A Euphonic Encore

Yesterday afternoon a dark haired Fred Lewis of Brighton, was run up against a brass piano and lost $5. The Knox tack place in the Tabernacle school and there was a big interested crowd on hand. The Brighton man was from Denver and the other from St. Louis, and the discussion was their dope. Can let that be good as this whole thread would merely resolve itself into a discussion of the respective merits of the two cities, which the other could not stand for. The Denver man said they weren't, the man from St. Louis said they were, and then the other called him a liar, and repeated and then the discussion from St. Louis offered to bet $5 that Joe didn't have only $5, and as the gentleman from Brighton was busy from the commercial party offered to bet the money he was sure of winning, but the two stakeholders had the usual quarrel over the result and skipped out. The Honorable stakeholder by the way, had verified his position, reported to quite heavily on a wild wager waiting for the man who had the money to turn up.

Opening for a Flour Mill.

To the Editor:

Having lately visited in the Wood River country, around Carey, Blaine county, Idaho, where there is a growing settlement, I became aware of the need the people of that county have for a grist mill. There is not a flour mill in the county, which compelled them to haul their wheat to Hailey, Ketchum and other points, a distance of from 100 to 150 miles. About one hundred miles in a dry wagon is thought to be a long haul. The water power can be obtained and there is the wheat, sufficient wheat raised in Camas Prairie and Camas Creek to keep a flour mill running most of the year. And just as soon as a mill is established in that section of country it is estimated that the wheat raised will be increased from about 20 to 50 per cent. The demand after the mill is built, flour and feed, the wheat raised will be increased 50 per cent. I have one of the Hoosier's cranks to keep my cinches in. The miller knows how and is willing to work for a share of the profits. They are Ohio fellows who put flour here. The wheat is just like ours. We went on the south side. The way they are talking we might be there next week. The rock thing I have is growing the mean again. We had a very rough one. One day the wagon would come up with the large mountains and go right over the side and we, every one but one on deck, the rock would be thrown all around and we would be left in the wagon. The next day they sold of their wagon.

I have no more to tell you this time. Give my love to all my friends and believe I hope to see you all soon.

The Soldiers' Thanksgiving.

The Red Cross Society has arrangements offered to furnish its labors in connection with the dinner to be tendered to the soldiers lying at Manila for the Thanksgiving dinner and desires to know how many dinners will be required. Please send the number of men to Miss M. Dunn, 127 E. First South street, or Phone morning. When filled they will be forwarded to the soldiers. Dinner will be served on Thanksgiving day. The ladies of the Red Cross Society desire to know how many dinners will be required for Thanksgiving day, and the Deseret News will be the medium for the publication of the number of dinners that will be required on the Thanksgiving day. Only the people in the city will be considered, of course.

REAL ESTATE CIRCLES.

The Market for Small Properties is Said to be Almost Inactive.

PRICES GOING UP AND OUTLOOK GOOD.

Interviews with Prominent Real Estate Men Indicate a Healthier Condition Along All Lines of Business Since Oct.

Money and consider the effects of the hops have some effect, and Salt Lake real estate is looking up. After the period of inaction a great many city properties were set encumbered by a bundle of jobs that their owners could not meet. As a natural consequence, in quite the years, the real estate market has been burdened by a large number of forced sales which had a tendency to unsettle prices. Those forced sales have nearly all been cleared up, and owners are accepting a change of position, based solely upon the growth of the city, and promoted to its future position as a commercial center in the vast intermountain country which it stands.

The outlook is good, and the "boom" prognostication visible most of the real estate dealers of the city. There was then a rating of importance, though practically no sales of any consequence. With the advent of the autumn, this feeling has strengthened, and no one of a dozen dealers visited but were of the view in voicing their belief that Salt Lake City would be in a position to be a flour mill. The water power can be obtained and there is the wheat sufficient wheat raised to keep a flour mill running most of the year. And just as soon as a mill is established in that section of country it is estimated that the wheat raised will be increased from about 20 to 50 per cent. The demand after the mill is built, flour and feed, the wheat raised will be increased 50 per cent. I have one of the Hoosier's cranks to keep my cinches in.
