FRAGMENTS.

THE members of the Twenty-first ward spend Sunday at Garfield Beach.

EDITOR FRANK J. CANNON of the Ogden Standard was observed on the streets of the capital today.

YESTERDAY's charings in the Salt Lake Chamber of Horrors amounted to $215.45, as against $77.70 for the same day last year.

ANTHONY L. MITCHELL and Allen Goodwill, both of this city, were united in marriage by Commissioner Norrell yesterday afternoon.

CITY Attorney Hoge is preparing a reply of defense for Chief Paul and Captain Dominick for breaking into the Kelley saloon a few weeks ago.

NEARLY 200 excursionists went to Provo over the Union Pacific this morning. They will return to this city in a special train at 9:30 this evening.

AT midnight the large chimney at the back of the Progress building caught fire. A few moments excitement and all was over, without any damage resulting.

SAINSBURY & JOHNSON will give one dozen finished cabinet sized photographs to the prettiest baby at Garfield Beach on Friday, at the Press Club excursion.

THE members of the University Club held their first meeting last night in the new quarters, in the McCornick building. The rooms are elegantly fitted up and furnished.

THERE are messages at the Western Union Telegraph office for T. R. Ogden, Mrs. S. R. Logan, Mrs. C. A. Libby, John C. Hamburger, Miller & Dowers, and a cablegram for Dall.

MISS MOLLIE CUNE has brought suit in Commissioner Norrell's Court against Miss Inez Adams and Miss Vivian Ashton to recover the sum of $52.50 from each of the defendants, for heartbreaking generally.

MR. AND MRS. CLIF DROWNLER have the sympathy of a host of friends in the irreparable loss they have sustained in the death of their little child which passed away while the parents were on a visit to Park City yesterday.

JAMES SCOTT yesterday afternoon filed a suit for $200 damages against Henry Barnes and Edward Byron, lessees of the Warm Springs Bathing resort. The plaintiff claims that he was, on July 27th unlawfully assaulted by defendants, and falsely arrested on a charge of larceny, at their instigation.

MR. EUGENE TRAUGHBER, Court reporter of the Tribune, and Miss Sadie Bray, of Ogden, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon by Judge Anderson. Mr. Traugher is well popular among his confreres here, and his bride, a charming young lady, is held in high esteem among a wide circle of acquaintance in the Junction city. May long life, happiness and prosperity attend them.

Amusement.

The sale of tickets for the performance at the Theatre of "A Night at the Circus" on Friday evening commences tomorrow. Nellie McHenry, the leading actress of the company, is spoken of as an artiste in her line, sprightly and full of fun, and she is well satisfied. The face holds the stage for two evenings, Friday and Saturday.

Street Railroad Extension.

The work of extending the car track of the City Street Railroad from the present terminus at M street, in the Twenty-first Ward, five or six blocks east, began in earnest yesterday afternoon, and will be continued until the line is laid. It was originally intended to have had the track finished so that the cars could run by last Decoration day, but there were certain obstacles in the way which prevented this. It is not improbable that by the end of August the extension will be completed and the cars running the full distance. Twenty-first warders residing beyond the present limit of the car track greatly appreciate what is now going forward.

Pat Sullivan plead guilty to drunkenness but received a suspension of sentence.

IT IS NOW DEAD.

Tooele County "Liberals" Refuse to Swallow Powers' "Conference" Pill.

Tooele county "Liberalism" is now dead, the party having met in county convention in the District school house at Stockton on Saturday last to consider the advisability of disbanding. For once it seems there was a full and free discussion in a "Liberal" gathering. It was soon apparent that the sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of dissolution and when the vote was put it was carried unanimously.

Tooele county "Liberals" generally regard the recent Powers' conference scheme to hold the members of that notorious organization together as being a cut and dried affair, and having submitted on such books so long they refused to swallow the little pill which had been so carefully prepared for them. They decline the time has come when they must keep time with progressive events and hereafter will make their political fight on national party lines.

FAIR ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Nineteenth Annual Exhibition of the D. A. & M. Society.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Live Stock, Freight, Awarding Committees, Exhibitors, Premiums, Privileges, Music, Etc.

The premium list for the October fair is now issued and the directors of the D. A. and M. Society have made the following

ANNOUNCEMENT:

In presenting the premium list for the fair of 1892, the directors of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society feel a sense of pride in the fact that the premiums have been largely increased, and that everything points to an exhibition far ahead of anything given in the past.

The society is in existence for the public good and has given nineteen successful exhibitions, and its annual fair has now become an established institution, marking the advancement each year in the development of the great resources of our Territory. The fair shows, as no other institution can show, industrial progress; and it urges the farmer, the stockman, the agriculturist, the manufacturer, the artist, to still greater triumphs. Its value to the people generally cannot be overestimated, and the increased attendance each year shows that the resources is appreciated.

This year the dates are very near those of the great Columbian Exposition, and our citizens should lend to an extra exertion in putting forth the significance every just effort. The directors cannot alone bring about a success, but the people, united to aid in the industrial improvement of the Territory, can show mighty progress in every branch of home industry.

The directors desire to thank those who have so generously strengthened their hands in giving special premiums, and to thank, in advance, those who may hereafter so assist.

Everything possible will be done for the comfort of visitors and the protection of the property of the exhibitors. The 1 and street railways will have every facility for rapid transit to and from the grounds, and the steam system will give every attendance in the way of freight and passenger transportation. The dates are October 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, 1892.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The general rules and regulations for this year's fair profile that all parties having articles and stock to be entered should notify the secretary, Mr. Hiram M. Wells, at least two weeks in advance. The secretary will issue a card containing the number of the entry and the class to which it belongs, a duplicate of which will be delivered to the person making the entry.

Any article not provided for in the premium list, if worthy, will be awarded a suitable prize. Agricultural products must be entered by producer; manufactured goods by manufacturer; mechanical or artistic specimens by artist; animals by owners—authorized agents of course being allowed to represent them. "Exhibition" articles—those not competing for premiums—may be entered upon such terms as the executive committee may determine.

LIVE STOCK.

In this department entries must be made two weeks before the fair, and animals must be on the grounds by 11 o'clock of the first day of the fair, Tuesday, October 4th. The society will furnish hay for feed and straw for bedding.

FREIGHT.

The railways have adopted a tariff for live stock, agricultural implements, machinery and other articles intended for exhibition as follows:

Regular rates will be paid to the fair, and on return of freight with certificate to secretary the article that has been exhibited, same will be returned free of charge. On shipments of fruit, grain or vegetables, upon certificate of secretary, the charges will be refunded.

AWARDING COMMITTEES.

Awarding committees will be selected from various parts of the Territory with great care, and will attend on the first day of the fair. No member shall act as judge on any article or animal exhibited by himself. An interest article or animal may be shown without award, though it may be the best on exhibition.

EXHIBITORS.

Exhibitors must see to the proper delivering of the articles to the superviser and placing them under the direction. No one must claim their articles of the fair, but no exhibit shall be packed until 10 p.m. of the last day. The society will use due diligence to care for the property on exhibition and protect the same.

PREMIUMS.

Non-compliance with the rules forfeits any premium. Articles removed before the close of the fair, except by consent, will receive no premium. Awards will be designated by blue ribbon or card for first premium, by red ribbon for second premium. Premiums will be withheld in the case of fraud or deception. Protests must be made in writing to be considered, and before the close of the fair.

PRIVILEGES.

The board has authorized the letting of only such privileges as are required to supply the necessary wants of the people, or that may add to their comfort, convenience and pleasure, but under no circumstances will privileges of a questionable nature or of a demoralizing tendency be sold or in any manner tolerated on the grounds or in the buildings, nor will any privilege be sold or permitted, where the business is conducted in any other than a legitimate trades manner, or that may require outcry or commotion in its transaction.

MUSIC.

During the continuance of the fair there will be a first-class band in attendance and visitors are assured a musical treat.

THE PRESS.

Representatives of the press are cordially invited to report to the secretary at headquarters, where accommodations will be provided and every facility afforded them to obtain and transmit information.

A NEW PLEASURE RESORT

Where the Citizens of the South End of Utah County Can Congregate.

Lincoln Beach is the name given to a new pleasure resort just opened to the public on the shore of Utah Lake. It is situated at the point of West Mountain, about ten miles northeast of Payson. Here are several warm springs. One of them boils up in the waters of the lake, about a rod from the shore, making the temperature of the water most agreeable for bathing.

Messrs. Hallett and Nelson, of Provo, foreseeing that the locality would make a desirable bathing and fishing resort, have erected a hotel over a number of rods and a dancing floor. There are also a small house for the sale of refreshments and office rooms, a bathhouse with a number of rooms, and a board walk extending out into the lake, where there is a raised platform with steps going down into the water for the accommodation of bathers. Here the water is about waist deep, gradually deepening, so that for new bathers and swimmers it is dangerous without a thought of danger.

Larger and more permanent improvements are contemplated in the near future, and it is designed to lay out the grounds and plant an abundance of shade trees, which will be supplied with water by machinery from the lake.

Today over one hundred vehicles containing visitors from Payson, Springville and Lake Shore assembled on the grounds, and nearly a thousand persons were present at the opening of the resort for the season. Most of them brought their picnic and had an enjoyable holiday.

Music was furnished by the Lake Shore band.

Mr. Cantelmon, an expert sailsman, who has resided many years by the lake shore, and has rowed all over the lake, has charge of the boats. Arrangements are under way by which the little steamer from Provo will make regular trips from Provo bathing resort to Lincoln beach on Wednesday and Saturday of each week, the distance between the two resorts being about eight miles.

In the hunting season the lake shore is crowded with sportsmen, and there is both summer and winter fishing for all who go prepared for the pastime.

Just at the back of the beach the mountain rises gradually to a height of several hundred feet, affording a magnificent view to all who climb to the surrounding country.

J. L. TOWSHENDA.

PAYSON, August 6th, 1892.

Y. M. M. I. A. Manual Training Class.

The week closing with Aug. 6th has been one of profit to those interested in mutual improvement work.

The purpose for which this class was organized was to teach the young men the proper way to use the manual, to learn them to systematize, to have some order in their exercises, and thus make their work more uniform.

It did not need a very close observer to see that this object is this respect. From the beginning to the end the interest never lagged, but rather increased, and the work accomplished has proven, beyond doubt, the practicability of the manual in association work.

It has also done much to allay the prejudice that at first existed to the manual system of those who attended the course. In fact, those who will give this method a fair trial will in a short time become its strongest advocates.

The record showed the enrollment of sixty-four young men, representing thirty-five wards. The organization stood as follows: President, Wilford Dunn; counselors, H. W. Matthews and D. J. Long; secretary and treasurer, Levi Neslen; assistant secretary, C. C. Lambert.

The course decided upon was Theology, Old Testament, New Testament and Church History and Doctrine.

The lessons prepared during the course were listened to with marked attention and throughout the discussions that followed a good spirit prevailed.

The lecture given by Brother Done, on the proper way to conduct Mutual Improvement Associations and on the study of the Manual was largely attended, and it would be well if a copy of this lecture could be placed in the hands of every association.

The committee appointed to draft resolutions presented the following, which were unanimous and hot To the President and officers of the Y. M. M. I. A. Manual Training Class: Dear brethren—We, your committee, appointed to consider the advisability of the Y. M. M. I. A. of this Stake holding future sessions of this kind, and to make any other suggestions they might think proper, beg leave to report as follows:

First—We think we voice the feelings of every member of this class when we say that the labors of this class have been a new epoch in the history of mutual improvement, and that the good results will be seen during the coming winter in an increased interest and uniformity of purpose and action.

Second—That we respectfully recommend to the Stake superintendency that steps be taken to organize and perpetuate an association of this kind, to which each association in this Stake may send representatives to receive instruction in the Manual, and upon any subject that wisdom may dictate.

Third—We recommend that the details of these meetings, for one week, they shall be held, etc., be left to the Stake Superintendency.

Fourth—That the records of this class be used as a foundation for future work.

Fifth—We also recommend that a synopsis of our week's labor be published in the next issue of the Contributor and the DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Sixth—That we, as representatives of the associations of this Stake, tender to Brother Willard Done as a mark of appreciation, our sincere thanks for the kind, courteous and gentlemanly manner in which he has presided over our deliberations, and for the good instructions given.

JOS. H. DEAN, S. W. JENKINSON, H. W. MATTHEWS.

On the adjournment on Saturday morning, the class expressed themselves as having spent a most delightful week, and all felt that this week's session must mark a new era in the mutual improvement work.

COURT CULLINGS.

Small Matters Before Judge Anderson.—Another Divorce Suit.—The Escaped Convicts.

It is not likely that Judge Anderson will take any vacation this month, and although it is not his Honor's intention to hold a regular session of court before Chief Justice Zane's return, yet he will, day by day, hear any small matters which might be brought under his notice in chambers.

A RECEIVER APPOINTED.

This morning, in the case of the Nevada Bank of San Francisco vs. the Alaska Lumber Co. et al., on motion of P. L. Williams and the introduction of documentary evidence, Wm. H. King was appointed receiver of the defendant's property in Utah Territory. The bond of the receiver was fixed at $20,000.

WANTS MORE MONEY.

William Gates vs. Wm. E. Beck et al. Defendants appeared and stated that their attorney (Mr. Hoge) is out of the city, and he will not return for several days, they asked for ten days additional time in which to plead. The request was granted.

ADMITTED TO CITIZENSHIP.

Sven Rasmussen, a Dane, now residing in this city, was admitted to citizenship. His supporters were C. J. O. Irwin and Thomas L. Jackson.

A DIVORCE WANTED.

Mary L. Starr this morning filed a suit in the Third District Court for a divorce from her husband, Frank Starr. The parties were married in May 1876, and there is one child issue of the marriage, Frank, aged 15 years. Plaintiff alleges that for a year past her husband has wilfully failed to provide for her support, though, as a cook, he could easily earn from $3 to $25 per week. For more than six years past she says, the defendant has treated her with extreme cruelty. On numerous occasions he has gone home intoxicated, called her "vilest and vulgar names," cursed and swore at her and beaten her. She asks for such alimony as to the court seems fit and proper. D. N. Strup is the plaintiff's attorney.

STILL AT LARGE.

The search for the three convicts who escaped from the penitentiary yesterday afternoon was continued all last night and this morning, but up to 2 p. m. no trace of them had been obtained. Another posse in charge of Jesse last night was Deputy Marshal Dyer, who returned to headquarters just before noon today, tired out.

Claims He Is Innocent.

Seth R. Stevens, the alleged smuggler, who was arrested at Ogden last Friday night on a charge of discoding of and having in his possession contraband opium, was arraigned yesterday before Commissioner Hakanson. He entered a plea of not guilty and was held in $1000 his preliminary examination this morning in bonds of $5,000, which he failed to procure and consequently was again placed in the custody of the United States marshal.

English and American Lawn Owners.

There is a constant feel between the suburban residents and the Sunday excursionists. The suburban resident goes to New York in the morning and goes back in the afternoon, except on Sundays, when he stays at home. It would suit him if the Sunday train service were almost entirely stopped, except one morning train out into the country and one evening train back to let his personal friends out and spend the day with him. The excursionist, on the other hand, represents to him a concentration of the destructive forces of mankind, as he goes to Tuxedo or Water Cure or some resort to which excursionists are not permitted to go, and when he gets back enough to fill his place in the solid of grounds, gets enough to ride him from the road, and puts out watchmen to prevent people he does not want from coming in and tramping on the grass.

This is more an American than an English feeling. In England almost all of the show country places are open to visitors under restrictions which are generally observed. It would be regarded as an impropriety and unusual thing for an Englishman with a fine country place to drive people off the grounds. Instead of that he welcomes visitors and provides guides to take them around and look after them.—New York Sun.

Big Prices for Old Toys.

Old toys are very seldom survive the rough work of children, but some get them, but if by any chance they do weather the storm they become extremely valuable. A collection of old plaything many of which belonged to royal children, has just been sold at the Hotel Drouot, Paris, for the following prices which even their artistic merit and their strange survival of the vicissitudes would hardly have caused to merit. For instance, a little doll, native dress of the time of Louis XIII, a specimen of stuff, carved at all points to partly exquisite, but perfectly modeled, and made at the time when Louis XIII sat on the throne of France, sold for $12 francs and even this price was eclipsed by the sum given for a tiny set of carriages carved in wood and accompanied by little wooden soldiers, made not outside palace, but when Napoleon was first consul, which brought in nearly 1,000 francs. A miniature kitchen, interesting as being an exact model of that royal household apartment, temps Louis XVI, and a little painted doll, station better high, dressed in a tender silk Watteau dress, fetched 525 francs and 110 francs respectively. Many other toys belonging to bygone epochs sold at almost fancy prices.—Dalgonal Messenger.

Rat Extermination.

An "11 copper rat has been bringing from the mountains for two weeks a number of peculiar little animals that have puzzled a good many people to tell what they are. They are about the size of a common rat and have large beady tails like that of the raccoon. Their bodies are long and slender and well protected with a thick growth of brownish colored hair. Their eyes are black and snapping and when turned they great and quite like a rat, showing a row of teeth as sharp as concrete needles. The name of these little animals is the Bandrie, and they are a species of the opossum family, resembling the fox and the rat. They are being brought in in quantities as rat exterminators, and about twenty of them in a box turned loose in different warehouses and livery stables in the city.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Thunder Brings Death to the Serpent.

"Natural commentaries of the only power that will force the waters to give up their dead." Coroner McDowell was talking of the dead, who, he contends, are always found floating in the rivers immediately following a severe thunderstorm. "Dynamite and powder are often unnecessarily used to dislodge bodies in the rivers," the coroner went on, "but the writers only expand to nature's commanding.

"The scientists will not agree with me that some shocks of thunder dislodge dead bodies in water, but my experience of ten years has convinced me that electric shocks alone will dislodge the bodies. We rarely find bodies floating in the rivers in winter, and a severe thunderstorm never fails to develop a case for me."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Mrs. M. J. Burrows, the milliner, left Saturday evening for New York City, to purchase her new stock for fall trade.

The Utah Humane Society invites the public to a grand party at Saunders' Park on Thursday evening, August 11th. As this is the first time the society has asked for aid, it hopes for the presence of every person in this city who disapproves of cruelty to animals. Admission, including dancing, 25c. 404
