Ex-Policeman McDonald Indicted for Assault to Murder.

KELSEY APPEAL MOTION DENIED.

Three Arraignments for Murder—New Indictments Found—Three Sentences Passed.

There was quick business on the part of Judges Merritt and Bartch in disposing of matters before them today. The chief justice handled the civil cases, including the admission of citizens, and disposing of a motion for appeal from the court's order in the Kelsey case; while Judge Merritt handled criminal matters with commendable celerity.

JUDGE MERRITT'S DIVISION.

The most notable proceeding of the day in this department was shortly after 2 p.m. in the Kelsey alimony order. The defendant had been directed to make certain payments pending the divorce proceedings against him by the plaintiff, and gave notice of appeal and asked that a bond be fixed. This matter was argued and submitted last evening. This morn on Judge Merritt announced that the application for fixing a bond on appeal was denied, and the defendant must pay the alimony as directed by the court.

Judge Merritt stated that under the Utah statute the court's order as to alimony could not be appealed from. If an appeal bond were allowed in this case it would place the point if at such a disadvantage that the order itself would be of no avail in enabling her to prosecute the suit on an equality with the defendant, and the ends of justice would be thus defeated. There were several sharp passages between Mr. Varian, attorney for plaintiff, and Col. Ellis, of counsel for defendant, and the latter gave notice of appeal from the court's latter ruling. In the proceeding the colonel remarked to Mr. Varian, "You may get an order for the imprisonment of my client, or do anything you can, and we will meet you at every stage of the game."

Other business before Judge Merritt was as follows:

Sarah Butler vs L. D. Kinney et al; decree of foreclosure of mortgage and $200 attorney fee.

E. W. Fuller vs Wm. T. Knapton et al; decree of foreclosure of mortgage.

Pacific Investment company vs Sam H. Tullis; dismissed on motion of plaintiff, on payment of costs.

Magnus Lorenzen, James E. Houston, Isaac Nilson, Herman H. Anderson, Albert S. Lowrie, sr., James Houston, Arthur David Lamont and Christopher S. Booth were admitted to citizenship.

JUDGE BARTCH'S DIVISION.

Criminal business was disposed of in the department in the filing of new indictments, arraignments and pleas, sentences, and fixing the date of trial in several cases. Among the latter are the Kayseville murder, a burglary, and several grand larceny cases. The arraignments had another murder case, inasmuch being caused in the second degree—the Tooele county killing. New indictments listed the Lehi murder case, the recent killing at Park City; also a bill against ex-Policeman Frank McDonald for his assault on Emil Sundstrom, and several against other defendants. The routine of business is as follows:

People vs Wm. Nelson; house breaking; plea of guilty; sentence 2 p.m. He was given a term in the penitentiary.

People vs Samuel Grine; burglary; plea of not guilty; trial set for Monday, Oct. 7.

People vs Neghi Blandino; murder; plea of not guilty; trial set for Monday, Oct. 14.

This afternoon Attorney E. R. Jones stated to the court that the defense in the Hamilton case would be ready, and counsel could not get ready by the 14th. He would be prepared by any time in November. The setting of the case was left open for future consideration.

People vs Dan Stewart; grand larceny; trial set for Oct. 7.

People vs Samuel Grine; grand larceny; trial set for Oct. 7.

People vs George Reed; murder in the first degree; defendant pleaded not guilty, and bonds fixed at $5,000, or in default thereof to be committed to the custody of the U. S. marshal.

The Slater case was set for trial on October 21.

People vs Charles Chapman; grand larceny; defendant arraigned and pleaded not guilty; bail reduced to $1,000.

People vs George Herring on and George Reed; assault with deadly weapon, committed in Summit county; defendants arraigned and pleaded not guilty at this afternoon's session.

Herrington and Reed were afterwards allowed to plead guilty to simple assault. They were sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail.

The grand jury came into court and presented six indictments under the laws of the Territory as follows:

Eddie Lazarus, housebreaking.

A. L. Thomas, burglary.

William Reuse, assault with intent to murder.

Frank McDonald, assault with intent to murder.

Peter Clark, murder in first degree.

Lee J. Dromey, grand larceny.

These defendants are either in custody or having given bail for their appearance when wanted.

Cora Headrick's trial for larceny was set for October 22 and that of Eddie Lazarus for October 23.

Charles Chapman's bond for embezzlement was reduced to $1,000, and the case passed for the term.

The Nat charges against Geo. W. Wilson were set for trial on Oct. 23.

The case of Kayseville City vs Simon A. Thomson was set for Oct. 11.

The case of Frank McDonald, assault with intent to murder, was set for Oct. 14.

The trial of John C. Cahoon was set for Oct. 11.

Proceeding of other criminal cases are being arranged by the judge at the usual closing in press.

COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

U. S. Commissioner Greenman was occupied for a time today in inquiring into the qualifications of bondsmen, as several of those persons indicted by the grand jury were allowed to file the curative for their appearance at the time wanted. In addition to these he listened to an application for a reduction of bail in the larceny case against Fred Gray, charged with stealing a saddle from Emil Sielverson. The bond was reduced to $100, and Gray was able to bail curative in that amount for his appearance for trial tomorrow.

INDICTED FOR BRIBERY.

John P. Cahoon, Ex-Selectman, Included in the List.

He is Accused by the Grand Jury of Agreeing to Accept a Bribe.

One of the indictments returned by the grand jury in the Third district court and opened last night, is against John P. Cahoon, one of the ex-selectmen of Salt Lake county. It charges that on the first day of March of this year, Mr. Cahoon, as a selectman, and connected with the county's portion of the joint city and county building, agreed to accept a bribe in connection with the furniture contract with the Andrews Furniture company. Bail was given in the sum of $2,000.

THOUSANDS OF SHOTS.

But Many Would-be Sportsmen Returned Without Game of Their Own Shooting.

Today, Oct. 1, the duck shooting season opened. The indications of existing knowledge on this point were plain in this neighborhood, in the crowds of armed men and boys which wended their way toward the lakes last night. The larger number gathered around Hot Springs lake, although a goodly contingent was present at the smaller lakes over the river and along the strand. Sheriff Hardy was there, too, and he did not get a duck, at least so he says. He was there last evening to protect the feathered tribe, and as a result of the official presence on the wild birds had a fair measure of peace.

With daylight this morning a change came over the scene, and the sheriff's posse no longer stood guard over the game, which proceeded itself in great numbers to the sports men's fire. At the first sound of some the firing of guns could be heard every body of water, and volley after volley was poured into the flocks of frightened birds which flew hither and thither. A thousand men is the estimate some sportsmen make of the number engaged in the fusillade, but this is probably an exaggeration, though the army of those in that business probably reached well up into the hundreds. Of these many reported that, from various causes, they were unable to bring down any of the feathered objects of their hostile solicitude; while one or two others doubtless brought home the reward at some one else's marksmanship.

The plentiful supply of wild fowl at this season of the year is something that has not been experienced for a long time past. One reason for this is that the birds have received better protection from marauding hunters than for some years. In this connection it may be mentioned that Officer H. G. Heath has done excellent work in seeing that the game law has been enforced in this locality.

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - OCT. 1, 1895.

Junction City Items.

Two men named O'Neill and Adams have been arrested for burglary. Major Littlefield's residence was entered, as was Orson Reiser's and C. C. Randall's. From Mr. Reiser's a gold watch worth $100 was taken, and a good amount of cash. The men returned arriving in Ogden on Saturday, having just been released from the penitentiary. Upon them was found a full kit of burglar's tools.

Word having been received at the sheriff's office that a rig answering the description of one recently stolen in Ogden's county was at Evanston, Deputy Sheriff Sullivan proceeded thither and found that Eli Egan, the young man wanted, had left. Just ahead by Sheriff Ward he took off on foot the trail after the runaway, and found him about twenty miles from Evanston. He had exchanged the horse for one at Randolph. Egan pleed guilty before Justice Bagley and was held in $1,500 bonds.

Cecil J. Stuart, who left New Zealand last March on a wager to reach Boston October 25th, left here yesterday for Omaha over the Union Pacific. The wager requires him to earn his living and traveling expenses as he goes along.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - OCT. 1, 1895.

City Council.

At the meeting of the city council held last evening a report from the committee on public grounds and city property was presented leasing the leasing the city park (the old Union park) to the Brigham Young Academy for athletic sports for ten years, at a rental ranging from $5 a year for the first two years to $25 a year for the last two years.

Councilman McEwan reported from the special committee to visit the hydrants of the Provo river. The committee found twelve holes, the outlet of which could be raised 18 feet; this will enable them to retain 72,000,000 cubic feet of water more than at present. The cost of this work will be $6,241.50 and the increase of water will irrigate 1,664 acres. It was found practicable to raise water from the Provo river into the Provo. The South Kenas irrigation ditch could take 2,500 feet of water from the Provo river per minute; the water runs into the Weber river and this should be investigated by the canal companies and others interested in the waters of the Provo. The report suggested that Wasatch county and the various canal companies in Wasatch and Utah county be invited to join Provo city in the work of storing water and recovering water from Kamas, and preventing further encroachments upon the accrued rights of settlers in the waters of Provo river. The report was adopted.

First District Court.

Peter Greenhalgh, the father of Peter L. and Joseph Greenhalgh, each have similar suits for $5,000 and $7,000 respectively, against the same defendants on the same ground.

Mary Ann Bowling, of American Fork, was granted a divorce from Robert Bowling on the grounds of desertion, cruelty and failure to provide.

The secretary was instructed to invite all regular practioners in Utah county and adjacent counties, south and east, to meet with the society.

The registrars were uncertain as to whether they were authorized to permit the ladies to register after the decision in the Ogden case, and telephoned to the Utah Commission for instructions.
