MINES AND MINING.

The Exchange Will Open Its Doors on Saturday Morning.

NEW QUARTERS NEARLY READY.

[illegible]

The Salt Lake Stock and Mining Exchange will open its doors to the brokers and mining men, at 33 Commercial street, on Saturday morning next at 11:30 a.m. At that time the call of stocks will commence with President Atts in the chair and W. F. Vigus, the newly elected secretary and caller, wielding the hammer in the latter capacity.

A peep into the new quarters today revealed the fact that things were being put in shape for the first day's proceedings under the new regime. The seats for spectators, officers and representatives of the press are in their places and the official rostrum has been carpeted and made comfortable. While the room is not so large as that last vacated by the exchange, it is commodious enough to accommodate all who will take any part or show interest in the proceedings. Then again, the rent of the apartments is more in harmony with the finances of the exchange. The walls are rather dirty at present, but Secretary Vigus informed the News man that he intended having them calcimined in the near future. When that is done the place will look bright and cheerful and it will doubtless have a good effect on the brokers.

During the month that the doors of the exchange have been closed, very little business has been transacted in the local mining stock market. This is not wholly because of there having been no established market quotations, but is due principally to the fact that there has been no desire on the part of mining men to speculate either way in that direction. Some of the brokers, however, think that this lull in business will be broken upon the revival of work on the exchange, while others are inclined to the opinion that no deals or transactions of any particular magnitude will take place until after the presidential election.

However this may be the fact remains that some little degree of interest at least will be awakened by the operations of the brokers on 'change. The establishing of daily market quotations will be an incentive to mining men to either buy or sell certain stocks in which they are particularly interested. It will show substantially the operations at the mines by making the public acquainted with whether or not the stocks are increasing or materially [illegible] in value, and will, therefore, bring on transactions, however small they may be, and cause a certain degree of activity, which does and has not existed during the period of rest and recreation which the brokers have been indulging in. This amount of good will certainly arise from the operations on 'change, and some of the local stock brokers are eagerly waiting for Saturday to come, that they might be able to once more get into the pit and make known their "bids" and "asks."

THE SEVIER MINE.

Charles Lammersdorf Has Assumed Independent Management of It—The Deseret District.

For several years Charles Lammersdorf has been president, treasurer and manager of the Sevier Mining company, says the [illegible] Advocate. The whole corporation has been merged into a single head and that head is fully capable of transacting the corporation's business. But last year a deal with an English-American syndicate threatened to snatch control from the erstwhile ruler and it was not until the latter part of last week that Mr. Lammersdorf again assumed independent management.

It will be remembered that the syndicate bargained for 125,155 shares of Sevier stock and that when the third(?) last payment fell due there had been paid only $41,[illegible] which at [illegible] a share secured but 68,[illegible] shares. It will also be remembered that Charlie pocketed the $41,[illegible] and was given the power to hold and vote the 68,[illegible] shares in [illegible]. Including this trust stock he [illegible] the controlling interest in the Sevier [illegible] had [illegible] 70,[illegible] shares as personal property and [illegible] an aggregate of 138,[illegible] out of a total of 250,000 shares in the mine. But President Lammersdorf, not satisfied with the trust might, decided to acquire an independent rule of the big property and this he accomplished last Friday. First he bought of W. F. Snyder, of [illegible], a block of 12,[illegible] shares, making his individual interest 82,[illegible] shares. That still fell short of the 125,[illegible] shares necessary to control and to make up the deficiency the president entered into a pool with A. E. Hyde, A. F. [illegible], and E. P. McKinney whose combined interests amounted to [illegible] shares which added to his own stock makes a sum total of 1,[illegible] shares more than enough to control the Sevier. President, manager and treasurer Lammersdorf now again holds full sway and is happy. A five mill assessment will at once be levied upon the stock to liquidate the indebtedness due also.

E. D. Darger of the Deseret Mining and Milling company is in Salt Lake buying reduction machinery for a new mill to be planted at the forks of Deer Creek only a mile from the Silver King mine. The Deseret district now appears to be in a flourishing condition. The [illegible] feet of tunneling already done show up good ore ranging all through from $[illegible] to $12. The company is now constructing a tank capable of washing fifty tons a day. In the Silver King has been struck a fissure vein eighteen to twenty feet in dimensions, whose average ore value is about $10 and whose body shows free gold in places.

For Assault and Battery.

John Coleman, a prominent figure in police circles, was before Justice [illegible] this afternoon charged with assault and battery. The complaining witness was Sing Hing, a Chinese gardener who alleged that when peddling his vegetables this morning, and when in the vicinity of Fifth West and North Temple streets, he was interfered with by four or five men, one of whom stole some of his vegetables, and when asked to pay for them, the defendant struck him a blow on the chin, which felled him to the ground.

The case was in progress at press time, and two witnesses, John Tompkins, a storekeeper, and Elmer Lawrence, a lad of about 12 years, testified to having seen Coleman strike the Chinaman and hit him with such force as to bruise his face and cause the blood to flow very profusely.

A Grandpapa.

Olof A. T. Fossell was all smiles today and well he might be, for he had just received a telegram from his son, Dr. John W. Fossell of Astoria, N. Y., informing him of a circumstance which made him a grandfather in the birth to his son's wife of a bouncing boy baby. Hence the old man is fully to pleased and contented with the appellation of "Grandpa."

STATE NEWS.

Randolph Reflector: Rich county will have a large surplus of grain and hay this year, and it becomes a question among our ranchers of, what shall we do with it? The prices prevailing for grain hardly pays for raising it, and we believe it would be by far the best solution of the difficulty to store the grain until it is in demand at a better price than at present. Some of our people are unable to do this, as they depend solely on the crop of the present for their livelihood; to them we say: Store what you can, and try to make the quantity more each succeeding year. By doing this you will have some on hand when better prices prevail, although in the meantime you might have to deny yourselves something which you desire. Regarding the hay; why not endeavor to get stock in to winter? Our climate is the finest in the intermountain region for wintering cattle, they always do well and come out in the spring looking as if they had been stall-fed. O. Jacobson tells us the other day that during the winter of 1894 and 1895 he brought five hundred head of cattle into Rich county and wintered them, and, what was more to the point, at a big profit to himself. A complete study of this question before they dispose of their hay and crops will be no loss of time to our farmers and ranchers.

OBITUARY.

ELIZABETH ANN WADE.

Died at the family residence in [illegible] addition, Salt Lake City, July 22, 1896, of heart failure, Elizabeth Ann Wade, wife of Joseph C. Wade, the painter, formerly of the Sixteenth ward. Deceased was born in Devonport, Devonshire, England, on the first day of June, 18[illegible]; she was baptized into the Church in 18[illegible], emigrated to Utah in the fall of 18[illegible]. The many Elders who traveled in the Lands' End district of the Bristol conference will remember her many acts of kindness. She was always ready to bear her testimony to the truth of the everlasting Gospel. She was a loving wife and devoted mother. She died as she had lived, a faithful Latter-day Saint. She leaves a husband, six children and many friends to mourn her loss. The youngest child was [illegible] days old at the time of its mother's death.—[Com.

CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in the treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—MRS. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.
