DEATH IN THE FOOD.

A Young Lady Puts Strychnine in the Breakfast Cakes.

IT PROVED TO BE HER LAST MEAL.

She Regrets that not All the Members of the Family Had Taken the Potion.

OMAHA, Dec. 28.—A special to the Bee from Grand Island, Adele Edge, aged 18, daughter of one of the oldest families in the city, arose this morning, mixed strychnine into the batter of cakes, baked them and ate of the food. The mother and son had not yet arisen, but her sister Margaret Edge came into the room where she was eating breakfast and also began to eat.

Margaret noticed that the cakes were bitter, and questioned her sister as to the reason. The young lady answered, with a smile that it was rather close for all of them. Her sister became alarmed and a doctor was called. Five minutes after the arrival of the physician Adele was a corpse, having died in intense agony. Her younger sister was given an emetic and saved.

The deceased has always been of a bright and cheerful disposition until the widowed mother and family's misery became bad up to a point which failed. Thereupon the family became quite distracted.

It is clearly evident that the unfortunate girl intended to poison all the members of the household. After having taken the strychnine she prepared a few cakes for them, and urged her sister to eat. Just before death came she said she was glad she and her sister were out of misery, but sorry her brothers and mother had not partaken of the deadly food.

SHE BEARS WATCHING.

A Woman Who Instructs to Speak to a Jurors.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—It was reported this afternoon that a juror, whose name is withheld, observed a mysterious woman who daily attends the trial, apparently endeavoring to communicate with him, and the state attorney has taken means to keep the woman from the courtroom that a watch can be placed over her. This afternoon Mrs. Cadieux, wife of the owner of the Emerald cottage, unexhibited her husband's testimony.

Breckenridge and Sullivan.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 28.—It is believed that Madeline Pollard is now at the home of her relatives, near this city. Colonel Breckenridge is at Louisville, only thirty miles away. It appears that both left Washington the same day.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—Madeline Pollard is in the city hospital, being brought here thoughtlessly by her lawyers, Outside & Johnson, to collect evidence in her suit against Congressman Breckenridge. Her mother came with her. The case will largely depend on the testimony obtained here, as most of the offenses alleged against Breckenridge were while she was a student at the Wesleyan Female College in this city. Breckenridge's son has already been here, collecting evidence for the other side. It is stated that while receiving Breckenridge's attentions Miss Pollard gave birth to twins children at different lying-in hospitals in this city. Her attorneys deny that any compromise is contemplated.

ESCAPED FROM JAIL.

Chris Evans, the Gold Robber, Again at Large.

FRESNO, Cal., Dec. 28.—At 6:10 this evening Chris Evans, the notorious train robber, escaped from the county jail. Deputy Sheriff Scott went on duty at 5 o'clock and found everything regular. About 5:30 Mrs. Evans came to the jail to see her husband. She went to the upper corridor, where Evans was confined, and they talked together for a while.

Shortly after 6 o'clock a man came to the jail door with supper for Evans. Scott admitted him and locked the waiter in with Evans and his wife, after which he left them. Evans ate for a while, then the waiter, whose name is Ed Short, asked to be let out, as he wanted to leave.

"I went up to the grated door," said Scott, "and unlocked it. I had no sooner done so than Short pulled a six-shooter on me and ordered me to throw up my hands. I supposed he was joking and did not obey. Just then Chris stepped up and said: 'That's right, Ben, put up your hands.' I saw they meant business then and did as I was told. Evans then demanded to be let out of the back door of the jail, through the kitchen, but I told him I hadn't the keys. They were in the office. They then said they would go out of the front door. Before leaving they searched me. They stated their intention of making me go with them and I protested. It was no use, however, and I marched out between them."

CORBETT AND MITCHELL.

The Fighters Test the Legality of the Proposed Contest.

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 28.—[From the Associated Press special correspondent.]—Those who doubted the sincerity of Corbett and Mitchell in their efforts to pull off the fight here in January, must give way now to the stronger evidence of facts. The big fighters today voluntarily gave themselves up to the authorities, in order to forestall arrest at a later date, and test the legality of the proposed contest.

Manager Bowden of the Duval Athletic club has schemed for days and nights so there might be no interference with the cherished dream of the club's magnates, that the big fight should occur under the supervision of the Duval Athletic club, and right here in Jacksonville.

Last night the officials decided upon a final attempt. A pair had been sworn out, warrants were procured for the arrest of the two pugilists, on the ground that they had agreed to participate in a fight within the limits of Florida. Both Corbett and Mitchell were apprised of the plan, and neither offered objection.

This morning Mitchell was arrested at the Everett House and taken before Judge Baker of the county court. The pugilist was more than surprised not to find Corbett also in custody, but when informed by Bowden that Corbett had been sent for and would appear during the day he calmed his nervous system. The warrant was then read to him and he immediately gave bonds in $1,000 to appear before the criminal court January 2nd. Bowden and Charles Richardson, also of the Duval club, signed the bond. Mitchell and party left shortly afterward for the fighting quarters at St. Augustine.

About 4 o'clock matter attorney Corbett came from the Mayport outlying "Gulf" which seem to mend the little part he has to play. He looked rugged and merry. Billy Delany was behind him. Delaney and a small retinue of faithful admirers were also there and accepted Sheriff Hewett's hospitality with customary grace.

Corbett was also taken before Judge Baker, and gave bonds to appear before the criminal court January 2nd. Then they left the court and ordered their transportation remaining in Jacksonville until the next morning.

This latest move on the part of the managers of the club was entirely unexpected by the authorities. Monday, January 1st, either Mitchell or Corbett will be unchecked by any Englishman. After he has been taken into custody a mission order will be applied for. It is decided that the arrest is illegal, that preparations for the fight will continue with increased vigor, as that will be backed up by evidence of the further opposition, and the fight can legally be made. If the arrest is sustained legal the managers say the battle will be postponed off and all bets stopped. The Southern are satisfied, however, that the club will be favorable to them, and the betting is at odds in a majority of the cases. Work on the ring seems to be being pushed rapidly forward and tickets for the contest are being sold in large numbers.

Michael Davitt Indignant.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—In reply to a Gladstonian letter Michael Davitt December 24th, the following letter was received today, dated Haywards Heath, County Dublin, December 27th: "I am charged by Mr. Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, for acknowledging receipt of the Associated Press to the statements made in some Chicago papers, stating that I had received the resolution of Dr. Cronin. I can only answer that it would be just as fair to charge me with having advised the removal of Julius Cæsar or Abraham Lincoln. I never even heard of Dr. Cronin's name or existence until the day Le Caron spoke of him at the Parnell commission hearings and the news of the brutal murder came to Europe. Further, the allegation that I wrote a letter to Detective Coughlin at this or any other time is without the shadow of foundation, as I never knew him or of him, or wrote to him, directly or indirectly; nor have I been written to by him or anybody on his behalf in my life. The whole story is a monstrous fabrication from beginning to end, and most cruelest from some madman, or perhaps some interested knave, who wishes to satisfy some feeling of malignity by implicating my name with the commission of so foul and cowardly a crime.

"I am reluctantly compelled to say, in connection with this infamous slander, that the press of America is the only place in the civilized world today that such writers could only attempt the this of the moral assassination of public men can be made with impunity.

MICHAEL DAVITT."

DORJON'S TRIAL.

His Cranky Letters and Threats—Testimony Given.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Dorjon was arraigned in the prisoner's dock along with a number of white and colored prisoners. He was represented by Lawyer Cortellier, who filed a plea of not guilty. W. S. Dunbin, clerk of the Vice-President, testified that Dorjon's letters had began coming to the Vice-President last summer. Some were very violent. A postal card was read in court in which Dorjon asked the Vice-President to send him $25 in order to avoid being tired of those who had been sacked. Mills, secretary of the Texas senator, read a letter received by his latter, in which Dorjon said: "There was hell in store for certain parties." The latter made similar allusions to Senators Sherman and Stewart, President Cleveland and others. A request was made for traveling expenses to come to Washington, and the letter stated that the writer was following divine inspiration. John, Jr., testified that the letter was regarded of such threatening character that he obtained permit for the police court to carry a revolver. Ex-police Inspector Hollingsberger testified that Dorjon had confessed to have written the postal card and letters to the vice-president and Senator Mills, he also stated that similar epistles had been sent to other persons.

The prisoner testified in an intelligent manner; he said the idea of writing letters to public men was to find out how Senator Sherman had made his millions. Judge Miller and the attorneys endeavored to have him state who had cooperated with him, but he said he would not divulge this until the final trial. Dorjon said he belonged to no secret society. He had not intended to threaten the vice president or senators, but merely to solicit sufficient money for traveling expenses to come to Washington to give evidence as to Senator Sherman's alleged improper connection with silver and tariff legislation. On answer to a question he said he knew nothing about dynamite.

THE NORTH PACIFIC RECEIVERS.

Payne, Oakes and Rouse Defend Themselves Against the Charges.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 28.—Receiver Henry C. Payne, of the Northern Pacific, said, in regard to the petition of the stockholders of the road, seeking the appointment of new receivers, that he and colleagues have faithfully and diligently undertaken to administer the trust placed in their charge, having in view only the preservation and management in such a way as in the quickest time to place the company on its feet. The old management has not in the least degree tried to influence the course of the receivers.

It is asserted that Oakes is one of the oldest railroad men in the country, while Rouse is quite as well known, being the present chairman of the executive board of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas.

Payne issued upon the movement as a transfer to the south of a Wall street feud, which has long existed between two opposing factions of the road. He personally disclaimed any intention to do anything for other lines than the best interests of the company and misrepresented the charges and counter-charges in the Wall street controversy as mere trifles.

RESUME OF FOREIGN NEWS.

Engagements Between the Opposing Forces in Brazil.

Burning Gale in the Bay of Biscay—Stalleyrand and the Cassapolard.—The Siberian Express.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The Herald's Montevideo, Dec. 26, advices from Rio say: The Germans, by their firm stand, have nullified the action of Da Gama in placing an embargo on merchant. The German warships present all indicate flying the German flag. The British has given notice that the English warships will afford full protection to British ships, but will not interfere when they are fired on, in whatever, or if the vessels at points where danger is apparent.

A new manifesto issued by Dictatorship declares it is a mistake to assume that the Red insurrection for Israel was intended for a declaration of his purpose to restore the monarchy. He only wants the people to have an opportunity to vote on the question, and have it decided fairly. He says this document was suppressed by Peixoto.

The Herald's Pelotas, Martinigue, speaks: The Brazilian cruiser Aurora sailed last Friday from here for some part in Brazil. The commander intends that Destroyer remains here to have her rudder repaired.

A telegram from Rio says there was fierce fighting today between the rebel fleet and the government fleet at Nictheroy. The fire of the fleet was so heavy that the insurgent warship Admirante Tamandare was forced to seize out of range. She is said to have been quite badly damaged. It is reported from Rio that the insurgents have been defeated in an engagement there, with a loss of several hundred.

BIG DESPATCHERS.

BUENOS AYRES, Dec. 28.—Following the news that work would be broken out at Rio, comes the additional information that the bombardment of the city and forts continues, and the forces of both parties seem determined to bring matters to a determination. The fire of the rebel warships upon the forts is said to have resulted in killing a number of the defenders of the fortifications. It is also said that several people have been killed in the streets of Rio, and the people of the city are in panic-stricken that all the stores are closed, and business is practically at a stand-still.

IN THE BAY OF BISCAY.

Frightful Consumption of a New British War Ship.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Admiral De Horsey sends the Times a letter received from an officer on board the British ship Resolution, describing the fearful experiences of the ship during a gale in the Bay of Biscay. Even in moderate weather the Resolution rolled 45 degrees each way. She steamed slowly, keeping her head to the sea, knowing that any derailing would break down her engines and wreck the ship. Next day the gale moderated and the coal ran short. She dared not return for fear of going over, but on the afternoon of December 23d the weather followed an alteration of the course, and the vessel was able to make for Queenstown. Every man almost fell ensnle.

Commenting on the letter, Admiral De Horsey says nothing is an excuse for a new iron ship so continuously weak as to become dangerously strained and leaky in one gale. In the opinion today the secretary of the admiralty, replying to a question said the structure of the Resolution was not damaged, and the cost of repairs would only be $1,500.

For the Benefit of the Unemployed.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—A deputation from the unemployed were announced today to Gladstone at his official residence by Professor James Stuart. The deputation urged that light railways, similar to those in use and under course of construction in Ireland, be built by the government, in order to give employment to many people now idle in need of work, and that the factories be furnished with sufficient financial assistance to enable them to deal with the unemployed people of the city.

Gladstone said he had the fullest sympathy for the unemployed. The distress caused by want of work was not confined to London or Great Britain, but existed with greater intensity in other countries. The deputation appeared sanguine of almost omnipotence in the government, but the latter could not go beyond the limits. Gladstone was in favor of the government becoming proprietors of the railways, in order to control the rates, but the consolation which has the matter in charge had decided against it.

RECEIVED BY THE EMPRESS.

The First State Reception to an American Minister's Wife.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—The empress of Germany at noon received the United States ambassador, Hon. Theodore Runyan and Mrs. Runyan. The ambassador and lady accompanying him were ushered into the Marble hall by Count Von Mirbach and presented to the empress by Countess Brockdorf, first lady in waiting. This is the first state reception accorded an American ambassador's wife, the wives of minister are usually presented by Lady Dugenne of the diplomatic corps. Mrs. Runyan, after leaving the palace, said she was delighted with the affability of the empress.

Robbed the Widows.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 28.—It is given out on good authority that the grand jury has indicted six prominent citizens as principals and accessories in looting the treasury of the Widow's House to the amount of over $50,000. Vacant lots were purchased in eastern suburbs for nominal amounts, and fictitious values were put on the same by frequent transfer to each other and to their wives. At every transfer the consideration was just higher. When the limit of inflation was reached, a mortgage was executed for many times the real value. Some lots are on almost perpendicular hill sides, and were considered as good mortgage security by the attorney of the Widow's House.

Brecknridge Talks to the Masons.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 28.—By the invitation of George C. Lockhart, the light for the Congressional nomination is left between Breckenridge and Owens. Breckenridge made a speech before the Masonic fraternity, and was warmly greeted. Miss Pollard's father was formerly a grand master Mason.
