CANADIAN INDIANS.

Alarming Rumors From the Blood Reservation.

DENVER, Jan. 23.—The Indian agent at Blackfoot reservation writes under date of January 17th, that news is given him by a Blackfoot just returned from the Blood reserve, that two runners arrived there to find out if, in case there was a general uprising, the Bloods would assist the Dakota Indians, or, in case of the defeat of the Indians there, they could depend upon them for assistance.

One runner was "Running Martin," formerly a scout of Fort Assiniboine. After a council he returned to the South Piegans, telling the Bloods that if the agent questioned them to say they were perfectly satisfied, and in the meantime to sell their horses and by to a good stock of ammunition, and if everything turned out as they expected in the United States, word would be sent when to meet for a general massacre, the place of meeting to be near Fort Walsh.

Upon receipt of this information the department took prompt steps to quiet any demonstrations, and if any runners from the Union Pacific cross the boundary they will be promptly arrested.

THE DEATH OF KALOKOUN.

Religious Honors his Death.—All Public Institutions Closed.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The death of Prince Kalokoun has plunged the country into mourning, and mourning emblems are displayed everywhere. According to the latest details given out from official circles, the prince has been suffering for some time from influenza, but insisted upon passing his nights recently at the bedside of his sick sister, Princess Henrietta. Monday last he went out for a ride and caught more cold, and pneumonia symptoms soon developed. Yesterday afternoon he sank very rapidly and the last sacraments were administered inward nightfall.

King Leopold and Queen Marie were summoned and arrived at the Prince's bedside yesterday. They remained with him until the end. Shortly before death the Prince raised himself in bed and embraced them. The remains now lie in state, guarded by officers from the Prince's regiment.

Outside of officials circles the latest report is that the death was due to a complication of smallpox, bronchitis and pleurisy. The populace are enraged at what they term the blundering of the doctors, but the court has all confidence in them.

It is claimed that the Prince was upon the point of being betrothed to Princess Princess Clementina. All the theatres and public institutions will remain closed until after the funeral.

SENATOR HEARST.

He May Be Expected to Die Within a Few Days.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Dr. Ward, of New York, a personal friend of Senator Hearst, said tonight that Senator Hearst took a turn for the worse yesterday and has been sinking fast today. In addition to the stomach trouble, uremic poisoning, due to failure of the kidneys, became manifest. Death may be expected within a few days.

The Seal Question.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—D. O. Mills, in a long interview on the seal question, asserts that if the slaughter of female seals is kept up by poachers, Alaska's fur industry will soon be a reminiscence. He further says: "It must be remembered that Mr. Blaine's position in this whole controversy has been one of great difficulty. The discussion between England and this country was left to him as a sort of legacy, from the preceding administration. When Mr. Bayard had brought these negotiations to such a pass that the use of force in compelling observance of the rights of the United States to their claim of jurisdiction seemed the only possible outcome. How the present controversy will end I have not the remotest idea, but I believe it should be submitted to arbitration."

The Chicago-Erie Strike.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Upto a late hour tonight General Manager Tucker of the Chicago-Erie was still anxiously awaiting developments regarding the action of the committee of the Order of Railway Conductors, which waited upon him this morning.

He said that their conference was satisfactory. They agreed to waive the demand for the reinstatement of Scott. The men had gathered the idea that all members of labor unions were to be discharged, but Tucker assured them that such was not the case, and they went back to Huntington to hold a mass meeting, which is still in session.

A dispatch from Huntington late in night says the employes of nearly every department of the system synpathize with the strikers and have forced the Federation to uphold them. The result of the conference will probably not be known until tomorrow.

The Soldiers Leave Pine Ridge.

PINE RIDGE, Jan. 23.—In accordance with the general orders issued today regarding the departure of troops, two troops of the Eighth Cavalry marched to Fort Meade and the Seventh Cavalry and also Carson's Battery started for Deadwood. The Ninth Cavalry's winter camp will be pitched on the Rushville road, about six miles from the agency. A company of scouts to be organized from among the Indian police, whose term of enlistment expired yesterday, will be sent to Fort McKinney under command of an officer of the Sixth Cavalry.

Captain Baldwin, inspector of small arms practice, Division of the Missouri and a member of General Miles' staff, is very sick, as also a number of the officers and men, with severe colds and rheumatism.

Footing with Suicidal Intent.

NEWBURN, Ills., Jan. 23.—Considerable interest is manifested in the case of George Harris, who persists in fasting with suicidal intent. Although twenty-six days have passed since the last morsel of food passed his lips he is still alive, although very weak.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 23.—After two ballots were taken today without choice of Senator the Legislature adjourned.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 23.—A Pioneer Press Pierre, S. D., special says a resolution was introduced in the House today by Stephens, stating that the members of the House were being kidnapped by one Frank Beaver, for the purpose of controlling their votes, and asking for an investigation.

Hanebrough Elected Senator on the Seventeenth Ballot.

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 23.—The fourteenth ballot for Senator was without result.

Congressman Hanebrough was elected United States Senator on the seventeenth ballot to succeed Pierce. The democratic vote went to Hanebrough.

Another Meeting at Boulogne.

DUBLIN, Jan. 23.—At a meeting of a committee of the McCarthyite faction of the Irish members of parliament in this city today Healy said Justin McCarthy and Thomas Sexton had gone to meet Dillon and O'Brien at Boulogne-Sur-Mer and they would effect a settlement of the trouble existing in the Irish parliament party on the basis of Parnell retiring from the leadership.

Does Experience Count?

It does, in every line of business, and especially in compounding and preparing medicines. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the result of years of study and practical experience by the great superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla over other preparations, is shown by the remarkable cures it has accomplished.

The best proof of the firm of C. I. Hood & Co. is a thoroughly competent and experienced pharmacist, having devoted his whole life to the study and actual preparation of medicines. He is also a member of the Massachusetts and American Pharmaceutical Association, and continues actively devoted to supervising the preparation of and managing the business connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hence the superiority and peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is built up on the most substantial foundation. In its preparation there is represented all the knowledge with modern research in medical science has developed, combined with long experience, brain-work, and experiment. It is only necessary to give the medicine a fair trial to realize its great curative value.

If Your House is on Fire

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

I had Stone in the Bladder.

And my kidneys were affected. None of the remedies taken produced any benefit until I began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. How Severe colds are Broken up in Montana.

[From the Virginia City, Mont. Enterprise.]

When without a medicine we know to possess genuine merit, we consider it a duty, and we take pleasure in telling the public what it is. Such a medicine we found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, last winter, when la grippe was prevailing. We are satisfied that we warded off several attacks that were threatening by the use of this syrup, and we have since relieved, in a few hours, severe colds, and in the course of two or three days, entirely broken them up by its use, as have several of our friends to whom we have recommended it. It is all that it is represented to be by the manufacturers. If you have a cough and want to stop it Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will do the work. For sale by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept. * d&s

THE CLOSURE RULE.

Cockrell Resumes His Argument and Indulges in a Strong Exclamation.

IN CONGRESS.

Argument Against the Closure Rule by Cockrell.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Cockrell resumed his argument against the closure rule, saying in the course of his remarks that the democratic Senators would be as brief as possible in discussing matters of public necessity, but if the republican Senators insisted on the Election bill, a merely partisan measure, not endorsed by half their own party, the democratic Senators would discuss it in all its ramifications.

Teller asked Allison how long he proposed to allow for debate on the resolution, remarking that it was conceded that some arbitrary means were to be resorted to force a decision.

Allison said he took it for granted that there could be no closing of debate, except by action of the Senate itself, and asked unanimous consent that a vote be taken on the resolution and amendments at 5 o'clock to-morrow.

Gorman was delighted that the Senator resorted to that proper and orderly method, rather than depend upon the good sense of the presiding officer, whose qualifications for intelligence and fairness as presiding officer was yet to be tested.

Cockrell then closed his argument. It was useless, he said, to try to dissipate the purpose of the rule. The only object was to pass the Force bill. Everything else was made subordinate to the whims of the Senator from Massachusetts, and, apostrophizing Mr. Hoar, Cockrell exclaimed: "Shame upon you, my friend from Massachusetts, who now attempts to force upon the people of Massachusetts, and of this country, the humiliating confession that they are no longer capable of holding their own elections."

He met from a St. Louis paper a letter addressed to Edmunds by a former republican constituent now living in Texas, protesting against the Election bill.

Edmunds said he never received such a letter and believed it was fabricated to promote the operations of resistance to the Election bill.

Mr. Cockrell mentioned a number of republican newspapers opposed to the bill and said he believed public opinion in the West, without regard to party, was against it. He mentioned as some of the Western republican papers that opposed the bill, the Omaha Bee, Minneapolis Journal, St. Paul Pioneer Press, St. Louis Globe-Democrat and Denver Republican.

Stewart then took the floor and a recess was taken until to-morrow.

IN THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Breckinridge (Ark.) caused the usual delay this morning in approval of the journal, but it was finally accomplished, after it was read in full.

Hopkins, rising to a question of privilege, had read the resolution offered by him September 4th last, making certain charges against the Commissioner of Pensions and asking for a thorough sifting of the investigation of that official. This resolution had been referred to a select committee to examine the previous charges and on the 11th of September the chairman of that committee (Morrill of Kansas) was directed to report the resolution, but he never performed his duty.

After considerable debate the matter was settled amicably by Morrill obtaining the original resolution from the files of the House and reporting it from his committee and having it referred to the Committee on Rules.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Naval Appropriation bill.

THE FORCE BILL.

The Effect of Its Passage Upon the World's Fair.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—A concurrent resolution has been passed by the lower branch of the Arkansas Legislature, providing that action on the Appropriation bill for the Arkansas World's Fair exhibit be postponed until Congress takes action on the Force bill. A similar resolution was introduced in the lower house of the Missouri Legislature, but failed by a vote of 40 to 43.

MISSOURI.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 23.—The house today adopted a resolution which was tabled in the house [illegible] day in reference to the World's [illegible] appropriation bill was called up, [illegible] many and passed. It declares it the sense of the house that no appropriation shall be made for the World's Fair while the Election bill is pending in Congress; and, further, not a penny shall be expended by Missouri should the Force bill become a law.

TEXAS.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 23.—In the house today representative Moody introduced a joint resolution opposing the appropriation to have Texas represented at the World's Fair should the Force bill pass.

A Father and a Daughter.

[Special to the Herald—Examiner Dispatch.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—As the steamship Chateau sailed out from this port two weeks ago Wednesday, it took away the heartbroken, discouraged Count George Sarmay, privy chamberlain to the Emperor of Austria, the holder of a high military position, and a man respected throughout the empire. He came to this country to reclaim his daughter, born a countess, from a life of degradation, and he went away alone—because she preferred the life she was living here rather than to return with him.

The girl is Jeanne Marie Sarmay, eighteen years old, and a handsome blonde. She was her father's idol. His martial life was not happy and a divorce was obtained by him and he lived in seclusion for a time with his daughter, their only companion being the housekeeper, who had grown up with the family. A flirt went along in this way for two years, but the girl is said to have frolicked over the restraint imposed upon her by her father's life. The monotony of her home at Pesth increased her desire to see the world. America and Americans were painted to the girl by the housekeeper, who had relatives here, in such brilliant colors that finally the young woman confided to her elderly companion that she wanted to come to these shores. The woman at first refused to aid her to leave her father, but the announcement that the count was about to marry again, coupled with the fact that he had begun to treat her more as a servant than a companion, induced her to give her protege a helping hand.

July 27, 1888, Jeanne arrived at Castle Garden from the Cunard steamship Servia, alone. She had been provided with a lady friend here and on the representation of a man named Wunsch the commissioners of emigration allowed her to land. She accompanied Wunsch to Broad City. He disappeared the moment he saw the girl, and she wandered to this city. Meanwhile her father's housekeeper had come to this city and received a letter. Some twenty months ago the two women met on the street. The old housekeeper encouraged the girl to keep up her mode of life.

The count during all these months had been traveling over Europe searching for his daughter and hoping against hope. Finally he received a letter from the Austrian consul to the effect that his daughter was in this city. He obtained leave of absence and arrived in this city on the 7th of this month. But the girl somehow had disappeared and could not be found, and withdrawing advertisements were inserted in the German papers. The count, his hair turned snow white with age and grief, paid a visit to the home of his housekeeper. Only a friend's presence prevented a stormy scene between him and the woman's husband. Finally his leave of absence drawing to a close, the old man was obliged to return.

The Missing Hungarian Girl Found.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Deputy United States Marshal Bernard, who made a search for Count Sarmay's runaway daughter, who disappeared from the Austro-Hungarian legation, says some time ago she was legally married to Joseph Monderey of Jersey City, but soon left him for her old life. She has been found again, however, and Bernard has hopes of yet reuniting her father to bring her back. Count Sarmay is privy chamberlain of the Emperor Francis Joseph, and his family is one of the most eminent of the Hungarian nobility.

THE SILVER POOL COMMITTEE.

Senator Cameron Had Speculated a Little in Silver.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—David I. Littler of Illinois, who was mentioned as the agent of Senator Cameron in the purchase of silver bullion, appeared before the Silver Pool Investigating Committee today. After relating how he had bought and sold between forty and fifty thousand dollars' worth of silver early in the summer, before any legislation in the matter was had, Littler was asked if he had purchased for Senator Cameron. He replied: "Yes. I bought a small amount of silver for Cameron. I do not remember the exact amount, about a hundred thousand dollars' worth. That was some two or three weeks after I made the purchase on my own account, and it was pending the silver legislation. It was before Congress had legislated on it. No, I do not remember the exact date, but it was before final action."

"Did you buy for any other Senator, Representative or Government official?"

"I did not offer to do so. I went to state about Cameron that he met me one day. I had been talking with divers members, senators and others. I did not seek to disguise the fact that I had bought some silver, feeling that I had a right to do it, and gave my opinion, when asked, that silver was a good purchase and that there was money in it. Cameron knew I had purchased some, and when he met me one day he said: 'I want you to buy some silver for me.' I think he opened the subject, although I do not remember about it."

Littler said he bought forty to fifty thousand dollars' worth of silver for himself, and a few weeks later a hundred thousand dollars' worth for Senator Cameron. Both transactions were prior to final action on the silver legislation. Littler said he wished to characterize in the most unequivocal terms the general statement that he had been connected with a silver pool, but he said Owenby seemed a clever fellow, but he would think better of him when he got back some of the money he had loaned Owenby.

Littler said he had no knowledge of any silver pool. He never asked any one in Congress to vote for silver legislation, and he went into the speculation without the solicitation of any one. As near as he could remember, he made less than eight and more than six hundred dollars in the transaction. Cameron made between a thousand and fifteen hundred. No representative, Senator or other government officer ever told witness that he was interested in silver.

The attention of witness being directed to the testimony of Weil, he said he had talked with Weil, as with Cameron and others. Being asked for the names of the "others," witness could not remember and, turning toward Representative Howell, said, "Perhaps with Captain Howell, as well as with my Illinois friends." He did not mean that he revealed talking with Howell, and used the name only because that was as likely as talking with any one else.

Littler further said that he never offered any monetary inducements whatever, except to express an opinion that there would be an advance in silver.

THE LABOR ORGANIZATION.

Resolutions Adopted as a Basis of Action.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The Farmers' Alliance and labor organization delegates in conference here today adopted and agreed upon resolutions as a basis of action under the proposed confederation. The resolutions call for the abolition of national banks as banks of issue, and demand the issuance of legal tender treasury notes sufficient in volume to meet the needs of business of the country, without special advantage to any class or calling; favors government loans to the people at 2 per cent interest upon unperishable products and also upon real estate; demands the free and unlimited coinage of silver; the prohibition of alien ownership of land; graduated income tax; national control and supervision, and, if this does not remove existing abuses, then the government ownership of telegraph and railroads; the election of senators by direct vote of the people; a system in each State that will insure an honest and accurate registration of all citizens, free, secret and official ballot and an honest public count, and that each State legislature make it a felony for improper interference with exercise of registration, ballot or count.

Ben Terrell of Texas was elected president, and J. W. Hayes of Pennsylvania secretary and treasurer of the confederation. The amalgamated associations are known as the "Confederation of Industrial Organizations."

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Excessive Hours Labor Question and Other Items.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—In the Commons this evening Secretary Matthews denied that there was any difference in principle between a bequest of the Duke of Bedford and that held on an ordinary person. The examination was held with open doors. If the press did not know it, it was not the fault of the coroner.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, president of the Board of Trade, stated that the Board of Trade could not interfere with the railroad strike in Scotland, although the troubles resulted in a partial suspension of traffic.

Channing (advanced Liberal) made a motion that the excessive hours of labor of railway servants was a grave injustice to the men, and a constant source of danger to the public, and the Board of Trade should be employed to direct a limitation of the working hours.

The Attorney-General replied to Howorth's inquiry as to a Parliamentary candidate promising to employ Unionists, when he had been employing non-Unionists. The Attorney-General said if such a promise was made in order to influence the voters, it was certainly a breach of the corrupt practices act.

Hicks-Beach advised Channing to withdraw his motion.

Harcourt said that the Governor practically admitted that the men employed on the railways were overworked.

Channing's motion was rejected, 141 to 134.

Vincent, member for Sheffield, gave notice of intention to question Monday respecting the reported intention of various Sheffield and Sheffield firms, including the Lilleys and Sir Titus's salt company, to remove their works to America. Vincent said he understood such removals would be made in consequence of the new United States tariff. He will ask whether the Government intends taking measures to protect British trade.

FOR INGALLS.

Ex-Union Soldiers Asking For His Return To The Senate.

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 23.—There was an exciting discussion in the House this morning over a memorial from the ex-Union soldiers of Topeka, asking that Senator Ingalls be returned to the Senate and demanding that no man be selected to succeed him who could not boast the old soldiers more for Congress than he, created some disturbance among the alliance forces and corresponding confidence among the Ingalls people. The question was whether the memorial should be referred to a special committee or should be spread upon the House journal. The republicans insisted on the latter proceeding, while the alliance leaders urged the former. The resolution was finally referred to the committee by 97 to 37. Thirteen alliance members voted with the republicans, while eight democrats voted with the Alliance. This vote is taken as a possible indication of the vote on senator.
