CALLED SPECIAL SESSION.

City Fathers Hustled to a Meeting This Evening.

Purpose to Confirm a Chairman of Board of Public Works—Too Appointees.

The city fathers are called together on short notice for a meeting this (Thursday) evening. The call is out of the usual order, not being made by the Mayor, but is in accord with the provision of law. It is made by the president and one other member—Councilmen Newell and Romney. The purpose of the meeting is understood to be the confirmation of the Mayor's appointee for chairman of the board of public works. The appointment has not been made, but it is understood it will be ready on the Council's action.

As to the appointee of the extra session, it is likely that a resolution will be introduced and passed that the members serve on this occasion without pay.

Several citizens have been named as likely to get the appointment, but it now appears that Mr. D. C. Culbath's name will be sent in by the Mayor.

This appointment was promised for Tuesday night but did not come in. The failure of the Mayor to communicate the nomination to the City Council was noted, and Mr. Ginsburg's attention called to it. The omission was not intentional, but it did not get to the Council. In fact, up to the afternoon it had not reached the recorder's office, but the understanding is that there will be no delay, and that Mr. Culbath will be named and will accept the position.

The office of chairman of the board of public works is by no means a lucrative one in point of salary, which is $50 per month. At the same time there is not much police work going on, and about an hour a day will cover the service required, so that the Council does not consider a salary for the full hour too small compensation even for a thoroughly capable man, under existing circumstances.

The Mayor's job is understood, has been standing out for a raise of the salary to $1,000 a year, and to this is attributed the withholding of the nomination of a successor to Mr. Dawson. The hurried action of calling the Council together this evening to make the confirmation of that successor would indicate that a settlement between the Mayor and the Council had been reached, and that the salary will raise up where it was.

About the Denver Trip.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 20th, 1896.

To the Editor:

Being much interested in the proposed trip of the Tabernacle choir to the Denver Eisteddfod and of the difficulties now being encountered by that organization in getting a sufficient number of male voices to complete the strength of the choir, I would suggest, as an outside suggestion, that inasmuch as it has been decided to invite tenors and basses outside of the choir in order to complete the music for this occasion, it would be very tempting if Prof. Stephens were to give this matter his personal attention instead of leaving it to the other members to hustle up singers. Pro. Stephens being so well known and respected would accomplish more good in an hour than the whole of the choir would do in a month among the outside musicians, and I have no hesitation in stating that the requisite number could be obtained. Singers, as a rule, are most delicate and sensitive people to handle, and no one knows this better than Prof. Stephens. All the persuading imaginable from one of the rank and file would be ineffectual, whereas were the professor to give a little personal attention to this it would be so much more appreciated and the result would be gratifying. LEHI OLD FOLKS.

How They Celebrated at the Murdock Lake Resort.

Special Correspondence of the NEWS.

LEHI, Aug. 19.—Today was old Folks' day at Lehi. The committee consisting of Wm. Southwick, L. Hansen, G. Glover, J. Broadbent and A. Davis with aids proceeded to the Murdock Lake resort on the borders of our beautiful Utah lake, and with young lady waiters and cooks, prepared an excellent repast for all the old folks of our city of every religious creed. At noon 165 persons sat down to a large table in the pavilion and when all was ready Counselor A. H. Anderson called a meeting upon which had been expressly. This consisted of a merry jingle of knives and forks. Then came about a hundred more to partake of a good repast while the six folks' choir and Lehi Kolkem string band discoursed sweet music. After the part of the programme was finished, then all were invited into the pavilion, and the following programme was rendered:

1. Singing, Oh my Father.....Choir
2. Prayer.....Patriarch Wm. Cary

Wm. Thomas received an order on the Peoples' Store, for a pair of shoes for being the oldest man—89 years; J. J. Smith a hat for being in the Church the longest time—54 years; Mary Jacobs for having the largest family of boys—10—pair of hose; Ann Evans a trunk, having the largest family of girls—9. A. T. Anderson, the oldest lady present, received a brooch; I. W. Fox had raised the largest family—15—and got a pair of shoes.

Mr. James Mann challenged any one on the ground to a race for a $5 dollar bonnet; no one took the offer so the bonnet was awarded her. Jane James won a dress pattern; M. A. Slater, a pair of spectacles; J. Smith, a silver dollar; M. Anderson, silver ball dollar; and Eliza Hansen, pair of hose and twenty-five cents.

A heavy thunder and rain storm passed over our city just after the old folks got home.

Today Moses Anderson took a large amount of hoopponed out of one of his home chicken.

One hundred and thirty-four tickets were sold at the D. R. G. railroad station for the Best Growers' excursion to Beitski.

Sales Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has expired public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than accorded to any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it possesses greater merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its unparalleled medicine, is why the people have strong confidence in it, and say

THE NEW ARCTIC RECORD.

Took Four Centuries to Get Four Degrees Closer to the Pole.

Nansen's Remarkable Speed of Three Degrees Near—Something the Pole a Matter of a Short Time.

Dr. Nansen could not have chosen a more favorable time for his disappearance, says the Springfield, Mass., Republican. He must have seen some fine weather while he was gone, and his tales of ice-packs, floes and bergs will amuse the envy of those who have said work to get low enough to cool their drinking water. He was exposed to almost every danger except that of starvation, and between dying of sunstroke and freezing to death there is perhaps not much to choose. When Dr. Nansen vanished into the fastness of the pack of the Kara sea, in 1893, few really expected to see him again. The most sanguine of all were the Arctic experts, for he could only violate all the rules of polar exploration. The rule is to keep your ship out of the ice and crawl gingerly along the edge of the open water till the ice comes, and then to get home by boat—if you can. Dr. Nansen, on the contrary, took the boldest possible course. Jammed his ship into the ice, he let it at the mercy of the ice drift to carry him out, when and where it pleased, or not at all. His confident expression, however, was that the current would carry him very close to the long sought goal.

In 1895 Dr. Nansen was disappointed, yet if the reports of his work are correct, the results achieved are magnificent, and the record for the furthest north has been taken from Italy and given back to the old world. To appreciate what a gain of even a few minutes means, let us talk in the records made during the past 400 years, as compiled by Geo. Upton, and with Dr. Nansen's added. First, in the centuries remembered:

1596	Wm. Barents	lat. 79 deg. 58 m.
1607	Henry Hudson	" 80 deg. 23 m.
1773	Capt. Phipps	" 80 deg. 48 m.
1806	Capt. Buchan	" 81 deg. 40 m.
1827	Capt. Lyon	" 82 deg. 45 m.
1869	Capt. Tyson	" 82 deg. 11 m.
1871	Capt. Hall	" 82 deg. 16 m.
1872	Capt. Beaumont	" 82 deg. 42 m.
1875	Capt. Nares	" 83 deg. 20 m.
1876	Lieut. Beaumont and Giles	lat. 83 deg. 24 m.
1876	Capt. Stephen and Payer	" 83 deg. 27 m.
1882	Lieut. Lockwood	" 83 deg. 24 m.

The highest previous latitude, it will be observed, is that of Parry, made by boat. The Swedes Nordenskiold and Ekholm came within one and one-half degrees of the north pole in sledges, both of these efforts being in Spitzbergen sea. The latitude reached by the Weyprecht and Payer expedition is ten times more by land, and was made by Payer in Franz Josef land. The western hemisphere has never seen latitude more favorable. Here are the records:

1817	John Ross	lat. 70 deg. 06 m.
1827	Henry Parry	" 74 deg. 15 m.
1850	Capt. Penny	" 77 deg. 32 m.
1853	E. K. Kane	" 78 deg. 41 m.
1854	E. K. Kane	" 79 deg. 23 m.
1869	C. F. Hall	" 81 deg. 5 m.
1876	Lieut. Beaumont	" 81 deg. 30 m.
1876	A. H. Nares	" 83 deg. 20 m.
1882	Lieut. Greely	" 83 deg. 24 m.

The record of Lieut. Greely's party, which unlike his two unsuccessful, was made in New Land, north of Greenland, by Lockwood and Brainard, was made in 1882, the year of Greely's last, and the second on the Proteus. The set and west coasts of Greenland are both and their full share of exploration.

When this table is examined carefully, it will be seen that Dr. Nansen's record is not the only one recent, both of these efforts being in Spitzbergen sea. The latitude reached by the Weyprecht and Payer expedition is ten times more by land, and was made by Payer in Franz Josef land. The western hemisphere has never seen latitude more favorable. Here are the records:

1817	John Ross	latitude 70 deg. 06 m.
1827	Henry Parry	" 74 deg. 15 m.
1850	Capt. Penny	" 77 deg. 32 m.
1853	E. K. Kane	" 78 deg. 41 m.
1854	E. K. Kane	" 79 deg. 23 m.
1869	C. F. Hall	" 81 deg. 5 m.
1876	Lieut. Beaumont	" 81 deg. 30 m.
1876	A. H. Nares	" 83 deg. 20 m.
1882	Lieut. Greely	" 83 deg. 24 m.

The record of Lieut. Greely's party, which unlike his two unsuccessful, was made in New Land, north of Greenland, by Lockwood and Brainard, in 1882, the year of Greely's last, and the second on the Proteus. The set and west coasts of Greenland are both and their full share of exploration.

When this table is examined carefully, it will be seen that Dr. Nansen's record is not the only one recent, both of the same as 1882 the latitude of 83 had been approached, and four centuries gained only three degrees. As far back as 1882 the latitude of 83 had been approached, and four centuries gained only three degrees. Now Nansen has gained near the best of his predecessors. The expedition of Lieut. Greely gained only three miles after that of Nares, yet it was regarded as a tremendous feat, and no one has approached it for fourteen years. Now Mr. Nansen at one effort goes nearly 200 miles farther north, and is but only 220 miles between the limit of exploration and the pole. Who shall say now that the North Pole will never be reached?

Scientists will await eagerly the details of this expedition, which must be of extraordinary weight. The voyage will make a new map of the polar regions necessary. In the latest table by Franz Joseph land is indicated only by a fringe of its southern coast, starting out from the white desolation of the unexplored territory like an island of Cheops. Some have hoped that this might be the highway to the pole for expeditions patterned after Peary's (second) trip. But this expedition has shown that the fact that Dr. Nansen, in his drift to the northwest, touched the north coast of Franz Josef land. Among the marvelous conclusions of Arctic explorations is that Nansen should have come upon E. F. Jackson and his party, who are encamped on the Franz Josef archipelago. One would have said that the chances were a million to one against their coming together. The latest reports from Jackson have been that twelve of the crew were sick with the scurvy, and two died, and it is gratifying to hear from Dr. Nansen that the party is now doing well.

Dr. Nansen's theory of Arctic traveling may be most methodical, but the practical workings seem to be most satisfactory. And by the way, an American plan, weight, Clay S. Greene, is now laying claim to the idea that originates the theory, and calls to mind that he play, Under the Polar Star, in which it is asserted, was brought out as early as 1885, in San Francisco by Markus Bunks. In the first act the captain is ordered by the proprietor of the enterprise to go to the northwest of Spitzbergen. "Oh, it is my belief that you will find there a current that will carry you nearly into society across the pole." And in the fourth act Prof. Amos Hard says: "This vast field of ice that is our home is not stationary. It moves, and drifts. It is carrying us up, up to where the pole is, and we will be there some day." But if the literary shops get the credit for every good idea, many of which there would be few lances left for the scientists. It seems that even the Roentgen ray was foreshadowed by a novelist.

SANPETE STAKE CONFERENCE.

Interesting and Important Sermons at the Two Days' Meetings.

MT. PLEASANT, Utah, August 17, 1896.—The conference of the Sanpete Stake of Zion was held as per appointment on the 15th and 16th of August, 1896, at Mount Pleasant. There were present at the commencement, the Stake presidency, a fair representation of the High Council, the Bishops of the wards and quite a large congregation. The conference was opened as usual by singing and prayer at 10 a.m.

Elder J. B. Mallon made opening remarks.

The Bishop of Indianola ward, being requested, reported that one of the Indianola boys was killed by the bursting of wheat, one ox broken, another 200 animals, and minor loss amounts. The deaths among the Indians are four to one birth, so that they are decreasing quite fast. The present number is 65, nearly all members of the Church.

The Bishop of Mayfield and Fountain Green wards made gate satisfactory reports of his ward.

The Bishop of Fayette said they had been visited by very destructive storms and frosts, yet the people were doing reasonably well.

Elder McAllister asserted the Saints to faithfully observe and keep the commandments of God that He may feel bound to effect as protection, as the judgments are abroad in the earth. He gave a warning that the temple will be opened on Tuesday, September 1st.

At 2 p.m. Elders George Teasdale and A. H. Lund, of the council of the Apostles, spoke on the Saints, and during the meeting Elder Lyman arrived.

Elder Lund expressed the pleasure he felt in meeting the Saints in conference, said while absent had met in many conferences in Great Britain, Scandinavia, Germany, and related many interesting incidents in his missionary experience, also of witnessing the pioneering hand of God in leading the Saints and himself when they were in danger.

Elder Teasdale gave some of his experiences of the last twelve years that he had spent in a traveling Elder, a part of which time he was in Europe and a part in Mexico, exhorted the Saints to be more diligent in keeping the law of God; reminded the Saints that the laws of tithing pertains to the Aaronic Priesthood, and no attempt is made to collect it, but the property laws of the Melchisedec Priesthood, as it is as much as we can do to keep the same law.

President Peterson gave a report of the Stake. Said there are no quarrels among the Saints; thought they should pay a little more tithing, as he believed they did not pay a full amount. If the people desired the blessing of the Lord they should endeavor to keep the laws He has given. He believed the people of Sanpete are a good people in a general way, but there is room for much improvement.

Priesthood meeting convened at 3 p.m., at which Elder Lyman instructed the Bishops in the proper manner of nominating bishops in their wards; to secure the services of the support of their counselors; to instruct the Teachers and to see that teaching is done as the Lord designs it, by being much using the impression that it may teaching is done as it should be done is the exception and not the rule. Many of the bishops are not the private sings of attending meetings; three teachers should be the more diligent in visiting. Elders Teasdale and Lund corroborated Elder Lyman's teachings.

Sunday at 10 a.m., meeting opened as usual by singing and prayer. Elder J. H. Mathes presented the general and Stake authorities; all were sustained by unanimous vote.

Elder Lyman said he felt that too little attention is paid to the manner of administering the ordinances of baptism; the so all other ordinances, as recommended by the Apostles and Prophets requires a combination of qualifications to obtain the forgiveness of sins and to obtain the Holy Ghost. The Bishops are responsible; they are commissioned to all the people; all the people have access to them; they are the judges as to the qualifications of applicants for the ordinances of the Gospel; if they fail to exercise the judgment given them, they fail in their duty to the people. Should teach the young people what is required of them; not leave it to the Teachers; perform this duty as required. No man or woman having fully complied with the conditions, receiving the baptism of water, but has received the baptism of fire and of the Holy Ghost. This is the power that hems one Latter-day Saints together. When there is a number of candidates for baptism, a meeting should be held, and the people should be properly instructed. The Bishops should see to it that all persons applying for baptism are properly instructed. Advised the Elders in the blessing of children, and also the sick, and in all cases be careful in making promises not to follow the inspiration of the Holy Spirit.

Elder Lund said he had enjoyed the remarks of Elder Lyman in relation to baptism, it is one of the most important duty. Receiving the sacredness of the ordinance, that thereby we enter into covenant with the Lord to keep His commandments, he had made it a point while abroad to impress upon the Saints and the people the importance of the ordinance of the Gospel. Said the Savior to give the last command to His Apostles was very particular to impress upon them the importance of the ordinance of baptism for the remission of sins.

2 p.m. Sacrament administered, report of Stake read; the names of eight Elders were presented and sustained to be ordained High Priests.

Elder Teasdale and Lyman each occupied a portion of the time, dwelling upon the duties of the Saints and the obligations we are under for the great blessings bestowed upon us.

Conference adjourned for three months to meet in Moroni.

Benedictions by Elder A. H. Lund.

The Holy Spirit was enjoyed abundantly both by the speakers and hearers. The best of order prevailed, though the heat some of the days was hard to endure.

DESTRUCTIVE CLOUD BURST

About a Hundred Families Reported Homeless.

Mining Property Destroyed—Several Persons Perish in the Flood.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 20.—A special to the Times from Mongolia, N. M., says:

A terrible cloud burst occurred here at 4 p.m. yesterday. John Knight, a miner of Georgetown, was drowned. Twenty others are reported missing, but only two bodies, those of Knight and an unknown Mexican, have been recovered.

About 100 families have been rendered homeless and thirty houses are washed away. The property of the Colorado Mining company of Boston, Mass., collared to a large extent, the office, mill house, power house and blacksmith shop being washed away, and it is feared that the mine is filled with mud and water. The manager and superintendent narrow escape being washed in the banks by tears. The deep Down Mining company of Kansas City, lost its mess office and assay office. This place is located in a deep canyon between high mountains. The water in the ditches was right feet deep.

The storm was general in this section of country and advices from Graham state that a cloud burst on the mountain side and caused a flood at Graham's ranch, 20 miles, belonging to the Helen Mining company of Denver. The flood carried away the shop and the supplies of the mine. Nine horses running on the hill side were washed over a steep precipice and killed. The men working at the mouth of the tunnel barely escaped with their lives. It is feared great damage has been done on the other side of the Magdlen district. Nothing definite can be learned on account of the telephone communication being broken.

There were at least twenty persons, mostly miners, living right in the bed of the stream of water. They occupied for the most part adobe dwellings. These have been swept away and the occupants have not been heard from. Many may have been warned in time to get out of the way.

MR. BRYAN'S PLANS.

Places Where He Will Speak—A Patriotic Call.

UPPER BED ROCK, N. Y., Aug. 20.—It is understood that Candidate Bryan's plan to spend some time in New York state campaigning is not objectionable to the leaders of the Democratic state politics, but the country he has their co-operation. Bryan said this morning: "I am not bothering about New York Democrats. Everything will be right with them."

After the Erie speech on the 25th, Bryan will speak at Buffalo on the evening of the 25th; in Lockport, N. Y., on the afternoon of the 26th, spending the evening at Niagara falls; go to Hornellsville by way of Buffalo the 27th, Saturday, and speak at Hornellsville in the afternoon. Then he will go to Jamestown; thence to Castleque where the Sunday will be spent. On Monday, Olean may have Bryan. He will go to Corning where he will speak to Corning, on Tuesday he will go to Elmira, speaking there in the evening of the 4th of September, and at Toledo on the 2nd.

In the evening of the 3rd he will speak at Rock Island, Ind. Sept. 6th will be spent in Chicago at national headquarters. Bryan does not expect to speak in Chicago. On the morning of the 7th, Bryan will leave for Nebraska over the Burlington, making no stops. He says the speeches in all places have been to date.

CALLED TO SEE BRYAN.

Late last night F. Elliott Danforth of New York, called to see Mr. Bryan, waiting two hours for him to be sent from a day's outing. He said it was a friendly call. He did Bryan. As Upper Bed Rock is right under the shadow of Dunderberg and as Danforth saw Bryan in New York six days ago, the conclusion is rather inevitable that the visit had political significance. Danforth, when asked regarding the support of Bryan by the Democratic party in New York, said laconically: "The Democrats of New York will support him. I have no doubt, but active work will not begin until the convention meets at Saratoga."

This morning the son of Chairman Hinkley came here with an urgent personal letter from his father, inviting Bryan to visit Saratoga in the Catskills where he is gathered a number of prominent Democrats. Bryan said he practically had decided to accept the invitation and he might there before leaving for the West.

THE DROP IN SILVER.

The Cause Supposed to Have Brought It About.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The Westminster Gazette attributes the fall in silver to the inability of the speculators of the United States to carry the metal, which they borrowed money and to a scarcity of loanable funds. In the quantity of silver lying idle in the banks of China is large, there being no demand for it, according to the report back to trade both in China and Japan, due to the smallness of the purchases of silver by America and Europe. While the speculators are in doubt as to what silver will be carried by speculators, the price is declining and the Chinese may induce more active speculation both in London and India.

Silver Party and Populists.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The executive committee of the Populist committee of the Populist committee has adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

It was decided that G. R. Severance should be assigned to Chicago headquarters which will be under the management of Senator Jones of Nevada. Chairman Butler will be in charge here assisted by Secretary Edgerton. Butler said today the committee was entirely satisfied with the outlook.

"We chipped in," said Butler, "to pay the expenses then for. I expect we will have to make the campaign such as we made in the South, where we have managed with little money."

Butler will enter into correspondence with the Populist and silver leaders in various parts of the country to effect amalgamation of existing difficulties, which will bring the advocates of silver and Bryan into harmonious action.

The Silver party and Populist party are today moving into headquarters with the Democratic party in the Wormley building. Chairman Stevens of the silver party said today that the silver branch of the campaign in Chicago would have charge of the campaign in the Western states.

For Bryan and Sewall.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., AUG. 19.—The silver element Democrats of Connecticut to the number of 100 assembled here today for the purpose of organizing to carry on work in behalf of Bryan and Sewall. Litchfield was the only county unrepresented. The meeting was organized into a Bryan and Sewall Democratic club of the state.

Wounded by Burglars.

BEDFORD STATION, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Walter B. Adams is lying at the point of death as a result of an encounter with four burglars. Two burglars are captured, saying Eric Jones, originally wounded by Adams' son William, who was himself struck by a pistol ball which, however, glanced off his unpeaded buckle.

Dissolution of Partnership.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 20.—The dissolution of the legal partnership of Don M. Dickinson, H. T. Thurber and Elliott G. Stevenson is announced to take place Sept. 1st.

Dickinson is said to have held that Stevenson to some extent compromised the firm by accepting the chairmanship of the state central committee and becoming manager for the Bryan campaign in Michigan. Stevenson afterward resigned the chairmanship, but the friction continued and Stevenson decided to withdraw from the firm.

Mormonism So Deceptive.

(Latter-day Saints' Millennial Star.)

Those who embrace the Gospel in sincerity and who live lives of consistent Latter-day Saints make no mistake, and are not deceived by accepting the doctrine which is commonly called Mormonism. There are no requirements made of Latter-day Saints but such as will, if complied with, benefit them in the life as well as in the life to come. Regarding life even from the standpoint of an unbeliever in the hereafter, the true Gospel, as taught and practiced by the people, will benefit those who embrace it, because it will enable them to enjoy this life to the greatest extent. The reason for this is easy to discover; the laws of the Gospel are strictly in accordance with the laws of nature; and it is a scientific conclusion that the observance of the laws of nature brings its own reward, for all who break these laws must suffer for so doing.

To hold the position which the Latter-day Saints it is necessary for people to be strictly honest and virtuous, and morals form a great part of the form. But unbelievers well as believers acknowledge that obedience to the laws of morality, like the observance of the laws of nature, is productive of full life, to say nothing of the reward succeeding. Morality will merit in the hereafter.

In the revelation given to the Latter-day Saints and known as the Word of Wisdom they are taught what duty is are injurious to their bodies, and also what things are good for food. By giving heed to the counsels contained in this revelation people can enjoy the greatest degree of mental and physical health that it is possible to have in this life, and happiness in morality, people very much upon health of mind and body.

One of the doctrines of the Gospel is that of tithing. The Latter-day Saints consider it a duty and a privilege to pay a tenth of their income to the Lord, and, singular as it may seem, the practice of this principle will benefit a person temporarily as well as spiritually. There are thousands who can testify to this fact, having proved it by personal experience. Men who have had this experience freely admit that they have prospered more in a financial way by observing this principle than when neglecting to do so. The same might be said in regard to keeping the Sabbath as a day of rest. Those who do so are able to perform more satisfactory work in six days than those who work the seven days.

Mormonism is therefore not deceived when they accept of the Gospel and comply with its requirements. People are not asked to do things are raised from a condition of poverty and destitution to one of prosperity; they are not asked to do things are emancipated from their bondage to a tyrant and given freedom of soul and a will power that will save them from future enslavement; nor are they deceived when all spiritual doubt and uncertainty are cleared from their minds, when they are inspired with a glorious hope for the hereafter, and an unmistakable knowledge that the course they are taking is acceptable and pleasing to the Lord. These are some of the changes wrought in the condition of those who embrace Mormonism. They are the fruits that spring from the seeds of the true Gospel of Christ, when implanted within the heart of an honest soul.

TURNING GRAY AND THREATENED WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Having Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only in occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends." —MRS. H. M. HASKIN, Avoca, Neb.
