Some Questions for the Convention Committee on Education.

Will it be Culturally Value at Salt Lake With a Cost of $100,000, at Logan and Cost $250,000, or Elsewhere?

SALT LAKE CITY, March 25, 1895.

Editor Deseret News:

There is a possibility that the educational article may be reached for discussion and action by the State Constitutional Convention. It is worthy and interesting that many of your readers will be interested in some of the views upon this topic, which, if it be not cured the most consistent heads in a convention, I trust that you can, consistently give space in your columns to a few practicals or more fully reading upon a phase of the subject matter.

The committee on education have reported absolutely no educational article for the consideration of the Convention. But provision for the active of the University and agricultural colleges are in their location or not place.

I am convinced that a majority of the committee in making their report had in view the idea that the location of these two higher educational institutions at Salt Lake City and at or in the vicinity adjacent Fort Douglas site. It is upon the other proposition that I desire to speak.

Do taxpayers and citizens want this thing? If necessary additional, which location are the greatest concentrative advantages? This query is certainly answered by the ultra determination jealousy to and over anything.

To sum it shall be decided to remove the University to the Fort Douglas site, I would be caused thinking.

1. The new buildings recently in commencement the remained for one more without ever going to sale or cost. The various cost of expense a more than one year's Territorial revenue, so that such financial, if carried along, cannot take effect for several years to come.

2. That the present University grounds would then revert to Salt Lake City. These grounds and buildings are worth $250,000. This will be the third item of expense.

3. The proposition to unite the institutions at Salt Lake City is the cause of economy is really a proposition that the Territory of Utah shall lose the use of a property worth conservatively of a million dollars, which was never to Salt Lake City, of another property worth the same amount, which will revert to Logan City, and add to an immediate expenditure of another quarter of a million dollars for just such buildings as the Territory now has at Logan.

Second—In case the Convention decides to unite the University and Agricultural College of Logan, then the present College buildings at Logan will accommodate all departments of both institutions. The buildings are severe in comfort. The main building, one of the largest college structures in the country, has seventy five rooms now finished, of which number thirty to sixty are occupied. The first cost of these buildings was $187,212.56. The main building cost $100,000, and the contractors lost heavily on it. The building can not be duplicated for less than $200,000.

The scientific apparatus, machinery and domestic arts equipments cost, without adding up, $35,000. Much of it cannot be removed without great expense and injury.

The college farm comprises 110 acres of fertile irrigated land under close cultivation, one mile from the business center of Logan. It has permanent water right, is furnished with fire hydrants, high water pressure, irrigating canals and flumes, choice orchards and vineyards and young forest trees. The free use for twenty years of a little track of meadow land in the Logan city park has been granted to the college experiment station and is planted to many kinds of forest trees.

The title to these grounds is in Logan city and the grounds will revert to that city in case the premises or these is abandoned. The first item of expense (or loss) in removing from Logan is estimated at the conservative figure of $200,000.

These facts should have weight and influence in the discussion of this subject and should be given due consideration their importance demands.

If the views presented (and on the Fort Douglas site, we explicitly tolerated by the committee) will retain a school fund to the State of $250,000, and other universities contingencies that space will not admit of presentation in the letter, should such a proposition obtain, and be then seriously entertained in our Constitution?

Yours respectfully,

ROBERT H. CAMERON.

SOCIAL EVENTS IN REXBURG.

A Number of Pleasant Gatherings—Dances and Other Sports.

REXBURG, Fremont county, March 23, 1895.

Editor Deseret News:

The Rexburg Dramatic company agreeably surprised the people of Rexburg last Saturday evening with their side vaudeville of the drama, A Scene on Change. The entertainment surpassed all expectations, every part was well rendered, and the characters were introduced to perfection. The role of Rosalie was exceptionally large, thus giving the entertainment a financial as well as an artistic success. The company plays in St. Anthony Tuesday evening, the 26th.

The friends of Miss Hattie Allen gave a grand outside ball Tuesday evening in honor of the principal, Prof. Ernest Brunswick, and his assistant, Francis Hinckley. A dance was produced with healthy vigour, after which dancing, interspersed with music and recitations, was indulged in till 2:00. During the evening A. Tack, on behalf of the students, presented Prof. Brunswick with a copy of the works of Shakespeare, and with a wreath Miss Frances Hinckley, the assistant, was presented with a pair of beautiful roses.

Tuesday evening she witnessed a surprise party in honor of Professor Cole, Watkins and Gordon, the beauty of the Branch make-up party. Early in the evening distributed the assembly flocked to the residence of Professor Cole and Watkins, rewarding the hosts to overall swing, when an elegant meal in the assembly, serving was found necessary. Three hour found the large hall of the building comfortably filled with students and their friends, willing to do their best. The evening was very pleasant and all participating, singing and short addresses. During the evening A. H. Dunk, on behalf of the assembly, presented Professor Cole and Gordon with a handsomely bound volume in the life and labors of Prophets, the great warrior, and Poll. Watkins with a handsome watch, gift of Company's Hosiery of Kingston.

Monday, March 21st, saw the school finally closed until Friday, the 22nd, a public examination of the students was held in the assembly building. Out of the dozen students who have been taking their course, five have done work to rate the first class standing in classes, consequently may be seen in next examination. Following are the names and percentages of the successful ones, who will receive diplomas: Charles J. Ricks, 97; Charles L. Ricks, 95.5; Oliver R. Hinckley, 95; William Wilson, 95; Ellen Ford Brunswick, 94; Ella City, 94.5; Ella Ricks, 94; Margaret Attebury, 94; Mary Jane Ward, 94; Cecil Weir, 94.5; Ella Ricks, 94.5.

In the review the severity of the assembly gave a lowest rate to some of the competing students, which was unexpected, although, and a right good time was enjoyed by all concerned.

The Consolidated Implement company of Idaho Falls and Salt Lake City, are opening a branch house in Rexburg. It is their intention to erect a large and commodious building for the S. U. M. L., where they will carry a full line of farming implements and machinery, already several carloads have arrived and more is expected daily. This house, being well located, will be a great benefit to Rexburg, and in the interests of the community, we might to give a very profitable manner to the company.

Rexburg will soon have a political school for the month, April 2nd being the day for the election of our village officers. At our last election we had all the trouble in the world, as various cooling in nominating a suitable board of trustees for our town, as agreement could not be reached by the different political parties as per usual, a full-fledged ticket, each party, in some, congress of various, each trouble studies what they gave nominated and voted who are now in the opposition. The present feeling seems to be, "Vote for the man, and not for politics," so that there will be a keen and interesting time on another day, and very few, if any, straight party tickets will be voted.

Prescott and Woodmansee, of Teton, shipped several car loads of sheep to Omaha last Tuesday. IN LOOK.

Card.

I observe that many of our sisters are sending petitions and presenting them to the Utah Constitutional Convention asking that a provision be made to submit the question of prohibiting the liquor traffic to the vote of the people.

I question the wisdom of such a step, in view of the effort that is being made to obtain woman suffrage.

We cannot neither carry on simultaneously a crusading woman's suffrage, the object of our efforts for so many years.

A GRAVE CHARGE WITHDRAWN

Removal of the Stain From an Honored Woman's Name.

Saturday evening's issue of the Standard contained the following card, which is a complete withdrawal of the most infamous of the charges lately preferred against Supt. Holmes of the Reform School—the charge in which the good name of a virtuous and respected young woman was made so unfairly assailed. The News, which wholly mentioned the vile charges a few days since, did not join the cause cries the Standard did, is congratulated to publish the withdrawal at the greatest of length.

Editor Standard—I regret to observe that my name mentioned in preferring the charges against Supt. Holmes, you made meaning of a criminal intimacy being charged by me as existing between the pupil and an inmate of the school. I do not know that any criminal intimacy ever existed and the I charge criminal intimacy in the charges or the so the assembly's office will prove. I beg to the young lady in question to be as to consider as to her memory. Yours respectfully,

A. L. WALLACE.

Notes and News.

The beautiful weather yesterday brought a large number of people out on the streets, a good proportion of which found their way to the different places of worship. The Presbyterian church morning services was filled to its full sitting capacity, always Sunday. Wed and Lenten Oratorio were the features. That concluded upon evening, changing to a very interesting sermon.

Upholstery repairing at the City Hall for the addition of three chairs, and repairs of a dozen of the assembly committee, the two young ladies, Miss Cooper Wallace was issued.

In the Public School Saturday morning with account which Professor Cole and Watkins, presiding, the school was dismissed for the remainder of the week, Friday afternoon, Saturday morning, Monday, 18 inst.

A complete lecture was delivered Friday evening, 22, by Prof. Arthur Lewis, on the subject of "Electricity."

Dr. Kendall of the society in the Second Ward Sunday evening, in his place from Salt Lake, at 8 p. m. Prof. evening of last week Up to the 22d 7:30 this morning.

PLEASANT GROVE.

PLEASANT GROVE, March 23, 1895.

Interesting News and Gossip.

Our Home Dramatic company played at American Fork Friday night and at Lehi last evening, receiving the usual share of the counting-up money. They expect to visit Draper and Riverton Friday and Saturday next, in the place of Manner's Bohemian and the Black Hussars.

Mr. D. E. Dixon has purchased the millinery business of Mrs. A. X. Thomson, of American Fork, and will continue the place there as well as at his store in Pleasant Grove.

Several graduates will have American Fork at an early day of their Rocky of Lehi. This number, with those already across, will make an twenty-four Elders from this stake in the mission field.

The Whiting family, among the oldest and largest in the Territory, will have a reunion at Mapleton next Friday.

Bicycle riding is becoming the favorite method of travel with the young people of Lehi and American Fork. The two towns are vying with each other in this healthful pastime. Pleasant Grove is not in it.

Considerable of talk is in this county about profit by the vacancy of Supt. J. W. Sheets in the Institute. It goes over the highways with a newspaper, filling up the pale, thus making fewer more candidates. Gentleman, try it!

Indications of those who lost friends at the late explosion at Hot Springs, Wyoming, have come from here to attend the funeral.

The district school here will soon close for a week in April, which is the signal to have a social gathering.

The executive committee of the Brickhaven reunion held a meeting last week and have decided to hold their annual reunion at Spanish Fork, just the reunion taking in that delightful and generous city.
