one, we fancy she was not entirely at her best. Mr. Salmon was ill and did not appear. Mr. Webb had an triple recall and that of the most humorous character, so never forget the Tabernacle better than this evening, though he did it with a horse-whip, the whip changing to the mitre at the selection. The Logan choir, under Prof. Lewis, gave the one selection, and all the first and last parts of it admirably, filling the building specially well in view of their numbers, but the solo line was not so good. Mr. Walter Lambourne, the Logan tenor, sang the descant love song in very good style and was given a recall. The Ogden choir looked a beautiful picture to the eye as it was to give the Gounod setting, one of its old numbers, and it sang without saying that in this number and Stephens's beautiful arrangement of O My Father, it was heard to full advantage. Mr. Stephens conducted and Messrs. Evans and Dayton ably presided at the piano.

Tabernacle Choir.

Members of the Tabernacle Choir will please be in attendance at the Assembly Hall tomorrow, August 16th, at 2 p.m., in order to the funeral services of Elder John Morgan.

EVAN STEPHENS, Conductor.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

Frank Carpenter Returns to the United States from China.

The Famous Newspaper Correspondent's Wonderful Experiences Among the Warring Chinese, Japs and Corean.

Frank Carpenter, the famous newspaper correspondent, has just returned to the United States after the most remarkable newspaper expedition on record. He has brought with him data to be issued in letters which promise to be among the most interesting ever written by him. Mr. Carpenter's letters will continue to appear in the News as heretofore. The gentleman has established news bureaus in all of the leading Asiatic centers and will incorporate in his writing all the latest news from China, Japan and Corea. During the past six months he has traveled more that 25,000 miles, and he brings back with him the notes of a series of wonder of experiences.

Leaving America, he traveled 1,000 miles up and down the Yangtze through the most populous region of the Chinese empire, investigating the army, the forts, and the wonderful manufactories of China. He then went to Tien Tsin and was here entertained by Li Hung Chang, who knew everything of him. He attended a wonderful Chinese banquet here and took a trip by the new railroad to the Chinese wall in the viceroy's special car. Coming back to Tien Tsin he went by donkey and cart across the country to Peking and spent some time there gathering stories about the emperor, the government and the capital of the Chinese empire. His photographer took some splendid pictures of this part of China.

After a trip to the islands of North China he returned to Tien Tsin by river, and then went by sea to Corea. He spent a month in the Corean capital, was given an audience by the king and crown prince, and got as much as any man could in a country like Corea ever so far has been closed to any one else. He investigated the country and, in company with soldiers, was shown everything. He took a trip right across the country over the most dangerous pass in the west coast. Some of the places were so steep that he had to be carried up them by men, and in one case he almost starved. He lived like the natives and feasted on Corean, and in doing out a vast amount of interesting material. It must be remembered that there are no guide-books on these countries, and that the matter about which Mr. Carpenter writes are not overtrod in books of travel. It is only his wonderful letters and his good introductions that enable him to get the material which he has, and he writes so that it is better than anything he has yet published. He investigated the Corean army and navy, and it is now without saying that in this number and Stephens's beautiful arrangement of O My Father, it was heard to full advantage. Mr. Stephens conducted and Messrs. Evans and Dayton ably presided at the piano.

IN LEGAL QUARTERS.

Judge Hatch Hears a Suit Brought To Quiet Title.

THE PARSONS CONTROVERSY.

Commissioner McNulty Not Another Case At That Date Today—Probate Court, etc.

Judge Hatch not being the entire session, and the following business was transacted:

ANOTHER CORPSE.

Frank Gilmore, an Irishman, but now a resident of this city, was arrested in consequence. The expressed were Frank Hillman and Stephen Lynch.

CONTINUED.

Vincent Shurtliff, Jr., vs. Annabella T. Shurtliff, et al. Dismissed as to the defendant of the defendants. Four-minute dress entered and $100 allowed for attorney's fee allowed.

JUDGMENT FOR PLAINTIFF.

Emmons Ross et al vs. T. B. O'Reilly. Judgment as prayed by defendant.

NOT TO STAND WITH.

The next case commenced the balance of the morning. It was that of Alexander Rogers vs. John W. Dunnigan—Judge Howat for the plaintiff, Attorney Frank Pierce for the defendant.

Suit was brought to obtain an order of court enjoining and admonishing prohibiting the defendant, his agents and employes from making sale of plaintiff's possessory interest in certain premises in Block 50, plat "A," Salt Lake City survey, together with perpetual right of way. He claimed that a trust deed executed September 14th, 1891, by Edward A. Hardy and Kate D. Hardy and their wives to Wendell A. Hardy, of which property is not a valid incumbrance interest for the payment of a debt of $5,000 and deed was given to secure, the same being payable to the order of D. D. McCarthy, who indorsed, defendant takes that it be decreed null and void, and he has title to the premises in question.

The hearing of testimony this afternoon.

MR. PARSONS WAS WRONG.

It was argued yesterday on the strength of a notice to the effect that Mr. Parsons was to be in attendance in Commissioner McNulty's office in relation to the suit of the Sheffield Smelting Company vs. New York, U. S. Parsons not so much, the commissioner and attorneys on either side should go to the family residence this morning and there take the testimony. Before 10 o'clock, however, John M. Zane, for the defense, informed his honor that Mr. Parsons would make an effort to be on time at 10 o'clock, and so save them the contemplated journey to the house. Shortly after 10 Mr. Parsons, looking very ill and in bad health appeared and the hearing was proceeded with. A stenographer was called to the witness.

It is alleged that Mr. Parsons has transferred to the company the Parsons Block and Nevada Consolidated shares of stock in the company, of the par value of $10 a share, and is now taken action upon this that supplemental proceedings have been commenced by the plaintiffs.

Nothing new developed during Mr. Parsons' examination, beyond the fact that, according to his daughter's own admission, not one share of stock in the company was given to her by her father and in order to constitute her one of the directors and Attorney Rolapp (for the plaintiffs) insisted that that there should be stock given over to the creditors.

The hearing proceeded till noon and a continuance was then taken till another day.

MRS. WEBB'S SUITS.

Mrs. Mina Fitzgerald is again about to institute proceedings for a divorce in the Third district court. The grounds are much the same as before, the relief sought, however, is the plaintiff abandoned the suit on the promise of Mina that he would do justice to her claim. He she forgave him. She now alleges that her husband has treated her with extreme cruelty, beating her and using the vilest epithets to her. She also alleges unkindness and the use of obscene and abusive language, prays for a dissolution of the bonds of matrimony and an equitable division of the property of which Mina is possessed.

ALLEGED TRACK OBSTRUCTION.

Ed Ewing is having a hearing in Commissioner McNulty's court this afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace.

EX-OFFICER BRING SUIT.

In Justice Whitelock's court this afternoon, Attorney Daniel Harrington, on behalf of ex-Engineer J. J. Clarke and eight other ex-employes of the Fire department brought suit against Salt Lake City. The claims amount in the whole to about $200, and are made on account of back wages, it being contended that the parties referred were entitled by the City Council without any authority of law, therefore the difference is now sought to be obtained. Four very more the complaints of losses of 1892 in substantification of their demands.

BOND, NO FOR, TODAY.

No cases are now filed in the Third district court today up to 4 p.m.

PROBATE COURT—ESTATES.

Estate of W. H. Lewis, deceased. Hearing on petition for letters of administration. Thomas F. Lewis appointed administrator on filing a bond of $10,000.

Summer School of Prayer.

AT 7 p.m. Monday, the Juvenile [illegible] commencing. [illegible] exercises. Perhaps the talk by referring to the [illegible] of the last lesson, data [illegible] I have spoken more than once of the importance of giving attention to the emotional side of life, especially of a child. Here is a dispatch about a young boy who had run away from home and friends through the wrong cultivation of the emotional nature. Correspondingly it is very interesting. The young boy was evidently of a very sensitive temperament. The prediction that a child were should exhibit the best exalted fear. Instead of seeking to allay this through reason, his parents indulged, exaggerated and added other imaginative sources by terrorizing her, till she ran away. Parents, and other teachers and others, learn and reflecting children who are very sensitive should have opportunity built in order to absolute control of the amount of suffering inflicted on children, serious children could be understood quantitatively, it would be appalling.

In the talk for today my first object was to try to convey to you a clear idea of what reading is. Some part of the author's and then into the work through the tale of the pen. Shakspere was called by Madam de Staël, Ocean mistress. In the same way we may call reading conquered thought. When the reader can extract the thought of a man who died a thousand years ago from the printed page, he has wrought a great deed. He has read. Would you brought back a dead Shakspeare first for himself, and next for the hearer, he has read.

What is necessary that you and I may read in such a way that every thought and feeling is brought out? First we must acquire the art of speech. Second we must acquire the art of expression. Cleveland's Letter to Wilson.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The President has written a letter to Congressman Wilson of the Gorman-Wilson tariff bill. It will not be made public, nor would any reporter who saw it be allowed to have been allowed, but the gist of Wilson's speech is adverse more than the text.

The letter was written on Monday morning, so far as the President remembered the business saying the House the [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] agreement and sent the Senate bill. The letter speaks meanings of Wilson's and Gorman's bill points, and is his sensible attitude on public and strength. It says the principles of the party. It does not discuss the tariff question exactly in an indirect way, expressing deep sympathy and interest in the personal course met by Wilson.

TROMSO, Norway, Aug. 15.—Walter Wellman's party have arrived from the Arctic region, where their attempt, if report be true, was crushed in the ice, necessitating their abandoning the attempt to reach the North Pole.

A Land Decision.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Aug. 15.—In the decision by land Thomas to Newlin, the commissioner of the general land office, has decided that a settler must actually live upon the land of contest with the homestead claimant in order to acquire a title and cannot live elsewhere and hold government land through an agent or by purchase of another settler's right. This decision will give many thousands of dollars worth of valuable property to actual settlers instead of to speculators.
