FREEZING OUT DISEASE

Wonderful Curative Agent Claimed to Have Been Discovered by a Swiss Savant.

A WELL 110 DEGREES BELOW ZERO.

Patients Live, While Diseases Die in Such an Atmosphere—Is Also a Producer of Blacksmiting Gas.

New York, Dec. 26.—The Herald says: Dr. Pictet, the famous Swiss savant, director of the Legion of Honor, discoverer of the liquefaction of oxygen, and member of more than forty scientific societies in Europe and America, has come to America to demonstrate to physicians and scientists here what he is reported to be a cure for diseases of the lungs, stomach, the circulation and the blood.

"Dr. Pictet-Boquet," the name of his new discovery, may perhaps be roughly pronounced in English as the "freezing cure." The secondary medicinal agent of a well of metal fluid with dark fluid in which the patient dwells, he claims, is almost the best. The air is surrounded by an outer shell, the cavity between the inner and outer walls is filled with a combination of sulphurous and carbonic acids known to the scientific world as "liquefied gas." After its discovery. This gas is kept in a liquid state at the degrees below zero and is constantly forced into the cavity by pumps.

M. Pictet says the patient, surrounded as he is, face and the icy liquid, has no sensation of cold whatever, and in the low temperature rises after three periods of treatment, remaining from one half to one hour in the cabinet. A period of treatment ranging from five to fifteen minutes is always sufficient for the time being, the number of medical equilibrium varying in each individual case.

M. Pictet says he himself, after devoting years of labor, was cured after eight diseases had set in. The last of these, he says, was absolutely cured by an operation, after twenty years of suffering, in the Hospital Cochin.

M. Pictet says that he made his discovery of the beneficial effects of the "liquid Pictet" while six years ago and had a number of patients cured in a thorough and scientific way, so that he called in renowned physicians to see the investigation of M. Pictet's work and for the last two years have devoted their entire time to the study. They report that phenomenal results are not a remarkable exception.

According to this report, the hardened sinews yielding from serious affections of the heart, stomach, nerves and kidneys were subjected to the liquid gas, which, although low in temperature, is not poisonous to the tissues of the body. The results of diseases into the air, and the secretions were examined by experts, and the accumulation recorded. It is made that in every single case, the secretions and excretions were absolutely sterilized by the treatment. A series of articles after the disease ceased of the superficiens and diseases, the "Gazette" of the "Journal" of the New York Central and Lake Shore roads, it is understood, has taken possession of the Pictet-Boquet cure. The Pictet-Boquet cure is a remedy, and in view of its remarkable results, in the opinion of the medical profession, it is a remedy of the highest order. The
