Utah Artists.

The Society of Utah Artists met on the 5th of April to Hall's studio and adopted a constitution and bylaws for the government of the organization. The first annual election of officers resulted as follows: Edwin Evans, president; John Hafen, vice president; Herman H. Haag, secretary; J. W. Clawson, treasurer; J. T. Harris, assistant.

The object of this society is to encourage originality in art, give public exhibitions of art works, keep open for a permanent art gallery and the study of models of art knowledge in general. It was unanimously decided to hold an art exhibition in December next.

HERMAN H. HAAG,
Secretary.

Funeral Services.

Funeral services over the remains of Louie Margaret Everett, who died very suddenly from heart failure at the Lowell school yesterday, will be held tomorrow (Sunday) at 12 o'clock, in the Twentieth ward meeting house. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

For the Plaintiff.

The trial of the case of Charles Caldwell Jr., vs. the Dalton Gold Mining and Milling company was concluded before Chief Justice Merritt and a jury yesterday afternoon. The suit was brought to recover $[illegible] on a promissory note made and executed by the defendant to the order of C. F. Dalton and assigned to the plaintiff. By instruction of the court the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for the sum and of the note and interest.

Judge Powers as Plaintiff.

The case brought by Judge Powers vs. the Salt Lake and Ogden Gas and Electric Light company was called up late yesterday afternoon in Judge Marshall's court. The jury was impaneled and the case started, when it was continued until Monday morning. The suit was to recover $[illegible] he alleges is his due for salary earned prior to [illegible] and partly in [illegible] in that time being the regular monthly salary for the company. He alleges he was employed at a salary of $[illegible] a year to do their business, and that when the gas company went out of existence there was a balance of $[illegible] owing him, for which he sues the new company, for the former company, they say they are not responsible. The defendants the present company, deny that they are the successors of the old company, alleging that it was not a consolidation, but that they purchased the assets of the old company.

Arrived in Europe.

Advices from Philadelphia state that the American line steamer Knickerbocker, which sailed from this city on April 5, with passengers for Europe, arrived safely at Southampton on the 17th, after a voyage of [illegible] days. The vessel reached Liverpool next day.

Beautiful Accident.

[illegible] April 24, 1893.—Lorenzo Jr., was killed at Cache Gate, Sunday evening last, by jumping on the westbound passenger train, just for fun. He missed his hold and fell between the rails as the train was moving at a good speed. Death was instantaneous. He was 22 years of age [illegible]. The funeral took place this day. Quite a number of people came up from the town.

Alex Wilson got his foot crushed in the Winder Quarter's mine and has gone to the hospital at Salt Lake for treatment.

THE INVESTIGATION.

Reporter Calmes Appeared with His Books Late Yesterday Afternoon.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Reporter Calmes, who was unusually early in the day to go and get his books, appeared before the county court with them, and his examination was continued. After questioning Wilson about the accounts County Attorney Williams referred to a [illegible] entry in the ledger and asked:

"Was this entry made today?"

"No, sir," was the reply.

The county attorney was called to the glass upon the bench, and Expert accountant Robert R. Anderson was called and gave it as his opinion that the entry was not more than a day old.

L. M. Fisher and Artichet Kerr also thought the writing was of a very recent date.

Deputy County Recorder McKay said it was impossible to tell how old the writing was.

R. Calmes then finished his testimony. He said he made the entries some time after the first of the year, when he closed up the business for the year, and it was not made yesterday or the day before.

Two witnesses was then examined and court adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Another Damage Suit.

Charles Burgess has commenced suit proceedings in the third district court against the Salt Lake City Railroad company, claiming $[illegible] damages for personal injuries. It is alleged that on December 5, 1891, the plaintiff was crossing Second South street between East Temple and West Temple streets when he was run into by a car belonging to the defendant company, which was proceeding at the unlawful rate of fifteen miles an hour, and that no bell was rung by the motorman at the crossing. Plaintiff was knocked down and very seriously injured, being a person of [illegible] and sustaining injury to his shoulder, head and body.
