DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Wednesday, April 11, 1894.

FRAGMENTS.

It was pay day at the Sixt yesterday and $1,500 was disbursed.

The mail service between Provo and Sandy has been increased to twice daily a week.

Frank Freeman and Chas L. Tomlinson were married yesterday by James Wimbleton.

P. J. Devlin, a saloon man of the city, died last night, the result being too much drink.

A regular monthly meeting of the teachers of the city schools will be held on Saturday next, at 9:30 a. m.

An excursion party embarked upon the Ogden special the leading train in the Union Pacific will arrive here on April 26.

Messrs. Sawyers & Tyrrell, a leading dry goods firm in Omaha, are out of business from dissolution, never money, on the Bill Grants Western.

The Tenth quorum of Seventies will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow (Thursday) night, April 12, at the Ninth ward meeting house. Meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

Edward F. Gilson, a Fort Douglas private, while in an intoxicated condition, ran his hand through a glass door at a saloon, at a late hour last night, and cut an artery on the back of his hand.

The competitive examination held in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy yesterday, John Cutler, of Ogden, carried off a gold medal for the best examination in pharmacy, and Grace Lidy, of Salt Lake, received an honorary medal for the best general examination.

The many dark haired marriage licenses issued to Oscar Edson and Anna Margaret Odell, Frank Fillmore and Clara L. Trumbull, and Harper N. Spencer and Vivian E. Duke, of Salt Lake, and John J. Jensen, of Hinckley, and Josephine Tuttle, of Salt Lake. Today the same official issued marriage licenses to Edward Hillyer, 21, and Kate Cutler, 18, both of Mill Creek; to Clarence B. Wade, 22, of Summerville, Weber county, and Marion M. Dimond, 18, of North Ogden.

Ogden Gas Company Sued.

Wells, Fargo & Co. have filed an action in the Third district court against the Ogden Gas Light & Fuel company, whereby they seek to collect $14,750 on a promissory note.

The Fair.

A large attendance still continues at the Industrial Fair, and everything is being done to make the exposition as attractive as possible. To that end music will be discovered every evening. The program for tonight will be rendered by Pedrotti's orchestra and is as follows:

March, "Dance Mad" ..... Carlo Wahl.
Overture, "Moonlight on the Danube" ..... Bernard.
Selection, "Dolly Varden" ..... Chassaigne.
Intermezzo, "Wild Flora Serenade" ..... Lampe.
Polka, "Sweet Lavender" ..... Del Bianco.
Fantasia, "Ye Merry Wives of Windsor" ..... Cusins.
Song, "Fly Away, O Gentle Dove" ..... Pinsuti.
Selection, "Fatinitza" ..... Suppe.
Waltz, "Spring Flowers" ..... Gillet.
Song, "Answer" ..... Thomas.
Grand March, "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner.

Hereafter the fair will close at 9 a.m. except on Saturday.

FRANCHISES PASSED.

The Mayor and Chief of Police Scored by Councilmen.

DAILY WASTED TO SAVE THE TREES.

Five Cent Street Car Fares Mandated.—Infirmity Scare to be Completed.

The City Council met in regular session last evening with Councilman Young presiding. The principal business transacted was the passing of two franchises granting extension of life for fifty years. They provide for a maintenance of 5-cent fares, the taxing of the cars, and their validity depends upon the immediate payment to the city of the money already expended on street paving on the routes of the various tracks. Remington took occasion to criticize the Mayor and chief of police in a resolution condemning the action of taking the police to Ogden, for it gave him an opportunity to release some pent-up editorial heat. He thought that since the city had not become a paying concern in their absence, the police force could necessarily be no larger, and so was that it be reduced by dispensing the gallant thirty. The Mayor sent in his name to F. W. Dickson in place of W. S. Noble as a member of the board of police works, and the other policemen were re-elected.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

The Metropolitan Water Company presented a bill for $13,500, which was referred to the board of public works.

Arthur L. Thomas and five hundred others sent in a petition asking that in view of the dire and already existing all home workmen be employed only on any contract hereafter let on public works. The petition was granted.

Robert Sherwood offered the free use of rock and adjoining land to Sherwood avenue, for the installation of stock. Referred to committee on sanitary rules and ventilation.

The committee appointed to purchase real estate for the city to the amount of $25,000 reported that they had received two propositions and considered L. D. Kinney's most desirable, this contained 100 lots near the Copper plant, and would become valuable. The copper plant was also examined and they found that the works were larger than had been proposed by the company and the present output of the plant in copper, silver and gold was estimated at $4,000,000 per annum. The new one for this city would be already in sight. The works gave great promise of material and commercial value to this city and country. Signed by George A. Lowe, L. C. Kaiser, J. S. Cannon and W. H. Rowe.

It was laid over to come up under miscellaneous business and was then referred to the committee on public grounds that title to a part of the land might be invested in aid.

S. J. Lacy et al petitioned against being compelled to use water by a flat rate that may water, as they desire it by the weight. Referred to committee on meters.

Wilson & Fox et al complained of the manner in which the sprinkling of streets was be, stating that they were receiving the entire work. Referred to committee on sprinkling.

A communication was received from the Mayor appointing F. W. Dickson member of the board of public works in place of W. S. Noble. Referred to committee on public works.

The city engineer was instructed that K. L. T. Harris, J. L. Rawlins and John N. Pace be paid $10 each for their services in adjusting the pot E. Infirmary. Accepted.

The city engineer filed statement for the quarter ending March 31, showing expenditures in the case of $1,[illegible]. Filed.

The city engineer reported that $[illegible] was deducted by the warrants issued during the month of January. Filed.

A communication was received from the board of parole at the coming the Frank Harrigan was ready to present with the work of completing the road, the payment of $[illegible] to be expended on Second South streets between State and West Temple streets, and asked that they be authorized to employ an inspector at a salary not to exceed $[illegible] per month. The Council might be. Referred to committee on streets and public works.

The city engineer presented the bond of O. Jack Hillyer, in the sum of $2,000 with S. H. Hoyt as sureties, on his sprinkling contract with the city. The bond was found to be properly approved and referred to the Mayor.

The city engineer submitted an estimate estimate of the cost of sidewalks proposed to be laid on Second East street from South Temple to Fourth South streets as follows: Excavation, $17,[illegible]; cement, $4,[illegible]; sand, $4,[illegible]; rock, $5,[illegible]. Adopted and resolution to give notice by advertisement of intention to lay cement walks and footwalks.

T. F. Holley, street superintendent, submitted his report for the quarter ending March 31, as follows:

Labor	$[illegible]
Material	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

W. A. Saxton tendered his resignation as fire inspector, stating that he was appointed on April 19, 1892, for two years. Accepted.

The board of public works and city engineer recommended in the matter of the petition of John T. Caine et al. asking that a sidewalk on the west side in B street be laid, lot to grade between First and Second streets, that the entire street be graded if the work petitioned for was done. Referred to the committee on streets.

Councilman Daly called attention to the fact that on the street in which the grading was to be done there were some of the finest trees in the city, and he thought they should not be destroyed. It would be an outrage to lower the grade so it would be to cut them down, and he protested against their destruction. No action was taken regarding them, however.

The city attorney and board of public works recommended that the estate of the Pacific Paving company be $1,117 and $17.81 for paving pitch, erroneously deducted from their bills, be not allowed. Adopted.

Fire Chief Devine submitted a separate pay roll for R. H. Cornish, James J. Ulrich and Thomas Welsh, for $60.00, $[illegible] and $[illegible] respectively. Referred to committee on finance.

The committee on public grounds recommended that the Mayor on approval of his title to block 103, plat D, by the city attorney, be instructed to execute a warranty deed to Mrs. Rosa M. George Pettit, of lots 1 and 4, block 13, plat J, in exchange therefor. Adopted and the abstract on block 103 referred to attorney.

The committee on improvements and committee on streets submitted a joint report recommending that the two street railway companies be granted the fifty year franchise instead of twenty-five years. The report was adopted, and the franchises were laid over to enable Mr. Under the head of miscellaneous business.

The committee on license recommended that licenses be granted to Don Quinn, Sadie Davis, M. Finegrath, Paul Rom and James Hilton.

The committee on sewerage and committee on public works reported that it would cost $[illegible] to complete the gravity sewer to State and Fifth South streets, including farm and selling. The committee recommended that the sewer be completed. Adopted.

The resolution offered by Remington, which created a good deal of amusement, was as follows:

Whereas, An act was passed by the last session of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Utah, entitled "An act to appoint a board of police and fire commissioners in certain cities, and to place the police and fire department under the jurisdiction of such boards" and

Whereas, Section 1 of said act reads as follows: "1. That in Salt Lake City there shall exist a board of police and fire commissioners, consisting of the mayor, ex-officio, president, and two other members, to be appointed by the governor, either one of the Territory, and shall act that the officers, members and employees thereof be fully informed of their duties, and that the laws, orders and regulations relating thereto are carried into execution and effect," and

Whereas, It has come to the knowledge of this council that the Mayor and chief of police of the city, on the 5th day of April, 1894, without consulting any of the members of said council, have taken all of the police force of said city, consisting of eighty men, and have placed them in Ogden, in this county, to aid and assist, by themselves and subordinate officers, the Mayor and chief of police of Ogden in the work of the police department of Ogden, and

Whereas, The action of said officers in so doing has left the city of Salt Lake without any police protection, and

Whereas, Section 4 of said act provides for the appointment of a chief of police, and

Whereas, Section 5 of said act provides for the appointment of such other officers and employees as may be necessary for the efficient and economical discharge of the duties of said department, and

Whereas, Section 6 of said act provides that the chief of police shall be the executive officer of the department, and

Whereas, Section 7 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to appoint a sufficient number of officers and employees to carry into effect the provisions of this act, and

Whereas, Section 8 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 9 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 10 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 11 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 12 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 13 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 14 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 15 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 16 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 17 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 18 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 19 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 20 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 21 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 22 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 23 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 24 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 25 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 26 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 27 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 28 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 29 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 30 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 31 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 32 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 33 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 34 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 35 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 36 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 37 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 38 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 39 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 40 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 41 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 42 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 43 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 44 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 45 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 46 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 47 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 48 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 49 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 50 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 51 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 52 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 53 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 54 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 55 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 56 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 57 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 58 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 59 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 60 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 61 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 62 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 63 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 64 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 65 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 66 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 67 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 68 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 69 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 70 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 71 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 72 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 73 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 74 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 75 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 76 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 77 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 78 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 79 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 80 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 81 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 82 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 83 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 84 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 85 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 86 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 87 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 88 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 89 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 90 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 91 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 92 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 93 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 94 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 95 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 96 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 97 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 98 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 99 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 100 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 101 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 102 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 103 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 104 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 105 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 106 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 107 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 108 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 109 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 110 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 111 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 112 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 113 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 114 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 115 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 116 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 117 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 118 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 119 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 120 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 121 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 122 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 123 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 124 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 125 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 126 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 127 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 128 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 129 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 130 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 131 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 132 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 133 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 134 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 135 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 136 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 137 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 138 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 139 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 140 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 141 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 142 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 143 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 144 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 145 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 146 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 147 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 148 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 149 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 150 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 151 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 152 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 153 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 154 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 155 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 156 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 157 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 158 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 159 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 160 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 161 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 162 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 163 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 164 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 165 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 166 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 167 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 168 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 169 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 170 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 171 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 172 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 173 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 174 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 175 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 176 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 177 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 178 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 179 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 180 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 181 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 182 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 183 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 184 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 185 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 186 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 187 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 188 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 189 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 190 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 191 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 192 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 193 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 194 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 195 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 196 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 197 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 198 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 199 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 200 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 201 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 202 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 203 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 204 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 205 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 206 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 207 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 208 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 209 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 210 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 211 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 212 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 213 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 214 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 215 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 216 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 217 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 218 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 219 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 220 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 221 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 222 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 223 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 224 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 225 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 226 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 227 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 228 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 229 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 230 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 231 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 232 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 233 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 234 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 235 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 236 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 237 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 238 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 239 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 240 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 241 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 242 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 243 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 244 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 245 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 246 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 247 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 248 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 249 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to remove any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas, Section 250 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 251 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to assign any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 252 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to detail any member of the police force to any duty he may deem necessary, and

Whereas, Section 253 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the government of the police force, and

Whereas, Section 254 of said act provides that the chief of police shall have the power to suspend any officer or employee for cause, and

Whereas,