AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. Bleiden, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been in nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am frank to my opinion that the valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are low in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and shall thus seeking pleasant and profitable homes in Dakota in this country."

Struck by a Bicycle.

Mr. George Romney, Bishop of the Twentieth ward, was the victim of a bicycle accident about 8:30 o'clock this morning on South Temple street, east. Mr. Romney at the time was coming down town to business when the wheelman dashed down upon him. A gentleman who witnessed the incident from a distance is of the opinion that the wheelman sounded an alarm of his approach but without the desired effect. This is not the first time Mr. Romney has had such an experience, and he begins to think the occasion is ripe for the cyclist to ride himself beyond the sidewalk curb in his peregrinations about the city. Fortunately the gentleman was not seriously injured.

Court Echoes.

In the case of A. B. Dick & Co. vs C. H. Parsons, wherein the defendant was fined for contempt by Commissioner McNally for refusing to obey an order of court, and from which the commissioner refused to allow an appeal, Judge Barkin has ordered filed a transcript of the proceedings in the Third district court. Further proceedings are to be stayed pending a determination of the matter.

Dr. O. R. Hewitt, the Salt Lake dentist, against whom judgment was rendered so Thursday in Commissioner McNally's court for $50 costs in favor of Davis the plaintiff, has appealed to the Third district court. The bicycle has been meanwhile returned, it being claimed that the machine belongs to Mrs. Hewitt.

Political Record.

The fifth precinct Republicans met in the Wasatch building last night and organized for the fall campaign. W. H. Whitney presided and E. E. Hinckle acted as secretary. A precinct committee were chosen as follows: Eleventh ward, E. D. B. Thompson, John H. Kelson; Twelfth ward, Geo. L. Nye, Samuel Paul; Thirteenth ward, E. E. Hinckle, Max N. Lipman. W. H. Whitney was made chairman.

The Workingmen's Republican club held a "red hot" meeting last night. Adam Paul presided and introduced Mr. Charles Crane, chairman of the Republican Territorial committee, who delivered a stirring party speech. He was followed by Judge Bennett, who was warmly appreciated during the course of his remarks. The speaking over, the club went into executive session and so amended its constitution as to allow the election of a second vice-president. Mr. William Deary was chosen to that place.

Deputy United States Marshal Roman Cronin says that he is in the race to succeed Wm. McQueen as sheriff of Salt Lake county, this fall. He believes his chances in life are the very best. On the Democratic side he will find opponents in the persons of J. B. Timmony, Gilbert McLean and the present incumbent of the office.

He Lost His Cash.

Niels Jensen, a young man employed as teamster by Silver Bros., went out to Saltair last evening accompanied by a lady friend to whom he was very devoted. He was so gallant as possible and was very free and unstinted in his purchases of toothsome things. But his generosity was cut short by the disappearance of his purse containing $12 from his hip pocket. Niels was standing at one of the shooting galleries, he relates, when he noticed a pickpocket gave it his work. The crowd was so great at the time that he paid no attention to the jostling at those about. Of course he can do else as to wait the thief was safe enough by the loss he sustained.

The Council's Invitation.

This evening Fire Chief Devine will leave for Montreal to witness the convention of the National Association of Fire Engineers. He will take an abundance of advertising matter with him and invitations from the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council. The latter written by the recorder at behalf of the city is as follows:

To the National Association of Fire Engineers, in convention assembled, Montreal, Canada:

GENTLEMEN—In accordance with an ordinance of the City Council of this city, unanimously adopted August 2, 1894, I have the honor to extend to you by the hand of the chief, James Devine, our chief of fire department, the cordial invitation of Salt Lake City, Territory of Utah, to hold your next convention in this city.

We pride on the broad continent of America can offer you more delightful climate, more inspiring scenery, nor more whole-souled welcome than ours, and if honored by the acceptance of this invitation we assure you that every citizen of our fair city will vie to that your visit shall be one of delight, pleasure and profit.

B. Y. A. Summer School.

PROVO, Aug. 3d.—School assembled for devotional exercises at 9:45.

Practice in vocal music resumed in assembly room this morning. Professor Cluff made some announcements of minor importance and class work was proceeded with.

PENMANSHIP.

The lecture today before the class on penmanship took a merely branch this morning. The instructor dwell on the mind culture that would be taken into consideration by teachers when instructing pupils in the art of penmanship. It gives exercise to perception, permanence and accuracy in the inertion of form, size, shape, etc., and cultivates the will, as well as esthetic taste, and habits of neatness and elegance.

The lecturer also considered penmanship from the physical culture standpoint. It gives ease for many restful and graceful positions of the body, skill also in the delicate manipulation of fine tools and instruments, some of which are used in almost every art and trade, requiring the finest steels in the force applied to them and a fine discrimination as to where it is required.

SHAKESPEARE CLASS.

Mr. Moses Davis, instructor.—This summer course in Shakespeare is intended to help the student to read with a critical eye and teach the mind while following the main thread of events to see the small perfections, exquisite harmonies, delicate shadings of character, fine distinctions, and deep philosophy—that is, read it understandingly. The time of the summer school will not permit the reading of more than two of the plays in this careful manner, and Cybeline and Twelfth Night have been selected as affording a delightful contrast. The class is composed entirely of young ladies, whose reading has already been extended to a variety of good authors; they are capable of original investigation and have a profound appreciation of this great author.

ORTHOGRAPHY.

Dr. Hardy—Fallacious, infer, are the major, method and manner of Dr. Hardy's characteristic work in orthography. Apparent peculiarities and imaginary difficulties with all of their accompanying catastrophes, and principles of orthography, rules and refreshing practitioners appear majestically as if exporting "Have you never seen us before?"

From the explanation that elementary sounds are the first principles of language, that letters are the representation of these elementary sounds, that all elementary sounds in the English language are regular, but that some of the sounds may be irregularly represented, i.e., by substitution, it is plain that the difficulties will be thus reduced at once to the minimum, and further that such difficulties will be met in the substitutions. Thus the great underlying principles of orthography are set before the mind clearly and wonderfully and a healthy, vigorous impression made which is susceptible of infinite growth and expansion along the line of simple, related and progressive principles.

NOTES.

Prof. Cluff announced this morning that all arrangements had been completed for an excursion to Castle Springs, for the B. Y. A. students on Saturday.

It is learned by private letter that Prof. Hinsdale, who has been vacationing at Colorado Springs, will arrive in Provo on Saturday next and begin his lectures on Monday, August 6th. His hours will be from 11 a. m., 2-5 and 8-9 p. m. Classes will be arranged to suit those arrangements. He cordially accepts an invitation to visit the canyon with the society.

Mr. Joseph Jensen, a former student of the B. Y. academy, has just returned from an Eastern school situated at Ypsilanti. He is at present intending to teach in the academy during the coming year.

Tooele Teachers' Institute.

AUG. 2, 1894.—At 9:45 a. m., Prof. Stewart in his psychological lecture took up the subject of memory. It is not correct to say memory is a storehouse where thoughts are stored away; it is the outgrowth of the laws of simplicity and continuity. There is no mental action unless accompanied by a nervous action. Every state of consciousness is preceded by some cerebral energy, which must be similar to some former nervous excitation. The difference between sense and imagine is that nervous excitation is a state perception corresponds to the reality, while in case of the latter perceptions the nervous excitation does not correspond to the reality. There is no change; nothing is direction or action not understood. To be truth is relative to God absolute. Mind, like the body, follows the great law of habit. Memory is the power of reproducing former acts. Perception is a knowledge of actually present particular things or events. Memory is perception of older events. Imagine is acting upon memory when we perceive, while in memory the mind is able to separate the image from the reality.

Miss Hyde gave two class exercises in nature; one in first grade and one in second grade. Both were well conducted, manifesting familiarity with the subject on the part of the teacher, a lively interest was created from the pupils. The teachers in attendance were highly profited by the exercises.

Prof. Sewartt took up the study part of arithmetic; stated that in all our politics in teaching the multiplication table. The child should first see, then think relation. We should be independent thinkers and not the echoes of some opinions. Fractions were dwelt upon at length.

The afternoon session was begun with a lecture on Science by Prof. Stewart. He said science is the attempt to reduce the universe to a unit. The unit is a born savage, a born cowardly, a born sensuous, a born worker. We must make as a task for knowledge our former experiences. Science is all investigation. The only difference between the child and the educated man is that the child sees but one cause—God, the first cause, while the educated man sees the chain of causes and effects leading back to the Divine in all things. God, the Divine, the center of the universe, we will yet reach the circumference.

The teachers were each given a piece of clay by Miss Hyde who asked them to observe a rabbit, which she had for the occasion, and model it. The teachers went to work with a will, but in many instances it would be necessary to have named the animal to have recognized it.

BIRTHDAY REUNION.

Honors Shown to Patriarch Benjamin F. Johnson, Arizona.

MESA, Maricopa County, Ariz., July 29, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

Yesterday a part of the family of Patriarch Benjamin F. Johnson to the number of 145, and invited friends of the family, met in the grove of Dan M. Le Baron, in Naval ward, to celebrate the seventy-ninth birthday of the Patriarch. The place was well chosen, beneath the dense foliage of the richly laden fig trees, whose second crop for the summer is now maturing. Upon the trees are such figs just budding, some half grown, and others whose rich purple hue proclaim their luscious ripeness. A long table beneath the spreading branches held a double repast, including apples and grapes, and at the appointed time was surrounded by a most ready to do full justice to its viands. A pleasing sight it was, to see our Patriarch, looking hale and full of life, despite his 79 years, surrounded by so many of his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, although many were unavoidably absent, and by a few of his many friends. Had it not been a family reunion the grove would have been too small to shelter his many friends, and therefore a general invitation could not be extended.

The table being cleared, the family choir gave a greeting song, followed by a short address from the Patriarch, bearing upon his childhood and youthful years, passed amid the sorrows, care and fires of persecution in Ohio, Missouri and Illinois. A recitation in costume, by Edgar Le Baron, aged 5 years was voted "Sweet," and was followed by a song by Mrs. Jamila Johnson, "The Old Hay Dream," exquisitely rendered and most appropriate to the occasion. Responding to a call, short addresses were made by James H. Martineau, Bishop Samuel Openshaw and J. M. Grant, all bearing testimony founded upon many years' personal knowledge of the integrity of Brother Johnson and his unswerving devotion to the cause of God during his sixty-three years' membership in the Church. Mrs. Chas. Hayden, a visitor, being invited to speak, said she had not expected to speak, but felt impelled to do so. Music, delightfully rendered by the family choir at intervals, added much to the general pleasure, and not a song except that prompted by love or friendship was sounded. At the conclusion the patriarch bestowed a fatherly blessing upon all, and we separated with a feeling that such reunions should be more frequent.

I think it well to give here a few incidents in the history of Brother Johnson. He received the Gospel in the year 1831 and is therefore one of the oldest members of the Church, and one of the few remaining who were intimate with the Prophet Joseph Smith, Father Smith, the first Twelve and the first Elders of the Church. When the Kirtland Temple was finished the Prophet invited all those who had labored upon its construction to come forward and be blessed. Brother Benjamin was then blessed under the hands of the Prophet, being the youngest and last one of all who were thus blessed.

After years of persecution and sorrow, when the Saints had to leave Kirtland, Brother Johnson, with his mother, brothers and sisters, started for Missouri in Zion's Camp, and after a tedious, weary march came to Springfield, Ill. Many of the Camp, including his mother and family, stopped here on account of sickness, but he went on to Adam-Ondi-Ahman, to Missouri. After remaining with the brethren some time there, he was taken prisoner, and for eight days and nights was shut down in the open air in snow, freezing weather, with no shelter, no bed, but some hard bread, and no bedding or overcoat. Jesse as and Stanley by his brutal guard, his life threatened continually and with no one to share his sufferings, his integrity was put to the severest test. He was offered his liberty if he would betray his brethren—yea, if he would not. The wretch who shortly before had at the Haun's Mill massacre killed an aged soldier of eighty years with a corn cutter, threatened with hatchet also to cut him up in pieces if he had the old man, whose hairs still graced the place of scythe with which he had hacked him to pieces as he lay upon the ground pleading for mercy.

From all this we were delivered by the power of God in a marvelous manner, through the prayers of those who met for the purpose at the suggestion of Sister Zina D. Y. Smith, then a young girl, praying without ceasing night and until the general in command allowed him to escape. But this incident is worthy a more complete record, which is to be hoped Patriarch Johnson may give to us at some future time. He took his share of the sufferings of the saints in their expulsion from Missouri and Illinois, and has been indefatigable in helping to settle Utah and Arizona, but we cannot touch further now upon all his life. Today, at 79, his faith is as firm as when contemplating death at the hands of a bloodthirsty mob.

Unsolicited by any one, I have briefly reverted to a few incidents in his life, believing it eminently proper that the trying incidents through which many of the Saints have passed should be recorded and published, that their children may emulate the faith and endurance of their parents, very many of whom have now passed beyond the reach of fleeting priests and mobs.

SIGNS of the TIMES

NO SPECIAL IMPROVEMENT IN SIGHT. HOW SHALL WE MEET THE SITUATION?

When Senator Teller said a few days ago that he could not tell whether the result of which these present conditions were leading to, and perhaps it is well for his peace of mind that he could not, it set many people to thinking very seriously.

But fortunately the American people are not given to yielding to difficulties, but to overcoming them. We anticipated a great depression in trade and began some months ago making preparations to meet it by preparing ourselves to make prices lower than ever before and by doing business with less profit than ever before, realizing in times like these that low prices would be the greatest attraction a merchant could offer. We have not laid off any of our old help, but have employed as large number of new, putting agents and travelers in new fields, and largely increasing our manufacturing department, and are rewarded by receiving a large increase in the number of customers. In fact, our agents and traveling salesmen are doing a very satisfactory business.

We are now making a very clean, neat business suit for $14.25 and our $16.50, $18.25 and $22 suits the year are more than Pretentious not the customer $25 and $30, while our prices for the very finest worsteds are proportionately low.
