IN ALBERTA STAKE, CANADA.

Proceedings at the Interesting Stake Conference Held at Cardston.

The quarterly conference of the Alberta Stake convened in the Cardston meeting house, August 25th, at 10 a.m. according to appointment, President Charles O. Card presiding. Singing. Prayer by Elder C. O. Card. Singing. There were present on the stand Elders John A. Woolf and Sterling Williams, of the Stake presidency, Patriarch Henry E. Hinman, Bishops Hammer and Pilling, Elders J. H. Gold and S. J. Layton, representatives from West Cardston, Layton and Leavitt branches, and other leading men of the Stake.

Elder Card made the opening remarks, expressing satisfaction and gratitude for the favorable circumstances the Saints were in at the present time.

Elder H. L. Hinman next addressed the congregation, showing the necessity of a continued effort to insure progression in spiritual things; impressing upon the Saints the necessity of performing every duty devolving upon them, and taking that course that would draw down the blessings of heaven.

Singing, "An angel from on high."

Elders Jonas Anderson, J. E. Layne, James May, Robert Leishman and Samuel Mathie, members of the High Council, next addressed the congregation, in substance exhorting the Saints to forsake evil and draw near unto the Lord, expressing thankfulness for the blessings present at upon us as a people, showing the necessity of unity of action, and of so living that we might continually enjoy the favor of God.

Singing. Benediction by Elder J. A. Woolf.

2 p.m.—Singing; prayer by Elder J. A. Hammer; singing.

Sacrament was administered by Elders L. Harker and J. H. Gold. Elder Card called upon the following members of the High Council to address the congregation, namely: Neils Hansen, M. E. Becker, Ephraim Harker, O. L. Robinson and James Quinton; each of whom spoke impressively upon the duties of the Saints, especially assembling ourselves together often, praying for each other, guarding against speaking evil of each other, of being to gain spiritual strength; and of setting ourselves and our homes in order.

Bishop H. Pilling reported his ward as being in a favorable condition, the different organizations of the ward being in good working order; six new members had been added the past three months.

Elder J. H. Gold reported Mountain View ward progressing as much as could be expected under the circumstances, peace and plenty prevailing.

Elder Card followed with a powerful discourse upon the duties of the Saints, the gifts of the Gospel, the necessity of going before the Lord from time to time and making our wants known, having faith that our prayers will be answered, and especially at the present time that the elements might be tempered that we might gather the beautiful harvest. He admonished the youth to guard against excessive frivolity, and reminded the Saints of the necessity of strictly conforming to the law of tithing and of continuing faithful in every good word and work.

Singing. Benediction by Elder S. Williams.

August 26, 10 a. m.—Singing; prayer by Elder S. J. Layton; singing.

Bishop J. Hammer reported the Cardston ward as being in a favorable condition; spoke especially of the Teachers and Deacons being faithful to their duties, urged the Saints to continue their faith that the crops might be gathered safely in due time.

Elder J. W. Woolf reported the Young Men's Mutual Improvement associations of the Stake as being alive to their duties, continual meetings having been held regularly through the season, and preparation being made to resume the regular meetings for the winter season.

Elder F. W. Atkin reported the Sunday schools as being on the increase in numbers and average attendance, one more school being organized in the Stake since last conference.

Sister Mary L. Woolf, in reporting the Relief societies of the Stake, testified that the Spirit of the Lord had been poured out in much abundance upon the sisters in their meetings from time to time, a renewed interest being manifest.

The labors of the home missionaries, High Priests and Seventies were severally reported by those in charge.

Elders J. A. Woolf and Sterling Williams followed with appropriate remarks upon the importance of educating our children, choosing proper associates, setting good examples for our fellow beings to follow, and living as becometh Saints of God.

Singing. Benediction by Elder S. L. Rolfe.

2 p. m.—After the opening exercises Elder Winder addressed the Saints upon the duties of every day life, exhorting all to diligence.

The Primary associations of the Stake were then reported by Sister Emily Bigler, showing 117 members.

Sister Zina Y. Card reported the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement associations of the Stake as being fully organized and in good working order, the sisters being fully alive to their duties, the gifts of the gospel being manifest from time to time to a great degree; and stated as especially adapted to exhorting the youth to live pure lives that they might be worthy of the favor of God.

Elder U. O. Card then addressed the Saints, reminding them of their duties, the most important at present being the requests to the requirements for means to build the Manti temple, tithing fund and Logan Temple; the payment of our tithes promptly; furnishing sufficient schools for the education of our youth; taking care of the poor, and assisting those coming into our midst to find suitable locations. He closed by invoking the blessings of heaven upon the people.

Conference adjourned for three months. Benediction H. D. Hinman.

Stake Clerk.

BANNOCK STAKE, IDAHO.

An Instructive and Interesting Time at the Quarterly Conference.

The quarterly conference of Bannock Stake was held at Rexburg, Idaho, Saturday and Sunday, September 7 and 8. There were present Elders John Henry Smith, of the quorum of the Apostles, and Jonathan G. Kimball, of the presidency of the seventies, the Stake presidency and most of the leading brethren of the Stake.

Saturday 10 a.m.—After the opening exercises President T. E. Ricks said he was pleased at the opportunity of again meeting the Saints in a conference capacity. He reported the Stake as prosperous and increasing in population. The Stake presidency were united and the Bishops likewise. Invoked the spirit of God to attend us during conference.

Several Bishops then reported their wards in satisfactory condition.

Elder Wm. F. Rigby spoke briefly upon the development of our country. Reported his labors in the wards of Teton Basin. They had recently had the Jackson Hole expedition of U. S. soldiers attend their meetings there. Soldiers interested was manifested by the troops in the doctrines of the Latter-day Saints.

Elder Geo. Cole, principal of the Stake academy, spoke upon education. True education, he said, must be all round, not one-sided—must be scholastic, commercial and theological. Domestic education is inseparably connected with all the other branches. The educational institutions of the world are now providing scholarships which they should increase they do not give a complete education; the spiritual part is wanting.

2 p. m.—Bishops continued their reports, also reports from presidency of Seventies, Y. M. M. I. associations and High Council were given.

Elder John Henry Smith delivered an exhaustive discourse upon the subject of fasting, and offerings in connection therewith; and upon the duty devolving upon parents to teach their children the nature of these principles and the purposes of fast meetings. If this is done in the way he prescribed, it will not fail to give our offspring, even of the most tender years, a sure and abiding testimony of the divinity of the work in which we are engaged.

Elder Jonathan G. Kimball spoke briefly, corroborative of the former speaker's remarks. He despised stinginess, because it is meanness. If we were generous we would be more popular. Not that he wanted to encourage office seeking; they love themselves more than their country. Let men accumulate the riches of the world if they have that gift, but let them use their riches rightly.

Sunday, 10 a.m.—Elder T. E. Ricks continued upon the teachings we receive and the blessings we enjoy, which are exemplified in their labors to make to the land people on earth. Reviewed some of the changes that have taken place since our settlement in Teton Valley and showed how all had tended to our good.

Elder J. G. Kimball said the time had come when Latter-day Saints must get into action. It is one good thing we do on earth will gain us eternal life. We must be up to the line of duty in all the requirements of the Gospel. Avoid the danger of always hearing and getting into a very receptive mood, but never doing.

Elder John Henry Smith talked in very expressive language against the heinous crimes that are increasing in the world. Suicides should receive no sympathy and our Latter-day Saints let it be said away without ostentation and as quietly as possible. Such crimes and sexual sins are the crimes of crimes and will meet with the greatest punishment in this life and that to come. He solemnly warned parents to teach their children the principles of virtue.

2 p. m.—Sacrament was administered by the Bishopric of Bannock First and Second wards.

Elder John Henry Smith was the principal speaker this afternoon. He traced upon the mission and destiny of the Latter-day Saints, and spoke of the retrogression of mankind from the purpose and laws of God, and re-establishment of truth again in this age. Brother Smith paid a high tribute to the memory of the late President Brigham Young. He encouraged all in continuance in the sections of gathering to assist in course of session, for the purpose of commemorating our love and esteem for what our great leader has done.

Thirty home missionaries were sustained to visit in the Stake during the next three months.

Two Bishops were set apart to preside in the new wards of Latch and Darby.

Choir sang an anthem. Benediction by Elder John Henry Smith.
