UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

Before the adjournment of the United States district court Tuesday evening the attorneys for the defense in the suit brought against the Ogden Irrigation and Ogden Waterworks company moved that they be dismissed on the ground that the plaintiffs had not shown sufficient cause of action, in that they showed no title to water; that the title was in the irrigation company, and if there was cause for action it lay with the corporation.

The motion was argued all the forenoon yesterday and at noon submitted and taken under advisement by Judge Marshall, who rendered a lengthy decision at 2:15 p. m., denying the motion and giving as his opinion that the plaintiffs were the owners of the water, inasmuch as it was a private company.

The amount of booty obtained was but two dollars in cash and a pocket knife. It was quite dark, but the footpaths thought they recognized the man as one Robert Clark, a resident of Springville. They notified the city marshal, and went with him to Clark's residence and the description secured. GUNNISON.

Sudden Death of Nonna Ethel Sorenson—Brother of Peter O. Christensen.

Special Correspondence.

Gunnison, March 15.—The funeral ceremonies over the remains of Nonna Ethel, beloved daughter of George and Josephine Sorenson, occurred yesterday from the Centerfield ward meeting house. Her sudden death, which happened about 2 o'clock on the morning of last Thursday, the 9th, and the condition of the body since that time, was somewhat peculiar, and led many to believe that deceased was only in a trance or stupor. County physician, Dr. Morey of Mt. Pleasant, was summoned and after an examination stated that her death was the result of heart failure. To satisfy the grief-stricken parents that life was extinct, the corpse was kept into the sixth day. Deceased was a little over sixteen years of age, being born November 29, 1882, at Centerfield (then Gunnison). She was a promising young lady of the ward in which she lived, and was to the bloom of youth up to the night before she expired. While reading an article from the Juvenile Instructor she suddenly paused and "I can't see! What's the matter?" and at once expired. Her funeral was very largely attended and her remains were buried in the Gunnison cemetery.

Peter C. (Pedro) Christensen, an old resident of this place, died at his home in Centerfield ward on March 13, in the age of 75 years and 8 months. He was buried from the ward meeting house on Monday, the 13th, at 1 o'clock p. m. He was active in ward duties and a faithful member of the High Priests' quorum; and the greatest and some of its members, followed by Bishop Fjeldsted, made suitable addresses at the services. His only brother, A. C. Christensen, of Ephraim, was present and gave an interesting account of the life of deceased. Deceased was born at Stam, Denmark, on the 16th of July, 1823. At the age of 20 years he married Mary A. Sorensen, and with her embraced the Gospel in 1852. They emigrated to Utah in 1857, locating at Ephraim, and in 1878 moved to Gunnison, where they have since resided.

ST. GEORGE.

Frost Destroys Almonds and Apricots.

Special Correspondence.

St. George, Washington Co., March 12.—A cold wave passed over the country the past three days, killing the apricots and early almonds. The loss to the fruit growers will be heavy. Spring has fully opened, little is a sense of bloom and the fields look like a veritable meadow, but the season are dry and parched, no rain having fallen to amount to anything since June last. The farmers in the western part of the country will suffer considerably on account of the scarcity of water; fall grains will not mature properly without rains come to their relief, which does not seem likely to occur in this section. Crops are doing from excellent on the ranges. The present outlook is serious and discouraging.

The opera house dedication of the St. George Stake has been postponed one week from the 19th and 20th, to wit, for that month. A. O. Woodruff will be present according to instructions received by Presidency.

Ex-Mayor Jesse N. Smith, who leaves for the eastern States on a mission, preached his farewell sermon in the tabernacle yesterday. His absence will cause many changes as he is the fifth counselor in Bishop Clark's first counselor to Bishop Clark and member of the board of school trustees, besides other local offices that his ability and efficiency has place upon him.

SALEM.

Returning Elders Holding Gospel Meetings—Free Creamery Plant.

Special Correspondence.

Salem, March 11.—This thriving place now boasts of a mission under the name of Pondtown, and was the hatt of good-natured jokes from its more populous neighbors on either side, but is now forging rapidly to the front and boasts some best and quite numerous attendance at its weekly meetings. A neat brick, trimmed with red sandstone. Great improvement is noticeable in the appearance of the people. The town has a large brick amusement hall where they are now preparing to give the aged an entertainment at an early day. In the center of the town is a large pond fed by springs, with a good water power that now runs idle. The citizens might utilize it for a lighting plant, and put the electric lights into their homes.

Pondtown is noted for its milk facility, creating an incentive to take care of the cows and bringing revenue to the town. About 1,000 pounds of butter is manufactured each day.

Salem has a splendid large brick meeting house, in which the people are proud. During the last week Gospel meetings have been held. A number of returning elders, who have filled missions, have quite a number here, have been holding meetings, two by two, after the manner the Lord sent them out to preach. Good results are under than yearlings are very seldom seen.

Surprise parties are again the "rage" here, a number of them have taken place. The family of Brother and Sister Hawkins arranged a pleasant surprise on their daughter, Mrs. Ellis, the evening before she came home for course, on March 8, at their picnic and were prepared to entertain her on her return, which up. It was the occasion of the 43rd birthday of Sister Hawkins, her husband being 45. They have four children and twenty-six grandchildren residing here, besides a son at Oak City, one at Leamington, and two married daughters on the Weiser, all of whom are rearing families.

The health of the people is very good at present.

HELPER.

A Daring Bolder—The Bandit Captured After Brisk Battle, with Fractured Arm.

A special to the Tribune from Helper, Carbon county, gives the particulars of a bold attempt at robbery committed at that place at 10:30 yesterday morning, March 15. A stranger walked into Ike Glasser's store, and said he wanted a pair of shoes, and asked Glasser for a pair of shoes. After he got what he wanted he took up the parcel and walked out. Glasser thought about it, and followed him, he drew a large 45-caliber gun, and started away with the parcel.

Mr. Glasser secured a gun and followed him, ordering him to halt, upon which he turned and began firing. Glasser returned the fire, both continuing their guns, the bandit making his escape for the hills.

A posse headed by Glasser and others was quickly formed and soon were in pursuit and overhauled the bandit about two miles out of town, by being on foot. In the meantime he had reloaded his gun and was firing away with not resistance, emptying his gun again, but while he was reloading he was shot in the arm, fracturing it badly, and was unable to finish loading.

The posse then thought they had an easy victim, but when they drew near he still made a vicious fight with a dagger he had in his possession, and was not taken until he was disarmed by a process of working with the butt of a gun.

He said his name is Antonio Curro, a Mexican, and that he was from Rawlins. He stated that he had been herding sheep. The stolen property was recovered.

The wounded robber was placed on a train and taken to Price. An examination of his arm by Dr. Rickman at Price showed that the bone between the elbow and shoulder is a mass of splinters caused by the bullet fired by one of the posse, and that amputation would be necessary. He was placed in charge of Sheriff Alford, who brought him on to Salt Lake, where he was placed in St. Mark's hospital, where his arm was amputated this afternoon.

MOAB.

Snow—Return of the Sheriff from the Dirty Devil Country.

Special Correspondence.

Moab, Grand Co., March 15.—We were visited during last evening by a very severe snowstorm, which lasted a few hours, and at 8 o'clock this morning, the snow has almost disappeared, with the exception of a little on the north slopes, and the sun is bright and warm.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Taylor died on the 10 inst., called from their nobel to the great beyond.

Sheriff Tyler and his deputies returned a third time from their trip to the "Robbers Roost Country," where they had an engagement with a number of the gang. The fight lasted for several hours, but on account of the smoothness of the country the posse were unable to accomplish anything, except to get a better knowledge of the country. It is reported that the sheriff, on the part of a strong body of treaty men to wipe out the unlawful element in the Dirty Devil country.

Tyler is firing from several shovels and excavations for the foundation of our proposed new 40-room hotel, to be rushed with vigor.

WOOL MADE FROM ROCK.

It Is as Fluffy and White as That Produced From Sheep.

Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Wool made from rock is destined to enter into competition with the sheep which have been producing the article for so many thousand years, and even in the time of Moses were utilized for that purpose. C. G. Hall, formerly of St. Louis, but now connected with the Union Steel company at Alexandria in the capacity of chemist, has discovered a process by which rock can be made to assume the fluffiest cotton—an article of many possibilities. One of the largest wooling concerns in Massachusetts has been experimented with this new wool. With the view of its adoption in the weaving of cloth and undergarments, insulating material for steam pipes, etc.

These months ago, while making experiments for insulation for his factory, Mr. Hall found that a certain kind of lime, as in the natural process of lime-stone, when subjected to fire, would, when combined with other chemicals, turn into a lava, and when still other agencies were added and subjected to a process of working, this lava could be made perfectly pliable and handled much on the same plan as molten glass or taffy. The wool is formed by blowing it the process was pushed still further and instead of getting simply a silvery fiber from molten slag, Hall got a downy wool, the possibilities of which, it seems, are almost unlimited. Hall is a man who does not talk much, and, being a chemist, he does not take anything for granted. He admits that the fiber obtained from slag stuck is not suitable to be woven into garments, and that possibly the fiber is not adaptable to felting, but he is now in attending to that matter and the amalgamement that a company is already formed for the erection of a very large plant at Alexandria to manufacture this wool, making it seem reasonable that the process is further advanced than its discoverer admits. Hall's rock wool is just as white and soft as the best sheep product, and he has a very good fiber, and it can be produced much cheaper than sheep can be raised and clipped. There is no oil to be worked out, and in some reports the rock produces the best article. The new wool is not affected by water or fire, closely resembles asbestos in this respect. It can be washed and thrown on an open grate fire to dry without a mark of damage.

The Boston firm now great possibilities for this discovery in the line of manufacture. There are hundreds of uses for such clothing for which cloth made from wool of this kind would be in demand. Fire curtains in theaters, for instance, are at present made of steel and of asbestos, which are cumbersome, crude and expensive. A pretty wool cloth from which these could be painted, the same as the linen and muslins that are now used, and which at the same time would be a fire protection, could be made from the artificial wool. Used as a silicate fiber, it is adapted to any purpose for which insulation is needed. It can be wrapped around pipes to hold heat or cold, and it can be used in place of felt or fiber instead of clay, and can be utilized for insuring refrigerator cars instead of the sawdust now used. The rock from which it is manufactured, is to all appearance, common limestone, and is found in abundance in quarries in and around Alexandria. It is considered one of the best building materials for the purpose of its kind, and produces, and is of a whitish gray color. There is a series of very large quarries of this stone, and it is in demand for building purposes.
