Discontent Producing Disorganization In the Ministry: Conservative Uncertainty.

THE BACCARAT ROW NOT YET OVER.

Chaplin's Atlantic Cattle Bill Said to Be of a Severe Protective Character.

LONDON PARAGRAPHS.

Preparing for the Dissolution of Parliament—Other Items.

LONDON, June 19.—Parliament will be prorogued August 10. A vigorous effort will be made in the committee on the estimates bill to expedite the operations of the session. Lord party managers have received authentic information to prepare for the dissolution of Parliament early next autumn. The government intends to summon the house early in January, and make its late on the Irish local government bill.

THE CONSERVATIVES

calculate to dissolve Parliament after carrying the bill. Conservative uncertainty over the future of the party is tending to further refusals by present members to reconsider their seats and within the ministry itself discontent is producing disorganization.

THE REMARKABLE SUTHERIFF

in which Sir John E. Gorst expressed contempt for certain of his colleagues occurred in the Manipur debate. Being obliged officially to defend the Indian government, he made a mocking apology for the brutalities and atrocities of the British rule abroad, and behind gibes at the Indian government, satirized the imperial government. He said Sutherland was a man of brains, that his real crimes were independence and originality and that the government preferred somnolent mediocrity. The accepted interpretation of the speech is that Gorst, recognizing that the period of Conservative power is about to close, is preparing for the crisis when he will reassume with Lord Randolph Churchill an independent position aiming to form and lead a group strong enough to give them eventual control of or at least the greater prominence in a new party.

THE BACCARAT ROW

is not yet over. Cole proposes to ask Stanhope what the Duke of Cambridge intends to do to enforce the anti-gambling regulations in the army. Regarding weak-minded men in admiring the hunt on the Prince of Wales, some other Radicals mean to raise the subject again on army estimates. If the plans to sustain the denunciation of the Prince of Wales are pursued, the Liberal leaders will not only withdraw therefrom, but Gladstone probably assists. He said his colleagues meditate an his detractors. The unconcealed disgust of the left of the Liberals over proposed further action in Parliament in the direction of censure of the prince may deter the Radicals from following up the quest.

CHAPLIN'S ATLANTIC CATTLE BILL, which depends seemingly on the stability of its provisions, chiefly relating to additional powers to inspect vessels, has a liberal application of the severest protective character. Under the clause granting the Board of Agriculture power to issue scientific proper regulations, food, water, etc., the board obtains the supreme regulation of the trade. A meeting of the National Liberal club arranged for a resolution in favor of the amended American and Canadian regulations for improving the conditions of traffic, has been called and will endeavor to the opposition against the new measure, which really aims to obstruct the importation of cattle.

It was reported at first that six people had been killed and twenty more or less badly injured. Death of a Valuable Filly.

Sentenced for Train Wrecking.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., June 19.—The trial of the Rio Grande railway train robbers commenced today in the United States circuit court. Jose Maria Muequeda, one of the principals, pleaded guilty and was given a life sentence at hard labor. Fabian Garcia, another of the principals, got ten years. The case against the other accused, charged with being accessory, is continued. It being extremely difficult to get a jury here.

A Unique Suit.

NEW ORLEANS, June 19.—A unique suit was filed in the district court here today. A year ago Bertrand Saloy died, leaving to his wife an estate valued at $700,000. Three months ago she died and the estate was claimed by her sisters and brothers, who by wills were put in possession. Today Attorney-General Rogers filed a petition of intervention on behalf of the State of Louisiana, which claims to be the sole heir. The State alleges that Carmelite Carangas, Saloy's widow, was the illegitimate offspring of Black relatives and consequently Black and Antonio Carangas, deceased. The lawful husband of Mrs. Saloy's mother lived in Havana a long time, during which the wife lived in open adultery with said Carangas in New Orleans, and Mrs. Saloy and two other children were the result. These not being legal or lawful descendants, the state claims to be the only heir-at-law.

FILED A PROTEST.

Statement of the North American Commercial Company, Through Its Attorney.

SIXTY THOUSAND SEAL SKINS ASSURED DURING 1890.

$150,000 Expended on the "Liberalization" and Maintenance of the Alaska Natives.

By Telegraph to the News.

THE SEAL QUESTION.

Protest of the North American Commercial Company.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The North American Commercial Company, through its attorney, Judge Jeremiah Wilson, has filed with the treasury department. It states it was assured a quota of 60,000 seal skins during 1890, and upon this assurance made a large outlay. It was compelled to cease taking seals July 29th last, when the season had not expired and only one third of the number of skins had been obtained. On its account the company contained a loss of $600,000. It again submits a formal protest against the action of the United States in now more preventing it from taking the full quota of seals. It gives notice to the secretary of the treasury it will claim to be reimbursed by the United States to the full amount of loss it may sustain by reason of its being prohibited from taking the full quota this year.

The company further represent that its providing for the maintenance and education of the inhabitants of the island of St. Paul and St. George it has expended $150,000, for which it has not been reimbursed. The company invites the attention of the secretary of the treasury to the fact that the islands of St. Paul and St. George are in the undisputed possession of the United States; that the right of this government is disputed by no nation on the seas; that it has never been questioned. This being so, the company assumes that the right of the United States of the house to take for seals on said islands within the questioned jurisdiction is beyond dispute and not subject to interference by any foreign State. The right of this government to take for seals on its own territory is not one of the questions to be submitted to arbitration. In that dispute (treat Britain affirms and the United States denies the right of English and Canadian poachers to slaughter fur seals in our part of Behring sea, and the company insists the agreement set forth in the President's proclamation, in so far as it prohibits the company from taking its lawful quota, is in contravention of the vested rights of the company and subjects it to great loss. If it be assumed that the eastern portion of Behring sea is not marine territory of the United States but is high sea, the company submits that it is not competent for Great Britain and the United States to say to any government to determine who shall be permitted to navigate these waters or prohibit fishing or killing of seals on the high seas; and the company points out that this fact has been overlooked by the agreement, thereby inflicting a severe loss on the company in order to enable the consent of England to arbitrate a question as to the right of Canadian poachers to destroy the fur-seal industry by pelagic fishing.

The American Derby.

CHICAGO, June 19.—The American derby, which is to be run tomorrow at Washington park, will be run without any of great horse, but of good jockeys. Isaac Lewis will ride Kingman, Fred Cassi on Pesara, Covington on Stalwart, Burns on Valiera, Pickens on Michael, Overton on Balgowan, and Allen on Forestmer. Kingman is likely to go a fast favorite, but strategists have put some shrewd betting following. The winner will take down $18,000, the richest prize in the West this year. The following are probable starters in the race: Forestmer, 102; Balgowan, 122; High Tariff, 127; Pesara, 127; Stockhill, 122; Pesara, 127; Kingman, 125; Stalwart, 127; Valiera, 127; Ludwig, 127; Michael, 127.

The outlook late tonight is for a wet day tomorrow, but it is thought this will interfere with the derby.

Report of Lumber Production.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The census office has in the press and will shortly publish an elaborate report of the lumber production and allied industries for Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The bulletin shows the aggregate increase of mill products compared with the census report of 1880, is 29.68 per cent in quantity and 75.92 per cent in value. The increase in the number of hands employed is 108.48 per cent, and in the total amount of wages 141.22 per cent.

According to the tenth census (1880) the amount of capital invested in the milling industry in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota was $65,855,832. The capital at the eleventh census (1890) shows an increase of $137,538,975. This apparent enormous increase appears due to the radical change in form. On inquiry respecting the capital invested it is shown from returns of individual manufacturers that the present holdings of standing timber in this group of States are sufficient to supply them for about five years at the present rate of consumption. The quality in reserve is principally comprehended by what is standing on lands owned by the Federal and State governments. This quantity, however, is unknown. The total capital invested in timbered lands and standing timber by establishments reporting in the respective States is as follows: Michigan, $41,585,476; Wisconsin, $24,008,044; Minnesota, $9,791,804.

A Decision in a Mining Case.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, June 19.—Judge Sawyer, in the United States circuit today, rendered a decision in the long pending mining case of W. M. Hyde against the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining company of Wardner. The suit involves the question of original jurisdiction of the United States courts in suits brought in support of adverse claims for patents in mining claims and established a clear precedent. The decision is in favor of the plaintiff on every point. The case involves the title to mining property valued at several millions of dollars in Northern Idaho.

Jim Wakely.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Jim Wakely was to have met in conference with Sullivan and Mitchell tonight to make arrangements for the meeting between Sullivan and Slavin, but did not come up. No one else was left in this critical position, the Australian waiting to sail for England tomorrow, unless arrangements for the great fight are made.

Slavin heard three rounds with Charley Mitchell at Nikko's tonight. He made a speech in which he said he will positively meet Sullivan if he can, but if a match can be made with Sullivan for $10,000 and the biggest purse they can raise, I will meet him, with or without gloves, to demonstrate who is the champion of the world. They would go and see Sullivan in Australia, and he would be received much better, in fact, like a brother, if he could make a match to fight me there."

A Severe Wind Storm.

ARKANSAS CITY, KAN., June 19.—This evening a severe wind storm accompanied by heavy hail passed over the city doing considerable damage to shade trees and razzed windows. Two miles southwest of this city the storm assumed the character of a cyclone and leveled to the ground wheat in the shock and growing corn. No one was seriously injured.

A Suggestion.

If you are troubled with insomnia or a lame back, allow us to suggest that you try the following simple remedy: Take a piece of flannel the size of the two hands, saturate it with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on over the seat of pain. It will produce a good deal of warmth and relief from pain. Many severe cases have been cured in this way. The Pain Balm can be obtained from Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hord, of Goshen, Ind., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and I soon became so reduced that my friends gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. Kings New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it cured me and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." TWO SILVER POOLS.

One is Dwindling to Some Extent and the Other Begins Its Work.

THE COUNTRY'S PRODUCTION OF SILVER FOR 1890.

A Leading French Financier on the Passage of a Free Coinage Bill.

By Telegraph to the News.

WALL STREET.

The Rapid Advance in Silver Sets It Thinking.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The executive committee of the National Silver Association met today. It was stated that none of its proceedings would yet be made public. The general report says that the rapid advance in the silver bullion yesterday set Wall street thinking. On the 5th of this month the operations of the big French pool in silver were reported. Today it was learned, while there were indications that the first pool was liquidating to some extent, another pool, also European, had begun work and was ready to take hold where the first pool had left off.

The plan of campaign seems based on the same lines as that of the first pool. At the present time the government's annual purchases of silver to fill the requirements of the silver act of 1890, are up 54,000,000 ounces of silver. This country's production of silver for 1890 was 54,000,000 ounces. This leaves 8,000,000 ounces for the total requirements of the arts, and to fill the export demand. Up to the passage of the silver bill this country exported annually from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 ounces.

The Mercantile Safe Deposit company of New York expects to issue on the 1st of June 5,450,000 ounces of silver. As was told on June 6th, one concern is thought to own at least 2,500,000 ounces of the amount. Outside of this supply there is in this country probably 2,000,000 ounces of silver bullion at various points. The only large supply of silver is said to be in Monterey, Mexico, where about 2,000,000 ounces is held in the alloy of lead ore, pending a certain railroad election. Mexico produces annually about 6,000,000 ounces of silver, of which about 25,000,000 ounces are coined. The rest is shipped to China and Japan via San Francisco. The production of the white metal from sources other than these named is inconsiderable.

This morning rupee paper was active and stronger. This is owing to the passage of a bill in the lower house of Bombay (attached to the bill for the Bombay mint) to suspend the Indian and Spanish power to mint rupees based on silver. A bill has also been introduced into the Portuguese Cortes favoring the adoption of bimetalism. These are straws showing the tendency of the wind.

A letter from a leading French financier, received yesterday in this city, says: "The passage of a free coinage bill by the United States Congress would put silver to 60 pence in London or over 120 cents per ounce in New York. Up to 1873 France fought single-handed for bimetalism. She would certainly resume if the United States would adopt free coinage, and Germany will not follow so long as Bismarck is in power, and Gladstone is also a gold bug, but there is a growing sentiment in favor of silver in England, and the most tell in the end. The United States made a mistake in adopting a muzzled silver act. It should have either passed an unlimited coinage bill or none at all."

It is said that this second pool has been the principal buyer of silver on the ground commenced about the 5th. Those connected in the affairs of June 6th, which were the basis of operations of the first pool, it would seem that one or the other of the great parties will adopt a free coinage position. At any rate the growing power of the farmer will demand such legislation, and European speculators are shrewd to make use of the effects of this agitation.

Silver bullion touched $1 per ounce today for the first time since February 14th.

A LITERARY CURIOSITY.

A VOLUME OF COTTON MATHER'S SERMONS, PRINTED IN 1691.

[Detroit Press.]

I have in my possession quite a curiosity in the literary line—a musty little volume of the "Sermons and Essays of Cotton Mather," who was held as prominent a position in demonizing and condemning people in the "witch craft" days. These sermons were printed in 1700, 1701, 1706, 1711, etc., showing the type and workmanship of more than a century and a half ago, with the quality of spelling, lettering and expression.

A few extracts are given from perhaps the most noticeable sermon preached after the execution of witches, occurring October 23, 1711:

"Advice from Lebanon." A sermon preached after the terrible fire which came upon Lebanon, some lamentable and memorable circumstances laid a considerable part of Boston in ashes. Directing a Place lying under the shadow of the ground."

He says: "It began about Seven o Clock in the Evening & Finished before Two on the Morning, the Night between the Second & Third of Oct., 1711, a Terrible Fire Laid the Heart of BOSTON, the Metropolis of the Northern Colonies, in Ashes. In Succession of the Fire is said to have been by the Carelessness & Sullenness of a Woman who suffered a Frame which took the Okian, the Flaming whereof was her business, to grain too far before it could be Mastered."

He goes on to describe its extent: "It selzed Cornhill into miserable Ruins and it made its Impressions into Kingstreet & Queen Street and a great part of Pudding-Lane was laid low."

Among the ruins he names: "Two Spacious Edifices which until now made a most Considerable Figure, because of the Publick Assembly of our greatest Solemnities, and which has stood from the Days of our Fathers. The One was the TOWN HOUSE, the Other the OLD MEETING HOUSE," and so he goes on his narrative. Then follows this advertisement:

"Boston in New England. Printed by Green. Sold by Samuel Gerrish at his shop at the Sign of the Book over against the South Meeting-House—1711."

Think, reader, how many years before the revolutionary struggle this quaint volume was suffering the bigoted believers in the Cotton Mather style of religion. That man who, on the dimmest and most foolish pretexts, brought innocent people to death for protected with his cloak, himself, if the history and traditions of the time can be relied on, crept about in the darkness from house to house, spying upon the inmates.

Endurement in Alcohol.

Of all the forms of slavery, the cruelest, as at degrading and hideous as escape from, is that of alcohol, says Professor Stothers in the Boston Herald. Only those who have been bound in its cerements can have an idea of the agonizing struggles by which its victim, if so rarely fortunate, regains his freedom. That man who has never taken, in his vivid and thrilling "Confessions of a Drunkard," about the countless souls that river the shale of the drunkard's hell—of his apparently effectless of the feebleness of his will, "his springs grow down like a broken clock," of his hatred of yet submission to his tormentor—gives but a faint conception of his misery. Begin a reformation, says the shut-nerved moralist, the man of saws and proverbs, and cousins will make it easy. Ay, truly, that is said most easily. But what if the whole system, accumulated to its alcoholic life, "must undergo a change so violent as that which we conceive of the mutation of form in some insects? What if a process comparable to flaying alive have to be gone through?" Here is a task which calls for the most desperate and heroic of human struggles, which tests the recuperative power of a broken and redeemed will, which calls and challenges the compassion of the most lay-hearted moralist, and make him who shrinks from the scream cut and cry aloud for the strife and anguish within him. Wonder not, reader, that so few of the unhappy slaves of alcohol are left to tell the chalice; wonder, rather, that any do it.

It is stated of Lord Eldon, the chancellor of England, that when on a case which was to be advised by a friend to abstain from drinking alcoholic liquor in order to prolong his life. The lordship promised to try total abstinence for a fortnight, if he lived so well for twenty-four hours, and then he wrote to his mother that he had discovered that the sleeplessness did prolong his life, for the twenty-four hours seemed twenty-years! We were not many years ago in Maine of a hard drinker there, who, being afflicted with a great thirst for alcohol, was told by a physician whom he consulted that he must abandon his cups. "And what will be the consequence if I do?" he asked.

"Why, you will lose your sight!"

"Well, then, farewell, eyes!" rejoined the unfortunate. He persisted, cutting the action to the word, he drew from his pocket a flask of cognac, from whose inverted muzzle he drew a long and deep swig, which seemed equal for a defiance of the doctor's warning.—Ex.

PRESID'NT PELLEGRINI

Says He Was Compelled to Declare Buenos Ayres in a State of Siege

AND TO SUPPRESS A FEW NEWSPAPERS.

Financial Condition of the Argentine Republic: Silver as the Metallic Basis.

By Telegraph to the News.

ANNUAL MESSAGE

Of the President of the Argentine Republic.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The bureau of American republics has received a copy of the annual message of President Pellegrini of the Argentine Republic, which he laid before Congress May last. He states that he was compelled to declare the city of Buenos Ayres in a state of siege and to suppress a few newspapers that were stirring up strife. The commerce of national lands covering 30,000 square miles which had been made to speculate for colonization purposes were revoked, as holders of concessions failed to carry out the conditions on which they obtained the lands. Many of the public works had of necessity been suspended for lack of funds. Assisted immigration from Europe had been stopped. The revenue for 1890 were in currency $75,500,000; the expenditures, $92,500,000, leaving a deficit of $16,500,000. Revenues for 1891 had been calculated at $28,000,000 gold. President Pellegrini expresses the hope that the monthly by aid of the "Moratorium" loan negotiated in London, would be able to pay the way a third year.

Trade returns were encouraging; exports were increasing and imports declining. The financial crisis, the President says, grew worse daily. Paper money, which there was two hundred and sixty millions in circulation, sustained 80 per cent. He estimates the losses since the crisis began at 220,000,000 sterling. National banks now owe the treasury $80,000,000 currency and 25,000,000 gold. He concludes the last section of the financial difficulties would be to correct the defects in the State banking system, revive the credit of the State banks and establish Government paper. For this purpose he recommends a Parliamentary commission. He adds: "But the gold standard is the insuperable difficulty in the way of resuming specie payments. If we want a metallic basis we must resort to silver. All the objections raised against a silver standard may apply to Europe, but do not affect us."

A Disabled Ship Found at Sea.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The steamer "Sophie," which arrived today, reports having found in mid ocean the bark "Exile" of St. John, N. F., dismasted and hopelessly wrecked. The crew were clinging to the bulwarks and stumps of masts.

The crew of the "Sophie" was called on for volunteers. The officers, who are all Germans, responded promptly, but the crew, who are all Italians, refused to go. Not considering it wise to leave the steamer without officers, the captain of the "Sophie" lay by until the storm moderated, then he called for volunteers, but the Italians again refused to go. The German officers intended to land the ship with the greatest difficulty succeeded in rescuing the crew of the bark.

The Prohibitory Raid of Cass Grande.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The secretary of the interior has approved the contract for replacing the Cass Grande prehistoric ruin near Gila river in Arizona. The sum of $2,000 was appropriated by the last Congress.

A Gross Error.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 19.—Friends of a secret ballot will be greatly disappointed to learn that the ballot reform passed by the last assembly as signed by the governor shows a gross error on the part of some one. Section 28, which provides that the voting booth shall be allowed within 100 feet of the polls on election day, is missing entirely from the bill. It cannot now be told whether the fault lies with the enrolling or engrossing clerks or with the clerk of the house. There is a difference of opinion here as to whether this omission invalidates the remainder of the bill or not, but in any event there are no means of rectifying the error.

Bardsley's Profits.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—Experts have discovered that Bardsley's profits in the last two years from loaning the public fund at interest were $72,000. The city will make a strong effort to recover $295,000 which they have issued of the $445,000 of the school funds, misappropriated by Bardsley. Persons going to Atlantic City to-day will find a special train for $623,000 due the State from Texas collected by Bardsley.

Stacia Disposed.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Dick Roche, bookmaker, was to have met Frank Slavin the pugilist in the Huffman house, today, and to pay him $7500, being the balance due of the parade Tuesday night. He did not show up but sent a note saying the money would be paid tonight or tomorrow morning. Slavin was drunk and threatened to go to Sheepshead Bay and do up Roche, but was quieted by Mitchell.

Dick Roche, president of the Granite club, this afternoon paid Frank Slavin the $7500 he won in his fight with Kilrain. Two thousand five hundred dollars Kilrain won by being beaten, was also paid the latter today.

A Noted Robber Captured.

CORRESPONDENCE, June 19.—It is reported that the authorities have captured Anastasius, the noted robber, who on May 31st, at a place between this city and Adrianople, aided by a band of Bulgards, wrecked the express, plundered the passengers, and then carried four of them off to the mountains, where they were held as prisoners but the outlaws secured ransoms of $40,000 for the captives.
