Jenson's Travels.

LETTER NO. [illegible]

Wednesday, November 13th, 1895. We arose early and I wrote on the records till we ate breakfast, after we attended another meeting at Wilmot, near Hokianga, at which I spoke through Elder Jorgensen as interpreter. We held another meeting in the afternoon at which Elder Gardner was the speaker, immediately after closing the meeting, Elders Gardner, Fowler, Jorgensen and myself took horse at Elder Tau's house in native fashion, mounted the horses which had been provided for us and rode about one and a half miles, and though a beautiful and fertile tract of country to Mahurai, a native village situated on the harbor's edge the house where supper the school and bed branch of the Church is the Parerie Bay district. We met by with Te Rauri, the president of the Mahurai branch who received us very kindly and made us comfortable during the night. We held an evening meeting in the evening but had no preaching time with the family and a few others who came in after prayer.

Thursday, November 14th. Our time at this place being very limited I worked with the records part of the previous night. At 6 a.m., Elders Gardner, Fowler, Jorgensen and myself and a native brother commenced our journey from Mahurai, and we now traveled thirty miles over mountains and valleys, through jungles and bushes following a regular New Zealand trails path to Mahanga, a native village situated at the foot of the mountains to the westward, and near the native town of Awa which separates the Hokianga peninsula from the rest of the island. We arrived at this place at 1 p.m., and we had appointed for Elder Gardner to Hongiroi, at Bay Lake City, also passed over the Hokianga district and where we had a meeting on Hokianga, which constitutes one of the seven branches of the Church in the district island. Some time was spent after Elder Jorgensen left in Hongiroi, and we had a meeting in the evening. We had a meeting at which Elder Gardner and I were the speakers. We then retired, and at 10 o'clock in the morning we left Hongiroi and rode over the mountains. The mountains and hills are very rocky. Fowler, Jorgensen and myself rode on horseback and Gardner on a buggy. We then arrived at the landing on the Hokianga River, and then we were ferried across the river. Elders Gardner and Fowler then left us and we rode on to Pawarenga, where we arrived at 3 p.m. Elder Gardner and I then left the horses and rowed in a native boat to Kohukohu, where we arrived at 5 p.m. We then rowed back to Pawarenga and spent the night with the family and a few others who came in after prayer.

Friday, November 15th. We rowed our boat to Kohukohu and took our horses, part of the way along the south shore, to Kapowai, a native village situated on the shores which connect the Hokianga with the sea on the south. We arrived at Kapowai at 10 a.m. and we found the house, and over refreshing water, shaving, bath, etc., I retired upon to my good bedstead with soft mattress and pillows. Elders Gardner and Fowler left us at Kohukohu. We then met Elder James C. Allen, who came to the Maori district, and is going to succeed Elder Hoagland as the presiding elder of the district. In the evening we had a good and well attended meeting. Besides the members of the Kapowai branch, quite a number of people came from the neighboring towns of Mangungu and Waimate, were present.
