WILL RETURN.

Generally Believed that the Hostiles Will Come in.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, Jan. 10.—The report yesterday that the hostiles had at length made up their minds to return to the agency, and notwithstanding the repetition of what has been in so many respects, attracts general attention. It is now, however, generally believed. According to the already published programme, the hostiles are to keep twilight at the mission near the scene of the conflict between Gen. Forsyth and the Indians on the 29th instant. They will be met by a detachment from the agency and escorted to this place.

It is not yet been determined where or when the Indians will be disarmed. In fact it is generally believed when the disarming is attempted trouble may be expected. It is thought the hostiles will not be able to determine why they should be deprived of their guns and ammunition, while alleged friendlies may traverse the agency, as they do now, almost armed to the teeth.

The selection of a spot in which to disarm is also a

SERIOUS QUESTION.

The work cannot be done in the middle of the agency, neither can it be done where the ground is broken. The latter place would be in the Indians' estimation fighting ground, and in case of mischief great damage might be done.

Meanwhile the cordon of troops in the several commands of Hankes, Carr, Wheaton, Bailey, Sanford and Penny is drawn closer around the hostiles. General Miles today received advices for an advance on all sides from five miles to six miles. This move is made with ease. The principal idea is keep the Indians moving to and fro, fatigue and at the same time allow them to halt on no spot on which they may have an advantage over the General Miles has ordered the dismount of the Indian police, who have been on guard duty both at the agency and posts around the agency. He will supply their places with soldiers. The move is variously interpreted, but it seems patent, however, that the general wants only white men, and that he wants them at home. No reports have been received as to whose horses have been captured at Long Wounded Knee. At this distance it is considered the world of hostile ground is not viewed as favorable evidence of the Indians' good will. Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horse, however, does not think his horse has been captured.

The greatest precautions have been taken to GUARD AGAINST SURPRISES.

The headworks have been strengthened and artillery has been placed near the site commanding the friendly camp and tends leading into the agency. Gatlings guns cover the other approaches and detachments of the Seventh Cavalry and First Infantry are stationed at advantageous points.

This afternoon pickets were sent out quite a distance from the agency and the Indian police and scouts about the agency have been reinforced by a number of white soldiers. It was deemed better to do this than to leave the Indian scouts as at first contemplated. General Miles and staff inspected all the approaches and defences this afternoon. The general expressed himself satisfied and nothing now remains but to await the arrival of the hostile contrabs.

It is learned late tonight that General Miles does not contemplate disarming the Indians at present, and it is intimated that the disagreeable task will be left to the leaders of the various bands. A courier in today from General Brooke's command on White Clay Creek brought word that all were well, enduring the cold weather with patience.

DEATH OF ANOTHER SQUAW.

This afternoon another squaw who was wounded at Wounded Knee died, and while she was living her baby two days were thought to the agency in a broken condition. They said they had been left in the fight and dragged themselves to a ravine and finished themselves as best they could during the blizzard. Since that time they have been cared for at the agency. They said four other women and three men, all wounded, who started with them.

DEAD ON THE ROAD.

The officers conducting the investigation into the Wounded Knee fight, will complete their work tomorrow and submit a report to General Miles, who will forward it to the President.

To a correspondent of the Associated Press today one of the officers of the Seventh Cavalry said:

"The day that we shot down women and children is a lie. The fact is, nothing was left undone to save them. Every man knows my order 'Don't shoot; that's a woman.' The people who killed the women and children were the Indians themselves."

Fewer Indians came in today than any day during the present week. Most of the stragglers have been squaws. General Miles has decided to separate the Ogalalas from the Brules when they come in, as the former are said to be strongly inclined to peace, while the latter are rascal hostiles.

A courier from the hostile camp to General Miles at 10:30 tonight announced that they had reached the Mission, about five miles distant, and that they would reach here to-morrow. The greatest uncertainty prevails here as to the outcome of to-morrow.

STARVED BY SALOON KEEPERS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The following telegram was received from General Gibbon, commanding the department of California: "The following is just received from the commanding officer at Boise Barracks, Idaho:

"I have just received reliable information that there is no outbreak of Fort Hall Indians and I do not apprehend any trouble there. It was told by a party who came from Pocatello yesterday, that the rumor was started by saloon keepers."

Another telegram from General Gibbon, also dated yesterday, says: "The following just received from the commanding officer at Boise Barracks.

State Adjutant-General Curtis writes the governor from Pocatello as follows: "Fears of an Indian outbreak are grossly exaggerated and without just foundation. The first reports were sent by irresponsible parties.

Senator-elect Dubois has received the following from Adjutant-General Curtis, at Pocatello, Idaho: "There is not the slightest need for the presence of United States troops here. I have thoroughly investigated the situation by order of the governor and there is no cause for fears of an Indian outbreak on this reservation. The reports to the contrary are utterly false." He recommends that the Secretary of War revoke the order for troops at Boise Barracks to start for Pocatello.

NOT KNOWN WHO THE HOSTILES ARE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Indian bureau received a letter from Elmer Goodale, superintendent of education at Pine Ridge: "Your telegram asking how many returned students and parents of school-children are among the hostiles, is received. It is impossible to tell just at present just who the hostiles are. Some have fled from the agency for fear, and do not necessarily assume a warlike attitude. In a general way, however, it is safe to say that those who participated in the ghost dances and subsequent disturbances are of a wild or heathen element among the Sioux. A great majority of the Christians and educated Indians remained loyal and steadfast at sacrifice of name and property and the risk of their lives. I think those who identified themselves with us during this upheaval and have thereby lost all they possess, should be generously rewarded for their losses. At the very least fifteen or twenty Christian young men and women of Indian blood are now serving as volunteer nurses in our church hospital, where we have thirty wounded prisoners from the battle of Wounded Knee."

CAUGHT STEALING IT RIGHT LONGER.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10.—The Indians said yesterday to General Miles: "Prepare to fight or get off the reservation." General Miles, it is said, has given the Indians until tonight to surrender and if they do not come in by that time he will close in on them. This is made necessary by the conditions of his men. Those on the north side have been pretty well worn out with camp life in this bleak climate and long cold. Exercise from one position to another. They cannot stand it much longer. Unless matters are soon brought to an end the Indians will have no one to oppose them but worn-out, frozen out soldiers who are unfit for duty. The condition of the soldiers has been remarkable, and they have borne their hardship without murmur.

THE CHEYENNE INDIANS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Secretary Proctor today received a telegram from General Miles, dated Pine Ridge Agency, Jan. 9th, as follows: The commission appointed to consider the condition of the Cheyenne Indians at this place and to Montana respectfully recommend the removal of these Indians to the Fort Keogh reserve. There are already 230 at Fort Keogh, and more entitled as scouts came south east under General Casey and were joined by nearly all the able-bodied men from the agency. Together they have done most valuable and hazardous service in fighting the Sioux, and if there is no objection I will, when this affair closes, at once transfer them to Fort Keogh as an act of justice and good policy, and in accordance with the recommendation of the Cheyenne Commission.

THE IRISH LEADERS.

Hooper States that O'Brien Will Absolutely Adhere to Parnell.

GLADSTONE ON THE IRISH QUESTION.

Bad Policy for France to Decline to be Represented at the World's Fair.

By Telegraph to the News.

O'BRIEN AND PARNELL.

They Will Adhere to Each Other Against the Field.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—McCarthy, Sexton and Condon returned tonight from Boulogne, but refused to talk on the subject of the conference.

DUBLIN, Jan. 10.—The Telegraph says: Hooper, who attended the conference at Boulogne, telegraphs to the effect that it is freely stated that O'Brien will absolutely adhere to Parnell, and the McCarthyites will have to fight O'Brien.

Parnell went to Limerick today, and at one of the stopping places was greeted by friendly deputations. At the point the patriots had a fight, but it was not very serious. In a speech at Limerick Junction, Parnell said he had heard cheers for O'Brien. He would also call for cheers for O'Brien, and long might he live to enjoy life and to their ranks.

At Limerick Parnell received a most enthusiastic demonstration. In a speech he said, while he could not say what length he and O'Brien traveled together at Boulogne, he might tell them without breach of confidence that he himself was perfectly satisfied with the result of the conference.

The Freeman's Journal announces that the executive committee of the national league of Great Britain recommends the dismissal of all known officials suspected of sympathy with Parnell.

MUST STAND BY IRELAND.

Gladstone's Policy Relative to the Irish Question.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Gladstone has written a letter to Furness, Liberal candidate for Liverpool, to succeed the late Sir Thomas Hanmer. Gladstone says: "The Irish Parliamentary party vindicated itself by putting an end to the leadership of Parnell and has left us prepared to pursue, as before, our duty in denouncing the unequal laws and the odious system of coercion adopted by the Government as a permanent law. The Liberal gains of seats in the Commons constantly repeated during the past four years meant nothing more than mere success. They meant that the party has declared that a union has for the first time, been effected between the British and Irish and shown that the people also in the controversy our opponents seek to indefinitely prolong, at the cost of the national reputation of imperial treasure and amid inextinguishable discord. The people of Ireland have put their trust in the people of Great Britain to deliver them from bad laws, made worse by harsh, insulting administration. It rests on each constituency, on each elector, for us to show the sister nation that her confidence is not repaid in vain.

AN INTERESTING QUESTION.

How will the French Receive the Invitation to the World's Fair.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—A question of much interest now is how the invitation of the United States, asking the French to be represented at the World's Fair in Chicago, will be received. The matter will necessarily come before the Ministry first. Undoubtedly the McKinley bill will be brought up. A prominent member of the government said, however, they know that the McKinley tariff does not treat France as favorably as some countries, Germany for instance. This may tend to give a more friendly reception to the invitation than would otherwise be the case. Furthermore, the recent elections in the United States lead to the hope for a change in the congress of the next Congress. Then it would be bad policy for France to decline to be represented at the Fair, and bearing in mind how friendly American patronized the Paris Exposition, he said he thought the invitation should meet with good will.

Better Demands a Trial Before a Naval Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The following letter has been directed to the Secretary of the Navy by Commander Bolter, U. S. N., who was severely censured by the Secretary for his conduct in the Barrancitas affair:

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 8, 1891.—I have to acknowledge receipt of the Department's letter of the 17 December, 1890. The letter was delivered to me in the city of New York, on the 6th day of January, and received by me on the 8th. It was transmitted by the press of the United States Senate yesterday. The letter then became a matter of public property, subjecting me to the ordeal of being "interviewed" by the reporters of the press, which I could possibly reply to it. I have not had time to read the letter, but from what I could possibly reply to it, I feel that it is my duty to request that when I is received of the Rogers at the occasion in question I was in no way responsible, but that I did not know that I had no choice, and that I endeavored to escape any responsibility attaching to my position, and I do not now fear the most searching inquiry in regard to my action.

As I regard your letter as unjust, undeserved and unwarranted, I have to respectfully demand what is clearly my right, namely, a trial before a naval court.

Dr. Schliemann an American Citizen.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Dr. Schliemann's will, a copy of which was now today, discloses the astonishing fact that he was an American citizen, and that he has a wife now living in Indianapolis. All the printed biography notices of the great archeologist claimed him as a German, and made no reference to his American marriage. Dr. Schliemann guarded his secret well, and it was only discovered at the opening of his will.

This singular document was written in modern Greek and on blue paper. The writing was very neat and quite Hellenic. It is dated January 10, 1890, and carries two codicils, dated February 14 and 20, 1890, respectively. Under the same cover were documents proving that Dr. Schliemann was an American citizen, deeds to his property and a plan for his mausoleum, which is to be constructed under the direction of Architect T. Siller.

This will, together with all the foregoing documents, has been deposited at the Court in Athens, and a duplicate is in the archives of the United States Consulate there. In this will Mr. Schliemann bequeaths to his wife his children by his first marriage, cousin Sergo and Nanarkis, both in 1885 and 1891, respectively, in 86 Gorokoupi, also, his children by his second marriage, Andromache and Agamemnon, born in Athens. To his cousin Sergo he bequeaths his house in Paris. To his daughter a house in Paris and also a house located in Indianapolis, estimated to be worth $50,000 for her income.

All of his remaining fortune falls to the children of the second marriage. He has not forgotten his first wife, from whom he was divorced in 1869, and who is now living in Indianapolis. He bequeaths to her 100,000 francs in gold, the income of which go to the Berlin Museum. He leaves 100,000 francs to be spent on his future mausoleum.

Secretary Blaine Takes the Cue Up.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Secretary Blaine has taken up, with the Spanish Minister, the matter of the Spanish indignities offered American missionaries on the island of Ponape. Captain Taylor, of the United States ship "Alliance," recently returned from the Caroline islands, in his official report confirms in all important details the treatment alleged to be imposed upon the missionaries. Secretary Blaine will see that the treaty stipulations between Spain and the United States in regard to these islands are observed in the future and a reparation made for the violation of the treaty if after investigation, it is found to have been violated.

Does not Believe it.

MADRID, Jan. 10.—The governor of Manila, the capital of the Philippine Islands, cables that he does not believe the news published in connection with the trouble in the Caroline Islands. There is a Spanish man-of-war permanently stationed at the Caroline Islands, and he would have heard from the commander if the trouble was as serious as is now reported.

Wrecked Trains.

In Company with Siberian Wolves.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A telegram from Bolton, Lancashire, states that Bostock's menagerie, now giving exhibitions there, met with a strange adventure when William Entwistle, a local policeman, keeping the Prescott Inn, volunteered under the cage containing a pack of Siberian wolves. The menagerie people consenting, Entwistle walked into and around the cage with the woman performer, amid the cheers of the audience, and broke a bottle of champagne. The cheers being renewed, Entwistle and the woman performer each other and passed in the cage until the waiters very decidedly intimated that they proposed to take a hand in the game. It appears that Entwistle's terrain was indulged in to win a bet of £25.

A Social Problem in India.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 10.—The government has introduced in the legislative council the bill, so long talked of, raising the minimum age at which girls may marry from ten to twelve years. The Bengalese member strongly opposed the change, contending that the woman performer, amid the cheers of the audience, and broke a bottle of champagne. The cheers being renewed, Entwistle and the woman performer each other and passed in the cage until the waiters very decidedly intimated that they proposed to take a hand in the game. It appears that Entwistle's terrain was indulged in to win a bet of £25.

THE INDIANS MOVING

And are Now Within Five Miles of the Pine Ridge Agency.

THE TURTLE MOUNTAIN INDIANS ACTIVE.

Skirmish Between Canadian Mounted Soldiers and Indians Four Men Killed.

By Telegraph to the News.

THEY DID NOT COME.

Father Jutz Says He Will Bolster the Indians No More.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, Jan. 11—Notwithstanding the reports received at headquarters last night that Bonnet Indians did not come in today. They have not even reached the mission, as was announced by some last night. Indeed, as far as the best information obtainable goes, the only reliable fact is that the Indians have started, and that is all. As to the number, the date the agency, that is a point which does not concern the Indians, so many times, indeed, have they promised to come in that no reliance can be placed on them. Father Jutz, a Jesuit missionary, who has done good work among the hostiles, said today that he will believe the Indians are coming. Father Jutz resides at the mission, five miles from the agency. It was at this point the hostiles were to have camped last night. Father Jutz said this afternoon that no Indians were within five miles of the place. The failure of the Indians to put in an appearance is a disappointment to General Miles, who expected them this morning.

Last night the general sent a courier to Captain Offley, commanding the second battalion of the Seventh Cavalry, stationed on Cheyenne Creek. The position is about eight miles from the agency, and commanded a view of General Brooke's command, the camp of the hostiles and the agency.

Captain Offley reported this afternoon, with his command, to reinforce the garrison here in accordance with General Miles' instructions.

A SPECTACLE OF TROUBLE

is now overlooking the friendlies' camp, and commands the agency. This disposition is made to guard against treachery on the part of the friendlies, few of whom are above suspicion.

Lieutenant Taylor, in command of scouts, has sent out one of his men to ascertain the exact location of the hostiles and the manner moving this way. This afternoon Lieutenant Hawthorne of the Ninth Cavalry came in and announced that Colonel Henry's command had moved on White River, seven miles nearer the agency. The command is accompanied by four companies of the second infantry under Colonel Corbin.

Lieutenant Hoffman says the hostiles are about two miles to the left of the command, which is now marching to this point, a distance of about fifteen miles.

General Brooke marched about six miles today and his position on White Clay Creek has been taken by Colonel Offley. These two commands will follow the Indians and are now behind them but at a distance. Lieutenant Hoffman also reports that the villages are moving slowly towards this point.

ARRIVAL OF THE NEW AGENT.

Captain Pierce, the new agent, arrived today. He said, in response to questions, that he did not care to talk of matters at this time, but fully preferring to look over the ground and familiarize himself with affairs first.

Before girls, dressed in the school-boy, escaped last night and joined friends outside. They have not yet been found.

The pelicans services here today were very meagre. In the government school, where Presbyterian services are usually held, only a few were latred and about the building were a number of infantrymen behind earthworks.

The Episcopalian Church is still in use as a hospital and is filled with those injured at Wounded Knee. In the school just beyond, Father Jutz held Catholic services, half of this worship are being Indians the most prominent of whom was old Red Cloud.

A band of Indians this morning killed a number of cattle belonging to friendlies, about five miles from the agency.

The latest report at midnight is that the hostiles are about five miles from the agency.

OTHER THOUSAND HOSTILES COMING IN.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—General Schofield tonight received a dispatch from General Miles at Pine Ridge, stating that the entire body of hostile Indians, about 1000 in number, have arrived within five miles of Pine Ridge and he expected they would reach the agency tomorrow. General Miles also telegraphed to Lieutenant Hoffman to proceed to meet the Indians and escort them to the agency. Agent Royer.

ON BOTH SIDES OF THE AMERICAN LINE.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 11.—Serious Indian rumors yesterday received from Port Dalhousie, Ontario, near Niagara, Devil's Lake, Wilson City and other places in the southern part of the state, generally speaking, are not of a communication as means of protection. It seems that the unprecedented several small bands of Indians in the Turtle Mountain district, near Devil's Lake, alarmed the settlers. A short time is in progress in that region and the Indians appear to be concentrating in the Turtle Mountains on both sides of the Canadian line. They are well armed and are terrorizing the inhabitants to such an extent that they are flocking into the villages.

Several of Battle and an model to the scene of trouble with a large force of mounted and foot troops of arms. He is doing everything that can be done to allay the fear of the people which may not be well-founded, and has informed Secretary Blaine by telegraph that Indians concerned in Manitoba have joined the Sioux Dakota and are menacing the settlers.

A dispatch was received from Secretary Blaine this evening saying the Canadian authorities were notified and ordered to take a hand action to secure the return of the Indians to British territory.

The Governor is to also be notified of a dispatch from the War Department, stating that his request for more stand of arms is complied with. If the crisis has been reached to arrange the outlook may be said. Telegrams received tonight show that there is no truth in the report that Sitting Bull has

MADE HIS APPEARANCE WITH THREE HUNDRED MEN.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 11.—An Oakdale, N. D., special to the Pioneer Press says: Ben Blanks and another man arrived here this afternoon with a band of 40 followers, on some Indian ponies and a few mules, from the mountains, and Hugh Parker of the Sixteenth Infantry left here in a hurry this morning and notified General Miles. He was notified General Miles. He gave him a sleigh to carry his wounded men back to the agency in charge of an escort.

SERIOUS ON BOUNDARY.

A Delaware office is on at this point, this being the only station for the Canadian Pacific. The agent in charge of the department had charge of the transfer room, they were just 25 feet from the line in Dakota. The Indians appeared on the scene, and we allowed the compensation as a band would not be able to make more than 25 day, and a well-armed and well-mounted guard. Further on several supplies are on a side track, and it is evident that the time approaches when they will be stationed fifty miles distant, and be carrying short of supplies. Seventy-five boxes are engaged to depart on Monday had.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS AND TURTLE INDIANS.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11.—A special to the Republic from Devenport, Wash., says: A report reached here this afternoon to the effect that a skirmish between Canadian mounted soldiers and Turtle Mountain Indians at Fish Lake, in the boundary, this side of Devil's Lake, Dakota, occurred yesterday. Four Indians are said to have been killed. More police are on the way from Brandon to the reservation. The hostilities number 600.

WITH FOUR MEN KILLED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—General O'Brien received a letter tonight from Father Craft at Pine Ridge, saying that he is improving rapidly. Speaking of the conflict at Pine Ridge, he says the Indians fired first, and the troops are not to blame for the wholesale killing, everything was done at close quarters.

THE NEVADA INDIANS.

ELKO, Nev., Jan. 11.—Sam McMullen, the leading member of Star Valley, at the head of Humboldt river, today received a telegram from Pershing for arrest and examination. McMullen says 200 Indians are holding a dance in Star Valley, and the situation is threatening.

Senator Hearst at Boyle's Home.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—A Washington special says Senator Hearst is at death's door. His family have given up all hope of recovery and his relatives are summoned to his bedside. He may be able to pass away at any time.

Kalkaua's cause of the month has been a fatal suggestion. Hearst's health had not of late been the best in office. Indicately. His seventy-one years make the light extinguished, and he never recovered from the effects of the shock of his wife's death.

Hearst's affairs have been engaged recently in investing his wealth, and in the way he will leave a fortune of $20,000,000.

The New Killed.

ELK CREEK, N. Dak., Jan. 11.—The mutilated corpse of the Canadian miner found by the side trains, letting the car down as it leaving Jamestown was killed and cut up by the wheels of the train.

Jubilee Dropped.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 11.—Wells Cleveland, the Jubilee Jubilee, Jubilee, near here, was overcoming from a cause which the engineer and a report reached the building of the same and the building of the same and the building of the same and
