GOVERNMENT FOR CUBA

President McKinley Issues Instructions Regarding Savings.

WILL PROTECT PEOPLE IN THEIR RIGHTS.

Some Embarrassment of a New Political Force to the Island—Attitude of the United States.

Washington, July 19.—A state paper has not to-day been issued by the President, but it is probable that it will soon be issued. It will be in the form of a proclamation, and in the main it will be a reiteration of the assurance of President McKinley that the government of the United States has no purpose of assuming the sovereignty of the island, but that it will be its purpose to secure a peaceful transfer of the sovereignty to the people of Cuba, and in the most broad and liberal sense to secure to the people of Cuba the benefits of a government of their own choosing, which will be in accordance with the principles of our own government, and in all the general terms which have been used in the past by the President and his Secretary of State in the discussion of the Cuban question.

The proclamation will be issued as soon as the Secretary of War, who is now in Paris, can return to Washington, which will be about the middle of next week. The President has been waiting for the return of Secretary Alger before issuing the proclamation, because of the fact that the Secretary of War has been so closely identified with the Cuban question since the beginning of the Cuban troubles, and because of the fact that the Secretary of War is the only member of the Cabinet who has been in Cuba since the beginning of the trouble, and who has had the opportunity to become familiar with the situation there. The Secretary of War will be the first man to see the President after his return to Washington, and it is probable that the President will then be able to give the proclamation to the public. It will be a document of some length, and will be in the nature of a review of the Cuban situation from the beginning of the trouble to the present time, and will be in the nature of a reiteration of the assurances which have been given from time to time by the President and his Secretary of State in the past, that the United States has no purpose of taking possession of the island for itself, but that its purpose is to secure a peaceful transfer of the sovereignty to the people of Cuba, and to see that the government established by the people of Cuba is one which will be in accordance with the principles of our own government, and will be such as will insure the maintenance of peace and good order in the island, and will be such as will be in accordance with the wishes of the people of the United States.

There is no question but that the President has been embarrassed in the matter of the preparation of the proclamation by the fact that a new political factor has come into the Cuban situation since the President last spoke on the subject, in the shape of the Cuban Assembly, which has been in session for some days past at Jaruco, and which has been discussing the question of the form of government to be established in Cuba when the island shall be free from the control of Spain. The action of the Cuban Assembly in the matter of the adoption of a form of government for the island has been such as to cause the President and his advisers to think that it will be necessary for them to take into consideration the action of the Cuban Assembly in the matter of the preparation of the proclamation, and to make some reference to it in the proclamation. It is not known what the action of the President will be in the matter, but it is believed that he will be disposed to treat the Cuban Assembly with the courtesy due to a body representing a portion of the people of the island, and will be disposed to make such reference to its action in the matter as will show that the government of the United States is not disposed to treat the people of Cuba as a people who are not capable of self-government, and who have not given evidence of their capacity for self-government by the establishment of a government of their own, in which the principles of our own government have been the chief models followed in the work of framing the new government.

The President is said to be very much pleased with the action of the Cuban Assembly in the matter of the adoption of a form of government for the island, and it is believed that he will be disposed to make such reference to the action of the Assembly in the matter of the proclamation as will show that the government of the United States is not disposed to treat the people of Cuba as a people who are not capable of self-government, and who have not given evidence of their capacity for self-government by the establishment of a government of their own, in which the principles of our own government have been the chief models followed in the work of framing the new government.
