CRIMINAL TRIALS.

A Application Made in the Modesto Sicho Murder Case.

SPECIAL VENIRE FOR JURORS.

Ching Wong, a Chinaman, and the Counterfeit Dollar: Celestials' Day.

Judge Bartch has had another day at the criminal calendar and a good deal more yet remains to be done before the end of the list for the September term is reached.

MODESTO SICHO'S CASE.

District Attorney Judd applied to the court for an order requiring the official stenographer to attend in the grand jury room to take the testimony of witnesses on examination into the case of Modesto Sicho, who stands accused of the murder of Giuseppe Morano in Farley's canyon last Sunday week.

Judge Powers, who occupied a seat at the bar table, said that while he did not appear for either side he would merely suggest that no person could go before the grand jury other than a witness or the district attorney and his assistants.

Judge Judd—The official stenographer is a sworn officer of the court, and I will take chances on that.

Judge Powers—You will take considerable chances, I think. I merely make the suggestion, not as appearing for either side.

Judge Judd—Yes, I know, it has been made to me before, in another case, but I took him there all the same.

Judge Bartch—Has that question been decided by this court before?

Judge Judd—No, sir.

Judge Bartch said he would examine the statute on the point before giving an answer.

A CHINAMAN ON TRIAL.

Ching Wong, a Chinaman (on bail), for whom Attorney Thompson appeared, was placed upon trial on a charge of uttering a counterfeit dollar, on July 10, 1894, with intent to defraud one Sullivan Shea.

Assistant District Attorney Howat prosecuted.

Half a dozen or more Celestials occupied seats in the rear of the court and seemed much interested in the hearing.

The case for the prosecution was that on the date named Wong entered the small general store on State street, and purchased a 5 cent cigar. He tendered the dollar and the storekeeper gave him 95 cents change. A moment later he discovered that the coin was a counterfeit and called the Chinaman's attention to the fact, whereupon Wong ran to his heels and made tracks for Pierce alley, where he was followed by Shea, who, however, failed to overtake him. Having seen him enter a store there the prosecutor gave information to the police. The search for Wong then proved futile, but he was captured around the premises later. Next day the defendant, accompanied by another Celestial, went to the store and offered the prosecutor another dollar, which was declined. It transpired that Wong had been a customer at the store previously. When arrested about 50 cents was found upon him.

The defendant went upon the witness-stand, but as he spoke English very imperfectly he gave his testimony through an interpreter (Sang Lee.)

"Where is this Indian with an Irish name?" asked Attorney Thompson, and when Shea came forward Wong said he did not know him, neither did he ever visit his store. He had lived here about seven years and was a "merchant," with a store on west Second South. He had a room in office in Pium alley and his partner attended to the store. Shown the counterfeit dollar, Wong said he had never seen it before. He wasn't near State street on the day in question, and never went to the prosecutor's store with another Chinaman to try and settle the matter.

Frederick Penfold, an employe at Remington & Johnson's store, said the defendant had done business at the firm's establishment for the last six years, and had always been found honest and straightforward.

John Strickley, cigar and liquor dealer, had known Wong some six years and has had frequent business dealings with him. He had always found him straightforward.

Hiram Johnson, of the firm of Remington, Johnson & Co., had known Wong for six or seven years, he having dealt with their firm, and spoke favorably of the defendant.

Quong Sing Wah, a Chinese "merchant" of Pium alley, who also gave his evidence through an interpreter, said he had lived in this city twenty-three years; had known defendant for six or seven years, and his general reputation was good.

After argument the case went to the jury at 12:30.

It was after 5:30 when they came into court with a verdict of not guilty—a result which those who heard the case must have expected.

QUINLAN ON TRIAL.

Dan Quinlan is on trial this afternoon on a charge of assaulting Police Officer B. F. Weiner with a deadly weapon on June 15th, 1894. Judge Howat prosecutes; Judge Powers and Attorney D. N. Straup defend.

MISCELLANEOUS.

U. S. vs John Regan, indicted for adultery. Defendant is required to appear for arraignment on October 8th. Judge Powers is his attorney.

In the case of the People vs Charles Thiele, under indictment for murder, the court directed that a special venue be issued for fifty petit jurors.

In the case of the People vs A. L. Mair, Attorney Armstrong presented an affidavit by the defendant and asked for a continuance, on the ground of the absence of a material witness, now in Idaho. A continuance of thirty days was granted.

Jos. Hahenbeck vs. D. Alexander et al. Motion for a receiver allowed, not, however, to disturb the defendant John Alexander.

Lund and Grow Reinstated.

The formal order reinstating Captains Lund and Grow as commanders of their respective companies of the Utah National Guard, from which they were recently suspended, was issued from the office of the Adjutant general today. The actual reinstatement, however, took place yesterday and both men were in command of their companies in the big military procession.

ELECTION JUDGES.

The Commission Will Not Give the List Out This Year Until it is Complete.

The Utah Commission was scheduled to meet at headquarters at 1:30 this afternoon to begin the work of naming election judges. But it was 2:45 before order was called and the consideration of preliminaries began.

The delay was caused by a protracted caucus of the Republican members who had under discussion the manner of the judges they should appoint. The Democratic members had previously agreed on the names of the judges to represent their party at the polls.

A News representative was desirous of obtaining the list so far as agreed upon this afternoon but he was informed that it would not be given out until complete, which will probably not be until Saturday.

SHERIFF BURNS MURDERERS

Their Horses Captured and Kelford Possibly Wounded.

The Officers Recruited, and are Now in Pursuit of the Fugitives on Foot.

Special to the DESERET NEWS.

PROVO, Oct. 3.—This morning Prosecuting Attorney Thurman received a letter from Deputy United States Marshal Norrell, who is in pursuit of the fugitives, Kelford and Minor. The letter was written from Castle Dale under date of September 30th. In addition to what has already been published regarding the visit of the outlaws to Orangeville, he says that Deputy Marshal Fowler, Sheriff Lloyd, of Carbon county, and himself found the trail of the outlaws on the afternoon of the 29th and followed it to a sort of box canyon known as McCarley's canyon about 30 miles south of Castle Dale where they roped both the fugitives. A portion of the letter reads as follows:

"About sunset we found their horses and have them now in our possession. We could not locate their camp last evening. Very early this morning we caught sight of them but they positively refused to surrender. We then opened fire on them which they returned as they ran to more advantageous grounds. Their place of retreat seemed inaccessible to us except by approaching it exposed for a long distance to their fire and we had the institutions to get two of our fellows out of it.

"We were out of provisions and so I rode here this afternoon to get grub and two new guns, leaving Fowler and two others at the seat of war. I shall return in them tonight, the sheriff here and others going back with me. We believe that Kelford was wounded but our firing was at long range and we could not be positive on that point. We think that by tomorrow or next day we will be able to tell the result.

"What we do hereafter must be done on foot as not even a mountain sheep can scale the cliffs behind which the outlaws are now entrenched."

AMUSEMENTS.

SAINTS AND SINNERS opens the Fall and Convention season at the Salt Lake Theater tonight. J. H. Stoddart, the famous New York actor, and our own Home Club team up the cast, and the treat will be one that city and county patrons of the Theater will alike appreciate. For their enterprise in bringing out an artist like Mr. Stoddart the Home Club deserves patronage and appreciation, and we are pleased to say that they are apt to have both during the present week. Salade and Sinnett will run four nights and a matinee.

THE TABERNACLE CONCERT will be given Saturday night with the whole choir and all the soloists previously announced in the bill.

Stake Officers of Primaries.

An officers' meeting will be held at 155 N. East Temple on Friday afternoon, immediately after the close of the afternoon services. All interested in Primary work are invited to attend.

LOUIE B. FEAST, President.
MAY ANDERSON, Secretary.

Judge Blair.

Probate Judge Blair is expected back from West Virginia, whence he has gone for a vacation, about the 12th of the present month.

Marriage Licenses.

The county clerk today issued licenses to Joseph Plant, 23, and Lizzie Hodgson, 21, both of Salt Lake; to Edwin T. Thurston, 21, and Vinnie Morgan, both of Mill Creek.

OBITUARY NOTE.

WM. PARSONS JONES.

At Willard City, Box Elder county, Utah, Sept. 28, 1894, of typhoid fever, William Parsons Jones. Deceased was the son of Owen Owens and Jane Parsons born at Willard, Nov. 16, 1866, being so now nearly thirty years of age. He has resided at Willard nearly all his life, a few years usually having been spent at Brownville, where he labored as section foreman on the U. P. railway. Unassuming, strictly honorable, a loving son, husband and father, and a true Latter-day Saint, he was greatly respected and his exceedingly untimely departure is deeply mourned by many friends. In his sickness he and his wife had received the ordinances of the house of the Lord through and the payment of tithing by the Holy Priesthood, but he who death at thirty-eight years of age, left a beloved wife and three small children, all to mourn the absence of their second protector.

LAW BUSINESS AT PROVO.

The Divorce and Other Cases Disposed of.

Investigation into the Killing of an Indian Woman—Habeas Corpus—Passenger Suit Lost.

Special Dispatch to the NEWS.

PROVO, Utah, October 3, 1894—The greater part of yesterday was consumed in the First district court, in hearing the divorce suit of Sarah S. Hansen vs Nephi Hansen. E. A. Wilson appeared for the plaintiff and Sorey & Edwards for the defendant. The parties intermarried in Ogden in 1887 and are now living in Spanish Fork. In January of this year they drew up an agreement dividing their property, and plaintiff relinquished any claim she might have against defendant by virtue of their marriage, and they separated. The case before suit for divorce and alimony. The testimony was quite lengthy. The plaintiff claimed that the agreement was procured by threats of defendant that if she did not sign it he would mortgage their personal property. Defendant denied this, and testified that she had refused to live with him as a wife and that this was the reason the division had been made. He was willing to take plaintiff back. She stated that she was not willing to resume marital relations. Judge Booth held that the agreement was just and refused to grant a decree of divorce, and taxed $25 attorney's fees and costs of court against defendant.

The case of Anna Motte vs. J. T. Sullivan et al. was called, a jury was empaneled, and as neither plaintiff nor her attorney were present, a verdict for the defendant was ordered to be returned. This case was commenced in 1887; plaintiff demanded $10,000 damages for personal injuries. The jury gave her a verdict for $5,000. Defendant appealed to the supreme court and the case was remanded for another trial. It has been set six times this term.

Daisy J. Waters was granted a decree of divorce from Edward Waters on the grounds of desertion and failure to provide.

Upon affidavit of Wm. Aston, of Vernal, to the effect that one George Hinton was unlawfully deprived of his liberty by Sheriff Searle, of Uintah county, a writ of habeas corpus was issued directing the sheriff to bring Hinton into court. Hinton had been tried and found guilty of a criminal offense, by a Uintah county justice, and is now imprisoned; whereas he claims the matter which caused his conviction should have been settled by a civil action.

The case of Phil T. Paulo vs the Green River Cattle Co. was dismissed at plaintiff's costs, as neither of the parties were present when the case was called.

Alvin Roper, of Lexington, was admitted to citizenship.

Benjamin West, age 28, and Betsy Hale, age 18, both of Pleasant Grove, have received a license to wed.

Deputy Marshal Dean, of Richfield, brought George F. Christensen and Mrs. Louie Moss, of Richfield, to Provo last evening. They are charged with adultery, to which they pleaded guilty before the justice of the peace in Fish Lake.

Witnesses from the Uintah Indian reservation have been before the grand jury to give evidence in the case of Black Hawk, an Indian accused of killing his squaw last spring, by cutting her throat.

Utah's Monument.

The young and rising generation of Utah cannot to unite and build a monument that will ever stand as a memorial of this generation—one that the world will gaze upon in admiration, and that will be acceptable to the Creator. But before we lay the foundation of such an important structure, let us see if we can profit by the experience of those who have gone before.

Let us go back to the days when Greece was honored by the world on account of the wisdom of her sons, when through her philosophers she was made the leading star of the world. But where is Greece today? She has fallen so low that we now hardly know of her existence.

Following Greece is Rome. There was a time when it was considered a great honor to be even a common citizen of Rome or a subject of the government, when by the wisdom of her sons she reached that pinnacle on which she strove our name to place at the world's history so high that the sentiment of her statesmen and orators are still quoted both in the pulpit and press, and they are still looked up to with admiration by the orators of today. Yet where is Rome today? Like Greece, she has fallen, and all we have to admire in them now is their past.

Then climbing down along the stream of time, we see nations rise and fall, until we reach modern times and see another nation which is taking rapid strides in the direction of fame. At one time she was noted for her statesmen and warriors, now the world has to bow the knee to such as emerged out of the superior genius of her sons, and the progress she is making in modern inventions. But I fear her race is about run. Why? Let us find the cause of the fall of those who have passed on before. We find that as they became great in the eyes of the world, as they advanced in the wisdom of man, they also advanced in wickedness and departed from virtue, until the worm of corruption entered into their bodies, gnawed their vitals and poisoned their life's blood. This was the cause of their own fall. We know, then, that the same cause will produce the same effect.

Now look around in this beautiful land of ours. Take up a newspaper and count the divorce cases, murders and suicides, to say nothing of other crimes, and perceive that that is just a small part of every day occurrences. Then let me ask if Republicans are corrupting and not keeping pace with wisdom, genius and intelligence? Look around and you find that immorality walks the streets of our cities without shame, and commissioners revel in its wickedness. This is poisoning the life's blood of our nation, and unless something is done destruction is sure.

In building our monument do not let us commit the same error as those nations and peoples of the past, but let us lay a firm foundation of faith in the Supreme Being, and a knowledge of and obedience to His will, so that we can stand before the world and say, as did the Apostle Paul, that we are ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation, in preserving us from the downfall that has alarmed to others. When we have laid a foundation, adding knowledge here a little and there a little, let us not forget the important part, as it was given by the Apostle Peter, to add to our faith virtue, to virtue knowledge, to knowledge go temperance, to temperance godliness, and to godliness brotherly kindness, and so on, until we get out so high that the whole world can see it; that it will make Greece blush for her philosophers and Rome for her statesmen and orators, and the world for her sons of today. Yet, after all this, crowning our work with the exercise of charity.

"We may see Diadem and
Dust side as great as an king's lot,
Equated when tyrants and kings both stoop
Or any land beneath the sun."

From High Government Authority.

No authority of greater experience on food products exists than Dr. Henry A. Mott, of New York. Dr. Mott's wide experience as Government Chemist for the Indian Department, gave him exceptional opportunities to acquaint himself with the qualities and constituent parts of baking powders. He understands thoroughly the comparative value of every brand in the market, and has from time to time expressed his opinion thereof. On a recent careful re-examination and analysis he finds

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

superior to all others in strength, purity, and efficiency. Dr. Mott writes:—

"New York, March 20th, 1894.

I find Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder to be superior to all others, for the following reasons:—

1st. It liberates the greatest amount of leavening gas and is consequently more efficient.

2nd. The ingredients used in its preparation are of the purest character.

3rd. Its keeping qualities are excellent.

4th. On account of the purity of the materials and their relative proportions, Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder must be considered the acme of perfection as regards wholesomeness and efficiency, and I say this having in mind certificates I have given several years ago respecting two other baking powders.

The reasons for the change in my opinion are based on the above facts and the new method adopted to prevent your baking powder from caking and deteriorating in strength.
