Utah Council of Women In Interesting Session

The feature of the meeting of the executive committee of the Utah Council of Women, held in the office of the council in the Templeton block yesterday afternoon, was the address by Mrs. Emma T. Wood, of Topeka, Kan., delegate to the recent International Prison convention at Seattle.

The council constitutes the state suffrage society of Utah, and is a suborganization of the National Women's Suffrage association. At the meeting yesterday the report of the year's work in Utah was read and passed upon by the committee, and a copy will be forwarded to the national association. Reports of Mrs. F. S. Richards, Utah delegate to the International Council of Women at Ontario, and to the International Charities and Corrections convention at Buffalo, were also received and accepted.

Mrs. Wood, who has spent a great deal of time in work among inmates of prisons, spoke of the addresses made at the convention at Seattle upon the evils of the present prison system obtaining in this country. She told of the need of better and more adequate legislation by which the blame for criminal actions could be more accurately placed. Often, the speaker said, the blame for the criminal and delinquent tendencies of the younger set of criminals is due to neglect of parents or guardians, and some laws should be enacted which would reach these blameable parties.

Mrs. Wood also touched upon the necessity for adequate juvenile court laws. One great need, Mrs. Wood thinks, in every state is a statute similar to one passed by the legislature of Kansas, preventing traveling hypnotists from hypnotizing school children and using them on the stage to demonstrate their powers. Mrs. Wood has been instrumental in placing some of these laws on the statute books, including the one referred to in Kansas.

While in Utah Mrs. Wood will visit the juvenile court, the state penitentiary, the city jail, and the state industrial school at Ogden.

The annual report of the Utah Council of Women shows that a great amount of work is being done along the lines laid down by the national association. In its official capacity the council will influence the Salt Lake City council to withhold a franchise to outside capital to control the valuable hot springs to the north of the city for a period of 50 years, and a sentiment is now being worked up to have the council create civic bath houses on the site of the hot springs. Another object for which the council has been working is that taken up by the city to have a public playground laid out for the children next spring.

Through the official action of the women of the state council, the divorce bill was passed by the recent state legislature. In this bill divorced parties are prohibited from marrying again within one year from the time the divorce was granted. The report also shows that 75 per cent of the women in Utah vote at the different elections. This the women cite as a refutation of the statement made by those opposing woman suffrage that the women do not exercise their right of franchise.

Mrs. F. S. Richards, in delivering her reports of her visits to the quinquennial council of women at Toronto, and the charities and corrections convention at Buffalo, gave a highly interesting description of these gatherings, in which she took an active part.

CADET CHUMS HERE.

Robert C. Lee and Scott Lynn Here on Brief Furlough.

Midshipmen Robert C. Lee and Scott Lynn, Salt Lake boys attending the naval academy at Annapolis, returned home yesterday on a 30-day furlough. Midshipman Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lee, 1061 east South Temple street; and Midshipman Lynn is the son of Mrs. W. P. Lynn, 234 east First South street. When the boys return to the academy it will be to complete their final year's work after which they will be assigned for active duty.

The young men have been life-long friends, attending High school together and graduating the same year. Last summer they were on a practise cruise on the U. S. S. Chicago, along the New England coast, and had a great experience.

There are now four Utah boys at Annapolis. Lee, Lynn and Marion Bennion, who will complete their course next spring, and Midshipman McQuarrie, who has two years more at the academy.

TO STOCK CACHE STREAMS.

Fred Chambers, fish and game commissioner, is arranging today for the placing of 150,000 trout fry in the streams of Cache valley, and 75,000 in the streams of Boxelder county.

Mr. Chambers reports few violations of the game laws this year, owing probably to the large number of wardens out. While south a few days ago he was notified of the arrest of a Greek for shooting a deer near Price, and the reported killing of sage hens at Bingham is being investigated by the deputy wardens there. A good season for ducks is predicted at the opening Oct. 1. The Bear river feeding grounds are already said to be well stocked.

MOVING DAY FOR OFFICIALS.

The juvenile court moved out of its quarters today and has temporary rooms in the office of the board of education. As soon as possible quarters will be located uptown. The board of health will move into the rooms vacated by the juvenile court. The meat inspector and the food inspector will also have offices in the same rooms. The building inspector, plumbing inspector and the humane office will occupy the offices used by the board of health.

COURT NEWS

WIFE DENIED SUPPORT.

Marian H. Bunnell is asking the district court to divorce her from Mass Bunnell because she has received no support from him in the past five years though he earns good wages. She says she is 34 years of age and Bunnell 40 years, and that they were married at Provo on June 23, 1889. They have two children, both girls, aged 10 and 8 years, whose custody she asks, along with her maiden name of Mitchell and general relief. With her suit she files an affidavit of impecuniosity.

SUPREME COURT SATURDAY.

The supreme court was in session for a short time yesterday, but nothing coming up, adjournment was made until Saturday, when an application for a writ of mandate and another for writ of prohibition will be argued. The application for writ of mandate is directed against Judge George G. Armstrong of the Third district court to compel him to sign a decree in a Logan suit which he heard in which the supreme court recently ordered a reversal of the judgment. The suit was that of Joseph F. and Zina S. Peterson against De. T. B. and Dr. Ezra T. Budge, in which it was charged that the doctors had used undue influence in securing the transfer of property. The verdict of the lower court was in favor of the Budges but the court reversed this and ordered an accounting. Judge Armstrong refused to sign the decree until the accounting was made and the writ of mandate is asked to compel him to enter the judgment and the accounting can be made afterwards.

The application for writ of prohibition to be argued is that of the State ex rel J. M. Whittmore against the officials of Carbon county to restrain the county from selling $40,000 of bonds on the grounds that the notices for the election authorizing such had not been properly given.

WIFE FILES ANSWER.

Sadie Sercomb of Boone, Iowa, Will Resist Husband.

Giving her residence as Boone, Iowa, Mrs. Sadie Sercomb has filed an answer to the suit brought in the district court here by her husband William Collin Sercomb who charged cruelty, called her a fault finder and morose and tantalizing, and that she associated with women of bad character. She denies all this and blames her father for much of the trouble. She says that her father told Sercomb when they were married that if he did not treat her right he would make him climb a tree. This Sercomb took as a threat of hanging. She says also that the father came to the house once and drove Sercomb from the place keeping him away for 24 hours. A charge of desertion is also denied and instead she says that Sercomb left her and their son aged 22 months, penniless, and she was compelled to leave the place where they had been staying.

Paymaster Dr. G. B. Pfoutz Held Up at A. Y. P. E., Seattle

Payday for the High School cadets in camp at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition Saturday was not without its incidents. In the first place all the boys were in a state of voluntary bankruptcy owing to the allurements of the Pay Streak and other institutions of Seattle whose mission it is to separate the stranger from his coin. In the second place those financiers among the boys who were endowed with foresight had loaned their surplus cash to the spenders and payday was destined to be the occasion of the exchange of numerous bright and shining $5 gold pieces between the prodigals and the embryo bankers.

Every boy on Saturday received $5 but prior to the receipt thereof an incident occurred which demonstrated that discipline is a feature of the camp near the Twenty-third avenue entrance. The story involves one Dr. G. B. Pfoutz, paymaster and general good angel to the lads from Salt Lake. Early Friday the specialist cashed a fat check that bore the signature of Col. D. C. Jackling, and placing the coin in his pocket hied to the fair grounds. Not caring to carry the sum around in his bulging pocket all day he went direct to the camp and held a consultation with Capt. Webb. The outcome was that the money was placed at the bottom of a trunk in Dr. Pfoutz's tent and a guard stationed outside with instructions to halt everybody approaching within 10 paces.

Dr. Pfoutz, relieved of his burden, undertook to escort a party around the fair and show them the beauties of the many-hued tropical fish in the government building. The eye specialist tarried long and by the time he returned to his canvas quarters the cadet camp was reposing in the arms of Morpheus. Utterly tired out he dragged his weary feet up the hill and approached. Suddenly from out of the darkness rang a youthful voice, "Halt! Who goes there?" The next moment the doctor caught the glint of a carbine barrel. Explanations followed but the answer came that nobody approached that tent without the order of Capt. Webb, commander of the camp.

"But, my boy, I am Dr. Pfoutz of Salt Lake, and that is my tent and I want to go to bed."

All the best oratory at the disposal of Dr. Pfoutz was wasted. The juvenile sentry admitted that he knew the visitor but he was guarding the tent. Orders were orders and the doctor stood in imminent peril of perishing at the muzzle of the empty carbine. The guard was turned out and the corporal was equally emphatic that Dr. Pfoutz should not pass the dead line.

Eventually Capt. Webb was aroused from his slumber and the necessary order was given. Then, and only then, was Dr. Pfoutz permitted to get between the blankets.

In speaking of the incident next day he said: "I used every argument I could to get into that tent and tried to bluff the boys, at the same time praying that they would stand firm. I am too pleased for words to think that the lads stood by their orders."

Discipline has been the keynote of the cadet encampment and in almost every case has it been rigidly maintained. Before starting from Salt Lake the boys were put on their honor to behave like gentlemen while on leave from camp. All promised and gave their word that they would not smoke while in uniform, for instance. Two boys were caught smoking on the Pay Streak and severely disciplined to the extent that they were dismissed from the corps, handed their tickets and marched down to the depot and placed upon the Tabernacle choir special train which pulled out of Seattle Sunday night

DEATH OF P. F. GOSS.

Active Church Worker Here and Abroad Answers the Summons.

The second death in the family of P. F. Goss within a week occurred last night at 11:15 when Peter F. Goss, died at his home, 312 First avenue, Waterloo. Only a week ago his daughter, Louise Goss, was buried, her death being due the result of marked devotion to duty. At that time the father was lying near death, suffering from cancer, the first intimation of which was given last December, when a hemorrhage occurred. Since then Mr. Goss has suffered a great deal, and it is said that he has been able to eat no food since July 1, but has literally starved to death. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Waterloo meetinghouse. Interment being in the city cemetery.

Mr. Goss was born February 18, 1840, in Basel, Switzerland, where he married his first wife. Three children, the issue of this marriage survive him, the fourth child, Louise, having died last week. They are Mrs. M. Beck and Mrs. D. C. Bassett of Salt Lake City, and Mrs. C. H. Barnes, of Parker, Idaho. After his arrival in Salt Lake City, Oct. 29, 1862, he married Sarah L. Fullmer, who survives him with the following children: Mrs. J. Kingdom, J. F. Goss, Mrs. E. F. Myers, Clarisa Eugene, Richard and Heber, all of Salt Lake City.

Mr. Goss was one of the old members of the tabernacle choir. He has been on three foreign missions, and had presided over conferences in the Swiss and German missions, and also presided over the German branch in Salt Lake City at one time. He was always an active member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints with which he identified himself in the early days of the work in Germany.

WIFE SECOND BEST WINNER.

R. F. Simmons Effects Her Arrest for Cutting Him With a Knife.

Mrs. R. F. Simmons was the worsefarer in the marital difficulties that reached their climax yesterday, and her husband won out in the matter of securing a complaint. Today she was arraigned on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, to-wit, "an instrument commonly known as a bowie knife," and although firmly and with scorn-curled lips she denied the charge, she broke down when she learned that in default of $200 bail she would have to remain in the custody of the sheriff until her preliminary hearing Sept. 13.

The trouble in the Simmons family culminated yesterday afternoon when the police were notified by telephone that a woman was stabbing a man at 271 L street. When the patrol wagon reached the house, Mr. and Mrs. Simmons were found still engaged in a war of words, but the husband was nursing a slashed wrist. On his allegation that his wife had attacked him with a bowie knife she was taken into custody and later he swore to a complaint charging her with assault with a deadly weapon. At police headquarters the wife, who is aged 45 years, denied that she had struck at her husband and contended that although she had held the knife in her hand it had been picked up in self-defense and that Simmons had "cut himself" in the scuffle.

Her bitterness was manifested in her anxious willingness to swear to any complaint that would result in the arrest of her husband, but her desire was not gratified.

LAKE LEVEL LOWER.

The level of the Great lake today is 5.2 feet above the zero line, or just two feet higher than it was a year ago. The lake has shrunk but one-tenth of a foot in the last two weeks, and as the heated term is practically at an end, with a noticeable rainfall continuing, there is not much probability of a further perceptible shrinkage. Local engineers have noticed of late that the water has spread out over wide areas along the shores where last year, it was dry land. On the occasion of the last heavy wind from the northwest, Salt Lake passengers say they could not help but notice that the waves come dashing up on the Lucin cut-off in a manner more threatening than ever. The dry peninsular west of Stansbury seems to have largely disappeared. In view of the record of recent years, a further rise of two feet is expected by another 12 months.

UTAH COMMANDERY FORMED.

The Utah Commandery of the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American war, has just been organized in this city, with Gen. E. A. Wedgwood, commander; Capt. J. E. Caine, vice commander; Capt. J. F. Critchlow, treasurer; Lieut. W. E. King, recorder. Other prominent veterans among the charter members are Maj. R. W. Young, Col. Henry Page, Capt. Hair and Lieut. Benner X. Smith. The order is similar to the Loyal Legion of the Civil war; membership is therefore restricted to commissioned officers.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

Patrolman Cary Makes a Neat Catch At the Midway Bar.

James Graham and Alfred Brown were caught in the act of assaulting and attempting to rob Mike Murphy in the Midway bar, in South Temple street, late last night by Patrolman W. E. Cary. In passing the saloon Cary came upon the trio and saw Graham striking and beating Murphy while Brown was at the same time going through the victim's pockets. At the station Murphy said that he had had $31 when he went into the saloon. At the station he had only $10.45 while $20 was found on Brown.

GOOD WORDS FOR SALT LAKE

J. N. Iliff, in a series of articles in the Daily Freeman-Tribune, has been saying a number of kind things about the hospitality of Salt Lake during the visit here of the G. A. R. veterans. The stories deal with the adventures of the National Musicians and Drum Corps, which was such a feature of the encampment and incidentally speak very kindly of the first presidency, J. J. McClellan and Mrs. Emma Ramsey Morris, who were instigators in their entertainment. That the entertainment of the visiting delegations generally was appreciated is the statement of officials connected with the Utah building at the A. Y. P. E. at Seattle. Director General Rowe is authority for the statement that for the past month all he has heard from strangers is praise for Salt Lake and the manner in which the city took care of the visitors last month.

NEW INCORPORATIONS.

The Thor Power company of Salt Lake filed its articles of incorporation today with the county clerk. The capital stock amounts to $500,000, divided into shares of $1 each. Of this amount 200,000 shares have been set aside as treasury stock. The company owns water rights in Six Mile creek in Sanpete county, and will engage in furnishing electric light and power. The officers are: A. G. Burritt, president; T. J. Yates, vice president; and Mark Anderson, secretary and treasurer.

The Thornley-Stewart company of Kaysville, Davis county, filed an amendment this morning in the office of the secretary of state to its articles of incorporation. The amendment increases the capital stock from $25,000 at $10 a share to $100,000.

CHARLOTTE PARRY'S CLEVER ACT

Charlotte Parry in her act "The Comstock Mystery" is creating something like a furore at the Orpheum this week.

New York thought it was great. London liked it too, and now Charlotte Parry is going to take "The Comstock Mystery" to Berlin to set the kaiser guessing as to however in the world she does it.

Audiences everywhere have almost given up trying to guess how she changes her "things" seven times in the 20 minutes it takes her to do her Orpheum act. But the secret is all in the Parry family—Charlotte and Reginald, who are in the act; a sister-in-law and a maid, who assist in the "quick changes," are the only ones who know and they won't tell. And Miss Parry isn't going to take chances, on letting the Parry family secret out, so she presents her playlet with a "double shut-in"—which means that the setting is surrounded by another tight wailing of scenery, leaving a runway five feet wide all the way around.

All along this runway are Miss Parry's costumes, wigs and make-up tables, and her sister-in-law and her maid remain there during the act to assist her in and out of costumes while she makes her face up for the various parts. Says Miss Parry:

"Over and above the natural curiosity especially among women, as to how I make dresses which I can slip into and out of so quickly, and still wear them so they look like something, there is the natural curiosity of my fellow feminine professionals to know how I get those results. Quick costume change is very much in demand, especially in vaudeville, and to the credit of my maid be it said that she has been tempted by rather ample monetary offers several times this season to "explain the act" to some other woman in the profession, who hasn't mastered the art of rapid costume change—and each time she has been faithful to me."
