MONEY IN DEMAND FOR IMPROVEMENT

Irrigation and Agricultural Enterprises Generally Are Seeking Loans.

VIEWS ON THE WHEAT CROP.

High Prices and Outlook Generally Draws Pertinent Comment from Henry Clews in Weekly Letter.

The banking features of the week has been the strong demand for money with which to finance new agricultural and irrigation enterprises, so the banks with money to loan, and they all are pretty well equipped, are not experiencing any hardship in loaning it. Local financiers consider the commercial, industrial and manufacturing prospects good, with wool at higher prices than ever and in better condition, than might have been expected. Then the lamb and mutton outlook is good. The late cold weather has delayed farming, noticeably in the higher localities, but with the advent of more seasonable conditions, the farmer will be able to get in his work.

Henry Clews in his latest circular letter says:

Our crop outlook is becoming of increasing importance. The condition of winter wheat is anything but satisfactory, the acreage being considerably smaller than a year ago and condition lower. While there has been some improvement in the latter respect, the prospects are that the winter crop will be the lowest since 1904, some estimates placing it as low as 425,000,000 bushels. The effect of this is already seen in the abnormally high prices for wheat; for the world's crop of wheat is unquestionably short and has not kept pace with the growth in population. It is possible that a much greater area will be planted than usual in spring wheat, but as winter wheat usually forms about two-thirds of the whole crop the significance of the present situation is easily understood. Moreover, high prices for wheat are not generally considered a sound bull argument on stocks. Indications point to a considerable increase in acreage of corn, and as this has proved a very profitable crop at recent prices there is more reason for hopefulness regarding this staple than in wheat. It is altogether too early, however, to form any reliable opinions regarding the crops, although much depends upon a satisfactory harvest. Crop failures next fall would be particularly unfortunate, coming at a time of business depression when the cost of food is already unreasonably high. Our farmers could be persuaded to produce as large crops as possible during to coming year. In doing this they will not only benefit themselves, but it is in their power to do more than any other class in the country toward lifting the nation out of existing depression.

HARDWARE.

The hardware trade reports business as continuously good, with sales increasing. In fact it is proving much better this month than last, and will be better than April of 1908. The same class of goods is being shipped out, but in larger quantities than last week. Collections are slightly improved, and are likely to be better shortly. Spring goods are in strong demand; in fact the trade is in such a healthy condition that retail dealers are sending in orders for fall delivery.

LUMBER.

The lumber trade reports the wholesale trade as unchanged from last week, with prices the same. However, the retail trade is beginning to pick up at such lively rate that the local yards are anticipating a much more than usual run of business; in fact, the building this year is bound to be so strenuous that the demand on the yards will keep them on the jump for the remainder of the season.

WHOLESALE DRY GOODS.

The local wholesale dry goods trade shows but little change from the previous week, but with markets stable and a steady outgoing of spring stuffs reported. A feature however, is the increased movement in wool bags, and the number of these called for indicates an unusual output for this season. In the general markets the spring trade in piece goods is very fair, although generally quiet, and there is a better call for cotton fabrics. Heavy goods are strengthened, export demands for drills and sheetings causing the upward tendency. There are better values in print cloths, staple lines noticeably. There is little change in the gingham situation. The best business in ginghams is on taffetas for the underskirt trade, with many back orders unfilled. There is a well sustained demand for sateens of the better quality. All warp sateen goods are excellent sellers. New business in the fine white and fancy cotton trade has not been brisk since the tariff bill was introduced. Heavy knit goods are quiet, with buyers not disposed to operate until fall. Dealers are anxious to secure the spring deliveries of hosiery now due, and more tariff talk is heard in knit goods houses than in any other part of the trade at present. Silks are not quite so active, as buyers cannot always get the goods needed. Pongees, Shantungs and printed foulards are neck and neck in the race for popular favor, and both are in short supply, as the calls from the cutters have been very heavy. Fashionable silks for the fall season will be heavier and with less of the high lustre now in demand. Velvets are expected to play an important part in the fall and winter season. For early spring wear, nets are popular, to be worn over silk or satin dresses. Several new shades have been brought out in the past few weeks, bronze and copper shades promising to be popular this summer. One of the latest fabrics placed on the market is the Rajah Measaline, 26 inches wide, of a soft, thin lustrous appearance, and with a rough satin effect. Raw silks continue firm, with supplies short in the primary markets. Linens are selling freely, with stocks low, and importers after more goods.

RETAIL DRY GOODS.

In the retail dry goods market, dealers report a big and increasing trade in spring stuffs, suits, wraps, millinery, oxfords, hosiery, linens, trimmings, muslin underwear, with miscellaneous white summer stuff, etc. There will be more linen worn this year than usual. The Easter business has been very fair.

EAT SAUSAGES AND NEW BREAD

Or Any Other Food You Enjoy Without the Slightest Fear of Stomach Misery Following.

INDIGESTION VANISHES.

Diapepsin Will Digest Everything You Eat Leaving Nothing to Ferment And Form Into Gas or Other Poisons Which Upset the Stomach.

When your stomach is weak or lacking in Gastric juice, anything that you eat, no difference what it is, will sour on your stomach, raise the bile and acids to cover your food like oil on water, causing Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Stomach nervousness and Belching of sour poisons, which produce foul odors, nasty taste, bilious headache, Heartburn, Intestinal griping and make you an object of misery. This is stomach trouble which can not be overcome with ordinary digestive medicines. It is caused by fermentation of your food, which will be remedied at once by Pape's Diapepsin, a preparation pleasant to take and as harmless as candy, though it will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat.

Indigestion is a result, not a cause of your trouble. If the Stomach is sour and unhealthy, your food becomes tainted and that's what is causing indigestion and gas on stomach and other miseries. Pape's Diapepsin is an Antacid, most powerful digestive and thorough regulator for weak stomachs. These Triangules will digest any kind of food you eat and will cleanse the stomach and intestines in a natural way, which makes you feel fine five minutes afterwards.

Any good Pharmacy here will supply you with a case of Pape's Diapepsin for fifty cents. Just reading about this remarkable stomach preparation will not help. You should go now and get a case. Put your Stomach in full health and by tomorrow you will forget the misery of Stomach trouble. Your case is no different from many others. It isn't Stomach Nerves or Catarrh of the Stomach, or Gastritis, or Dyspepsia. It is Food rotting—Food Fermentation—that's all—and takes about five minutes to overcome.

* * *

The past week has been characterized by a lot of figuring on the part of contractors, many of whom are hungry after the long winter and anxious to get to work at something. For this reason bidding is keen, especially on the big jobs which are under way, such as the Holmes buildings and the Commercial club, and others.

The ideal weather of the past week has enabled the contractors to make a good showing on the various places in course of erection about the city. In some cases the contractors are anxious to get them finished so that they can get in on the spring work that is coming along. The long winter and the difficulty in getting material has, in one or two cases, delayed contractors greatly on jobs left over from last year.

The real estate market has been quiet this week, though there is a good demand for cottages from people who are able to pay down about 10 per cent of the total cost. The tightness of the money market, and the disposition of the banks to make it a little harder to get money for purely speculative purposes in building, or in buying real estate, is responsible perhaps, for the rather slow market.

The building permits for the past week do not make an aggregate of such pretentious proportions as those recorded earlier in the month, but they will be sent skyward beyond all precedent, if the Newhouse hotel company takes out a permit during the present month. The total for the week was $79,000, as compared with $215,000 for the first nine days of the month.

* * *

Work on another comparatively large building was started early this week, when a force of men started to work tearing down the old buildings immediately north of the offices of the Utah Light & Power company on West Temple street. R. Fisher, proprietor of the Fisher Brewing company, intends to erect there a four or five story hotel building. The building will be 79x125 feet, and will contain, it is said, upwards of 100 rooms. The cost is expected to run close to $100,000.

* * *

Preparations are being made by Z. C. M. I. to tear down the old building between the shoe factory and the old Juvenile Instructor building on South Temple street. In its place will be erected a new store three or four stories high, having a frontage on South Temple street. The building is calculated to cost between $75,000 and $100,000.

* * *

Work has been started this week by Zion's Coop Home Building company on seven cottages, bungalow style, on Seventh South and First West streets. The same company also has 10 cottages under roof on property running into the center of the block between Seventh and Eighth East, near South Temple street. Six more will be built there and an apartment house is being planned facing South Temple on the same property and two two-story buildings near the outlet on Seventh East.

* * *

Messrs. Swaner, Rogers and two other employes of the Oregon Short Line are asking for bids on the construction of two cottages of about $2,000 each and two cottages to cost about $2,500 each. They are going to build them for homes, and they will be located on Eighth East near Tenth South. As they will erect them on the same lot of ground, they propose having contractors figure on the four cottages and thus save money.

* * *

Mrs. Felt is considering the advisability of tearing down the old adobe house at the corner of First South and Seventh East, and erecting a modern double house, or building an apartment house in the shape of flats.

* * *

Coulam and White have just completed a five-room house on H. street above Ninth avenue, and they are at work on another. They are building them to sell. They will also start work shortly on a story and a half building containing eight rooms, on Eighth East between Ninth and Tenth South.

* * *

With the arrival of spring weather this week Kimball & Richards have put a number of men at work grading streets and sidewalks on their 20-acre plat on State street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth South. In addition to putting in cement sidewalks, and corner stone monuments nine feet high, they have planted some 250 young shade trees.

* * *

Plans for remodeling No. 43 north West Temple are being prepared for William F. Nuttall by Architects Young & Young. It is the intention to make a double house by addition and changes to the one there now.

* * *

The plans and specifications for the Commercial Club building are said by contractors to be as thorough and comprehensive as any gotten out in this city. The specifications cover 115 pages of typewritten matter, and there are 44 blue prints. A consideration of all that is covered by them will give some idea of the amount of work done for nothing by those who figure and lose.

* * *

Although the contract for the new Holmes building at the corner of Second South and State streets has been let to the Salt Lake Building company, the matter has not yet been definitely settled as to a number of minor changes which are being made in the original plans, which may increase or diminish the original bid, the exact amount of which has not been announced, though it is known to be quite a little in excess of $125,000.

* * *

A little work has been done in a preparatory way on the McIntyre building north of McCornick and Co's bank, but nothing will be done to any extent by Messrs. A. & J. McDonald, the contractors, until a letter arrives from the New York Fidelity company, the sureties for Vonderhorst, who gave up the job. The acceptance of the proposition of A. & J. McDonald by wire was received, but the contractors are anxious to receive particulars about the time required in which to finish the work, and other matters. Hence the delay in getting started.

* * *

A two story building and a basement will be built on South Temple street between West Temple and First West streets at a cost of about $14,000. The first floor will be used for store purposes and the upstairs will contain rooms for living apartments.
