at once will be taken by the various towns of western Oklahoma to have the work pressed.

This morning a telegram was received from Secretary Noble stating that the allotting agents had been ordered to proceed with the work. Only a few days will elapse after the work is completed before the lands can be thrown open to homestead settlement. Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservations are four times larger than the lands recently opened, and the rush for them is expected to surpass anything yet witnessed.

THE HORE OF CLEVELAND.

Many Curious Visitors Come to See the New-born Baby.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The home of Grover Cleveland was there at by many curious eyes today. The soft Indian summer air brought thousands to Central Park, which is only a block from the Cleveland home. Hundreds ensconced from the park through sixty-ninth street to view the house where General Grant was so long sick before going to the mountains to die, and where his widow now lives. Turning into Madison avenue the multitude strolled up the avenue to look at the house where, according to the morning papers, a new-born baby was. Opposite the house, across the street, all through the afternoon, were loitering curious people, who stopped in little knots and groups to look at the house. The open windows let in the soft air, which gently lifted the curtains behind them. There were many messages of congratulation during the day, but the footer and messenger boys chiefly made up the callers. Word came out from the house that the little one and her mother were in a satisfactory condition. The little one's grandmother (Mrs. Cleveland's mother) left the house for a brief while this afternoon. The most definite description of the child is to the effect that the baby has light hazel eyes, and there are indications that she will be a brunette. There is no doubt whatever that she will have a dimple if all the statements of those who have seen her are to be believed, because they all agree that she will be a beauty, not as great a beauty as her mother, possibly, but still a beauty. The baby's outfit of wearing apparel is said to be a dream of tasteful elegance and mimmery skill. Mine will have no use for the pretty things of silk and satin and velvet for some time to come, but when she does make her appearance in public she is likely to take the shine off most of the "babies on the block."

A Woman Suicides.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—People strolling through Jefferson park this afternoon noticed a handsome-looking woman, dressed in black, hurrying along the walks. When she reached the centre of the park she drew a revolver and shot herself in the left breast, dying instantly. The suicide is identified as Mrs. Julia P. Survey, a remarkable English widow residing in this city. She owned property valued at $20,000. Her mind is supposed to have been affected by ill health and family troubles.

A Threshing Machine Accident.

LYKA, O., Oct. 4.—While Frank Goss and Rosamyr Rink were driving a heavy threshing machine over a township bridge near here today, the structure gave way, precipitating the men and machine into the stream. The men were instantly killed by the heavy machine falling on them.

A Literary Association.

BERNE, Oct. 4.—The annual congress of the International Literary and Artistic Association, which has been in session at Neufchatel for some time past, has formally closed.

Mrs. Frank Leslie Married.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Frank Leslie was married today by William C. Kingsbury Wilde, M. A., of London.

Crushed to a Pulp.

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 4.—Bertha Klein, 6 years of age, last night in attempting to get on an elevator, missed her footing and was caught between the elevator and the wall or shaft. She was crushed to a pulp and died instantly.

A Meeting of Workingmen at Hyde Park.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—At a meeting of workingmen at Hyde Park today the Liberal Federation was denounced for supposing free speech, neglecting the workingmen and giving precedence to Ireland. Resolutions were adopted declaring that the Liberal party is unworthy of confidence, and that labor leagues should be formed in order to secure labor representatives in Parliament. The meeting was attended by many thousand workingmen.

Commodore Melville.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The four-year-term of Commodore Melville, Engineer-in-Chief of the United States Navy, expires next January. In recognition of the work performed by the Bureau of Steam Engineering under his direction, Secretary Tracy has signified his intention of reappointing Commodore Melville.

Canning Works Destroyed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—This morning a fire broke out in the canning works of the Van Camp Packing Company. In three hours the works were completely destroyed. The season has been a busy one and the establishment was packed with canned goods. The total loss is $200,000, on which there is $149,500 insurance. Four firemen were caught by a falling wall and badly bruised, but not seriously hurt. Fourteen Hungarians were overcome by the heat and will probably die.

The Victim of Burglars.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—A special from Grand Forks, N. D., says: Robert A. Weeks, a prominent Canadian, 55 years old and a justice of the peace, was shot and killed this morning by unknown parties. It is supposed that he was mistaken for a nightwatchman by burglars, who had robbed a saloon.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 4.—The "Gulls" sailed for Valparaiso this afternoon. It has been exactly three months since she was brought to this city by the cruiser "Charleston." She takes thirty passengers to Chile.

VIENNA, Oct. 4.—The Hungarian Diet has unanimously adopted a resolution expressing its great indignation at the attempt recently made on the life of Emperor Francis Joseph, and assuring him of their deepest gratitude for his escape from death.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—At an early hour this Monday morning a fire is raging fiercely in Mary Bryan's wheat Wesley street. Twenty engines have gone to the scene of the fire. The damage will probably be heavy.

ROME, Oct. 4.—Three of the French filibuster, arrested for selling on Friday, have been conducted to the frontier. Loyal demonstrations were held in most of the large towns of Italy today.

TRIESTE, Oct. 4.—The exhibition of the holy coat closed today. Bishop Morosin conducted an elaborate service and pronounced the benediction. The total number of pilgrims who viewed the coat is 1,800,000. The relic is now sentimed.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Gladstone has written to Mr. Scott of Manchester, in support of the latter's candidacy for member of Parliament. Gladstone says that his good wishes do not imply animosity to Mr. Scott's antagonist, Sir James Ferguson, but to the government's policy, which belies its honorable aim.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone will pass the winter in Florence.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—The Times-Democrat's Corpus Christi, Tex., special says the body of Harry Hamlin was recovered in the bay this morning. The father and three children were buried this afternoon.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—The remains of General La Salle, which were recently delivered by Vienna by a deputation of French officers, were placed in a silver coffin, with much solemnity, have been transferred to this city and deposited in the Hotel des Invalides. The placing of General La Salle's body in this famous place was the occasion of great pomp and ceremony.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 4.—The Mouvement publishes an interview with M. Rochefort saying that he thought that the death of Boulanger would rather improve the prospects of the revolutionists, who are forming a great opposition party. They could no longer be accused of aiming at the Dictatorship. He believed the death of Boulanger would lead to a reconstruction of the Cabinet.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Mysterious pens attached to wires have been made to a certain high personage who had intimate relations with the Gaiety actress Lydia Miller who recently committed suicide. These attachments are understood to refer to Prince Albert Victor. The coroner held a private inquest on the case and refused to allow any one to have access to the depositions.

Incorporation Articles.

Strong's Canyon Water Company filed articles of incorporation with Secretary Sells on Saturday. The company consists of C. Westbrooke, J. L. Johnson, David Kay, S. J. Howell, John H. Boyle, G. P. Sanger and J. J. Sullivan. The capital stock is $75,000. They will purchase and sell water, construct irrigation ditches and do a general water business.

The articles of incorporation of the Cache Valley Canal Company and the Grand Canyon, Colorado, Improvement Company were also filed with the secretary.

RECEIVER LAWRENCE'S REPORT

Presented to the Judges of the Territorial Supreme Court.

The report of Receiver Lawrence of his receipts and disbursements since his appointment on July 10, 1889, to September 15, 1890, was approved by the judges of the supreme court on Saturday afternoon. The report shows that he received from F. H. Dyer, $250,773.41 and his receipts since that time, the rent of the Gentile House, Historian's Office, tithing grounds, Church farm, sale of wool, interest and more other sources swelled this total to $305,159.86, while the total disbursements amounted to $19,603.12. The report shows that the Receiver had the following property in his possession:

Gentile House, rented to J. H. Winder at $250 per month.

Historian's Office, rented to J. H. Winder at $250 per month.

Church farm, rented to F. A. Mitchell at $300 per month.

The tithing grounds and an interest in coal lands, 500 shares of gas stock, 4732 shares of Deseret Telegraph stock and certain office furniture.

The Receiver also reported that there was pending in the Third District court an action against James Kelsing and twenty others, to recover a course of the court in an action brought by F. H. Dyer against these defendants for recovery possession of a lot 5x5 rods in block 75, plat A; also a suit in the First District court at Ogden, in which the Receiver was plaintiff and H. B. Stewart, Robert McQueary and R. J. Taylorel al. were defendants. This suit was brought to recover possession of the Tithing house property, the Tabernacle property and the Stanford property.

A Wedding and a Honeymoon.

Bert Beasley Wanless was married by D. L. P. Herman and Miss Adaline Crafton at the Leland when the groom announced:

"Swap the deal!"

"What's the matter?" asked the preacher.

"We will have to postpone this for a while—I make that lost dime that she is wearing. If she won't be mad and let me steal it I will disturb the peace."

The minister was let out of the room by the committee physician, and the bride consented to let the groom see enough of a knock was heard on the door, and the man entered. The dancer wanted to go on just where the minister left off, but the bride objected. Then the credits were produced and the ceremony was performed again.

Never the last meal was spoken the fee he offered to match the minister to determine whether he should give him fifty dollars or nothing. This fee was fifty dollars and he got it.

Soon after the ceremony the newly married man rushed down stairs and asked for the register. Seeing the name of Miss Crafton on the book he grabbed a pen and wrote down the name of his intended his own name, and asking for a new pen wrote, "Dr. Herman and his wife."

"Don't forget" he asked of Clerk Squires.

"Certainly."

"Come call a cab. We will now take our honeymoon."

Dr. Herman rode about his blocks and announced to his friend that the school had dismissed his meeting here and that made him angry. Ten a number of reporters was called in, asked:

"Yes want to see the bride?"

"Certainly."

"Well, stand in the hall and throw a kiss. I've been married before."

The dancer was very kind though. He introduced the reporters.—Chicago Herald.

A New Motor Engine.

A new method of working motor engines with hot gases and steam is now creating no little interest in English circles. According to this plan the interior of the steam with the hot gases, to form a charge for doing duty in the working cylinder of the engine, is made as follows:

First, the cylinder being supplied a charge of air prior to the working cylinder and then afterward open to an exhaust, the air is passed through a pipe to clean and dry it, and while the chamber is still full of air, dry gases it is raised, steam of a suitable pressure is now admitted, stirring there with the hot gases, and a certain proportion of water is in the cylinder. This mixture, being at a high pressure, expands in the cylinder, which, after the former has done duty in effecting a stroke of the piston, is opened to the exhaust, and the spent mixture allowed to escape.

For a single acting engine, the mixing chamber is said to suffice, while a double acting engine requires at least two, in each of which the process takes place, but the number of chambers to supply alternating fuel to one end of the cylinder, or of each cylinder, must be separate from those that supply the other end, in order to be able to carry on the process of cleaning out, drying, filling with hot gases, admitting steam, etc.—New York Sun.

A Point for Subscribers.

A few days since there was published the particulars of a case on the Little Miami railroad wherein Mr. Walters desired to pay his fare, having neglected to procure his commutation ticket within his inside pocket for the convenient reference of the conductor. The train was held for quite fifteen minutes for him to get off. He did not get off and the train men did not put him off. It is understood that the conductor has since been discharged, but that is not all of it. The commuters out along the line have been talking about it ever since, and not long after the occurrence two Cheap Deadwood citizens became so excited in reviewing it that they came to blows and had to be drawn apart by mutual friends.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Sunday Stamps.

The question of Sunday rest for public officials has lately been to the front in the Washington City. It has induced the postoffice of the republic to test public feeling in a somewhat original way. Special "Sunday stamps" are being printed, which will be for sale at every postoffice. Any letters posted on Sunday with these new stamps affixed will not be delivered on Sunday, but held over till Monday. All those furnished with the ordinary postage stamp will be delivered on Sunday. The number of "Sunday stamps" will decide the future action of the postoffice department.—London Tit-Bits.

A Rubber Table Fixed.

The table rubber fend is at work on the restaurant of National Beerhouse to such an extent that a big force will be placed about it to keep intruders away. The magnificent rubbishes has been cropped continually until now there is scarcely any of it left. A stranger went to the grove last week, and with a heavy stand broke off a large bit of the stump. He brought it to Salt Lake, sold it and sold the chips at fabulous prices.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Playing With Fire.

It seems there is some resident of the recent attack on Fisher's Island not there on the hill. It had been arranged that the invading force should be due enough explain the island, and directions had been given accordingly, but no one has thought to mention the fact to the good fellows who lie it over the pointers where the struggle occurred. When he saw that there was danger of losing the island he ordered the fire to be left unlighted and charged upon the insulators, routing the hospital corps and threatening to burn out the whole array.—Hartford Courant.

A new near Thompson, Ga., that got her tail caught between a rope, made frantic efforts to jump around the track until she wound up like a top. She then became frightened, and giving a large pulled the tail out by the roots. Afterward the tail was found as described by the animal's owner.

A Cincinnati lad, footing comfortable quarters, utterly regardless of expense, indulged in not out of $100 worth of groceries which it found in a drawer. The owner of the premises has confiscated the suit, and shows it to her visitors.

A Cargo of Servants.

For two years agents of Mr. William Cross, the metropolis of Earls street, Liverpool, have been engaged in India in the collection of servants, the result being that a cargo of native lass has arrived in Liverpool. After traversing the jungle districts, the collectors succeeded in capturing or persuading from the huts a few joined in the land about the jungles, some of these journeys lasted for length being closed. About fifty died on the journey through the country or failed to survive the passage home, while for the purpose of transit they were placed in bags difficult to see through which, of course, holes were bored for ventilation and feeding.

The surviving captives to the number of about 250 were unpacked at Mr. Cross' premises, Earls street, but so cramped were they on emerging from their long confinement that they gave considerable trouble. Some of the servants, in endeavoring to escape from, or they would themselves with remarkable alacrity around pots, stair banisters, and the legs and arches of those who happened to be in the way, sustained bites, which, happily, have not proved serious. Some of the servants also took to swallowing the smaller fry.

To place some of the large fellows in the cases required for them required the united strength of three men, and Mr. Cross himself had to sit on one to be delivered from the coils of the creature. The serpents have not succumbed to the big snake, of which there is already a small collection. As soon a number of cases have had been sent before in the country, and the demand for them from zoological societies, snake charmers and others appears to be larger than would be readily imagined.—St. James' Gazette.

That reverend old gentleman, Dr. Watts, who wrote the hymns, said some thing that is better than simple say of his hymns. It was this: "If you would convince a person of his mistakes, second him and agree that subject when his spirit is ruffled."
