$50,000,000

That is what we Americans spend for tea every year—not quite $1 each person.

Looks big, when you see it all together; but it isn't big; it is very little; it isn't enough.

The reason is plain: tea isn't good enough; it is sold (especially in this State) for looks, not for tea excellence. You demand a pretty tea of your grocer for thirty or forty cents a pound; and he gives it to you; but it is not good tea, it is not pure tea.

Tea—good pure tea—is the cheapest beverage next to water—1½ cent a cup, think of it!

Schilling's Best—money-back tea at your grocer's.

Excessive Rains Destroying Crops in Nevada.

BODY BURGLARIZED BY ROBBERS.

A Mayor in a Fight—Spur for a Body—California Coal Locks—Petaluma Riots.

California cities have had a great time this spring with floral festivals.

Prospective coal lands are being repaired five miles from San Bernardino, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Miller of San Luis were at the Palace hotel, San Francisco, on Wednesday.

Hilmon Wheeler, a prominent citizen of the Y. M. C. A. of Oakland, Cal., has disappeared mysteriously.

F. H. Smith, a student of San Luis Obispo, Cal., fell from a train Tuesday and died from the injuries received.

An American jeweler stole an orange in Redondo, Cal., Tuesday, and was arrested. Justice Fox convicted the crook and, after, out of goodness, waived the penalty.

Florence, Arizona, has a good government road, which has a merciless tariff on it. It costs a horse $1 to enter government expenses to the lowest cent, and it possible to remove one of a Dewey-coat hide.

It is said that large quantities are being taken by the wind of Death at the Crystal Springs (Cal.) Land and Improvement Company. Numerous people have recently moved into the south as well as residents of the south.

The dead body of a man, identified by papers, was discovered near Stevens Siding, New, Thursday evening. It is supposed to be that of Patrick Merritt, a pioneer, who mysteriously disappeared about six weeks ago.

Joe Castro, January, was accidentally shot up his baby house at Oakland, Cal., Tuesday. He had his pistol in the table cover to the chair, who saved it at the trigger and accidentally discharged it. The wound is not fatal.

The latest pioneer relics on the Pacific coast are those found at San Fernando, Cal., says the Chronicle. Local men, both on the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific, make over 1000 arrows or more, between stations, every day.

The Yuma, Arizona, Mail says: Advertising in these sections has been with the sheep industry in this county. The Wood-Kimball from Nevada county proper will fall short this year as compared with last year by 100,000 to 125,000 pounds.

A first-class painter has been called upon by two San Mateo, who asked the probable cost of a brother job. They said that they intended to start a barber shop here, in which two women will act the part of essential artists.—Bakersfield, Cal., Echo.

Recently Mrs. R. E. Springer was until 2 burned at Weston, Or. She was about to retire, when her lamp that was upon the table by the outside exploded, setting fire to her clothing. She was nearly but not fatally burned about the head and face.

William Burke, for many years chief of police of Tucson, Arizona, committed suicide the day night. The act was the result of depository growing out of the death a few weeks ago of his son. He drank heavily and was discharged from the police force.

J. L. Davis, mayor of Oakland, Cal., attempted to separate two policemen who were engaged in a fight on Tuesday, and was roughly handled. The mayor stopped the fight when one of the officers said he was only trying to that he needed a doctor's attention.

The Everett (Wash.) News says Jim Hill has secured all the water front for a distance of thirty miles between Seattle and Marysville. The News believes this will be an injury to that portion of the sound, because, it claims, not even a log can be put into the sound without Mr. Hill's permission.

Advices have been received at Silver City, New Mexico, that the body of Frank Reitz was found on a ranch near Rincon, and there was every evidence that he had been murdered. Reitz had been a resident of Gallup for several years, and was in the lumber business. He was highly respected.

There is trouble in Tacoma, Wash., over a change in office. A new chairman of the board of public works was appointed, but the superseded official refused to retire. The new man was put in possession by the aid of the police, but the ousted official refuses to reveal the combination of the safe, and the new one is not authorized to break it open. Public business is interfered with.

One feature of the new athletic exercises of the Fort Whipple, Arizona, tin-can is what may be called a potato race. Potatoes are laid equal distances apart for half a mile; a man starts at either end with a cart; each man runs toward the other as fast as he can, picking up every potato as he comes to it. The man who gets the most potatoes is the winner of the contest.

Another curious find has been made in the yard at the Nevada state prison, at Carson City. This time it is the vertebrae of an elephant or mastodon, firmly cemented in sandstone. It was uncovered only a few days ago. It was found at the same place the celebrated Carson petrified footprints were discovered, under fifty-six feet of solid rock, which was quarried by the prisoners for building purposes. There was also found numerous bird and mastodon tracks in the sandstone.

Since April 1st it has rained continuously in Lovelock, Nev., with the exception of eight days. During April the rainfall at Lovelock was twelve inches to spare, an average of four and a half inches for the preceding ten years. In the valleys rain has been even heavier, and reports from all sections are chorus of crop failures. Fruit is dropping from the trees, that is impossible for early spring grain, and is rotting in the ground, grain is being drowned out, and farm work of all kinds is at a standstill.
