AMUSEMENTS.

The Soudan Presented Before an Enthusiastic Audience Last Night.

The opening performance of the Soudan took place at the Theater last night to a fairly well filled house and the frequent outbursts of applause and curtain calls with which it was received gave sufficient evidence of the delight of the audience.

The Soudan is a melodrama and aims as much to portray as vividly and realistic as possible scenes and incidents in the career of its heroes. In this respect it is simply immense. The scene to which the English soldiers attack the forces at the Mahdi, and the parade at Trafalgar square equal anything in the line presented in this city. That the characters of the play are much overdrawn is apparent enough to the critic who scrutinizes them closely. The villains are extremely villainous and the good people are almost too good to live, as the saying is, but since this is only what is expected in a play of this class, it should not be regarded as a defect. The total impression is the main thing, and in these who like melodrama the Soudan gives perfect satisfaction.

The company played in the main extremely well. James Horne, as Captain Temple, Miss Annie Ramsay, his wife, Horace Lewis, the lawyer, and F. W. Morrison, his clerk, were certainly far above the average melodramatic actors. Emile La Croix did the best in the scene by the well, but did not succeed to perfection in imitating one dying of thirst. Master Walter Lewis as Dick and Alice Hunt as Frank came in for a great share of the favor and the enthusiastic applause of the audience.

The Soudan goes again tonight and tomorrow night.

For next week the attraction at the Theater will be Jane, a farce-comedy which has been presented, it is said, with success in Eastern cities.

Jennie Yeamans, who plays the title role, is one of the few young actresses who is not afraid to tell how old she is. When a reporter for the New York Herald asked her about her age, she replied: "I was born in 1879, now count for yourself."

PEAS EARLY AND LATE.

Best Standard Varieties and Varieties of Recent Introduction.

Green peas are an important crop both for the garden and the farm. The profits may not always be so large, but the product is salable and brings money early in the season. It is not necessary that the soil be very rich or heavily fertilized for a profitable pea crop. Light, dry soil, not over rich, suits the pea.

"CHINESE PEA."

Peas do best in the forepart of the season and ought therefore to be planted as early as the ground can be worked, and again every 10 days in succession up to the 1st of June, after which there is some danger from mildew. A week may be gained in earliness by starting peas for seed by sowing in a box of moist sand placed in a cellar and planted in the garden when well sprouted. When grown for market, the first aim is to get the crop ready for sale at the earliest possible date.

Sow in drills 2 to 3 inches deep and 2½ to 3½ feet apart, according to vigor of variety and strength of soil. For the home garden some growers often sow the early, medium and late varieties all at one time, which plan gives a succession of three weeks or more. The sowing is usually done by hand, in drills opened to the proper depth, and

"CHAMPION HERO."

The "Champion" pea, depicted in the first cut, is an extra early wrinkled marrow pea, which was awarded a first class certificate by the Royal Horticultural society of England after trying it with many other varieties. It is not a selection from any existing variety, but an entirely new kind. "Champion Hero," illustrated in the second cut, is classed with second early, large wrinkled peas. It is claimed that it is a robust grower, producing abundant large and well filled pods. This pea also received a first class certificate from the Royal Horticultural society of England. Packets are due to J. M. Thorburn of New York for the first cut, and to Henry Johnson & Son of Philadelphia for the second illustration.

Compare this with definition of a city employee: "Too caught out to depend on the job he holds."

Health at the World's Fair.

Twenty women fainted in the grounds at the opening of the Exposition. There are abundant facilities within the grounds for taking care of the people who suddenly become ill, and plenty of opportunities for rest from fatigue and sight-seeing.

It is the duty of everyone who goes to the Fair to equip himself with remedies which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in everyday life. For instance, Hood's Sarsaparilla as a general tonic, and to keep the blood pure and free from impurities which lead to all kinds of diseases, will be well nigh invaluable. Chance of drinking water often causes serious troubles, especially if one has been used to drinking water in the country. From a few drops to a teaspoonful of Hood's Sarsaparilla in a tumbler of water will prevent the water having any injurious effect.

We earnestly advise all to include in your medicine package a box of Hood's Pills. They cause no discomfort, no disturbance, no loss of sleep, but assist the digestive organs, so that satisfactory results are effected in perfectly natural and regular manner. Although Hood's Pills are silent in operation they are nevertheless certain in their effect. It is surprising how great relief may be gained from Hood's Pills when you are suffering from sick headache or that languid misery caused by the system being in bad shape from inactive liver, improper food or poor digestion.

For a dentifrice there is nothing superior to Hood's Tooth Powder, which is put up in handsome bottles of convenient size and shape, with a patented metallic cap which prevents waste or loss of the powder.

Hood's Olive Ointment will also be found of very great value for cuts, burns, bruises, to remove stubborn, and for corns, which are sure to be so numerous and so troublesome.

Equipped with the excellent remedies named above, you will be so thoroughly protected that there need be no anxiety about health while away from home.

Mrs. William Lake

66 Prospect St., Lynn, Mass., writes: "I was all run down and got into a severe condition from Dyspepsia for which one of my friends gave me a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It did me so much good that I gave my friends some. I can recommend it to all who suffer from Dyspepsia."

WHY THE DESERET NEWS SHOULD BE SUBSCRIBED FOR IN PREFERENCE TO ANY OTHER PAPER.

1.—It is the organ of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and the authorized medium through which the views, wishes and instructions of the Church Authorities are expressed and given to the Saints.

2.—It may always be relied upon as advocating or defending the right side of every question proper for public journals to look upon.

3.—It is devoted to the interests of the Latter-day Saints, and has, from its inception, valiantly defended their rights and advocated the principles in which they believe, and every Latter-day Saint should therefore feel under obligations to do his part in helping to sustain it.

4.—It is not published for speculation, and never has been, but for the good which it is capable of accomplishing; the profits, if any there be derived from it, being devoted to extending its sphere of usefulness and benefiting the community.

5.—It is doing its utmost to establish home industries, money which are paper making and type-founding, stereotyping and electroplating—branches necessary to the development and independence of the community, but which, during their infancy (which in this Territory they have not yet passed), can only be carried on at a pecuniary loss.

6.—There is no danger of any subscriber to the News failing to get what he subscribes for through failure of the business and a suspension of the publication—a result in the case of hundreds of newspaper ventures every year.

7.—It is printed in readable type, so that even the aged can peruse it without difficulty or danger to their eyesight.

8.—It is free from objectionable advertisements, so that no parent need fear that his children will have their minds corrupted from having access to it; in fact, it refuses thousands of dollars worth of the best paying advertisements annually, because it is devoted to the moral and spiritual interests of its readers instead of to getting gain at their expense.

9.—The tone is not regulated by public opinion nor the hope of gaining subscribers or advertisements. It advocates that which is right and condemns that which is wrong, regardless of results, financial or otherwise.

10.—It never nauseates its readers by pasting off columns of self-praise for news items.

11.—The News practices no deception and resorts to no subterfuges to induce people to subscribe; but on the contrary, prefers to stand on its own merits, as the people's newspaper, with a promise only to do its utmost to give its patrons the full value of their money—a promise which it has endeavored to faithfully keep in the past.

12.—In conclusion, if a Latter-day Saint can afford to subscribe for only one newspaper, that paper should be the DESERET NEWS, and if more than one, the NEWS should invariably be the first.
