DISMISSED.

The case of Rosie Lynn vs. Paul Lynn was dismissed on motion of plaintiff, as also was that of Mary L. Williams vs. Jesse Bell et al.

COMPLAINT IN INTERVENTION.

In the suit of P. W. Madsen vs. G. S. Holmes et al., leave was given to file a complaint in intervention by the National Bank of the Republic.

TWENTY DAYS TO ANSWER.

Parker and Depue vs. Wm. Burke et al.; twenty days to answer.

FOR A REFEREE.

Pacific Lumber Co. vs. F. Munroe et al. Judge Anderson was appointed referee to report findings.

CONTINUED.

John A. James vs. James Gordon et al. Continued by consent.

MAY REINSTATE.

Arthur Brown et al. vs. Truman Schenck et al. Three cases—seven in number—were stricken from the calendar, with leave to reinstate on proper showing.

Charles F. Blandin vs. Salt Lake County et al. On motion of plaintiff's attorney, defense was taken—[illegible] from the calendar, with leave to reinstate on proper showing.

The same order was made in the following cases:

William Strong vs. Elijah Sells et al.

Victor Borg et al. vs. H. F. Samson.

A. A. Brim et al. vs. Margaret Kelly et al.

Isaac Hunter vs. Salt Lake Sanitarium Association.

Oliver W. Moore et al. vs. The Utah Central Railway company.

Francis D. Clift et al. vs. Margaret Kelly et al.

Louis Berets et al. vs. G. S. Erb et al.

P. Phelan vs. M. E. Brown et al.

John Strickley vs. the Bankers' Life Association.

WORK ON A MINING CLAIM.

The first case called for trial was that of Wm. Hopkins et al. (for whom Attorney Booth appeared) vs. R. S. Gosland, who was represented by Attorney W. C. Reilly. The case was heard before a jury. The action was brought to recover about $579 on account of work alleged to have been performed by the plaintiffs on a mining claim at Bingham, in which they had some financial interest with the defendant.

The hearing was in progress when the court adjourned for the noon recess.

SUITS FILED THIS MORNING.

Thomas Carter, in the Third district court this morning, brought suit against the Salt Lake Improvement and Natural Gas company, John H. Middlemiss, A. Hanauer, Jr., N. Treweek, Wm. Fuller, Carey-Lombard Co. and W. D. Pavey, to recover $1,509 and interest at 12 per cent per annum on a promissory note. Plaintiff alleges that on May 31st, in the present year, the defendant corporation executed and delivered the note to him, and that prior to its delivery the plaintiffs Middlemiss, Hanauer, Treweek, and Fuller endorsed it. Against the Carey-Lombard Lumber Company the defendant Pavey claims some lien on the premises given as mortgage security, by virtue of a judgment obtained by the last two named defendants respectively against the Salt Lake Improvement and Natural Gas Company.

Williams and Van Cott are the plaintiff's attorneys.

Joseph E. Taylor has also brought a suit in the same court against Eugene L. Higgins to recover $[illegible] and interest on a promissory note secured by a mortgage. A. V. Taylor is the plaintiff's attorney.

GONE TO IDAHO.

Deputy Marshal Will Goodsell left for Boise City, Idaho, this morning, taking with him as a prisoner the young man William Sanders, who was arrested Saturday last, for alleged fraudulent registration in Ada county, Idaho.

"REMEMBER THE SABBATH DAY."

Late yesterday afternoon Deputy Marshal Will Goodsell placed under arrest Christopher Faner, the Walker House barber, on the charge of keeping open his place of business on the Sabbath. Commissioner Greenman let the defendant go upon his own recognizance, on the understanding that he would appear before him again for a hearing of the case at 4 p. m. today.

LAWYERS' TALK.

The legal arguments in the case of Louis Hyams and J. A. Erwin vs. Simon Bamberger and O. J. Salisbury were commenced before Judge Anderson, as referee, at the office of Attorneys Jones & Schroeder, this morning. The sum of $15,[illegible] is involved.

WITHOUT A BREAK.

The new term of the Third district court will open on December 19th.

A TRAIN WRECKED

On the Union Pacific Railroad Near Hallville, Wyoming.

MANY PERSONS INJURED.

Most of Them were Italians and One May Die.

[Union Standard.]

One of the most serious wrecks which has ever occurred on the Union Pacific took place yesterday morning near Hallville, Wyoming, and in consequence the Union Pacific hospital here was filled this morning with more or less injured Italians, one of whom will possibly die within the next twelve hours.

Yesterday morning shortly before 7 o'clock Union Pacific No. 7, westbound, due to reach Ogden at 10:20 o'clock, pulled out of the Bitter creek station several hours behind time and the engineer threw open the throttle. When about three miles east of Point of Rocks as the train was crossing a fill, it struck a broken rail, and five cars, two emigrant sleepers, the day coach and two Pullmans went into the ditch. The engine, tender, both baggage and the two rear Pullmans stayed with the track. Next to the rear baggage car was an emigrant sleeper, filled to overflowing with raw Italians, men, women and children. The car jumped over an embankment and 100 feet out in the prairie, where it struck a Pullman which had outspeeded it. The emigrant car was smashed into kindling wood and twenty of its occupants were injured. In the end which struck the Pullman were fifteen little children, ranging in ages from 1 month to five years, and although every seat in the forward half of the car was torn out and reduced almost to powder, not a child was injured. The other sleeper struck a telegraph pole fourteen inches in diameter [circumference?] and ninety feet from the track, and cut it away as cleanly as could have been done with a saw. Continuing its mad flight the car butted into the day coach, telescoping itself but injuring none of the passengers seriously. One of the Pullmans jumped about fifty feet in the direction of the other car and then ploughed its way almost to where they had piled up in the form of a diamond, damaging it so badly that repair will be almost impossible.

A wrecking train was sent out from Green river and by evening the track was again clear. While the crew was clearing away the wreckage a special bearing the injured, of whom there were twenty, nineteen being Italians and one an American who had received an ugly scalp wound, was run into Green river where the wounds of the passengers were attended to.

At 10:20 o'clock last night No. 7 lost her right of way and came in as a special, reaching Ogden at 12:15 o'clock this morning. The damaged cars were left where they had been piled up. The Union Pacific hospital ambulance and several carriages were in waiting and the passengers who were unable to travel were taken to the hospital. There were several broken legs, or broken collar-bones and any number of cuts, bruises and sprains. One man was scalped by a flying piece of timber. Inasmuch as the injured were all Italians and unable to speak English no names could be learned. The emigrants were bound for Montana points.

Yesterday morning's eastbound passenger No. 2 struck a defective rail at Granger and one tourist sleeper turned upside down but injured no one.

Sunday morning, No. 7 picked up a broken rail near Rawlins and ditched one car, but did little damage.

A disobedience of orders caused a freight wreck near Point of Rocks. Number 19 westbound freight ran by her orders and crashed into eastbound No. 2, ditching both trains and wrecking the engines and tenders besides smashing many cars. The crew on No. 2 was asleep and running at a slow speed, or the result might have been terribly fatal.

Within Our Gates.

A goodly number of "young men from the country" were here yesterday on pressing business with County Clerk Allen. No matter where they marry, they must first come to town and get permission, paying for same at current rates.

* * *

Mrs. Fisher and two children, who came here two or three months ago from Cheyenne, returned this morning. The lady was in quest of health, and we have it on good authority that she found it. Tally one more for our unapproachable climate!

* * *

James Clark, a prominent sheepman of Grantsville, came in today and was looking around for a young man—a peddler—who was robbed last night. The young man had not been buying coal, nor had the [illegible] sold him; he was cheated by a "sure thing" game whereby he lost $[illegible].

* * *

Charles England, manager of the Logan Journal, impressed with the accounts of our growing greatness no doubt, came down last evening and on taking this morning looked around. Probably he thought we were getting up some models for the Nicaragua canal, but let us hope he will refrain from saying so.

* * *

George Washington Jenkins, of Sandy, accompanied by his better half, came up this morning. He is so impressed with our improvements that he thinks of agitating something of the kind for his own city. They have no more smoke than we, however, and can soon make the necessary excavations.

* * *

An old lady of seventy-five or thereabouts, wrinkled and wan and with an expression of profound melancholy stamped upon her brow, suddenly appeared in this city this morning. Upon inquiry her name was given as Ada Roman and she had found temporary quarters at the Herald office; at least her "picture" appeared on its first page this morning.

* * *

John P. Aickman, who lives just west of the river track across Jordan, is a man of experience worth recounting. He is a sportsman, keeping and growing dogs and breeds, and also a poultry fancier. He came in this morning and related that on last evening, at the close of returning, he heard "a rapping and a tapping, tapping at his hen house door," and spotted on by the fact that the people of that neighborhood have lately lost several hundred fowls and his was a high-priced breed, took his gun and went out to put an end to the proceedings. He was boldly confronted by one of the would-be despoilers and raising his gun shot and presumably hit, for the other made haste to carry his pal away. The chicken house door had been cut down so that in one minute more the thieves would have escaped with their booty. It is suspected that the man who was shot is now here receiving medical attendance; we shall soon know. This kind of thing has been going on here for some time, and if Mr. Alexander has given it even a temporary check he has done so much good.

COUNCILMAN HARDY RETURNS.

He is Very Sanguine Over the Success of the Gravity Sewer System.

For several days past Councilman O. H. Hardy has been on a business trip to Pueblo and Denver. While there he made careful inquiry into the gravity sewer question and returns in an exceedingly enthusiastic mood as to the feasibility of adopting that plan here. "Why, he is even more sanguine regarding the success of the proposition than I am," said City Engineer Doremus today, "and you know what that means."

The successful solution of the sewer problem and the placing of the telephone and electric light wires under ground, are considered by Mr. Hardy to be among the greatest improvements needed in this city.
