PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - FEB. 26, 1895.

First District Court.

The following business was transacted in the First district court yesterday:

Ray Westwood, of Springville, was brought before the court by his father from the house of detention of the Reform school, where he is now in custody, and the boy is incorrigible, he was related related to the Reform school.

Louis Haines and Charles D. Lane pleaded not guilty to indictments growing out of a disturbance in the Dutch mining district on the 25th of December.

N. C. Nielson, of Vineyard, and John Sorensen, of Mercur, indicted for assault with a deadly weapon, with intent where their cases were called and both cases were dismissed.

Dan Cutler Snow, of Provo, who had entered a plea of guilty to the charge of unlawful cohabitation, was fined $50, and in default to be imprisoned in the penitentiary fifty days.

Lorenzo Dalton, of Spring Lake, who indicted on the same charge, was called forward for sentence. He pleaded the law for two years and would do so in the future. He was sentenced to thirty days in the penitentiary.

Lizzie Lesher, a 12-year-old girl, was sent up from the justice's court of Heber for the purpose of having her committed to the Reform school for incorrigible conduct. There were no witnesses and the girl was kept only long enough to hear the sentence of her parents. Judge Riggs reserved the right to interrupt in the case.

In the case of Jonathan Buckley vs Provo City, judgment on pleadings for plaintiff for $100.

In the case of Joe Cecile vs George Haines, defendant's bond fixed at $1,000. Hughes was convicted of robbery last term and sentenced to the penitentiary. The Supreme Court reversed the judgment and ordered a new trial.

A jury was empaneled in the case of W. E. Davis vs Darwin Roe. The suit is brought to collect $49.50, $40 of which is alleged to be due on a promissory note.

The Fifth Ward Pasture Co., of Provo, has commenced suit against Salt Lake City and various canal companies in Salt Lake County to collect $5,100 and costs. The plaintiffs allege that they have been damaged to that amount on account of overflows from Utah Lake caused by defendants placing obstructions in the Jordan river.

Annie M. Peay and Jane Vaughn sue as heirs of Mary Ann Peay, deceased, to recover $5,000 and costs, claiming their mother died as a result of injuries received on the premises of the defendant, Mrs. Mollie Wright, on the same grounds.

NOTES.

T. H. Vincent of this city visited Fo California yesterday. He intends to go to Los Angeles for the purpose of buying an orange grove. Mrs. Vincent who is visiting a daughter in California will return with him.

Word has been brought on from Eureka that a subterranean lake or river has been discovered on the 400 hundred foot level of the Eureka Hill mine, and that the water contains a species of fish. This may be a fish story.

PAYSON, UTAH, - FEB. 26, 1895.

Amusement, Local and Other Notes.

The Queen City Minstrels, a local organization, gave an entertainment at the Payson Opera House on Thursday evening, February 21st, under the management of J. Frank Chindlund. The program consisted of a laughable farce and with numerous good and taste numbers, as was all songs, dances, quartettes and musical selections was a fairy. It was the best local minstrel show ever given in this city and was a success both from an artistic and financial standpoint. All the members were well received and that of them earned the special honors of the evening being in music, Mae Barrett and Hall Indge (Hassan). The entertainment has been made by many of our reading citizens, and it may be that the Queen City Minstrels will be heard from again at an early date.

A dress social was given at the Presbyterian church on the night of Washington's Birthday. Numbers who indulged in old colonial times were represented and a good time enjoyed by all who attended. A dress ball was given the same evening in the opera house, but so far as the "Herald" can see everybody of who a dollar paid for the privilege of dancing seemed to be there. Otherwise the ball was a success. Prizes were given to Mr. Lewis Bowen and Miss Bertha Wright for representations of George and Martha Washington and to Mr. Rob Coates and Miss Ada Smith for best dancing.

A free dance was given at the Opera House on Saturday night by the members of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association, who have had the management of the hall for some time past. Their aim is to keep it in good repute and to make it a place where young people can go and have a good time. The boys are well known and will take charge of the house in the late date.

Elder F. D. Richards of the Council of the Apostles, accompanied by several others, at the Tabernacle Sunday morning from provo, and today, commencing at ten a. m., a meeting of the Utah Stake was held at which Elder Richards spoke.

Annie Wallace intends to move to New York City, on Friday morning next, March 1st.

The members of Mrs. Bowman's Relief class gave a social party on the way and on Thursday night last.

A concert is to be given by the Fifth Ward building society in advance to take place of the meeting Saturday night.

A heavy rain fell last night and the weather now looks threatening.

Critical Low Lands.

The Provo papers all echo the fact, as Provo, Utahns attempt to cultivate our alkali land. It is a fact, and seems to be proved, that almost every the operation of irrigation necessitates. The land is now many years of cultivation given and not low lands yet area. A solution and guide to overcome that is had not to be some of spring water, but such water is not found in some of land in Tooele and Provo for which lands of the area. Now, where can the water and water found? A few days ago we gave the journal a paragraph with the title, "Can Artesian Wells." Some farmers thought the subject a timely. For a number of The Farm and Dairy, answer, and Sunday's issue who suggests, writing, with and the statistics from the subject of the "Farm" of Georgia and Iowa, and Nebraska. He has analyzed the Artesian and water city matters in Nebraska, for experiment. He states in a country where water has to be found and irrigation his guide to a village supply a considerable volume would be to allow a water supply through a bed of gravel. Gravel, now, the water. The possibilities of the production of land in Utah Valleys.

Pleasing Facts.

There are some persons who object to any one from Salt Lake City to publishing the Statistics, Professor Eddy saying the contrary, on the ground that it injures Salt Lake City. We will respect the wishes of the Eddy. We will respect the wishes of the Eddy. The Deseret Evening News Office has taken no offence to such reporting of all. Pleasing the Eddy's feelings enough at least.

If Eddy and his friends would speak against the use of the surplus water in the Provo River, and when Cody are tired of it, let them try the following, supposed method. Let the people in and water use in Provo city. Then apply fully authorized work to the bottom, using a weighing line for measurement. Then work to the other end. The water in the bottom represents the distribution water and with the other, running work months. Apply water half a months of work to a foot. Let the running work subside, let it stop and let the water work according to the law. Let the Eddy work according to the law.
