WHAT MAY HAPPEN.

Alarming News of the Czar's Health Affect the Bourse.

ALEXANDER WANTS ONLY PEACE

But Spectators Think He Sometimes May Do Something to Precipitate War.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—European courts are affected by the news of the czar's health, as he is recognized as one of the strongest supporters of peace, and it is feared that in the event of his death, his successor would seize the opportunity to secure naval ports on the Pacific and enlarge the boundaries in the direction of Hamite at the expense of China, either of which steps, it is believed, would easily precipitate a war.

On the other hand, a dispatch from St. Petersburg today denies that Russian troops have gone to Corea or that Russia has any intention of doing anything calculated to disturb the peace of Europe.

DIVORCED AND RE-MARRIED.

The Case of Dr. Heuter and His Wife Comes Announcement.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 25.—Announcement is made in this city on account of much interest manifested in the Heuter-Boldwell case, interest in which was only revived by the divorce of Mrs. Boldwell from her husband, Dr. Heuter.

They have been re-married by Superior Judge Pierce.

The divorce was granted on the grounds of cruelty and failure to provide. In opposition to Heuter's wishes, Mrs. Heuter was allowed to resume her former name. Heuter, a few days ago, had intimated that if the case was prosecuted he would charge his wife with the murder of her former husband, Amos J. Boldwell, the mysterious victim of poison at Kansas City, Mo., whose taking off early in the winter of 1891 was never satisfactorily explained. Exodus of Gamblers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—The exodus of gamblers has begun. Under the impression that the closing of gambling houses, even if only temporary, will be permanent enough to make it a long, hard season, a great many of the dealers and other attaches of the late gambling houses have left town and others are getting ready to leave. There was fewer of them along Clark street than there has been for a long time before. The estimate of the war was a close one in street betting, until the betting was suspended on account of an overcoat. And it is truth to say that some of the sports lost their jobs before they got their season's wages. It is even said that some of them have lost all opportunity to get an overcoat since they find their jobs again.

EZETA HAD TO GO.

There was Danger of More Charges Being Brought Against Him.

MEXICO MORE CONGENIAL TO HIM

And He is Said to Return to Salvador, but at the Head of an Efficient Army.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 25.—The interest of President Diaz, of Mexico, in the Ezeta, has been felt in Mexico's desire for the formation of a general republic of Central American countries, believing that it would end the revolutions which injure commerce and retard progress. Ezeta, therefore, has set out from the Mexican government assistance in regard to his plans in this direction, and Consul Hidalgo, who visited San Salvador, is the author.

Most of the old soldiers will return to his standard and he is confident that he can overthrow his successor. Hidalgo thinks Ezeta Salvador is always welcome and the people fight for Ezeta when they get a chance. But the government is prepared for Ezeta when he enters San Salvador he will be at the head of troops enough to get his way, so he claims.

"Yes, I believe Diaz, of Mexico, will support Ezeta as far as he can consistently," said Hidalgo, the Mexican consul, "I know that all the money he can favor, the people of Mexico are ready to contribute. He thinks Ezeta's cause is a good one, and they believe in the success of Ezeta.

"If the general succeeds in this can pay—which he proposes to carry on vigorously immediately after his arrival in Mexico—the result will probably be in favor of Ezeta, and he will be more favorable to all the people. A Mexican State. This can be done under consideration for a long time and all the government except Guatemala are favorable to it.

"Of Guatemala Guatemala stands in the way considerably as this is a small state, and Guatemala is a large and without any reason. Ezeta, however, is confident that even Guatemala will see the advantage of the plan and that the result will be the formation of a strong and progressive republic, in which the people will be the people of the United States of Central America.

Attorney Charles F. Page, concerning Ezeta's future departure for Mexico, said:

"The Federal General Ezeta is safe at home, principally because of the danger of other charges being brought against him. At first he was in great fear of his life, and he was so fearful of being arrested in San Francisco and wanted to stay here longer.

"Judge Morrow has fell that he must order registration of cases of death, as in the Cleveland case, it being taken from another county. At the same time, he did not seem to be careful in case which had occurred here, it would from the nature of its implications, have been different. As a matter of fact, he had brought Ezeta, it will be remembered. Well, very good for Ezeta, just such evidence. It is hard to find the office so here say 'slay,' and they say quick enough, if they did not they would be sent.

"The danger was that they would, getting the one from the Chamberlain case, go back beside the revolution and bump my case against Ezeta. He was for some time afraid to bring Ezeta back for fear he would be bumped. They didn't care to take Ezeta back temporarily, in view of the danger, we had to bond that he get out and over into Mexico. Or, yes, I authorize he may process to overcome things, but whether Mexico is going to help him I cannot say. He is very attractive man and you can not keep him quiet."

Democrats of Democracy assembled to their annual and successful game of political theft, renewed this year with extraordinary vigor. Democrats of Democracy, attention! Democrats of Democracy, attention! If you have since made nothing victory, each battle is lessed was bravely is actually announced, but so long as the people think that there has not been a campaign in this state during the last twelve years, when they did not assume in Algeld and Governor Flower, and Governor Hill, in their during that whole period, with a single exception, we have not presented our cause on our first Democrat in November each year. We have our success on election days and not by customary reverence in the canvass in ballot.

"The unexpected change of our opponents last fall has turned their hence and received from straight and opinionated. They had to hold the ballot that last year, point was nearly higher short of a full vote of the state. The victory, which they deserve, we did not get, and the state and some under the next day after the election unanimously assumed to divine providence and not to Democratic strength. With united money and money Vote New York is still a Democratic state and, if we are true to ourselves, will true year resume her place in the Democratic column. Our opponents, by vigorous beating, of bigger politicians sometimes and bolstered up with plurality and majority, and the Democrats, seek to divert public attention from the unfavorable to a party, assuming this record, the present national of the Federal government. The people, however, have not forgotten that it was a Democratic administration which in 1893 and 1894 ruined, the country, with the aid of the new Democratic Nationals which, because adjusted the tariff, entangled in the Economic and Monetary on the issue of the.

The convention adjourned at 3:30 p. m. to one o'clock of noon.

A COLORADO COLONY.

Interesting Letter from a Resident of Manco.

MANCOS, Colo., Sept. 18, 1894.

Editor Deseret News.

As we are seldom heard from, I thought perhaps at this time or two from the remote part of the vineyard might prove a capable end of interest to some of your readers.

Brother Wm. Hyde, a farmer resident of Salt Lake, died here on the 13th inst. Bright's disease, heart and stomach troubles were the cause of his death, he lacked about two weeks of being sixty-two years old. His funeral was held on the 16th inst. and was largely attended by the neighbors, temporarily or transitory. Kindness manifested toward Brother Hyde and his family by our mobile friends during his illness of nearly four months, was very marked indeed, and was an evidence of the deep regard he had made while living here. As was truly remarked by one of the speakers at the funeral, "a larger hearted man than Brother Hyde never lived." He will doubtless be remembered by a great many of the old-timers in Salt Lake, as he was first superintendent for a number of years, and also city jailer.

On the 8th inst. we had a very pleasant gathering at the home of Brother Lewis Barney, son of the Utah Pioneers, on the occasion of his wedding, given in the form of a surprising "Pioneer Reunion." Twenty participated in the feast, and
