NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Serious Accident to Three Colorado Men in this City on Saturday Evening—Taken to Ogden.

An accident of a very serious nature was that which occurred Saturday evening on the line of the Union Pacific railway, at the intersection of Fourth West and Second North streets.

As the Ogden train was approaching the depot the fireman noticed a covered wagon coming along, but paid no special attention to it, thinking they would stop before reaching the track. As the train drew nearer he was horrified to see that they intended driving right across, whereupon he called to the engineer to stop, at the same time pulling the whistle, but, alas, it was too late, the engine struck the horses, throwing them into the air and killing them instantly, and the baggage car hit the wagon in which was seated three unfortunates.

The train was stopped as quickly as possible and the injured people extricated from the ruins, while Dr. Daily was immediately sent for, arriving upon the scene of the accident a few minutes later.

A hasty examination was made and the wounds dressed, after which they were placed upon a car and taken immediately to the Union Pacific hospital at Ogden.

The names of the injured people are, George Pyle and son, and Dr. E. G. Wright, all of Buena Vista, Colorado. They were en route to California in the hope of seeking a new location for a home. George Pyle is a man about 50 years of age and is the owner of a livery stable in Buena Vista. He was injured about the head, his neck and small of the back being affected. His son, aged 11 years, escaped with but a few bruises on the face and head.

Dr. Wright is 60 years of age and a practitioner of Buena Vista. His injuries are similar to Mr. Pyle's, being hurt about the head.

It was thought at first that the injuries of the two men would prove fatal, but later advices from Ogden say that they are getting along nicely and will in all probability recover.

The accident created considerable excitement, and the passengers on the train felt very indignant at the railway officials, for removing them to Ogden for treatment, when they were in such a precarious condition, and could have been treated here just as well.

No blame is attached to the railway company, except that the train was running at a greater speed than the law allows in the city limits.

TALK WITH JIM WILLIAMS.

A Pugilist Expected to Fight Any Time and Make No Excuse—Ready to Meet All Comers.

Jim Williams says he is in better physical condition today than at any time since his memorable battle in California, which resulted in two years of illness, incapacity and practical retirement from the ring. Jim says that he doesn't care to talk very much about that affair. He won the contest after a tremendous effort and after taking punishment enough to kill an ordinary man. Both himself and friends declare that he was "doped" and that he had not recovered from the effects when he met Denver Ed Smith here.

Jim says, "I know that I didn't make a very good showing at the time. But it was because I didn't have the strength. I had been under the doctor's care for more than a year and during that period I had hardly been able to hold one square meal a day on my stomach. Still, what is the use of making excuses? If you don't put up a good fight some one will say you are afraid. No allowance is made for a man at all."

Then Jim spoke of pugilism in general, and said, "It's a bad business anyway, and the first time I get an opportunity to go to steady and permanent employment I will quit the ring. I would do so today if I had that chance. But it seems that I will not get it for the present, so I will keep on and take on any man in my class whoever he is or wherever he comes from. If I make money enough to keep myself and family, then I will quit. If I meet a man who puts me out, then I will stay out. Just now I don't see anything in view. Woods, I understand, is in Chicago, but I can hear nothing from him. Yes, I am in first-class condition, and I will keep myself so. I never drink, smoke or dissipate no matter how long I am away from home. If I were to lead the life that some men do who are in the business, I would be afraid that a curse would come upon me. I am now twenty-six years of age, and by taking care of myself as I have done I ought to be good until thirty-five."

Missionary's Report.

TELLER, Colo., July 7th, 1895.

Editor Deseret News:

Thinking perhaps a few lines from me would be interesting to some of the readers of your valuable paper (especially those I have been associated with in the missionary field) I pen the following: The Gospel was brought to me in W. Va. I was baptized by Elder Guy C. Wilson, Dec. 14th, 1887; emigrated to Manassa, Colo., May, 1889. Having been called to go on a mission I took my departure from Manassa, Colo., Nov. 1st, 1892. On arriving at the office at Chattanooga, Tenn., I found Elder Geo. A. Smith in charge. He treated me with courtesy, gave me instructions and sent me to the North Carolina conference.

While laboring in that conference I enjoyed my labors very much. I traveled with several different companions, assisted in opening up some new fields and succeeded in making many friends for the cause of truth. Of course we had many trials and some persecution, but the people generally were very kind and hospitable and willing to listen to what we had to present to them, and we could readily [illegible] to [illegible] that the hearts of the people were truly being softened towards the servants of God. I had the privilege while in that conference of baptizing six persons and blessing three children.

I was released January 10th, 1895, and after visiting saints and friends in the southern part of Virginia, I left there February 7th and arrived at my old home in West Virginia, February 9th. There was a time of rejoicing at meeting with father, mother, brothers and sisters after an absence of six years.

I remained there about two months visiting relatives and friends, and found there was a great change in the feelings of the people towards Mormonism since I left that part. Prejudice had given way to reason and better judgment, to some extent at least. While there I held four meetings, baptized one person and blessed his children. I felt that I was a very weak instrument but the Lord blessed and assisted me in [illegible] labors, and [illegible] Him be all the honor.

On April 2nd I bade adieu to my old home and relatives and wended my way towards Chattanooga where I met Elder Beck April [illegible] and we traveled the iron horse and sped away towards the valleys of the mountains.

I arrived at Manassa, Colo., April 9th, and met many friends and acquaintances who welcomed me back in their midst after an absence of more than twenty-nine months.

Your most valuable paper is always a welcome visitor to Elders, Saints and friends in the missionary field and is the means of sowing the seeds of the Gospel in many honest hearts.

The Fourth at Tropic.

TROPIC, Utah, July 5, 1895.

Editor Deseret News:

Our country's natal day was appropriately and creditably celebrated here by National Guardsmen and civilians alike. A salute was fired at daybreak, under direction of Captain of Artillery John Ahlstrom; also a salute and the unfurling of the national colors at sunrise.

At 9:30 the people assembled at the hall and a choice and spicy program was rendered, consisting of the reading of the Declaration of Independence, an oration, national hymns, patriotic songs, speeches, recitations, etc., all of which were given with zest and energy, a loyal spirit animating both participants and spectators.

The Fourth of July being essentially National Guard's day throughout the United States, Company L, N. G. U., took active part in the proceedings of the day, giving a fine exhibition of their military training under command of their able captain, John M. Dunning, and his lieutenants. Target practice was also engaged in and a fair record scored considering the fact that a stiff breeze was in progress at the time, and the limited practice had with the arms. At the termination of target practice a national salute was fired by the boys.

The juveniles enjoyed themselves in the dance in the afternoon and a ball was given the adults in the evening in which all participated. Guardsmen, from captain to private, being intermingled with the throng.

Dexter Stillman.

The following letter has been received by the postmaster of this city. If any reader of the NEWS can give the information desired, he will confer a favor by communicating direct with the writer of the letter:

CORNER MOLINE AVENUE AND CALIFORNIA STREET, Pasadena, Cal., July 5, 1895.

I am trying to trace the family of one Dexter Stillman, who was born in Colebrook, Conn., March 23, 1804, and who is possibly living now. I am told he went from Ohio, many years ago, "with the Mormons, to Salt Lake." Can you put me in communication with any of his descendants, or with any of the officers of that Church, who can give me any information? I wish to have "date of his death," "to whom married, and when," names of his children, with their full family records, down to the youngest, for a genealogy of the Stillman family, now being compiled.

Any assistance you can render me in this matter will be most gratefully received. With respect,

N. A. N. DRAKE.

A Violent Woman.

Yesterday morning Captain Donovan was disturbed by a woman unmercifully beating a boy just in front of his house. Upon requesting her to stop she struck him in the face and abused him and as she continued to create a disturbance he was compelled to take her to the station. Being a woman he did not call the patrol wagon but took her on the street car. He, however, found that he was unable to control her. There was no charge made against her as she was found to be the widow of an ex-city official and some of her friends stated that she was a sufferer from attacks of violent mania which left her in a state of exhaustion and were destroying her health.

Measured Parley's Canyon Waters.

City Engineer Young took a trip to Parley's canyon this forenoon for the purpose of measuring the water carried by the creek. He was accompanied by Messrs. Doremus, John Gabbott and Bowles, Mr. Doremus representing the city, Mr. Gabbott the farmers and Mr. Bowles, being a member of the board chosen by both. The purpose of this board is to judge of the amount of water which the farmers should receive in return for the waters of Parley's canyon creek used by the city.

Was Not Mr. Caine's Motion.

In the NEWS report of the Democratic convention held in this city on Saturday Hon. John T. Caine was credited with making a motion "that all resolutions be referred to the committee on resolutions without debate." That statement was a mistake. The motion was not made by Mr. Caine at all but by F. W. [illegible].

DIVERTING CITY WATER.

Watermaster Wilcken Anxious to Have People Read the Law and Then Obey It.

Watermaster Wilcken has been having a good deal of trouble with people of late in regard to diverting city water from its regular channels. Some prosecutions and convictions have already occurred and others will follow unless the law is observed. The ordinance on the question is as follows, and it that may prevent persons ignorant of its requirements from getting into trouble:

Section 5. No person shall convey water from a public ditch to his lot or premises, by an irrigation ditch, without first having constructed, under the direction of the city watermaster, a substantial gate, both in the public ditch and at the head of his branch ditch; the latter he shall keep closed and water tight, except during the period allotted to him for the use of such water; and where such branch ditch crosses any portion of a sidewalk, the same shall be made of lumber or other substantial material, the covering of which shall be on a level with such sidewalk.

Sec. 6. All persons using water for irrigation or other purposes, shall confine the surplus of waste water into a public water ditch, and shall not allow such water to flood the streets, sidewalks or private property to the damage thereof, or to run to unnecessary waste.

The penalty for the violation of either of the above sections is a fine and imprisonment.

THE COAL QUESTION.

Price of That Fuel and Policy of Mr. Clark Will Soon Be Known.

Information has been received in this city to the effect that Superintendent Clark, of the Union Pacific coal interests will arrive here some time this month.

Superintendent Sharp was asked today as to whether Mr. Clark's visit would be likely to result in the increase or decrease of the price of coal in Utah. He replied that he had no idea what the effect would be. It therefore will remain an unanswered question for the present. It is one, however, in which the people are vitally interested and concerning which they would like information as soon as possible. In the meantime there are coal dealers who say that they have good reason to believe that there will be an advance in rates. In answer to a further query, Mr. Sharp said that little or no coal would be stored this year for winter use. It is proposed to take all chances in the way of strikes, lockouts and extraordinary falls of snow.

Sunday School Union Tonight.

An excellent program has been prepared and will be given by the Twenty-first ward Sunday school, while the Eleventh ward school will furnish the music, at the meeting of the Stake Sunday School Union, held this evening in the Fourteenth ward assembly rooms, at 8 o'clock. All Sabbath school workers are invited.

J. H. PARRY, Secretary.

A Welcome Little Stranger.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon a welcome little stranger made its appearance at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cannon. It is a girl and weighs twelve pounds. The mother and baby are both doing well.
