from street walkers to protect them in from street walkers to protect them in their netarious practises, have no sense of shame for their position and for the position of the city, in thus permitting these women to openly flaunt their profession upon the public streets. I am told that the denizens of these districts pay a certain given price for carrying on their business. In Victoria alley, the women pay the regular sum of $10 to the city, as fine, or license money; for their 'cribs' they pay $3 per day, and the owners of the particular building referred to realize from 16 women, the sum of $1,500 per month rent. The collector goes around every day regularly, and collects the month rent. The collector goes around every day regularly, and collects the $3 from each occupant; and if the money is not ready, the unfortunate creature is thrown out into the street and the place filled with another.

"It is said these conditions constitute what is known as 'the necessary evil.' I maintain that it is not a necessary evil, and any clean city and community should be ashamed to acknowledge that such a condition is a 'necessary evil.'

'I would like to see our city rid of "I would like to see our city rid of these immoral women, and the vamplres which live upon their earnings. A great forward movement in this direction may be had by ferreting out and dealing with the people who are back of the movement, and the good name of our fair city be vindicated and vice stamped from its midst."

TAND DRAWING AT OASIS.

T. H. Callister, secretary of the state land board, is at Oasis, Millard county, today for the purpose of receiving applications for the right to make selections in the Oasis Carey act land drawing, which occurs at that place next Monday. Each person attending the drawing will have a chance to make first selection of land, the drawing being under the supervision of the state land board. The names of all the applicants for land will be placed in a barrel, together with numbers, and the order in which the names and numbers are drawn out will determine who has first and successive choice for lands. The land is in the Pahvant valley, and is said to be deep and fertile, and said to be deep and fertile, and

POLL TAX SUITS.

There are dark and troublesome times ahead for the wily citizens who have dodged the poll tax collector. There is something stirring in town and there will be much wailing and gnashing of teeth. This morning Assistant City Attorney E. A. Rogers almost gave Tom Pitt, chief of police, apoplexy by dropping on his desk summons for 50 citizens against whom suit has been brought to recover poll tax. This means a great deal of real work for certain enfortunate and tired policemen. But, the administration, sure needs the money and all the accused, as soon as found, will be haled into court to show cause why they should not pay up. ahead for the willy citizens who have

STATE COMMITTEE MEETS.

Democratic Leaders in Session Pass Up the Governorship Problem.

Because the matter of Uncle Jesse Knight's candidacy is still to be settled, and they are unwilling to take final action upon it today, the meeting of the Democratic state committee this afternoon will probably result in no definite announcement on that subject.

The meeting was called at 2 o'clock in the office of State Chairman L. R. Martineau, and as many of the out-oftown members were not present it was decided to leave the matter of selecting a new state chairman, with that of choosing a successor to Uncle Jesse Knight, until a future meeting. About half of the members of the state committee were present this afternoon.

BIG STORM IS A SOAKER

And Converts Streets Into Veritable Lakes.

The first heavy rain of the season fell last night and this morning, being in the nature of an equinoctial storm. The rain was entirely unexpected, although the latter part of the afternoon was more or less threatening, and it found pedestrians unprepared. The rain fell "all of a sudden," and it staid railing, so that when the theater audiences were so that when the theater audiences were dismissed, many a natiess, cloakess and umbreinatess lady got drenched before reaching nome. The precipitation for the storm up to this noon was 1.25 inch, with promise of a further rail during the arternoon. Towards midnight, the soil relused to absorb any more so the water from the missides came flowing down the narrow streets covering South Temple and First South streets with heavy gravel and sand. Third South street between Fourth and Sixth East streets was a pend, and other streets were not much better. Street cars were head up on various routes from 20 minutes to an hour, but gangs or men cleared the tracks of Sand. In fact, it was found necessary to keep men at work all night to have the tracks in such shape this morning that the cars could operate.

Of Entertaining Brotherhood of Carpenters.

Will be Tendered to Relieve the Steady Grind of Routine Business Sessions.

Seven American cities are to fight it out next week for the honor of entertaining the sixteenth biennial international convention of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. Preliminary skirmishes of the big fight are already taking place. In the office of Secy. Duffy the fight has assumed the importance of a deluge of mail and telegraph matter, Today while trying to finish the business of this morning's session he had to sign foor five telegrams received one after another in rapid succession. All turned out to be from business men or officials of Sacramento, telling what fine things Sacramento would do if only that town could capture the prize

Sacramento, telling what line things Sacramento would do if only that town could capture the prize.

The mail addressed to Secy. Duffy brought demands from five other cities for recognition. Some are on the Atlantic seaboard, others on the Pacific, while the lakes and the gulf are also represented.

From Florida comes a declaration that the "genuine old time southern hospitality" is waiting to overflow for the carpenters. Peoria wants them, Ashville, N. C., must have them, Lake Erie, O., is crying for them, Atlantic City would be glad to show them a good time, and San Francisco is certain no other town is half as good.

"They can all fight it out on the floor of the convention," declared Mr. Duffy. "I'll submit everything to the delegates and they can do what they want to. The more the merrier for there's nothing I like to see so much as a pretty fight for place, and we have had some pretty good ones in our day."

good ones in our day."

The carpenters are not becoming dull through too much work intersperced with no play. Last night a smoker at Armory hall was a source of much amusement. Today two business sessions were held in which business matters only were attended to, the morning session being taken up in concluding the report of the committee on grievances and the afternoon session being consumed with reports from the laws committee. It is expected that reports from this committee will occupy the next three days.

GAMBLING GOING ON IN SALT LAKE

The "Accommodation" of Strangers.

Quite Easy to Dig Out Wheel and Box And Separate Victim From

Police officials are emphatic in the declaration that there is no gambling going on in Salt Lake. They do not pretend to say that poker games are not in operation in nearly every saloon and cigar store in the city, but they insist there are no "regular gambling houses" where the whirr of the little wheel and ball and the click of chips are heard.

The police say that, if there is any gambling of that kind they don't know Bless their innocent hearts, of course they don't!-perhaps.

Last evening the "News" stated upon information believed to be reliable that, about 10 days ago, a young man went into a gambling house on Commercial street and was trimmed by roulette and faro beautifully and departed minus $1,500. It was admitted in police circles than such a loss had been heard circles than such a loss had been heard of within the time stated but it was denied that a wheel or faro layout was in operation. Acting upon a tip given by a "News" reporter, the place was visited yesterday afternoon and the report came back that nothing but dust was found.

It is hardly likely that the owners of the outfit would show the officers where the property was secreted.

of the outfit would show the officers where the property was secreted. Every gambler in Salt Lake knows that in the cellar under the police station there is a crooked roulette wheel, a faro layout and a policy wheel with a lot of other gambling junk. The stuft was at one time very valuable, worth probably $4,500. It was confiscated and stored away in the damp old basement where the delicate mechanism will be warped and ruined. It might just as well be used for kindling wood for all the good it is for gambling purposes. Owners of such property are not anxious to have it confiscated, hence their hesitency in showing the police where it is.

There are "retired" gamblers in Salt Lake who profess to know whereof they speak. One of the most prominent in the city stated to the "News" that 10 days or so ago a young man from the south lost $1,500 in a Commercial

In the cry states of the News can the south lost $1,500 in a Commercial street dive by the roulette and fare route. Of course the wheel is not always turning. Some men are partial to poker. Others like something more exciting, such as spining the little ball around the numbers on the wheel or laying a bet on the next card the dealer will turn from the fare box.

Those who like that sort of game can get it in Salt Lake, according to the retired gambler referred to.

He said: "If a man wants a game of that kind and who has money to lose, comes to Salt Lake, he soon finds out where he can be accommodated. The outfits may be covered with dust and all that sort of thing but it is easy to knock off the dust and oil the machinery just for the accommodation of the guest. The gamblers can dig out the outfit for a couple of hours or so and put it away again until another sucker arrives on the scene. This sort of thing is going on in Salt Lake."

A few months age the "News" called attention to the presence in this city of such gambling devices. The statement was denied, but a few nights later a gambling house was raided and a crooked layout was confiscated and is now stored at police headquarters. It will not be long before another "raid" will be made and gambling devices are confiscated.

Bank Dies at Parents' Home.

After a brief illness, Cyrus E. Snell, of Payson, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Snell, Lincoln avenue, this city, yesterday afternoon. FAREWELL TO ALL BAGGAGE WORRY

Seven Cities in Contest For Honor | Crooked Devices in Operation For | Local Railroads Inaugurate new System and get Many Thanks.

ORGAN RECITAL TOMORROW. THE POLICE MAKE DENIAL. AGENCIES DO ALL THE WORK

All Matters, Herctofore Left to Travelers Are Attended to by Ticket Offices.

Oregon Short Line and Rlo Grande ticket offices say the baggage arrangements inaugurated this morning are bringing out no end of favorable comment from the traveling public. Under the new system the local ticket offices take charge of one's baggage when a ticket is purchased; the traveler furnishes his or her address and pays haulage charges, gets a check and the offices do the rest. A drayman goes to the prospective residence, gets the trunk, takes it to the depot, puts it or them on the train and does all the other work heretofore left to the travder. When one has excess baggage the charges due on the excess weight are nade c. o. d. at destination. The new arrangement applies on travel between this station and any other place in the United States. NUMEROUS ADVANTAGES.

Upon arrivingg at destination baggage will be handled to a hotel or residence if it is requested at this end of the line, the owner paying the drayage rates obtaining at whatever city destination happens to be. The scheme has any number of advantages. In letting the railroad companies do business with draying companies do business with draying rates will be enjoyed by travelers, where an individual might be overcharged. This latter danger does not exist to any great degree in this city, but an unscrupulous hauler is encountered now and then. Usually the prospective traveler leaves the carrying of his trunk until the last minute, so it can be thoroughly packed. This leaves the drayman absolute master of the situation for the citizen must gage will be handled to a hotel or ter of the situation for the citizen must pay; he has no recourse; he has shut off all chance of hiring another drayon all chance of hiring another dray-man through waiting until all spare time has fied. The big advantage to all is the railroad's willingness to shoulder all the nuisance attendant up-on the checking of baggage. This is one of the worst features of traveling; its elimination rids the public of a great worry.

The only thing which can mar the arrangement is some edict from the interstate commerce commission forbidding it on the grounds that it will breed discrimination on the part of th railroads in their patronage of dray-men and express companies.

WOMEN BENEFITED.

To women traveling alone the scheme offers a great relief for it is not the most pleasant thing in the world for a woman to have to bother about baggage. The idea that no charges are connected with the scheme, apparently held among morning newspapers, is erroneous. Such an arrangement would be more than any railroad system is doing. The modern methods adopted by the railroads are recognition of the "up-to-dateness" of Salt Lake. There is an expressman to each business block corner in Salt Lake and to these the scheme is a severe blow, as much of their business has been in the baggage line. Needless to explain the railroad offices announce that no favoritism will be shown. "We will employ the most efficient and reliable draymen. Anybody and everybody will not be employed but whoever shows us the most willingness to do business quickly and entirely satisfactory to our patrons will get the business" is the way the ticket officials discuss this point. To women traveling alone the scheme
