LOSS OF SHRINKAGE IN MEATS.

VERY few people know that the Shrinkage of Meats roasted in a close oven is from thirty-five to forty per cent. All meat contains seventy-five per cent. of water and only twenty-five per cent. of solid matter, and the loss that is made in the roasting is made in the evaporation of the juices, which is the VITAL PART OF MEAT.

Effect of the SOLID OVEN Door. A TEN pound Sirloin, medium or well-done, will be REDUCED to SIX pounds and four ounces of Roasted meat, showing a loss of three pounds and twelve ounces of juice. While the loss is 37½ per cent of the total weight, it shows the enormous LOSS OF FIFTY PER CENT. OF THE JUICE.

Effect of WIRE GAUZE OVEN DOOR. A TEN pound Sirloin, medium or well-done, will be REDUCED to SIX pounds and eight ounces of Roasted meat, showing a loss of eight ounces of juice. While the loss is five per cent. of the total weight, it shows the very small LOSS OF BUT SEVEN PER CENT OF JUICE.

A List of Bills Introduced in the Senate by Various Members.

THE EXTRADITION TREATY WITH ENGLAND.

The Nomination of Judge Brewer is Discussed by the Senate.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Silcott Defalcation Committee Sits.—Canadian Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. — First Comptroller Matthews has decided to allow the accounts of United States Marshal Neesles, of Oklahoma, and the United States commissioners appointed by Judge Shackelford for duty in that Territory, on the ground that the services rendered by them were legal and proper. The accounts amount to about $15,000.

At a session of the Silcott defalcation committee today it became evident that a majority were in favor of an appropriation bill to cover the deficiency, but the minority oppose it and if necessary will make a minority report.

The committee reconvened after the adjournment hour today and resumed consideration of the legal points involved, and practically reached agreement on a measure, which may be regarded as a compromise between the diverse views of the members. This measure will provide for a reference of the subject to the court of claims, which tribunal is to determine the responsibility for the defalcation and adjust the claims of members who lost their money. If it follows from their findings that they are entitled to reimbursement by the government, another meeting of the committee is to be held to perfect the form of the measure and agree upon the details yet unsettled.

A bill and report were drafted to-night and will be presented in the House tomorrow. It is understood the committee is of the opinion that the sergeant-at-arms is under the statute a government disbursing officer during the recess of Congress, but in order to remove all question as to the loss being one which the government should not only equitably but legally bear, it will be recommended the matter be referred to the Court of Claims. Provision will probably be made for an appeal to the Supreme Court if thought best. The bill gives precedence to this case over all other before the court.

THE SENATE COMMITTEE on finance today ordered favorable reports upon the following bills:

To relieve the Treasury of the necessity of carrying upon the books balance of the unavailable assets that have accurred since the formation of the government. These amount to about $28,000,000.

The direct tax bill, in the shape in which it passed both houses of the last Congress.

The Senate committee on education and labor instructed Chairman Blair to report favorably on the educational bill. This action does not, however, bind any member of the committee as to his action on the floor of the Senate.

The nomination of William T. Harris to be commissioner of education was ordered reported favorably.

The Senate committee on pensions referred the dependent pension bill to a sub-committee.

Senator Turple from the committee on pensions today made a favorable report on Quay's bill, fixing at $72 per month the pension to be granted to all persons who are or may become totally helpless from injuries received or from diseases contracted while in the military or naval service of the United States.

started in some mysterious way last night on the large, handsome mahogany desk in the centre of the office of the Secretary of War, and burned a large hole through the top before it was discovered and extinguished. Several papers were destroyed. Secretary Proctor cannot understand how the fire originated, as he does not smoke, and keeps no matches about the desk.

EXTRADITION TREATY.

President Harrison today transmitted to the Senate the extradition treaty with England, referred to in his message, negotiated by Secretary Blaine and Sir Julian Pauncefote, British Minister. By its terms the extraditable offenses are largely increased, the most important addition being that of embezzlement, so, if the treaty be ratified, Canada and the United States will cease to exchange a class of undesirable residents who have hitherto secured immunity from punishment.

THE EXECUTIVE SESSION

of the Senate this afternoon lasted nearly two hours. The principal topic of discussion was the nomination of Judge Brewer to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. This was called up by Senator Ingalls, upon a favorable report by the committee on judiciary, although there was no minority report. The confirmation of the nomination was opposed by Senators of both parties, it is said, who based their objections upon two grounds: First, his decision in prohibition cases in Kansas, which was afterwards reversed by the Supreme Court. Second, the statement of facts in Judge Gresham's review of the appointment of receivers for the Wabash system of railroads by Judge Brewer, whose order in the case Judge Gresham vacated so far as it affected those made within the limits of his circuit. It was asserted these things justify a suspicion that Judge Brewer is a friend of corporation interests, as against those of the public; and that the facts, as stated in Judge Gresham's review, warrant an investigation. Friends of Judge Brewer, it is said, denied he was in any wise unduly influenced in his action in the Wabash receivership, but the adjournment came before the case was disposed of. It is believed, however, the nomination will be confirmed; probably tomorrow.

THE BLAINE MANDAMUS SUIT.

Secretary Blaine, through the United States district attorney's office of this district, today answered to the mandamus case against the United States, in relation to Sylvanus C. Brockton against the Secretary of State to compel payment of the balance of the award of the Mexican mixed claims commission. Among the claims was that of Benjamin Weil, on which the commission was divided, and the umpire, Minister Thornton, awarded $478,-816.20 in Mexican gold, which in United States gold would be equivalent to $479,973.97. Of the award, Mexico has paid $416,145.40, of which amount the sum of $171,809.51 the first five installments, has been paid by the United States to the parties entitled to it. The secretary further says, the whole amount of the award would not be distributed to claimants, for it is subject to the reduction of the ratable charge made against the total amount of each award to defray the expenses of the commission. The amount of the charge, as to the award of Weil, was $20,-328.59, leaving the net amount to be paid in Mexico, $459,725.41. As that republic is paid $459,985.93, the balance due from that government is $8,737.45, and deducting the payments already made by the United States from the net amount, it leaves in the hands of the United States $279,033. Secretary Blaine says the President has forbidden payment of any part of the balance, and for that reason no scheme for a distribution of the balance has been made.

"GOOD-BYE, BOYS."

The delegation of Sioux Indians now in Washington, called upon Senators Allison and Wilson of Iowa, at the Capitol to-day. As they filed out of the room the bystanders were convulsed to hear them say in taking leave of the dignified Senators: "Well, good-bye, boys."

BILLS

On a Variety of Subjects Reach the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Among the bills introduced in the Senate today were the following:

By Mitchell, the Chandler bill of the last Congress, for the creation of a division of silk culture in the Department of Agriculture.

By Teller, authorizing the citizens of Colorado, Nevada and the Territories to fell and remove timber on the public domain for mining and domestic purposes; also, providing that a half dollar shall contain one-half a quarter dollar one-fourth and a dime one-tenth of the amount of silver contained in the standard dollar; also his bill for the last Congress, to grant irrigation companies a right-of-way through public lands for irrigation purposes.

Among the bills reported from committees and placed on the calendar were the following:

To relieve the Treasurer of the United States from the amount now charged to him and deposited with the several States.

To increase the pensions of pensioners who are entirely helpless.

Hale, from the committee on appropriations, reported back a small deficiency bill of $150,000 for public printing and binding, and $250,000 for preliminary printing of the eleventh census. The bill was passed.

A COMMUNICATION

from the President to Congress in regard to the International Maritime Conference now in session, and recommending earnestly that a further extension of the limit of its continuance for two months from January 1st, 1890, be authorized, was presented, and, with accompanying papers, referred to the committee on naval affairs.

Chandler offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Navy for information as to whether organizations not expressly authorized by the Secretary of the Navy exist among naval officers for purposes not merely literary or scientific, and if so, what are the objects of such organizations, and what officers are members of them; whether such organizations embrace only one branch of the naval service and are designed to advance and protect special interests of that branch; whether any of them have been organized for the purpose or influencing congressional legislation; whether sums of money have been paid or contracted for to influence legislation, and whether such organizations are compatible with PROPER DISCIPLINE.

Hale asked that the resolution be laid over, and it was done.

Manderson offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the Secretary of the Interior for information as to the disposition of the lands comprised within the military reservations that have been relinquished by the War Department.

Mitchell withdrew the resolution offered by him last week in reference to the failure of the Pension Bureau to furnish him with copies of certain papers in a pension claim. Commissioner Raum had sent him the papers, with letters stating the refusal to furnish them had been based on an old regulation of the office, which proved a judicious one, in order to prevent a waste of the effective strength of the office. Mitchell remarked that any senator, representative or duly authorized attorney of an applicant, or the applicant himself, should have a right to copies of papers. There was a brief discussion on this point.

Mitchell offered a resolution, which was referred to the postoffice committee, calling on the Postmaster-General for estimates of the increased cost required for the extension of the free delivery system to all towns and cities having not less than 5000 inhabitants, and where the gross postoffice revenue is at least $5000; also, to cities and towns of 5000 inhabitants and with gross postoffice revenue of $5000.

After executive session the Senate adjourned.

House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The session of the House was brief. After the introduction of a few bills, a resolution was offered for the calling of States alphabetically for the introduction of bills. Referred to the Committee on Rules.

As nothing could be done, the House adjourned.

Interstate Commerce.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—The Interstate Commerce Railway Association met here today to consider the matter of the Union Pacific-Northwestern combination. The Rock Island and St. Paul had joined in a complaint to Chairman Walker asking him to construe the legality of the combination under the Association agreement. He declined to do this, except on a vote of the Association, hence today's meeting. All the lines were represented except the St. Louis & San Francisco. The matter was argued warmly and finally referred to the chairman for investigation and a decision as to whether the agreement has been violated. He is to report to the New York meeting of presidents in January.

Destitution in Dakota.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 17.—The Pioneer Press special from Pierre, S. D., says that Governor Millette returned today from the districts where destitution has been reported, and says he finds things not so bad as he feared. In Minor and Faulk counties there was almost a total failure of crops, and in adjacent counties there are many cases of absolute destitution, and there would have been suffering but for the prompt assistance furnished. The people are healthy and in good spirits.

The Samoan treaty negotiated at Berlin last spring, has not yet been transmitted to the Senate.

The French Chamber of Deputies has nullified the election of Laur, a Boulangist, and defeated the measure declaring amnesty to Boulanger and his condemned associates.

The mystery surrounding the whereabouts of Ditman, the Philadelphia banker, is as deep as ever. Clerks are hard at work trying to unravel Ditman's complicated accounts.

MORE TO FOLLOW.

Chicago Detectives Receiving Notice to Quit.—Juror Culver.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—Detectives John Stift and N. J. Crowe and Patrolman Redmond McDonald, who testified in favor of Daniel Coughlan in the recent Cronin trial, received notice of their dismissal today from the force "for conduct unbecoming an officer and for neglect of duty."

There was

in the visitors' cage in the jail this morning. The friends of the four men yesterday convicted called on them and deplored their fate. Burke alone received no callers. He preserved the same careless demeanor he has exhibited since the trial began. Little Kunze had recovered his spirits. The fact is, all the prisoners, now that the suspense is over, are looking forward with hope to the possibility of a new trial.

STATE ATTORNEY LONGNECKER

this evening had a conference with one of the Cronin jury, whose name he withheld, who told him the verdict was reached as he surmised. Juror John Culver, who spent much of his spare time during the long evenings reading the Bible, was the influential factor. The first incident in this connection occurred while the trial was in progress, at the time when Mrs. Conklin testified. That evening he notified his fellow jurors that he solemnly believed she had committed perjury. Later, Mrs. Hertel, he thought was a liar, and Martinson, the expressman, did not really know Burke, while the Carlsons were plainly telling falsehoods. To illustrate as to expressman Martinson, Mr. Culver told of a mistake made by the wife of his partner, who one day saw a man riding in a buggy whom she was sure was Culver, when, in point of fact, she was entirely mistaken. Culver seemed to see in nearly every witness for the State a vindictive or a purchased perjurer. He plainly hinted it on the State's part. The matter of having witnesses under the charge of detectives was one of the things he thought looked bad. He wasn't sure Dr. Cronin ever went to the Carlson cottage, and when asked "How do you account for the bloody trunk?" said, "Why, for all we know a dog may have been taken in it." The cause of Cronin's death had not been proved, he contended, and he was impressed with the idea that Daniel Coughlin had a "good" face.

When the time for balloting arrived Culver voted for the acquital of all the defendants. He steadfastly declared that Beggs, particularly, he would not send to jail, even for one day. The result was a long struggle and repeated ballots, ending in the compromise verdict announced.

Farmer Pierson had voted steadily for the conviction of all five defendants and was the last man to yield. It was he who was holding out toward the end, and not until an hour or so before the verdict reached the public did he give in to the extremities of his comrades. The leading thought of a majority of the jurors, other than Culver and Pierson, seemed to be to prevent a disagreement. They apparently believed that a mistrial was what had been aimed at by the defense.

A White House Dinner.

The last of these receptions given February 28th, 1878, was in every respect the grandest, 600 persons being then received in the White House. To furnish refreshments for so vast a throng required a preparation which from its magnitude is interesting. This work, under the direction of Steward Crump, devolved upon Mme. Demonest & Sons together with the chef of the White House kitchen, J. P. Crutchet, who, with 10 assistant cooks, so Steward Crump says, "pushed things." Two turrels of stewed terrapin and what appeared to be a wagon load of chicken croquets were made; oysters by the thousand were cooked. A huge cake in semblance of a log cabin held several gallons of charlotte; 5000 gallons of ice cream were frozen. The supply of cake seemed endless, for added to that which was used to form decorative pieces six or seven hundred pounds of general cakes were at hand.

Beside what is enumerated above, was a variety of substantials and delicacies, which made the refreshments furnished for these receptions as abundant in quantity as they were acceptable in quality. The printed menu lacked mention of some special pieces which attracted general attention. Insufficiency of supper room in which to serve refreshments was overcome by placing tables throughout the White House wherever room could be found or made for them. Two thousand clean plates were ready for the start and there was no idling for the ten dishwashers after feasting began.

The floral decoration for this occasion was unequaled in its profusion. Both the state and family dining rooms were filled with exotics and rare foliage plants; the tables being literally burdened with a bloom of rosebuds, lilies of the valley, carnations, orchids and other choice representatives of the floral kingdom. Emblems of every conceivable sort were devised and throughout each room a repetition of this gorgeous display, lavish in the extreme, was varied to suit surroundings.—Ex.

THE HISTORICAL RECORD. COMPLETE IN FOUR VOLUMES. In Leather Binding.....$5.00 In Cloth " .....4.50. For Sale at the DESERET NEWS Office.

From the DESERET EVENING NEWS, September 26th.

A day or two since we noted the issuance, by Andrew Jenson, of vols. 5, 6, 7, and 8 of the Historical Record, bound in one. This combination makes a book of over 1900 pages. It is next to impossible to over estimate its value. As a book of reference on matters of Church history, also upon matters of interest to localities," and to ecclesiastical organizations it is simply worth its weight in gold. It also affords much information of a personal character, embodied in numerous biographical sketches.

What could be more interesting or profitable in literature to Latter-day Saints than a "Church encyclopedia," and this is the genius of the work which Brother Jenson offers.

The Church of Christ in this dispensation has an unwritten history. It must in time be given to the world in more or less elaborate shape. This is a labor yet to be performed, and when the task is undertaken it will be found that the compiler of the book now referred to will have made the work of the future historian comparatively easy. He furnishes a ground work that will doubtless make a most valuable base of operations, the keys given in his compendious labor enabling the searcher after details to reach them by much more direct paths than he could without such potent assistance.

We should think that the book would not only be an excellent and prized addition to any private library among the Saints, but would prove a most useful auxiliary to any association of the young which makes the study of Church history a part of its exercises.
