Our grain thus far looks well. Freighting is in good demand here, which is more or less a great drawback to the upbuilding of our place, as it draws the settlers from home work, but we are beginning to get our eyes open on that point by observing the progress of those who stick to the farms. Flour, grain, ay as having been adopted by vegetables, etc., demand a very high price, such as the following: Flour, $5.75 @ $6.00 per 100 lbs.; beans, $7.00 @ 8.00; onions, 10cts. per lb.; potatoes, $7.00 @ $8.00, and everything else in proportion."
