Mr. Packhouse was consumptive, and it is said, realizing that the end was near, he started home to die. The body was removed from the train and embalmed at Cheyenne preparatory to being sent home.

Bear Powers and his effeminate band of painted braves are at Garfield under a sort of their tried and true. With them are their squaws and papooses. It is reported that Sitting Bull's buffalos are in danger and that a detachment of Fort Douglas troops has been sent out to guard them for fear they will be slaughtered and devoured by the versatile Tuscaroras, but as this is the occasion of the feast of Minnehaha when there will be an abundance of green corn and fire water it is to be presumed that the rumor is incorrect.

A Philadelphia party of capitalists, consisting of Ex-Mayor George H. Snow, James Boggs and wife, W. C. Hall, Major Dunn and J. W. Lovell of Minneola, Ind., Edward and J. W. Beatie and C. Boehler of Denver; J. E. Gibson of Logansport, Ind., J. M. Wilson of Pittsburg, A. F. Minner and G. W. Temple of Leadville, Superintendent Cochran of the Pope, G. gas plant, W. E. Barry, H. L. Ferrer, G. L. Davis, F. H. Wickersham and J. H. Whalen, and newspaper reporters went out to the gas wells on a Bell's Springs special. The long new gas well was set in operation and the pressure of gas was very strong. The party returned to the city much pleased with the exhibition.

MAYOR BASKIN'S TACTICS.

He Quietly Outwits a Majority of the Members of the Council.

A MUNICIPAL SIGHT BREWING.

The Council Ignored and an Appointment is a Soft Soap Position Made Without Consent or Confirmation.

Another merry war is now threatened between Mayor Baskin and certain members of the City Council. The cause of the expected conflict was given to a News reporter today by a "Lifeself" councilman who enjoys the distinction of being classed as a staunch supporter of the "minority" or "opposition." He alleges in terms more forcible than eloquent that the Mayor has been guilty of the impropriety of grossly insulting the City Council by sparring its actions and illegally assuming authority which the rights and privileges of his office do not confer upon him. The particular case in which objection is made is what some of the councilmen term the creating and filling of a office without their consent and in which their action had been such as to give the proposition the stamp of official and lawful disappro-val.

Readers of this paper will remember that Councilman Wantland and some of his councilmatic colleagues took an almost unaccountable interest in a scheme which the former embodied in the following resolution, which he introduced in the Council on April 23rd last:

Resolved, That the Mayor be and is hereby authorized to engage the services of a suitable person for a period not to exceed six months, at a salary not to exceed fifty per month, for the purpose of watching the canyons and preventing the wanton ripping of the city, said employe to also perform such other duties, keep such records and make such reports in connection with the irrigation and water department and public grounds of the city as may be ordered by the Mayor and Council.

The measure immediately precipitated a warmly and acrimonious conflict. The Democrats regarded it as a political plum to be converted by the Mayor upon some favorite henchman for services rendered. In view of the fact that the city watermaster had a numerous corps of assistants, a number of whom it seemed were just earning all the money they were getting from the taxpayers, even some of the "Lifeself" members were compelled to admit that if the proposition was carried out it would create a sinecure for which no kind of an excuse could be satisfactorily given.

The matter was finally temporarily disposed of by referring it to the committee on ways and means. After the committee had carefully considered the resolution it reported adversely upon it. The action greatly displeased the Mayor and Wantland et al., as the gift of its provisions had already been promised, it is said to ex-Councilman Pendleton.

For a time nothing was publicly said or done in the premises, but when it was assumed that sufficient time had elapsed to allow a change of sentiment to take place, the supporters of the resolution quietly introduced another which authorized the Mayor to employ Mr. Pendleton as was originally proposed. This brought Morse to his feet in an instant and he moved the resolution be tabled indefinitely. Tabs of course shut off all debate and the opposers of the proposition considered that they had won a permanent victory. It now transpires that in this they were greatly mistaken, for while Wantland et al. were reported to have been selling in their tents over their defeat, it seems that a plan was quietly formulated whereby the original scheme could be carried out and the majority of the members outwitted. It was done, too, but it will result in trouble. A few days ago some of the councilmen discovered that Mr. Pendleton's name was on the city pay roll. An investigation was instituted from which it was learned that the Mayor had appointed Pendleton to the position named without consulting the council or asking it to confirm his action.

"Mayor Baskin has played his cards well," said the News' informant, "but I for one shall raise my voice and use my individual and official influence against such unlawful and Cassiline methods. It must be understood once for all that we do not live in autocratic Russia. I do not want to divest the Mayor of any of his lawful prerogatives, but he appointments should be by and with the consent and confirmation of the council. To allow him to appoint his friends to office without consulting the members of the council and without a protest on our part, would be a glaring sandil tion of dereliction of duty."

It is said that other appointments have been made on the quiet by the Mayor, and the matter will be further investigated. It is expected to come up for discussion at the next regular meeting of the council.

ANOTHER SKELETON.

The City's Experience as a Purchaser of Land, Water and Live Stock, As Alleged Missing $5,000.

It is now alleged that another gentleman of color has been discovered in the municipal wood pile. About a year ago the city negotiated for the purchase of a considerable amount of land in Emigration canyon in order to dislodge squatters and secure a title to the waters of all the springs and tributaries running into the main channel. The land was divided up into several tracts or small farms.

Not only did the city buy the land but in one instance at least it has been ascertained that upon a horse, a cow, wood it is said chickens, sugar and garden implements were taken in the bargain.

"Now, that may be all right," said a prominent city official today, "but it looks to me like it was a little irregular, because I have never been able to learn what became of these pulpitates though I have made diligent inquiry."

This, however, is not the worst feature of the transaction by considerable, if official reports can be depended upon. The total cost of the various pieces of ground was $5,000. For the purchase of one tract, according to the books of the treasurer and auditor, $600 was appropriated. The affidavit, however, is to stained by those who have examined the instrument, show improprietous plus to have been inserted in the document. The fact, but is sufficient to cause an uneasiness in certain quarters.

The largest and most expensive tract of the city farm.

It is now claimed that the title for this piece is defective and that the city will probably have to buy about five legal claims upon it. One claimant even claims the correctness of this statement. Others say that it is true and that they will prove it before long.

AN ENTERPRISING PEDESTRIAN.

He Left Ogden This Morning and Is Expected Here Tonight.

John A. Bolsom, the young newspaper man of Ohio, who is making a tour of the world on foot, started from Ogden at an early hour this morning to stand off more miles in his long journey. He said last evening to a reporter as he was in the act of respectfully tipping his cap to an admiring crowd: "I shall never forget Ogden and her good people. Every one of my stay here during the past week has been one of pleasure. I came into the city as entire strangers but will carry away with me many fond recollections."

Mr. Bolsom's walk is along the Union Pacific track via this city, where he will remain tonight. He will remain in Salt Lake for a few days and then continue his journey by way of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. In each place of any importance he will remain long enough to gather material for his paper published in Akron, Ohio and known as "Around the World on Foot."

In connection with his literary work the young man will, from time to time, give lectures relative to his varied experiences. During his stay in Ohio he received quite a number of letters from people in various cities asking him to come this way and make a visit. Reaching Denver Mr. Bolsom will turn north and go by way of the Union Pacific through Nebraska, Iowa, Indiana and Illinois. He expects to reach Chicago in the latter part of November and his home in Ohio in time for his Christmas dinner. When asked to regard to his future movements after reaching home he replied in the following manner:

"To tell you the truth of the case, I do not know what I am to do in the future. At present I [illegible] at sea. The trip of mine has been but a venture. It is my own original enterprise and for the present I shall occupy myself in counting off ties and in sending in my weekly letter of experience to the readers of my little paper. Before leaving home I was told that the trip could not be accomplished and that a dismal failure would be the result. Being compelled to prove my own sense through life my present sensitive is to guide it safely into the harbor at home with the taunter of success perched on high. I am but a young man's undertaking and young men should not fail. Naturally a trip of this kind furnishes one with many new ideas, some if properly handled might prove of great benefit to me in after [illegible]. The better field would give me pleasure. I do not know what the result will be to the people. My people at home write me that the paper must be continued. If their request be honored my travels will only have been commenced, the thing that I have seen the world, and in seeing it have been able to learn much valuable information and have also learned that of all nations on earth America is by far the greatest, for content, wealth, prosperity, education and happiness. I shall be happy to reach home and meet my friends, but that time will not occur until every mile of the remaining distance will have been covered by my feet."

JUDGE MINER'S VACATION.

Another Tale of Matrimonial Woe to Be Told in the Courts.

After a lengthy term, during which much has been done, the Fourth District Court has taken a recess until Tuesday, August 23rd, and Judge Miner, accompanied by Deputy Marshal Bowman, last night left for Cache valley, where they will enjoy a season of hunting and fishing.

Mrs. Ann Sullivan has brought suit for divorce against her husband, John Sullivan, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to provide the necessities and comforts of life.

The couple were married in 1882 in this city, and are now residents of Cache County. At the time of her marriage the woman had a child by a husband, with three children, and alleges in her complaint that Sullivan has always treated both them and herself in an inhuman manner, always calling them foul names and even going so far as to strike the plaintiff, thereby causing her great mental and bodily distress.

The defendant is a man of considerable means, and in addition to the prayer for divorce Mrs. Sullivan asks that the court make reasonable allowance for the support of herself and children.

A DESERTED FIELD.

A demurrer was filed in the case of G. M. Cannon vs. Cache County. Arguments for both parties were made and the case was submitted and taken under advisement.

Court Matters

Business was quite today in all the courts.

In the case of Meeks vs. Swenson, The plaintiff sued for $44 on account, before Justice Lewis. The court, after making a careful examination of the documents in connection with other matters of fact, rendered a judgment on the counter claim in the sum of $53.27 in favor of defendant.

Jesse Foster of Spring City was brought in this city last evening by Deputy Marshal Goodwin and arraigned before Commissioner Boyd, with other indictment of quite under false pretenses from Lancaster & Nott. His bonds were fixed at $500, but being unable to obtain sureties last evening, he was consigned to the penitentiary. The date for the preliminary hearing has not yet been fixed.

A REAL ESTATE BAN BEATES.

Stenographer Vandenberger Punishes a Fellow Who Insulted His Wife.

J. H. Vandenberger, the stenographer and typewriter employed in the Republican office in the City Hall, appeared in the Police court this morning to answer to the charge of assault and battery committed on one C. B. Gourlay, a real estate man. The principals are both well known in this city, and the nature of the affair caused a crowded attendance.

Mr. Vandenberger alleges that Gourlay has repeatedly insulted his wife on the streets during the last month, and that it was actually unsafe for her to go out unaccompanied. So when the two men met in front of S. R. Thomas' store on First South Street yesterday evening Vandenberger promptly knocked his wife's alleged shadower into the gutter, striking him three times about the head and face in rapid succession.

Vandenberger was arrested on the charge named, and the case set down for ten o'clock this morning. At that time the defendant had all his witnesses in court to go on with the case, but the victim of his insulted manhood and dignity faint-heartedly refused to prosecute, and the case was dismissed.

Gourlay is said to have lived here about eight years. It is reported that his wife left him in San Francisco, and that she subsequently died.

Captain Donovan says that Gourlay is a lecher and is well known as a master among the fair ones.

The Theatre.

Mr. Sol Smith Russell is so favorably known to the Theatregoing public that the mere announcement of his appearance is sure to draw a good house. "A Poor Relation" will be played on Friday night and Saturday matinee; "Peaceful Valley" concludes the engagement on Saturday night.

Condemned Buildings.

Chief Stanton of the Fire Department and the city building inspector today condemned 200 feet of lumber sheds at the rear of the Wonderland Theatre which were erected several years ago by McCoy & Kendall for living purposes.

Also the Gresham building at 255 and 259 South Main street. Also blacksmithshop on Commercial street owned by Baltimore capitalists. The condemned buildings have long been regarded as fire traps and will be torn down at once.

The Democrats Tonight.

It is expected there will be a large attendance at Smoot's Grove tonight, the occasion being the preliminary meeting of the coming campaign in this county. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Sagebrush club, assisted by the South Cottonwood and Mill Creek clubs, and the exercises will consist mostly of speaking and music by Held's band. Judge Norrell will speak on the tariff question, Hon. S. H. Thurman of Provo on Utah politics, Hon. Joseph F. Chipman on the force bill, and S. A. Kenner will enlighten the Democratic candidates, Cleveland and Stevenson. The delegates to the late national convention, Hons. John T. Caine and H. P. Henderson, and other prominent Democrats have promised to be present.

Civil Service Examination.

No person can be examined who has not previously filed an application on a blank which may be obtained by writing to the United States civil service commission, Washington, D.C. The applications, carefully and correctly executed, should be forwarded to the commission in ample time to secure an admission card. Pneumonia Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Bell, of Goshen, Ind., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. My doctors gave me up, saying I could not live but a short time. I gave myself up to my savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet them in heaven above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, taking in all, eight bottles; it has cured me, and I thank God I am now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at A. C.
