HEADQUARTERS FOR UTAH.

Dr. Millspaugh of Salt Lake City Pays a Visit to Milwaukee.

Evening Wisconsin, April 16: Dr. J. F. Millspaugh of Salt Lake City, superintendent of public schools and state manager of the Northern Educational association for Utah, is in Milwaukee today. His immediate object is to secure state headquarters in a Milwaukee hotel for the delegation which Utah will send to the N. E. A. convention here next July. He has, however, another mission as well, and that is to plan for securing the next convention of the association for Utah. The Utah delegation to the teachers' convention will not by any means consist wholly of teachers. It will be led by the governor of the state, and will included the president of the Salt Lake Board of Education, together with other prominent city and state officials, as well as a full representation of the various educational interests of Utah. Dr. Millspaugh says: "If the convention decided to come to Utah in 1898 it will have for its place of assemblage the largest public hall in America—the great Mormon tabernacle. We have numerous 'attractions,' natural and artificial, including the Great Salt Lake, with the largest bathing pavilion in the world. The pavilion, is at Saltair beach, ten miles from the city. We have innumerable resorts and are on the borders of the Yellowstone park."

AT HYMENS ALTAR.

Miss Maude Pratt and James F. Griggs United in Marriage.

The ceremony which united Miss Maude Pratt and James F. Griggs in the bonds of matrimony, was solemnized at the Salt Lake Temple today.

The bride is the highly accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Pratt, and granddaughter of the late Apostle Orson Pratt. For the past six years she has been an employe of this office, and has won the respect and admiration of all connected with the establishment.

The bridegroom is a promising young musician and business man, and a son of T. C. Griggs of the Stake Sunday school superintendency.

Tonight a reception will be tendered the young couple at the home of the bride's parents 239 west North Temple street.

The News joins with their many friends in wishing them much joy long life and happiness.

Weber Stake Conference.

OGDEN, Utah, April 19, 1897.—The quarterly conference of the Weber Stake was held in the Tabernacle, Ogden City, on Sunday, and Monday, April 18 and 19.

Long before the time for service on Sunday morning the building was filled to its utmost capacity, and a large number being unable to gain admission returned to their homes. On the stand were President Joseph F. Smith of the First Presidency of the Church, Elders LORENZO SNOW and F. D. Richards of the Twelve Apostles, the presidency of the Weber Stake, members of the High Council, Bishops and many other leading elders. Elder Lewis W. Shurtliff presided. Opening prayer was offered by Elder Robt. McQuarrie.

Elder N. C. Piggats reported the condition of the Stake, which he said was good.

Elder Lorenzo Snow spoke of the many blessings and privileges which the Latter-day Saints enjoy, and the duties and responsibilities they are under. He spoke at some length on temple work. He also strongly urged the Saints to be earnest and diligent in serving God, in overcoming the evils of the world, and especially in each one laboring to overcome and control himself.

Elder F. D. Richards was the next speaker. Spoke of the immortality of man—the resurrection of the dead, salvation for those who are in the spirit world, and who have died without hearing the Gospel in this life. He also spoke of temple work, and the signs of the times which indicate that the coming of the Son of man is near at hand. He admonished the Saints to be faithful in all things.

Benediction by Elder E. D. Wade.

In the afternoon, after singing, the opening prayer was offered by Elder Joseph Parry.

President Joseph F. Smith occupied the time in a most interesting discourse.

Benediction by Elder C. F. Middleton.

Monday morning Elder John H. Smith and John W. Taylor were present. The opening prayer was offered by D. M. Stuart.

Elder John W. Taylor addressed the conference. He related a number of very interesting and instructive incidents of his late mission to Colorado. He said the Elders should put their trust and confidence in God for all they need while in the missionary field.

Elder L. W. Shurtliff made a few closing remarks.

Benediction by Elder Amos Hawkes.

In the afternoon the general authorities of the Church and those of the Stake were presented and unanimously sustained.

Elder John H. Smith was the first speaker. He contrasted the present feelings of the people of the world towards the Latter-day Saints with what they were a few years ago. The Lord has caused this great change among the people; and the Saints should guard the rights and liberties of all men whether religious or otherwise, as sacredly as they would their own.

President Joseph F. Smith made a few remarks, closing with an earnest exhortation to all to cultivate truth, integrity, honesty, virtue and fidelity to God and His work.

Benediction by Elder F. D. Richards. JOSEPH HALL.

Information Wanted.

To the Editor:

Some twenty years ago a young lady by the name of Lizzie Wilson left Mansfield, Nottinghamshire, England, for Utah. She was the daughter of Sarah Ann Wilson and a sister of Samuel Wilson, her father having died before she emigrated. Miss Wilson married some time after she arrived in Salt Lake, but her husband's name is unknown to her relatives here in England. Any information regarding the above will be thankfully received.

I also wish to acknowledge the receipt of several letters concerning others advertised for through the columns of your valuable journal and will say to all interested that a missionary has not always the time and means to reply, but he desires it, I can assure you. Another thing of importance I wish to mention is that when an inquiry is made for parties, say one knowing the whereabouts of those wanted should readily send word to those desiring to know, because people in the world have such peculiar ideas regarding our dear mountain home, and a letter from relatives sometimes goes a long way toward removing prejudice of long standing.

Trusting this will meet the approval of all interested in the cause of truth, I remain your brother in the Gospel,

GEORGE H. BUDD.

34 ALBERT STREET, Chesterfield, Derbyshire, England.

In the European Mission.

Midweek Star, April 8.

Arrived—The following named Elders from Zion arrived in Liverpool on April 5, 1897: For the British mission—L. C. Duncan, Salt Lake City and John W. Cook, Taylorsville. For the Scandinavian mission—Frederick Petersen, Murray. For the Swiss and German missions—George Cannon Jr., and S. W. Lawrence, Salt Lake City.

Released and Appointed—L. C. Duncan has been appointed to labor in the Cheltenham conference.

William Simmons has been released from laboring in the London conference and appointed to labor as a traveling Elder in the Norwich conference.

James Holley, who has been laboring as a traveling Elder in the Birmingham conference, has been released to return home April 17, 1897.

Registered Mail Matter.

Twenty-seven of the principal countries in the Postal Union hold themselves responsible for a limited amount of losses of registered mail matter, and on the 1st of July the United States postal department will hold itself responsible for the sum of $10 for registered mail, at which time the mail registration indemnity law, passed by the Fifty-fourth Congress and approved by President Cleveland, will be put into effect. Hitherto the United States government has merely taken extra precaution for the safe delivery of registered mail, but assuming none of the obligations growing out of its loss, except to trace it and, if stolen, fix the thief and prosecute the thief. The loser obtained no reparation, however, for his loss. The indemnity of $10 for lost registered matter will not bankrupt the national treasury. If the system had been in operation last year the government would have paid only $5,289 on this account. There were 450 investigated cases of actual loss to the public, and of the cases yet to be examined it is estimated that seventy-eight would have shown money losses, making the total 528.

There were carried last year more than 12,000,000 domestic and foreign-addressed registered letters and packages, and the number of complaints of lost articles was only 6,817. This includes loss of government mail, as well as that of the public. Of the 7,551 cases which were investigated during the year recovery was made in all but 1,589 cases. Of these 1,195 were losses by unavoidable causes, such as burning or wrecking of mail cars; 150 by theft of employes, 122 by carelessness of employes, 231 by depredations by outsiders and 190 the responsibility for which could not be fixed.

It is expected that the new system will increase the registered mail business greatly. The fees last year amounted to $975,298.88. While some people think that the new rule will injure the express companies' business that is, at best, a very remote possibility, for the companies pay up the entire loss where a loss has occurred, whereas the government limitation of the indemnity to the small sum of $10 only is still likely to throw the bulk of the remittances by letter into their hands. The insurance of a registered mail is entirely apart from that of indemnity for losses. Foreign governments, upon the payment of an additional fee, insure the sender against loss, thus adding to the payments of limited liability. The United States government has not introduced the insurance feature.
