BUSINESS AND MINES.

Vinegar Works to be Started Up in the Fifth Ward.

THE THEATER MASS MEETING.

Excellent Spring Display in the City Stores Today.—Asking for a Receiver.—Mining Notes.

There is an immense quantity of vinegar brought into this market from the East. It is known as "cold vinegar"—though all vinegar is sold—because of its sharp taste and corrosive effects, which are the results of its process of manufacture. It is neither as good for pickling or for the ordinary uses of vinegar nor as healthful as malt or fruit vinegar; in fact it is injurious to health. Yet it holds a large share of the market as against the home-made and superior article.

The time of the present home industry movement is regarded as opportune for the opening up of another local vinegar works for the production of the article in its best form, and to give the people the full opportunity of obtaining all vinegar made at home or of continuing to use the inferior acid. The promoters of the movement are James Watson, J. W. Rich, and others of the city. They have secured the buildings formerly used by the Eagle engine factory, on the west side of Second West street, between Seventh and Eighth South streets, and are arranging to put in the necessary machinery and begin work at once.

THE MASS MEETING.

The Board of Managers committee anticipate a big turnout at the mass meeting at the Theater tomorrow (Thursday) evening, as they expect to present to the people items of unusual interest, both in the way of display of home-made goods on the stage and an excellent program, including good music, telling speeches and striking tableaux. The proceedings will begin at 8 o'clock.

SPRING DISPLAYS.

Today, March 21st, is the first day of spring. It is the vernal equinox, when the days and nights are of equal length all over the world, and the sun is passing from south to north of the equator. The days in the northern hemisphere are still lengthening, but the old saw, "as the day lengthens the cold strengthens," on the day loses its force and the trend of temperature is in the other direction.

With the commencement of spring all the leading mercantile establishments in the city inaugurated a "grand spring opening." The styles for the coming season in millinery, dry goods, footwear, and all sorts of wearing apparel, are, on average, many of the displays being highly artistic. Notwithstanding a chilly wind that was blowing, there were many people who enjoyed the bright sunshine, and who took a keen interest in the spring exhibits. Large of the stores were crowded, and with a partaken of with a sweetly relish. In many places, the fragrance of spring flowers filled the air. Today probably has seen more ladies and children in the main streets of the city than any day since Christmas. As in most of the meritorious house the spring opening ceremonies continue over tomorrow, there is likely to be a repetition of today's outings among the fairer sex and the little tots. The unity of the spring displays today is an appropriate proceeding.

AN ANNIVERSARY SUIT.

Suit was brought in the Fourth district court at Ogden yesterday, by P. L. Orin vs. Weber county Land and Live Stock company, a corporation, and Jesse M. Longsdorf. In the petition of the plaintiff he says that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the assets of the corporation and to have an account with the defendant, Jesse M. Langsdorf, of the moneys, accounts, books and property of the company, and that Jesse M. Langsdorf account to the receiver and the court for the moneys, etc., and upon failure so to do that the corporation have judgment against Langsdorf for the sum of $20,000, and also upon failure of the defendant to set, the court through its receiver direct the corporation to dissolve, and for such further relief as to the court may seem just in the premises. The plaintiff alleges in his complaint that Langsdorf has left the territory and taken with him the franchises and accounts of the corporation and is now in the republic of Mexico.

SUITS.

Reports from the Camp Floyd district continue to tell of encouraging developments and discoveries there.

The contract works on Fifth West street, near Fifth South, started up today.

The Harlow mine, near Rockin, and the Homer mine, near Lomita, in California, were robbed on Sunday. Masked men held up the miners, then scraped the amalgam plates, securing about $5,000 in gold.

There is only a small force of men at work on the Grizzly company's mines in the Rocky Hill district, Nevada, as the roads will not allow of any shipments being made at the present time. As soon as the weather is sufficiently mild, however, a larger force will be put on. The company expects to do a heavy business the coming summer.

Logan Nation: One home industry in this city which is doing much to waste money instead of keeping it in circulation is that of goods in the Cache knitting works. Just at present they are manufacturing a line of cotton hosiery and cotton underwear. Hosiery which is equal to any imported. The price also is low as the imported articles, as there is not the least reason for sending outside the county for anything they manufacture.

Arrived Safe.

A telegram received today announced that the Netherlands steamship Maasdam, which had several Utah people on board, arrived at Rotterdam this morning at 8 o'clock, all well.

Travels in the Holy Land.

Dr. David Utter will lecture before the Church University next Friday, March 23rd, commencing at 7:30 p.m. Subject, "Travels in the Holy Land." This lecture will be a repetition of the lecture of the Light Science series of two weeks ago, when on account of the inclemency of the weather the attendance was small. A large number of stereoptican views will be used for illustrations. All are cordially invited.

Change of Meeting.

The evening meeting of the Relief Society conference, which was appointed at 7:30, and was to be attended, will take place in the meeting of the Sanpitarians, which will be held in the east Lake Assembly hall; consequently the morning meeting of the conference will commence an hour earlier, at 10 o'clock sharp.

THE FIGHT DIDN'T COME OFF.

It is Said to be a Sure So Tonight Things Beyond the City Limits.

One of the liveliest pugilistic mills of recent local occurrence was arranged to take place in this city last night, but the contest didn't come off, for the reason it was feared that the police had sniffed the odor. The coming battle had been determined to do their duty in case there should be an attempt to vigorously wage hostilities.

Admission was in this case, as in the many cases of which the officers have been kept in ignorance of late, was by card. And throughout the day the tiny pasteboards on which the following words were written were distributed among those who were supposed to have well developed spotting proclivities: "You are requested to attend a private fight at No. — Main street, in rear, March 20th."

The trainers were to be Frank Richards, the colored fighter, and a big fellow who recently dropped into Salt Lake from the East. His name is given as Miller, and being anxious to show there was fight and pluck in him he agreed to pulverize darkey out in four rounds. Richards at once accepted the challenge, and even hoped to put the white man to sleep in less time. But he didn't for the reason, as before stated, that there was no exhibition.

Tonight, however, unless the officers shall succeed in getting on to the little game, the fight will come off. But it will be beyond the city limits where the police have no jurisdiction and where the participants can only be molested by the United States marshal or sheriff.

THE FRIENDLY ISLANDS.

Where Deer Yards are Swept Each Month but Houses Not at All.

Experiences of the Elders.—Death of Sister Margaret Buchan's Child.—Other Matters.

MOA, TONGATABU, TONGA,
February 12, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

Some time has passed since you have heard from the Friendly Islands, and thinking your many readers who are interested in missionary labors, among whom we have friends that time will not permit us writing personally to, would desire to learn something further, I take this opportunity of writing you and hope you will deem these lines worthy of space in your paper.

For the past few months we have had very hot weather. At Christmas and two or three weeks following, it was almost suffocating. Wind little what there was came from the north, and while it was very damp, often bringing with it showers of rain, it was exceedingly warm and oppressive. It was the most sultry weather we have experienced since we first landed here in July, 1892. There were also heavy rains, such as we had about in New Zealand, during the latter part of January and the first week of the present month; but at this writing the regular southeast trade wind is again blowing and we hope for some good weather, so that traveling will not be so disagreeable.

Since you last heard from us, there has been considerable change in government offices, the most important of which was the resignation of Hon. J. U. Tukuaho and the appointment of a man from Vava'u to succeed him. This was done by the young king, who became dissatisfied with the management of affairs and thought a change would be for the better; but the people of Tongatabu are not well satisfied with what has been done. The new premier, however, is endeavoring to show himself as being in favor of improvement, by getting to force an active fashion, which, by the way, is unknown save the sanitary clause of the law. This of course makes him unpopular among some classes, and I do not think it brings him much applause from the "natural" living here. I speak from my own way of thinking and not from what I have heard others say. While I am in favor of good laws and a strict enforcement of the same, so the people will receive all the benefits of cleanliness, peace and good order, I do not like to see a mock made of everything in that direction so that instead of it being a benefit the people it gives a disadvantage. For example, the deer yard of every house must be swept and cleaned every month, but the inside of the houses are not cleaned from year to year; and the smell of some of them is very repulsive indeed. The fish remains inside the house, being covered from time to time by a new consecutive carpet. This decaying matter sent in the sleeping rooms to breed disease. No wonder the rate of decrease very heavy among the Tongans.

Again, if one person bears the spitting of another, whether with wind or not, he may be fined five dollars and imprisoned three months; but a man can whip his wife because she will not roll his cigarettes for him, and kick her out into the street, and the law does not handle him; the people against him.

There are those who think they merit great praise for introducing civilization (so called) and Christianity (false), and making laws for the natives to be governed by, but from all I can learn the people are on a much better condition than they were 30 years ago. Sexual sins are not carried to such a degree as in some lands; the native population, however, is not so numerous as it formerly was.

Modern alleged Christians have tormented the people for many years, and the result is as stated. The native said, "We shall know them by their fruits." In viewing the situation of the natives the only conclusion we can come to is that the time which was practiced many years ago and which is practiced more than in present, is not "a good thing" for "the fruit is evil." It is this that the Gospel Gospel was introduced among the natives and the produce truths that were advocated by the Apostles of old, taught them, to prevent other diseases that.

Our progress seems to be rather slow, but we are working to the best of our knowledge for the advancement of the work of the Lord. We have two meetings every Sunday now in Nuku'alofa, by the way, we are always well attended. Twice a month we go to Village to village on this island, holding meetings wherever we can, and bearing to the traits of the Gospel to all with whom we come in contact.

The school which has now been established for some time, is proving to be a success and we have the pleasure of enrolling a few more names occasionally. The numbers are all males, but we hope to be able to get a class of intelligent women so the sisters become a little more familiar with our native language, and have them taught sewing, knitting, etc., as well as book learning and gospel principles.

Persons there specially Sister Lucita R. Adams has been still died with some kind of a disease in her feet and was is still unable to walk; her appetite is very poor, and being about to return to Fiji we are obliged to send to this country but I think she is now on the improve and will be started in a few weeks.

We have been called upon to record the account of a sorrowful event in the Tongan mission. On the 20th of January Sister Margaret R. Buchan gave birth to a girl baby, but on account of not being able to procure sufficient aid at the proper time the little one died and the mother was in a critical condition when the office arrived. All the sickness in the neighborhood was called in and everything was done that could be done, but it was only eight hours had passed away that there were any signs of her recovery, and then it was continual prayer and the performance of the ordinance of the feeling of the sick that gave her relief. The whole of the night was spent in warning and praying for her, as well as being everything in our power for her welfare. Next morning we made preparations for the funeral and prepared a place to bury the baby of the infant in our garden of our lot, but as it is unlawful to bury a funeral without that meeting it known to the mayor of the town, we went and informed him of our intention. While he showed his willingness for us to do as we desired, he said he was afraid it would not be satisfactory to the natives at large to make a new cemetery, so he dispatched a messenger to Nukualofa to get the consent of the governor, which was not obtained. Then a portion of our burying ground was given us, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon the funeral was held, there being quite a concourse of native present, the opportunity was taken advantage of to expose to the natives the true principles of baptism for the dead.

At present Sister Buchan is on a fair way to recovery, but she has proved had a serious time of it, and nothing but the faith and prayers of the Elders has saved her life. We are all thankful in our Heavenly Father for His blessings.

Trusting the Saints will aid us with their faith and prayers to surmount the many difficulties placed in our way, so that truth may prevail, I remain myself as an earnest worker to the end.

The heirs of the Swedish missionaries, Wahlstrom and Johansson, who some months ago were murdered in China, have been paid Swedish consular damages by the Chinese government.

Rolmeln in southern Sweden is one of the very strongest iron springs in the world, containing sulphate of iron and alum in considerable quantities. Rolmeln is the spa of Sweden, which attracts most visitors, and more than 3000 persons annually take the waters here.

The government railroads have three classes of passenger cars. The first class is limited to some express trains only and generally very little patronized, giving a reason for the tendency in the way with it entirely on all lines as has been done in the North, and on the greatest number of private roads. The night expresses carry sleeping cars of first and second class, where a berth may be hired for the small additional sum of $1.25 and $2 extra.

Tool manufacture in Sweden has of old its principal homestead in Eskilstuna, where, in about a hundred workshops with in all about 1000 workmen, good workers and watches of tools for working metals and wood are yearly produced. Modern working methods have been largely adopted. The yearly value of production from the Eskilstuna tool shops amounts to nearly $1,000,000. But the large foreign tool making establishments, not the least those in the United States, somehow have succeeded in finding a way for their products to the Swedish market, while, on the other hand, a good quantity of Eskilstuna articles is yearly exported.

The manufacture of machinery in Sweden has shown a steady and relatively rapid progress during the last decades, and the engineering shops are at present able to compete successfully in several branches with foreign establishments of high standing, as regards both working methods and the quality of the products, albeit they are, of course, not behind in quality. The great development appears to be especially due to the extensive use of workshops for making machines, which very especially enables them to produce in America offer such a great advantage, while to the fact that the engineers have shown themselves able to supply machines than they used to do.

The recent visit of the czar to Denmark gave the income to the publication of a souvenir volume under the title "Czar Alexander III And His Friends." It is mostly a translation from a French work written by Nicolai Nemovitch, the translation and adaptation being by Mr. Leibrich, a Danish diplomat. The aim of the book seems to be to show that the present czar of Russia is almost an ideal ruler and that, in case of a European war, Denmark and Russia would naturally side with Russia. The author is evidently well informed, but in citing pious texts he often contradicts some of his general eulogies on Russian rulers.
