THE DISTRICT COURT.

Divorce Cases Heard by Judge Merritt Today.

COPPER PLANT TO BE SOLD.

Mining Case Dismissed—Ice Company Officers to Show Cause For Contempt.

A number of divorce cases were brought before Judge Merritt in the third district court today.

In the divorce case of Emma L. Peterson vs Andrew J. Peterson, order to show cause why temporary alimony should not be paid, Attorney F. H. Hughes appeared for the plaintiff and Attorney Leighton for the defendant.

It is set forth that the parties lived at Park City, and that they were married in 1881 and had one child, of which she asked for the custody pending the final hearing. It is alleged that defendant has a one-half interest in a ranch worth about $5,000, cattle $1,500 and farming machinery. Mrs. Peterson was sworn and testified that she resides at Park City, was married to defendant in 1881. A child was born last October, when she was taken sick with typhoid fever and remained so for three months. Her husband took the child away and locked it in the care of his mother, and when she demanded it he refused to return it to her. She said defendant owned a one-half interest in a ranch containing 200 acres of land, twenty teams, cattle, machinery, etc. In 1894 he sold a mule ranch and money was left for to purchase the ranch. She has no property to support herself and cannot leave for a family in Park City.

Cross-examined she said she was earning $4 a week, which was not sufficient to support herself. She was in debt some now for clothing and also for money lent for attention during her sickness. When she left the ranch she took only a few clothes with her.

Valentine Peterson was then sworn and testified that she left him in June, 1894. He supported her until February last. He was in the mule water and lost business until he failed and had to go to work. He was out of employment and had been living with his mother on the ranch, but just to help her, but had no interest in it.

When cross-examined he said he had lived on the ranch and operated it in connection with his brother. He said a few points not mentioned else he did. He said he had no interest in the ranch, as it had not been divided, having been left to his mother by her father. They had been running on the joint which had brought in about $200 last year. He handled the money but only as attorney for his mother. He said he was about 25 years of age, but had no income or support.

The court questioned the witness as to his sincerity, and whether he was trying to avoid supporting his wife, and then ordered that he pay her $10 per month alimony, $25 expense money, and $25 attorney's fee.

TWO DIVORCES GRANTED.

In the divorce suit of Wm. A. Green vs. Susan Green, a decree of divorce was granted.

In the case of Emily H. Jones vs. Daniel W. Jones, a decree of divorce was entered by default and $10 a month alimony and $25 attorney's fee was allowed. From the evidence it appeared that they were married in 1889, but defendant has not lived with her or given her any support since 1892.

In the case of Daniel A. Raleigh vs. A. E. Raleigh, plaintiff was given leave to withdraw complaint for amendment of return and for further service.

DEMURRER BY CONSENT.

In the case of the Niagara Mining and Smelting company for Point Lookout mining claim, vs James W. Kennedy et al, for San Francisco mining claim, order made setting aside judgment, and dismissing action, by consent, at defendant's costs.

AGAINST THE COPPER PLANT.

In the case of Daniel Dwyer and Joan Cosgrove, vs the Salt Lake City Copper Manufacturing company et al, defendants, the report of the referee was submitted and adopted. The decree of the court was that there was due to the plaintiffs from the Salt Lake City Copper Manufacturing company the sum of $8,189.29, including interest, for material and labor, and that plaintiffs have a first lien on the premises of the copper plant company. It is further decreed that said premises be sold at public auction together with all the smelting and refining, electrical, plants, appurtenances, benefits, rents and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in any wise appertaining," completing the entire plant. It is further decreed that if the proceeds of such sale are not sufficient to pay the said indebtedness with all expenses, the marshal shall specify the amount of the deficiency and, a judgment for such amount shall be declared against the defendants.

OTHER CASES.

In the case of Henry Wagner vs. A. J. Thomson, an order was made citing W. H. Dodge and W. A. Gibson, president and secretary of the Salt Lake Ice company to appear before the court and show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt for not answering before Referee H. Maiden.

In the case of L. W. Dillman vs. W. J. O'Meara, defendant was allowed five days additional time to prepare and serve statement on motion for a new trial.

In the case of Mary Nelson vs. Tooele county, defendant allowed twenty days additional time to file statement on motion for a new trial.

In the case of Addison Naome vs. F. G. Heath, et al, default was entered against defendants F. G. Heath, Mercretia Heath and Esther Walker, and on motion of plaintiff an order for distribution as to all other defendants was made. Judgment for plaintiff for $1,000.01. A decree of foreclosure was granted with the understanding that no deficiency judgment be entered against Henrietta Heath. Attorney's fee of $100 allowed.

In the case of M. J. Gray, C. H. Dunbier et al, an order was made approving the report of the referee and authorizing the receiver to pay funds on hand upon interest on first mortgage and apply all funds coming into his hands hereafter upon said mortgage interest till further order of court.

In the case of Jennie P. Harper vs Edward P. Ayr et al, decree of default and foreclosure entered, and $50 attorney's fee allowed.

In the case of Mary Jane Rice vs Wm. Hammond, on motion of defendant, H. P. Spencer was appointed receiver to take care of the crop on the land in dispute.

In the case of Melissa Ann Cumbie vs Utah Oil and Paint company, the clerk was authorized to issue execution in dispute for $150 upon filing stipulation.

In the case of Ellen Douglas vs A. Frazier, default and judgment entered and a cross-complaint filed.

Fort Douglas Concert.

The Sixteenth United States Infantry band, John F. Klein, leader, will render the following concert program at Fort Douglas tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock:

From the Southern States.

Elder Christian Seegmiller, of Richfield, Sevier county, has returned from the Southern States, for which place he left on a mission January 1, 1895. He was assigned to the South Alabama conference, laboring in Florida twenty-two months and five out of the time in Alabama. His health was good during his stay in the South, and he found the people very kind and hospitable. There is more indifference in regard to religious matters. Yet the Elders found quite a number interested in the principles of the Gospel, and the work is progressing well in that conference.

Gray Plead Guilty.

George Gray and George Ferguson, the two men arrested at Calder's Park yesterday for assault and battery, were arraigned before Commissioner Bonner this morning. Gray entered a plea of guilty to assault and was fined $5 and costs, the latter amounting to $11.75. Ferguson, the old man, was discharged. Late yesterday afternoon Gray was before Commissioner Greene on a warrant sworn to complaint charging Ferguson with taking a nickel watch from his little girl. The case was set for three o'clock this afternoon.

HARVEY AND HOKE.

The Politico-Personal Gladiators in Preparation for the Combat.

There are many people who anticipate considerable fun when Wm. H. Harvey and Roswell G. Horr get at it tooth and-tenacle in the debate on the financial question. Some there are—and strong silver men, too—who assert that Horr will create a great deal of amusement for the national crowd with the other H, but lemons of any weakness in the latter's cause, but by reason of the respective intellectual weights of the two individuals. If the positions of the gentlemen were reversed there is no doubt but Mr. Horr, as a silver champion, would put to rout the knight of the yellow metal, but even with a good cause, Mr. Harvey's most ardent admirers are wondering where he will come out in the contest with the more experienced debater.

Mr. Harvey is also handicapped by the volume of tobacco heaped upon him by the press, some of which, not withstanding its comic purpose, is yet very true. It may be seen by the following specimen taken from a Chicago exchange:

Harvey's system of training is widely different from that used by Hoff, says the paper referred to. Hoff is then on his sirloins and the same is true, but on different lines. The eastern man weighs probably sixty pounds more than the Colorado champion, but Harvey considers this a point in his favor. "It's hot in July," he said. Harvey has pleasant rooms on the Windermere overlooking Jackson park. He rises early, and, putting on the costume he will wear in the fight, pole in a solid hour before a long mirror.

As he intends to shake all of the time during a three hours' round he has placed a long table before the glass. Two eyes at the proper level have been painted on the polished surface of the mirror, and at a distance of forty inches from them Harvey takes his stand. This is the agreed minimum distance which is to separate the contestants. Leaning easily on one hand on the table, Harvey levels the index finger on the other hand at the painted eyes, at the same time commencing the whole force of his gaze upon them. Thus he remains for half an hour while he repeats the college law of 1776, the Sherman law and the Memphis speech of Secretary Carlisle. He has attained such perfection in this pose that, although he speaks 145 words a minute, his finger does not tremble in the least.

The next half hour is devoted to a massage of his biceps, inflating his chest, hammering the table with his clenched fist and repeating: "Now, sir!" in tones of varying degrees of fierceness and satisfaction.

It is said that Hoff's mirror exercise consists of lowering his head in a threatening way, looking up under the eyebrows with an angry glare and shaking the head from side to side, while he pours out a stream of queries, denials and scathing remarks.

After going through a few Delsarte movements Harvey sets to work himself and is ready for Mr. Horr. The latter rends to him all the fighting things piloted about Harvey, and in other ways endeavors to stimulate a feeling of anger or even irritation in him. But Harvey listens with a serenity quite playing around his lips, and even sends his approval at times.

And yet the battle for silver will not be decided by this gladiatorial exhibition.

Cuba Goes Free.

Gustave Cuba, who was recently pardoned by Governor West, and upon his release was immediately arrested on another charge of larceny, was before Commissioner Greene this afternoon. It was stated that in view of the fact that Cuba had suffered for a similar offense committed about the same time, the charge would be withdrawn, the defendant making a partial restitution. The defendant promised to do so.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Little Boy Dragged and Kicked by a Horse.

FOUND DEAD BY HIS MOTHER.

The Terrible Fatality Which Befel Jay A. Bergen, of West Jordan.

The settlement of West Jordan, southwest of this city, is wrapt in gloom over an awful accident which happened there yesterday afternoon, resulting in the death of James Alvin Bergen, the six-year-old son of Adolph Bergen.

The little boy, with his elder brother about nine years of age, was herding cows about two miles from his home in West Jordan. The little boy was on the horse which the boys were using, and some way slipped and fell off. In doing so he became entangled in a rope on the animal. The horse ran away, continuing for perhaps a mile or fifteen minutes, kicking and dragging the unfortunate child, to whom no help could be given.

After a time the animal stopped, when the rider to free himself had to cut the rope which had held his brother close to the horse's heels. The men mounted the animal and took home, telling his mother that his brother Alvin was hurt. The mother started immediately, and arriving at the place, about two miles from home, where her child lay, she found him dead. Every bit of clothing had been torn from his body while he was being dragged, and his head was crushed by the hoofs of the horse. The body was taken home by the party herding and covered with boards, arriving there a few minutes before the father came home from work.

The family are plunged into the deepest grief by the terrible casualty, and have the sympathy of the whole community.

The funeral services over the remains will be held tomorrow, Sunday, afternoon, in the West Jordan ward house.

Nine tramps out of a possible 100 in J. M. Hennessy, of Ogden, since at the annual target tournament at Cleveland, Ohio.

A half-crazed woman called into Marshal A. McCleary's office yesterday, and going to the officers' department knocked an expensive hat and grabbed the first hat, which she put on, handing the marshal one which was given, she then got to the buggy and when reminded of the error that she had made she said "I had better be off before anyone catches me." Whipping the horse she drove off and that was the last seen of them.

The board of education met last night and transacted the usual business. All members, old or new, showed their appreciation on Mr. Wells' position.
