ENGLISH MURDER TO U. S. CONSULS.

Secured by an Armenian Native, Who Came for Quality and Was Thrown in Prison.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Oliver Maxwell, the latter of the city from Marsden, announced by his wife and mother, has published some interesting Armenian jobs, giving the most reliable information on the basis of the facts contained will this week be made to the government of state at Washington. Mr. Maxwell, who is a Canadian born, known as America, in 1876, after a residence of years in the United States, Mr. Maxwell's statement is as follows:

In New York in July, 1895, and in my entire week at Tokat, Turkey, in Armenian the Will (gives) to Turkish subjects, but in spite of the world, all have become an American citizen.

Upon my arrival, Sunday, late in the morning, seven Turkish officers came to the house where I was with my friend, and, to spite of my protestations, and in spite of my being an American citizen, they arrested me and my companions and to go with them, saying the evil wished me, by ask me to prison. We were crowded into the prison, in which was a cell, and we were put in the same cell with Turkish prisoners, and we spent the night in a state of terrible anxiety.

The Angels to Kars they were to sell in order with the murderers Turks, saying the sheep at night to slaughter to Christ. They tried to get necessarily to ask if I will attend in testimony as American citizen, and when I said I will not, they put me in jail. At the end of a week I was sent as a prisoner to Constantinople in a Turkish steamer, with other Turkish prisoners. The American consul was informed of my arrest and was informed of my release.

When such suffering I mentioned to Government and asked that Armenians of Marsden city are to consider that they had orders not to join American citizens who were in Armenian. Turkish subjects are. This is our government affairs.
