He Took Poison.—Yesterday morning William Teal of Brigham, was found dead at his place, having committed suicide, by taking poison the night previous. He left a note, explaining that he committed the rash deed because he was tired of life, but assigned no reason for the weakness.

Sunday Schools.—On Sunday next, Aug. 20, Brother George Goddard, County Superintendent of Sunday Schools, and Brothers W. Willes and S. L. Evans, his Counsellors in that capacity, will visit Draper and meet with the Sunday school of that place in the morning, and with the grown people later on the same day.

Fire at Call's Fort.—A. C. writes from Brigham City, August 13, as follows:—

"On Friday night, a fire broke out and gained a steady hold on the premises of Bro. W. T. Jones, at Call's Fort, the cause of which has not been reported. The extensive sheds and outbuildings and fifteen tons of hay were consumed by the fiery fiend, which had such a hold, aided by a favorable wind, that fifty men were hard at work all night, who succeeded in saving Brother Jones' valuable dwelling house and his granary. He expresses much gratification to his friends who so kindly and promptly rendered him assistance on the occasion. The total loss will come to $400."

Text Books.—We are hopeful of the request embodied in the resolution adopted yesterday at the School Teachers' Convention, asking the Territorial Superintendent of Common Schools to call another convention for the reconsideration of the action of that of April, in deciding what books shall be used in the common schools of Utah. We see no cause to doubt the granting of the request, because of its reasonableness, and to us, the absence of any reason for its not being acceded to. That there is a widespread dissatisfaction with some of the selections made by the Convention in April is well known, a very plain proof being the refusal of the people to adopt them. A non-accession to this simple and reasonable request of the teachers of the Territory, who, by the way, appear to us to be in the best position to know the real wants of the schools, would look too much like one or more persons desiring to enforce their decisions upon the people in opposition to the latter's will, a position that should never be assumed by a person employed and paid by the people as one of their servants. To disregard the will of the people in this regard is no more reasonable than to persist in cramming into their stomach species of food that are particularly obnoxious to them, mental food being as important as, and a great deal more so than, that which is necessary to sustain the physical structure. There is every good reason for believing, therefore, that another convention will be called by Superintendent Riggs, and the matter be amicably and satisfactorily arranged, by far the wisest, best, most equitable and judicious course.

School Books.—A convention of the school teachers of Utah was organized on Saturday afternoon, at the University Building, the object of the organization being to take into consideration the action of a convention of superintendents held last April, in accordance with a call of Superintendent O. H. Riggs, in selecting text books for the common schools of the Territory.

Mr. Charles Wright was appointed chairman of the meeting, and Mr. Arthur Parsons secretary. Hon. John Taylor was present, on invitation, and, being requested to do so, stated his views on the subject under consideration. The matter was freely discussed and the convention adjourned till 4 p.m. yesterday.

At the adjourned meeting, last evening, in addition to Hon. John Taylor, Hon. Joseph F. Smith was present. The following resolution was adopted by the Convention:—

"Resolved, That the following resolution be submitted by the Secretary of this Convention to the honorable Superintendent O. H. Riggs, of Utah, as the sentiments of the teachers of this Territory, and that the same be published in the leading papers of said Territory."

"Whereas, The acts of the late Convention held by the superintendents of the Territory, for the purpose of selecting text books for the purpose of adopting text books for accordance with section 18 of the school law of Utah, failed to meet the approval of many citizens of said Territory, in consequence of which said act failed from being carried into execution; and,

"Whereas, Said failure has been attended with much inconvenience to our schools, in consequence of even breaking up classes, thus placing our teachers in a very embarrassing position;

"Therefore, It is the voice of this convention that the Hon. O. H. Riggs call a convention for the purpose of unraveling this present difficulty, and if possible bring about a change before the opening of our winter schools."

"In offering this resolution this assembly does not presume to criticize the acts of said convention, but simply from necessity calls for relief, and appeals to those whose right it is to say what text books we shall have."

"CHARLES WRIGHT, Chairman.
"ARTHUR PARSONS, Sec."

Fatal Accident.—Yesterday afternoon a young man, named James T. Williamson, about twenty-two years old, son of Mr. James Williamson, proprietor of the Cedar Valley meat market, 7th Ward, was driving a one-horse butcher wagon down the upper portion of 3rd East Street, when the animal became unmanageable, and kicked and plunged frantically. On turning the corner, coming west along First South Street, the front of the vehicle tipped upward, throwing the driver and spring seat out at the hind end. He struck upon the ground with the back of his head, rendering him insensible, in which condition he was picked up by Mr. J. R. Winder, who, seeing the perilous position of young Williamson, had run after the wagon. Mr. John Liddell, who also arrived on the spot directly after, learning who the young man was, put him into his carriage and drove him to his home in the 7th Ward, where he expired in about three hours after the occurrence of the accident.

It is probable that in striking the ground, the young man's head came in contact with a boulder, crushing in the skull upon the brain.

Up From Dixie.—To-day we had a visit from Brother Joseph Birch, of Bellevue, Southern Utah. We learn from him that Messrs. Dupax and Spicer have the whole of their eight stamp mill machinery on the site, about two miles below Toker, on the Black Wash, excepting the turbine wheel and pans, for the shipping to that point of which arrangements are now making. The mill race is dug and everything prepared. There is plenty of water, the power being sufficient for a 12 1/2 inch wheel with a 35 feet head.

There is every reason for believing that the mill will be a successful enterprise, and if these expectations are realized, it will be the first of three, as it is intended to erect two more in the same district, Leeds. There is a large amount of milling already out, which will average from $100 to $150 a ton.

The fruit crops of Southern Utah are mostly good, excepting at Rockville and east of that point, and hay and lucern are plentiful, and altogether the people in that part feel encouraged.

The wine producing capacity of "Dixie" is increasing remarkably, this product being far in excess of that which is necessary for local consumption. In consequence of this Brother Birch is opening an agency at Bellevue for the sale of wines raised in all parts of the South, and will take orders from two gallons and upwards and deliver the same in any required part of the country, at moderate prices. Wines are now being produced in the South that are of most excellent quality. Bro. Birch is now in the city for the purpose of receiving orders and attending to other business connected with this commission agency. We believe he is well fitted to conduct a business of that character on a large scale.

Concrete Crossing.—Mr. Bassett is engaged putting down the material for a concrete crossing, from the Deseret National Bank to the Kimball and Lawrence corner.

Normal Institute.

AFTERNOON.
Prof. Bishop began his lectures on penmanship. He spoke of the advantage of being a good penman and showed the methods he used in teaching it. He would advocate the use of the first two numbers of the P. D. & S. series, even with pupils somewhat advanced, because the tracing lessons therein prepare them for the subsequent numbers. The different positions were given and exercises for variation introduced.

Prof. Hardy, on spelling, believed that the simplest method of teaching this branch is the common way of studying spelling by repetition of the same word, but would advise a method by which the pupil could recognize the peculiar words in each lesson and endeavor to remember them. Some peculiarities of our language were spoken of, and also the moderate use of rules, but early competition was urged as the truly successful way of teaching this science.

Prof. Geo. Carless, on music, being a public lecturer, asked the Institute to act as a class, and gave a practical method of teaching the rudiments of this art. He urged that every school should have music, and showed the way in which this amusement could be secured. Some definitions were given and musical signs explained.

FORENOON, August 15th.
Prof. Monch, on Theory and Practice, continued the subject of personal cleanliness, and also school room cleanliness. He thought that the school room ought to be a little palace, and showed many ways of securing decorations for its walls. He gave the order of recitations according to his ideas, recommended mathematics, then grammar, then geography in this order as forenoon lessons, and penmanship on objects would always tend to interest scholars, and we could never lack for a subject if a lecture were delivered every day.

Miss Mammie Jones sang a very sweet song.

Readings by Prof. Hardy, were treated in the higher grade. He indicated, by example, his method of teaching the pupil how to bring out the sense. He would not let the low text, but read whatever pieces could best illustrate the subjects being treated. Too much should not all at once be attempted. The methods of teaching the reading and falling inflections and circumflex were illustrated.

Prof. Far proceeded from the main, common and proper, and considered to the pronoun, adjective and verb. His method of teaching is original and on account of its simplicity is approved by many members.

The following additional members were in attendance:—
Weber County—Sophia La Brame.
Utah County—Joseph B. Forbes.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Culture and Curing of Broom Corn.
Broom corn is hardy when once well started and is then a safe and sure crop. The most essential part is to cut and cure it right. It should not be left to ripen too much before it is cut. As a rule, it is ready to be cut when the seed is passing into the dough. The corn is then sufficiently matured for toughness and good color.

Tabling is breaking it down waist high, so that your brush is handy to cut. Break two rows as you go across each other. This leaves the brush to extend over the next space where you walk and cut your corn, laying it lengthwise on the table. This is followed for the team to gather, cut your corn about two feet long in the brush or above the joints where the brush comes out. This will loosen the husk and let it drop off and your corn will soon dry and be much less apt to heat and spoil. The seed must be taken off at least a day after cutting. This done, and your corn, if free from the husk, will soon be cured in a dry climate. It must be spread in a building, and run after the wagon. Mr. John Liddell, who also arrived on the spot directly after, learning who the young man was, put him into his carriage and drove him to his home in the 7th Ward, where he expired in about three hours after the occurrence of the accident.
