KILLED AND ROBBED.

A Wealthy Jew of San Antonio, Texas, Found Murdered.

A BULLET HOLE IN THE HEAD.

Fully $25,000 in Money and Other Valuables Taken from the Safe.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, Oct. 10.—Marcus Koenigheim, one of the oldest, wealthiest and most highly respected Jewish citizens of San Antonio, was murdered and robbed some time last night, his dead body being found this morning with a bullet hole through his head, lying in the hall of his residence.

There is a deep mystery surrounding the crime. In the lower hall of the residence was a large safe, in which was a large stock of money and jewelry, amounting in value to fully $25,000. The safe was rifled of all the money, jewelry and valuables, except a pair of gold bracelets, an heirloom of the family.

It is supposed that Koenigheim heard the burglar and made some move to investigate when he met his death.

THE THIRD RACE.

A Heavy Wind Wanted for Today's Contest.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The new bowsprit that takes the place of the one flying on the Vigilant in Monday's race was to position this afternoon, and the third race will be sailed tomorrow. Lord Dunraven, Designer Watson, Captain Cranfield and Sailmaker Ratsey are all praying for a heavy wind. They want a chance in that sort of weather before they admit that the American model is better than the English.

Cheap Wheat.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—December wheat sold here for the lowest price ever recorded, viz: 54 cents. The cause was an increase in the visible supply.

California Mining Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—The California state mining convention today adopted resolutions declaring the association opposed to certain changes in the so-called Stewart mining bill, which bill has for its purpose the amending of certain sections of the revised statutes of the United States, relative to the acquisition of title to mining lands.

Other bills were adopted recommending that a bill be presented to Congress providing for an appropriation of a million dollars, to be expended under the direction of the secretary of war, in accordance with the plans and specifications and recommendation of the Caisonels Debris Commission, for the purpose of constructing works for restraining and impounding mining debris upon the tributaries of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, in California, and branches of such tributaries.

What Hungry Men Can Do.

HOUSTON, TEX., Oct. 10.—The Southern Pacific officials are considerably excited over news received from points along the line concerning the capture of one of their freight trains at Del Rio by a band of sixty-five armed men, who claim to be miners from California and New Mexico. The men say they were driven to desperation by the delay of the senate in settling the silver question, so that business may be resumed in the silver producing states, and they propose going to Alabama to take the places of striking miners, so it is now work or starvation with them. They are running the train on their own schedule and the dispatchers are puzzled in order to avoid collision with the regular trains. They stop at different towns and levy tribute of provisions but so far have committed no other depredations. They are well armed and the officers dare not attack them, unless they can muster a large force, which cannot be done except in the large cities. It is now expected that they will abandon the train near the end of the division, go around the city and by exploiting other trains proceed on their journey.

The headquarters of the Southern Pacific here have just received a telegram from San Antonio, stating that when the train pulled in there forty of the foreign were caught, while twenty-five escaped but are being pursued.

Reved Riots.

ASHLAND, WIS., Oct. 10.—The situation in the unemployed on the Ingersoll range at Hurley is becoming serious. Bread riots have already occurred. At least 600 people this side of the Wisconsin Central line are out of employment. In Elmwood and across the Michigan line the number is at least 1000, and there is no prospect of work for them. It is estimated that somewhat of three people have families.

NIGHT SESSIONS.

A Means of Bringing the Senate to an Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Senators of all shades of opinion now agree that the night session experiment will inevitably bring the Senate to an agreement on the financial question. Opinion differs as much about the probable length of the continuous session as to what its results will be. The silver men are counting upon it monopolizing for forty-eight hours and are making their plans accordingly. They will make an effort at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning to secure an adjournment. Failing in that they will resort to parliamentary motions to wind down some one of the silver men will take the floor and speak until relieved by some other member of the clan. The leaders on the silver side say as far as they can control their forces they will insist that the majority shall maintain a quorum. It is believed the friends will have to be constantly present in quite large numbers to prevent adjournment.

A careful canvass of the Senate shows, if a vote should be reached upon the bill as it stands it would carry by a majority of eleven, and the vote supposing amendments to be present would be thirty-eight ayes and thirty-seven noes.

The silver men claim that at least eight senators in the affirmative list are desirous of securing a free coinage, and if some measure can be devised upon which they and those can agree, the vote will be reversed.

THE IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

Officers Appointed and Addresses Delivered.

LOS ANGELES, OCT. 10.—The International Irrigation congress began sessions here today. It was called to order by Frederick Kemphe. Nearly 200 delegates were present, representing Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois, Tennessee, Washington, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Texas, Iowa, Connecticut, Montana, Wyoming, Oklahoma, Mexico, Ecuador, Peru, Prussia, France, Hungary and New South Wales. Many more are looked for.

Governor Markham, of California, made an address, in which he said California was a notable example of what irrigation had done. Land once worth $5 an acre was now worth $500 to $1000. Colonel Jerry Miller, of Phoenix, Ariz., was chosen temporary chairman. Committees were appointed and the convention adjourned until the afternoon.

On the reassembling of the Irrigation congress this afternoon the report of the committee on credentials was read and adopted. There were numerous committees were appointed.

The committee on permanent organization reported in favor of Illinois with Judge J. G. Emery, Lawrence, Kan., president.

The committee recommended that a permanent executive committee be authority the organization and reported through their chairman to the convention, consisting of the member from each state and territory represented. The report was adopted and President Emery returned to the platform and appeared and delivered his address, after which the congress adjourned till tomorrow.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

An Austrian's Prediction Concerning the United States.

He Says This Country Will Soon Be Passing Through an Unprecedented Crisis.

VIENNA, OCT. 10.—Minister Steinbach, referring to the financial situation today in the Reichsrath, said that Austrian securities which were flowing back contained chiefly or silver rentes. Foreign countries were now frightened at the very name of silver, therefore Austria adhered to the view existing in conversion with that metal. The Bismarck minister predicted that in the course of a few years Austria would possess the whole amount of gold she required, while the United States would be passing through an unprecedented crisis. Austria, he added, was free from difficulties, and the currency must not be restricted of inflated. America, he said, showed to what inflation led.

The minister of war presented a bill to reorganize and increase the landwehr, remarking that the growth of the army estimates would continue, owing to the political conditions, which were not likely to alter.

There was much excitement and surprise in the Reichsrath today when Count Taafe, president of the ministry and minister of the interior, announced that he desired to submit a bill for the extension of the franchise. It is not at all certain that the bill will be passed, but its introduction is regarded as most important, as signaling an era of parliamentary reform.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Should be Asserted at This Time to Prevent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Herald's Montevideo dispatch says: Admiral Mello sent more proposal Bring on Rio, and the capital is in a state of panic. South Molley is left in that city to know what action President Cleveland will take. Minister Thompson to take with regard to the question of supporting the Argentine and Chilean ministers in Rio in a protest against the local diplomats of other nations interfering between the belligerents. They have raised the cry of "America for Americans," and assert that this is just the time when the Monroe doctrine should be unmistakably asserted.

Admiral Mello has issued another manifesto, in which he declares, in case of his success over President Peixoto, he will adhere rigidly to Republican institutions and form of government.

England's Coal Strike.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Warwick colliery owners have accepted the suggestion of the mayors of Leeds, Sheffield, Rotherham, Nottingham and Barnsley, regarding a settlement of the miners' strike and the indications are that England's great strike is about ended.

Latin Monetary Union.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The conference of the Latin Monetary Union today adopted proposals presented by Italy to delegates for a withdrawal from circulation of the small Italian currency.

Plundering and Killing Foreigners.

BUENOS AYRES, OCT. 10.—Scattered parties of desperados in Santa Fee are plundering and killing foreign settlers. The authorities have promised to restore security to foreign settlers.

OLD BOITHAM CHURCH.

An Interesting Visit to an Interesting Edifice—"War Bill" and Its History.

MANCHESTER, England, Sept. 27th, 1893.—Sunday morning, Sept. 24, in connection with Elder N. L. Morris, we again visited the Church branch. Another good meeting was held, several strangers being present. After meeting we went to Timbwhile, where we spent an enjoyable time at Sister Harrop's. Sister Harrop has been a member of the Church since her childhood days.

The Tuesday following we left Timbwhile for Boitham. These two towns are in Cheshire, close to the borders of Derbyshire. England has her share of hilly country, Derbyshire falling the best, though from what I have seen of Cheshire it has its hill portion. We were desirous of seeing the old church at Boitham, its history having been an important item in the Elders who have labored in this part of the country. The church is situated on what is called War hill. The title originates in recollections of the Danish invasion in these parts. Beside the hill is a pit where the mangled forms of the dead were hurriedly buried. For many miles distant the church can be seen, as it stands in a prominent position. Climbing the hill to the series stiles to bring to the traveler, and having landed within the walls of the church yard, for a few moments we rested our weary limbs. What a spot in view of the surrounding country! It reminds us somewhat of our mountain home. Our thoughts wander back to our homes and loved associates. The picturesque scene of the surrounding country was marred somewhat by the dull, lowery weather. Fall appears to be fully set in, reminding us of November in Utah. The church yard is very miserably strewn with gravestones and monuments. Slowly proceeding we read the inscriptions of those who had been sleeping in their graves for centuries.

Boitham old church is supposed to be one of the oldest in the British isles. It appears that no account of it has been written, and hence we found it a difficult matter to accurate correct information regarding it, but as best we could learn it was built about ten or eleven centuries ago. Near the door of the church is an old lead mark—so old. Judging from its dingy appearance it has been many generations ago. The outside of the stable has an ancient looking aspect, portions of the walls having a lonely, crumbling appearance. What a vast number of changes have taken place since the building was erected, and what history it could unfold—battles had and won, it could record the deeds of martyred heroes who have lived and died for their country.

We stepped to the lobby of the church; here we beheld printed instructions to those who entered, amongst which I jotted down the following rules, which I think would be well to be observed to any church place where Christians worship the true and living God:

"Be in time."

"Hesitate not into church."

"Do not look around every time the doors open."

"Do not whisper to your neighbor."

"Keep your thoughts fixed."

Just inside the church is a registry book, where we entered our names and the city we sailed from (in Utah). We glanced through the book, and observed some had traveled such a lengthy distance as we.

As we entered the interior we heard sweet and solemn strains of music—young lady preaching, no doubt, for Sabbath service. Passing down the aisle we observed it was paved with large stones, upon which were carved inscriptions of the honored and respected dead who had passed away centuries ago.

One of the greatest attractions in the church is the beautiful oaken pulpit. This is a sight well worth seeing, and one long to be remembered by those who have the pleasure of beholding it. The artistic work is magnificent. All is cut it are scenes of Bible history, with such prominent characters as Abraham, Moses, Aaron, Joshua and others. The figures stand in bold relief, and are carved in the most artistic style. In one corner of the church, on a lonely, were re-figures in sandstone, which apparently and have there for centuries. The windows of the church are painted with ancient looking figures. The organ loft was built by Edward Shaw (then lord mayor of London) in 1878.

Sept. 26, 8 p. m.—There is a rumor of an early settlement of the coal dispute, but up to the hour of writing nothing definite has been accomplished.

HOME ENDORSEMENTS.

Remarkable Results Attained With Only a Few Days' Treatment.

MR. T. J. HICKS, a well known young man of Wilmington, Delaware, was for some time suffering from a bad case of catarrh, and had tried everything he could hear of, but was not benefited for what he had taken.

"I was very much troubled with catarrh, and had tried many remedies, but they had not benefited me. I was very much discouraged when I first went to the Medical Institute, but after a few days treatment I felt very much better, and I continued the treatment for a few weeks and was cured. I am very much pleased with the results of the treatment, and I cannot say too much in favor of the Medical Institute."

T. J. HICKS.

Mr. Hicks says, when visiting in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1892, that he was so much benefited by the treatment received at the Institute, that he decided to return to Salt Lake City and have the Doctors treat his son, who was suffering from a severe case of catarrh. The result was that his son was also cured, and he feels very much indebted to the Doctors for the benefit received.

"My experience with Drs. Mansfield and Dissett was very satisfactory. I was very much benefited by their treatment, and I feel very grateful to them for the good they did me."

SEE WHAT IT HAS DONE FOR ME.

I am so good as one risen from the dead. A few months ago I had given myself up to my sickly more chance I heard of Miller's Geneva Mineral Water, from Geneva, New York. I called at the Water Depot in Portland, Oregon. I had the agent I had been afflicted for many years with what is called Urethra, or inflammation of the bladder, also diabetes, that I had lost fifty pounds weight in the past year, and that I would soon pass to another sphere. I have spent thousands of dollars on doctors and medicines, and all to no avail. I went out of money at that time that I ever had been, and was using medicine all the time for the past six years. Well, to make a long story short, by the time I had taken five gallons of the Geneva Water I felt almost forgotten that I was sick, and felt so well about it that I had to tell everybody I met, and up to this writing I have used fifteen gallons of the mineral water, and of a little can say that I am comparatively well. Before using the Geneva Water I had to take morphine to get any sleep at all, and since drinking the mineral water I can sleep as well as I ever did. Oh, here, all you that are afflicted and suffering with Urinary Troubles or Dropsy. Although of any kind, the Geneva Mineral Water will cure you. It has cured me.

Come and see me and judge for yourself, and I will do all you all you want to know about the Geneva Mineral Water. It is for sale by my agent, Mr. Stoddard, 109 Rudolfo Blk., Salt Lake City. Don't forget that it is for male and female.
