It is reported that workmen are flocking to Truckee in great numbers in anticipation of the commencing of work on the railroad.

A large number of men are now employed at the Jennings quarry in Park City, and considerable rock is being taken out.

From Stratton, Nebraska, this season, has been shipped forty carloads of broom corn, the product going to Chicago, St. Louis and Omaha, Ill.

A gold nugget worth $175 is reported to have been picked up in Oregon a few days ago. This find was followed by another worth over $200.

T. McGinley, of St. Louis, has purchased a lot in San Diego on which to establish a fruit cannery, and has started for St. Louis to secure machinery in time to take the fall crop.

The bodies of the two Mexicans who were lost by the snowslide in the Animas canyon, Col., on March 30, have been recovered after a continuous search since that time.

Several light earthquakes have been felt at Guaymas, Mexico, during the past few days, the cause of which is now apparent, the Colima volcano being again in a state of eruption.

A son of Deputy Sheriff Lemain Johnson of Brigham City was seriously injured by being thrown from a horse on Saturday. Several bones in his body were broken.

H. H. Smith, of Corinne, quite a prominent man of Box Elder county, has succeeded to the hand of the sewing machine. He was stricken down eighteen days ago with typhus fever.

The attendance at the Brigham Young Academy has been greatly reduced on account of warm weather and coolness. But twenty or twenty-five students were in attendance last week.

A police officer in Spokane was horrified recently to see a dog carrying a human foot in his mouth. Investigation showed that the foot had been amputated by some surgeon, who had carelessly thrown it away.

The section of country around Beatrice, Neb., has experienced a season of unusually hot weather, the thermometer for three days registering from 90 to 94 degrees. Small grain is suffering, as it is also very dry.

What is the matter with the settlers of Summit county? asks the Summit county Chronicle. They should meet, organize and send a delegate to the congress to ingle and bear what we can to prom to the cattle industry of the county.

While driving up Nevada avenue at Colorado Springs, on Friday, a team being driven by J. C. Sellers bolted, and when near the court house the wagon struck a tree, throwing Mr. Sellers out. He fell on his back, and when picked up was in a helpless condition. It is feared that his injuries will prove fatal.

Cheyenne Leader: Melbourne, the rain maker, has made this city his home for some time past. He thinks this country the best adapted for his rain-making operations that he has yet seen, and while he has not any desire to make any negotiations for supplying Wyoming with a rain supply for the coming season, there is no doubt but he could be induced to take such a contract.

Daniel Reader, a young man of Brigham City, has met with a serious accident. He was assisting at the killing of a cow at Eccleston's slaughter house. The procurator Andrew gan kicking and floundering. In some way it struck the keen edge of the butcher knife against the back of young Reader's left hand. The flesh gash was cut and the blood flowed profusely. Dr. Wade says the hand can be saved, but Dan may lose the use of the little finger on account of the cutting of the cords in the back of the hand.—Bugler.

Sheriff Hamilton has arrived at Great Falls, Mont., from the Kibbey region, forty miles east, with two more cattle thieves, Henry Tinsley and Arthur Nebel, charged with rustling in the same gang as the English brothers and Leslie Walrond, who were brought in March 30th. Tinsley and Nebel were straighten and are behind the bars with the previously captured ring-leaders. The authorities will continue the round-up until the Kibbey country is rid of the outfit that has long infested that country.

A tramp about eighteen years of age now lies behind the bars in the county jail at Brigham City. He is said to be a bad one. The young man was sentenced to imprisonment for breaking into a bank car at Collinston in broad-day light. He pleaded guilty of stealing a coat, shoes, socks and pants. Judge Watkins sent him up accordingly. Another tramp was found with the boy, but there was not sufficient evidence to convict him. The youthful longer was captured west of Deweyville, on the banks of the Bear River.

News has just been received of a new enemy to cattle interests of Arizona. It is wild dogs. During recent years dogs have been feeding on the fetus of a slaughter house near here, particularly on hoofs and tails. These dogs have been steadily raging, so much so that the slaughter house could not feed them all, and some have gone to the woods. Like wolves, they pull down the young stock and a dozen have just ventured, their tails cleaved off and hoofs quarters inserted. The dogs have been seen, quiet, unknown creatures, creeping cunningly away from the premises.—Bugler.

Judge A. C. Sheldon of Phoenix, Arizona, is in Denver consulting with Denver investors as to a great scheme for irrigating the valleys of the Verde river. The project, as reported with by Engineer D. W. Campbell, is to receive an canyon of 40 miles in its tributary stages, which is to form a system of reservoirs capable of irrigating 500,000 acres of land. The project contemplated by the engineer has been accepted, and operations are to be commenced within ninety days. Judge Sheldon hailed originally from Minneapolis, and has been instrumental in interesting a number of Minneapolis investors in the great irrigating enterprise of the southwest.

Carbon, Wyo., has been thrown into great excitement by James Stillwater, a cattle rancher, who has been living across the bed to his ranch as a roughhouse where he had been stopping for a few days, with his head and arms hanging over the side of the cart and partly resting on a chair. A large pocket knife, with the blade open, covered with blood, was lying on the chair and blood stained was on the floor and bedding were covered with blood. The knife had been thrust into his throat on the right of the windpipe and ranged back, severing the jugular. Mills was an Englishman, and a barkeeper, about 40 years of age, and had come to this part of the country about twenty years. He owned a ranch business miles north at Carbon, quite a herd of cattle and horses, and was reported in good financial circumstances. He leaves no assignee to care for the est. With the exception of a cousin who resides at Lorraine, Wyo., deceased has no relatives in this country.

Baron von Gutzbeson, a rich European, who has settles upon Raymond, New Mexico, as a place of residence and bought a splendid ranch, is in trouble. Says a special to the San Francisco Chronicle: He seems to be of a carnival turn and is said by residents of Raymond to have started at the last celebration of Mexican Independence, in September, on a series of rapid and brilliant manifestations of the capacity for liquid enjoyment that has continued ever since. A day or two ago he began to exhibit symptoms of alarming tremens, which rapidly developed into a form of temporary insanity. He attacked his wife, the Baroness, who is a niece of ex-Governor Foraker, and a son for a time in serious danger. She managed to escape, however, when he turned his attention to the yard, tearing down the hollow work, scattering flower pots and rooting up every shrub on the premises, except a big palm that proved too much for his strength. The alarm was given and the crazy gentleman was captured by a posse of Mexican farmers, who were forced to tie him to get him to jail. There he became calm and was released, but afterward, showing symptoms of returning violence, was placed in restraint on complaint of the Baroness, whose he still was when the steamer Pacifico left. Von Gutzbeson is a full-blooded kin of Denmark and nieces of one of the oldest families of the kingdom. He has been settled in the Raymond but a few months.
