FRAGMENTS.

THERE will be no meeting on Sunday school in the First ward on Sunday.

Ten Eighth quorum of Seventies will meet at the Twelfth ward meetinghouse tomorrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Weekly for May 28th, at the Utah Book and Stationery company's store. An interesting number.

DEPUTY CLERK Biggens issued a marriage license today to Israel H. Rhodes of Salt Lake, aged 25, and Hortina G. Romney of Seattle, aged 21.

THE following postmasters were appointed during the week ending the 14th inst.: Nephi, Juab county, C. F. Anderson; Washington, Washington county, Annie Nixon.

A SMALL fire broke out last evening in the Union Pacific railway paint shop. But it might have been a big affair only for the timely and energetic services rendered by some of the company's employes. The damage, standing at estimated, at $50 or thereabouts.

FUNERAL services were held at 2 o'clock this p. m. at Evans' undertaking establishment over the remains of the famous young Boer Hoers, who had was received an accidental and fatal gun shot wound in the house of Davidson's sheep ranch in Pleasant valley about ten days ago. The deceased was the son of the genial and faithful janitor at the City hall, and out of respect to the latter, the employes of the recorder's and treasurer's office presented him with a beautiful wreath of natural flowers for his son's funeral. The gift was highly appreciated by Mr. Hoers, who is a general favorite among the city officers.

THE body of George Chandler, who was drowned while fording Ogden river Tuesday afternoon, has not yet been discovered. A large number of citizens organized a searching party and proceeded to make a thorough search of the river from the Reform school down to the lake. Three boats were procured and ropes drawn up to the foot of the Pavilion, where with the aid of gangs the driftwood and brush which had gathered there were cleared away, but no discovery was made and the conclusion was reached that the body has either floated toward the lake or is caught in the willows and roots at the bottom of the river above the dam. The waters are rapidly rising and soon it will be impossible to man a boat and sid in the search.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS BOGUS.

Nothing to the Counterfeiting Case.—A Night of Revelry.—A Petty Larceny Case.

It was ascertained this morning that John Ford, the German miner and machinist who was arrested by Sergeant Randolph on Commercial street yesterday afternoon on a charge of passing counterfeit money, was so drunk at the time that he "didn't know he was doing wrong." This and the failure of the complaining witness to appear and prosecute gave the accused his liberty again and he slipped through too door leading from the city's hobo bastelry he uttered a sigh of relief and secured his personal effects from Desk Sergeant McClusky and left the hall without a word.

Joseph Schrouder is accused of petty larceny and Assistant City Attorney Cool will endeavor to prove his guilt tomorrow.

Fred Dillon (no relation to Dillon on municipal laws), E. R. Wilson, George Serry, John F. Van and J. R. Montgomery, a quintette (Young "Blonds," are registered on the trial docket of the police court for disturbing the peace. They were taken in tow by the police this morning at 2 o'clock after a night of revelry. They deposited $5 each guaranteeing their appearance in court this afternoon. In the meantime they are enjoying their freedom.

George A. Squire, John Johnson, James Keney and John Strong are all on the drunkards' list.

ANOTHER FOUNDLING.

The Newly Born Babe of Poor Parents Gives Away.

Tuesday night about 10:30 o'clock a newly-born babe was left on the back doorstep at the residence of William E. Holland, the Twenty-third street machinist, of Ogden. The family had retired to rest and was awakened by a timid knock at the door. Mrs. Holland, thinking it was an employe of her husband in search of tools, opened the door and looked out, but saw nothing. She was about to return to bed when she noticed a white object lying upon the threshold. Picking it up the good lady went to the light and after unwrapping the bundle found a two-days-old girl, scantily clad, sickly in a basket. The little one was tenderly carried and will be raised by its newly found friends.

Several days ago a lady waited upon Mrs. Holland and asked her if she could not adopt a little baby whose parents were too poor to keep it. No definite answer was given and nothing more was heard of the matter until the child was left upon the doorstep.

THE ALLEGED REPUBLICANS

They Conclude Their Performances in the Theatre Last Night.

C. C. GOODWIN AND C. E. ALLEN,

Delegates, with Dolliver and McLaughlin Alternates.—The Platform.—A Bombshell or Two.

After Mr. Varian had been chosen permanent presiding officer and made his acknowledgments therefor, the counties were called for the choice of vice-presidents, each being entitled to one. This performance "blowed up" the management of the attendance and the corresponding lack of interest in the proceedings more than anything else, only the counties named responding and some of them by proxy:

Beaver—Judge Lothrie.
Box Elder—Thomas Freer.
Cache—William H. Snelling.
Davis—E. M. Knox.
Juab—D. P. Robinson.
Morgan—E. L. Hall.
Rich—M. H. Beardsley.
Salt Lake—H. W. Lawrence of Salt Lake city.
Summit—Gilbert B. Gregory.
Tooele—E. B. Slater.
Uintah—H. K. Fisher.
Wasatch—Fred Hayes.
Weber—C. L. Howard.

The remainder of the counties—twelve—had neither a delegate, an alternate nor a proxy present.

The vice-presidents lost their seats upon the platform.

The chair appointed J. J. Greenwald sergeant-at-arms of the convention.

The chairman said that the committee on resolutions had been unable to report and asked that the convention adjourn until four o'clock.

The motion was declared lost.

A motion to pass that order of business and proceed to the fourth was carried.

Mr. Patchley made the observation that it would be improper to elect delegates to Chicago until they knew upon what platform they were to stand and the former motion was tabled and the convention dispersed until 4:30 o'clock, at which time there was still prevalent that ominous buzzing which means "not ready." Some speeches were made to kill time, and after it had become evident the resolutions committee were going to remain in their seclusion some time longer, a motion to take a recess until 7:30 was carried.

At the last named hour there was a decided increase in the attendance, though the Theatre was nowhere near the crowded point.

The chairman announced as the first order of business the report of the resolutions committee, whereupon Mr. Dolliver advanced to the footlights and, producing the long-deferred document, read it, as follows:

The Republicans of Utah, through their Territorial convention duly called by the only regularly constituted authorities, once more declare their full allegiance to the principles of the Republican party, and point with pride to achievements in the past; they believe the country will advance or recede in the ratio that these principles shall be entertained or repudiated.

We believe in a protective tariff; we believe in the highest possible wages for labor; that skilled labor should be encouraged and multiplied until our country can produce any needed thing, both in peace and war. We are grateful for the placing of reasonable duties on foreign goods; we denounce the efforts now being made to destroy these duties.

We believe in the full restoration of silver as money of ultimate redemption, side by side with gold, even as it was during the first eight years of the republic.

We denounce the passage of a bill through the House of Representatives removing the duty from wool.

As we rejoice over the laws giving a bounty to American-made sugar, which the Democrats would destroy, we denounce the act of the majority in the local Utah Legislature in striking down that bounty.

For twenty years the Republican party of Utah has fought what is the Mormon Church has been a charge to the republic and a menace to the American home. It has made that battle without malice, but always with the hope that with advancing light the Mormon Church and people would throw off what is unAmerican in their institutions. Waiving the matter of polygamy we see no sign of any sincere yielding of the Church in political affairs; the rule of the Church has never been relinquished. Hence we thank the minority of the House committee on Territories for its report against Home Rule for Utah, as submitted by its chairman, Hon. George D. Perkins.

Loyal citizens have worked for twenty years side by side in Utah, waving all differences for the common weal, and we denounce the Democratic conspiracy which has drawn a small faction away from their former allegiance while the mass of our citizens still remains.

We extol over the Harrison administration now in power and should its adjustment of the Utah question prove the new glorious status of the north, its handling of the Chinese difficulties, the forcing sea troubles, for its policy of expansion; and for the hope held out that the silver question will soon be settled on lines of justice.

We rejoice over the campaign of education now in progress in Utah; we are in full touch of moving events, and looking journeyforward to the day when the young Utah disenfranchised, shall, in the face of a tyrannical creed, put on the full robes of Americanism.

This convention representing many thousands (300 enrolled on) loyal Utah Republicans endorses the action of the Territorial Republican committee in removing certain members who attempted to revolutionize the party in this territory, and it denies the authority of a minority of the national Republican committee to give recognition to the Mormon Republican party of Utah.

It protests against a representation for Utah on the national committee by a resident of another State, and its delegates and their alternates in respectfully but firmly present their views to the national convention.

And as the convention of the only Republicans organized in Utah, it forbids its delegates and their alternates to insist upon no compromise in the adjustment of the differences existing because of the contesting delegations.

Signed by C. C. Goodwin, V. B. Dolliver, W. J. Snyder, M. M. Knight, W. H. Harding, M. A. Breeden and Charles S. Varian.

Colonel Stells did not like the omission of any mention of the Utah Commission, saying that if it had not been for the work of the commission the conventions could not be held. Mr. Stells offered a resolution as follows:

"Resolved, That the work of the Utah Commission and the Governor of the Territory in the past be endorsed by this convention."

This, along with the platform, was adopted.

A colored delegate from Weber County arose and offered the following as a plank of the platform:

Whereas, We deem the status of political affairs now existing in the south and

Whereas, We are Republicans dipped and died in its principles and believe in the equal civil and political rights of every citizen, irrespective of color, under the United States irrespective of color.

Resolved, That denouncing in the most uncompromising terms the wholesale lynchings and other barbarous outrages of our southern citizens in the South by the Democratic party, we will stand grounding to them the constitutional rights of either judge or jury.

Resolved, That we in convention assembled memorialize Congress to enact and pass such laws as will grant and guarantee to every citizen of Sambia, the dispensation of the rights, privileges and immunities laid down and guaranteed by the Constitution.

This resolution created a breezy and at times animated discussion, it being finally tabled by reference.

The election of delegates being now in order, Colonel Stells, the renegade, nominated C. C. Goodwin, who was chosen without opposition. He made a speech.

C. E. Allen was elected unanimously.

M. V. Dolliver was nominated and elected first alternate, D. C. McLaughlin (Park City) being chosen as the second out of three nominations.

The following central committee was chosen:

Summit—A. D. Emery, J. H. Rogers.
Weber—H. T. Pellenglit, George Murphy.
Utah—H. M. Driscoll.
Cache—William H. Snelling.
Box Elder—J. W. Guthrie.
Juab—C. P. Rathbone.
Salt Lake—C. W. Varian.
Tooele—B. B. Slater.
Morgan—B. Olsen.
Rich—M. H. Beardsley.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Zane has sustained the motion of the case of James Jackson against Mary Ann Jackson, and he acquitted yesterday on a legal technicality, he received filed in the grand jury. They were considering it this afternoon.

A SERVICE FOR JUDY.

Guard Hipe, of the Utah penitentiary, and a brother of Judge Hoge, is serving a day off from duty, and was spending around the city today taking in the sights.

MINING SUIT "FOR LOCHES."

Late yesterday afternoon the plaintiffs closed their case in the Blue Jay mining suit, which is being tried in Judge Anderson's court, and the defense opened with John T. Lynch on the stand. The latter resides at Alpine, calling Jackson Bolton, who has previously cut such a prominent figure in the case. Their testimony tore especially upon the organization of the Blue Jay company, the appointment of the board of directors, and the examination of the mines, and particularly in relation to the alleged claim of the plaintiff to be having a mortgage. Their evidence also tended to show that they had purchased without knowing of any claim, and also that they had spent money on the wise. Further, that when the matter was made known, they understood that the 20,000 shares set apart were in lieu of all claims by Woods. Some little merriment was aroused when it was thundered forth that his original promoters of the stock had also set apart a certain number thereof to go to the newspaper men who "wrote up" the mines, but as to who, if any, received a portion of the "allowance" was not made clear, and it seems to have been permanently "set aside."

SHE CAME OFF DEAF.

The fair young typewriter, Missouri Daniel (who brought suit in Commissioner Norrell's court to recover $50 for services rendered, the defendant being L. R. Mallory), appeared for her at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and this morning the Commissioner rendered his decision, having taken the matter under advisement. He gave judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $45 and costs.

THIS HIS LAST DAY THERE.

John Flynn will emerge from the penitentiary tomorrow morning, having satisfied the law's demands. He was sentenced by the Third District Court, for the crime of housebreaking, on September 20th, 1889, and received a sentence of two years' imprisonment. By good conduct the inmate has per got tired of prison life and made a break for liberty. Having made a hole in the stalwart wall large enough to bring his body through, he proceeded to elude the vigilance of his custodians and made hasty tracks in an opposite direction. He then stole a horse, but was arrested and apprehended, tried for this offense, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Having served out both terms, he will now go free.

ABSTRACT OF JUDGMENTS.

A abstract of judgment was entered in the Third District court this forenoon in the case of M. D. Wells & Co. vs. Young and Adderly, co-partners. The amount of the judgment is $2,000.

A NEW SUIT.

The suit of Gamelian T. Grant, plaintiff, vs. William Patterson and P. A. Patterson, defendants, was filed in the office of the Third District Court this morning. The action is brought to recover payment of $2300, with interest at the rate of one per cent. per month, on a promissory note.

Shepard, Cherry and Shepard are the plaintiff's attorneys.

MISCELLANEOUS.

This has been an unusually dull day in the Courts of the United States Commissioners.

There are several interesting trials pending in the Third District Court. Among the cases set down for the week are the charge of forgery against Ben. W. Driggs, Jr., and Alexander Johnson.

The Mountain Ice & Cold Storage Co. desire to inform the public that the ice and ice ponds referred to by the Board of Health and Sanitary Committee in their report to the City Council at its session on the evening of May 16th last, are not those of the Mountain Ice & Cold Storage Co., who only sell either artificial ice made from distilled aromian water or ice gathered in Parley's and Cottonwood Canyons.

The ice consuming public may safely patronize the Mountain Ice & Cold Storage Co., as they do not handle ice gathered on low lands, in ponds contaminated by seepage from filth stacked on the banks or vicinity.

A SERIOUS CHARGE OF ASSAULT.

The Blue Jay Mining Suit.—A Release from the "Pen."—General Items.

In Judge Zane's court this morning, W. H. Barnett, a young man of gentlemanly appearance, about 20 years of age, came up for trial on an indictment charging him with stealing a horse, valued at $65, a riding saddle of the value of $15, a riding bridle, valued at $1, the property of John Butler.

Assistant District Attorney Stephens prosecuted; Judge Judd defended.

The evidence showed that the defendant hired the horse from the prosecutor at Bingham and drove to this city, putting the saddle up at Grant's livery stables. Then he appeared to have continued on a drunken spree in which he had been indulging for some days, and while in an intoxicated condition fetched the horse away from the stables and sold it to Steele of the I. X. L. stables for $45. The defendant was arrested subsequently, but when he came to his sober senses he claimed that he had no recollection of what he had done.

The defendant was acquitted by direction of the Judge, who thought that at the time the sale took place the man was not altogether responsible for his actions. His Honor, however, read him a sharp lecture on the subject of drunkenness before he left the court.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Hugh Rook (or Hoarck) was next put on trial on a charge of assaulting Emma Higgins, a married woman, with intent, at Ophir, on June 10th, 1891.

The prosecution alleged that the defendant and another man named Parks, both miners, went to the house of the woman's husband after some money which Parks claimed Higginson owed him, but he was not there, being on a night shift in the mines, and they went away. Afterwards, however, about 1 o'clock next morning, Rook returned to the house (the woman and her children being alone there at the time) and made improper overtures, which were indignantly rejected. Then the defendant sought to accomplish his object by violence, but the woman screamed and Rook decamped, she had her baby in her arms during the whole time, but she managed to keep him at bay with her one arm.

Assistant District Attorney Stephens prosecuted; S. M. Lewis defended.

The trial was in progress when the court adjourned at noon.

IN THE PROBATE COURT.

Judge Zane this morning directed that the case of James Jackson against his partner, who was acquitted yesterday on a legal technicality, be received filed in the grand jury. They were considering it this forenoon.

MINING SUIT "FOR LOCHES."

Late yesterday afternoon the plaintiffs closed their case in the Blue Jay mining suit, which is being tried in Judge Anderson's court, and the defense opened with John T. Lynch on the stand. The latter resides at Alpine, calling Jackson Bolton, who has previously cut such a prominent figure in the case. Their testimony tore especially upon the organization of the company, the appointment of the board of directors, and the examination of the mines, and particularly in relation to the alleged claim of the plaintiff to be having a mortgage. Their evidence also tended to show that they had purchased without knowing of any claim, and also that they had spent money on the wise. Further, that when the matter was made known, they understood that the 20,000 shares set apart were in lieu of all claims by Woods. Some little merriment was aroused when it was thundered forth that his original promoters of the stock had also set apart a certain number thereof to go to the newspaper men who "wrote up" the mines, but as to who, if any, received a portion of the "allowance" was not made clear, and it seems to have been permanently "set aside."

SHE CAME OFF DEAF.

The fair young typewriter, Missouri Daniel (who brought suit in Commissioner Norrell's court to recover $50 for services rendered, the defendant being L. R. Mallory), appeared for her at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and this morning the Commissioner rendered his decision, having taken the matter under advisement. He gave judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $45 and costs.

THIS HIS LAST DAY THERE.

John Flynn will emerge from the penitentiary tomorrow morning, having satisfied the law's demands. He was sentenced by the Third District Court, for the crime of housebreaking, on September 20th, 1889, and received a sentence of two years' imprisonment. By good conduct the inmate has per got tired of prison life and made a break for liberty. Having made a hole in the stalwart wall large enough to bring his body through, he proceeded to elude the vigilance of his custodians and made hasty tracks in an opposite direction. He then stole a horse, but was arrested and apprehended, tried for this offense, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Having served out both terms, he will now go free.
